There's a Long? Long Nail--- Just a Melody

By C.

"There's a long, long nail a-stickin'
Into the sole of my shoe,
An' it's———."

oO———Oo

The song trailed off and died away on a hot blast of Montana summer that was scorching life out of everything. It was one of those days when even the mountain streams disappeared from the suns hot breath, and the few men that attempted to brave it cursed themselves for their foolishness.

oO———Oo

But the songster was an "Aggie." He prided himself on being one of Milnor Roberts followers, and hoped someday to become a full-fledged engineer, but, nevertheless in the vernacular of all Montana he was an "Aggie." His companion was a "Soda Squirt." Of course he actually was a pharmacist, and had played football for the Bruins, but still he was a "Soda Squirt." They were priding themselves on their ability as government trail builders, and in spite of the heat they were racing against time to make camp.

oO———Oo

In the first place they were quitting. The boss of the crew had admitted that he didn't know "beans" about building trails, but he had read the book of rules, and therefore, was qualified to give instructions. (Bosses on government crews are only required to read the book of rules to draw their pay.) It was 15 miles into the ranger station, and they were hiking it on the hottest part of a hot July day.

oO———Oo

The song over, they hiked for miles without a comment. Evening was coming, and as the heat of the sun gave way to a lukewarm breeze, they stopped for a minute to ease their shoulders. Pack sacks have habits of tiring ones shoulders, especially when one has traveled for many hours without once shifting their weight. A spring bubbled up along the trail, and these two mortal enemies (according to the newspapers) dropped their burdens, pulled their lunches out of their shirts, and devoured them with a few gulps of cold water. As they ate, they laughed and joked bout their work, their experiences, and the manner in which they were going to spend their hard-earned dollars.

oO———Oo

Lunches finished, they were on the trail again, still joking about some bit of work or remark. It was only a repetition of the way they had chumed together for the past month. College differences didn't make any hard feelings. They had fished and explored the country together. Now they were quitting together. They laughed as they thought of the size of the crew, one cook, one workman and the boss.

Today they are back at their respective institutions. But there is one "Aggie" who can't help having considerable respect for his fellow workman. "Aw, he's a darned good fellow even if he is a 'Soda Squirt' " he said in telling us his story.

Vocational Congress Will Open On Next Thursday

INDICATIONS POINT TO A RECORD ENROLLMENT. PLANS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED BY COMMITTEES. VERY PROMINENT WOMEN SPEAKERS SECURED

Pagent On Thursday

Interesting Program Has Been Arranged. Business Sessions From Friday Morning 'Till Saturday Noon.

The Ninth Vocational Congress for women is to be held November twenty second, twenty third, and twenty fourth. The different committees are busy completing plans and everything will be ready to meet the trains on the twenty first. According to the reports from the various high schools there are to be more delegates than ever before.

Miss Bennett who has been the main speaker at several of the previous congresses is unable to be here this year, but Dean Herrick has secured a woman who has been in the public eye in the last few years. Mrs. Peter Olson of Minnesota, who was recently a candidate for the United States senate. Some of the other speakers from out of town are Miss Emily Butterfield of Detroit, Michigan, a prominent woman architect; Miss Minna Patrashek, deputy state superintendent of public instruction, and Mrs C. D. Wiggenhorn of Billings.

The official dinner for the speakers will be Thursday evening at Hamilton Hall where they will reside during the congress.

One of the most interesting features of the program will be the pageant Thursday night. It is to be patterned after "Alice in Wonderland" or "Alice in the Wonderland of M. S. C." She will be lead into the college grounds and there shown the different courses and activities Each department is planning some stunt, Secretarial Home Economics, Art, and Physical Education. Last comes the staging of a regular college mixer. The evening will be closed by the candle procession which was so effective last year, each delegate lighting her candle from the one big one on the stage.

With the plans that have been made and the cooperation of every girl in M. S. C. this bids fair to be the very best congress we have had yet.

RUSHING PERIOD ENDED ON FRIDAY

Men's Fraternities Pledge Freshmen Through Lawyer System. Forty-one Men Affiliated. After Six Weeks of Rushing.

After a furious rushing period of six weeks, Montana State's first experience with deferred man's rushing came to an end Friday afternoon at five o'clock. The six weeks had been strenuous and everyone heaved a sigh of relief when the whistle blew on Friday afternoon.

The silence period beginning Wed. day evening ushered in a period of intense but supressed excitment and until Friday noon, when the lid went off with a bang, the school seethed in a turmoil of excitment.

Sigma Alpha Epilson announces the following pledges:

Crowd Fills New Stand Long Before Game Starts. Big Organization to Handle Crowd.

By 12:30 Saturday the new stadium around the football field was filled to overflowing and the S. R. O. sign was out. Over a thousand boosters came from Missoula for the big game, and at least another thousand visitors from various parts of the state were in attendance.

The reserved seats were sold out Friday afternoon. The allotments to several towns were too small, Butte and Missoula in particular.

The efficiency of the organization used to handle the crowd was commented on very favorably by people from other towns as well as the Bobcat boosters.

The reserved sections were marked with signs at the top and this aided materially in handling the crowd. The signs were plainly visible from all parts of the field.

The fact that only two entrances were provided tended to cause congestion at times, but the layout of the field prohibited the installation of additional gates.

The members of the Fangs acted as general ushers, directing ticketholders to the proper section. The Spurs then showed the crowd to the proper seats.

The sheriff's office lent a very valuable aid in handling the crowd by providing deputies to maintain law and order and prevent any outbreak on the part of the crowd. The police force was still further augmented by seveal squads of the R. O. T. C. batallion.

LIGHTED 'M' FEATURE FRIDAY NITE RALLY

Gigantic Emblem on Baldy Effectively Lighted by Flares. Enthusiastic Students Put On Mammoth Street Demonstration.

Friday night for the first time in the history of Montana State, the gigantic college emblem on Mount Baldy was lighted while the college students were gathered in a rally to notify the citizens of Bozeman; and the Homecoming Day visitors of their determination to battle the Bruin Saturday. The illumination of the "M" was done by the members of the Fang Chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights. Over a hundred railroad fusees were placed around the letter and lighted at a pre-arranegd time. The snake dance had moved to the Irving school, where a clear view of the mountain was afforded, and as the letter on the mountain flared into sight the students expressed their reverence of the letter, and all that is symbolizes with college cheers, and with the Alma Mater song of M. S. C.

After the light on the "M" had begun to fade, the snake dance proceeded again to Main Street, where pictures of the members of the Bobcat team were shown on an open-air screen. As each man's picture was shown the player was given a cheer, and the coaches were accorded the same honor with a vim.

The rally Friday night was the largest and the most enthusiastic that has been held at Montana State in considerable time. Practically one hundred per cent of the student body was in attendance, garbed in fantastic costumes and armed with all the devices for noise making that their fancies could invent. The frosh, according to a long established tradition were clad in pajamas, while the upperclassmen were free to concoct any costume that pleased their fancy, and the products of the same fancy, as exhibited that night were many and varied.

Class of '26 Will Continue the Custom Started by Class of '23. Estes Elected Vice-President.

The sophomore class will give their first annual Thanksgiving dance, Wednesday, November 28, which is the night before Thanksgiving.

It had been the custom of the class of '23 to give a yearly party upon this date and upon graduation they willed it to the class of '26 to be carried on for three more years.

The class has met twice in the last two weeks, forming plans to make this the peppiest and most talked of dance of the year.

Cleveland Estes was elected to fill the vacancy in the office of vice-president. Mary Patten, who was elected to this office, is attending another school this year.

"POMANDER WALK" CAST PROGRESSING WELL

First Rehearsals Show Talent of Players. Cast Is Getting Spirit of Play.

Bang! Rehearsals of "Pomander Walk" started off just that way. Three have been held thus far and Miss Lindblom, the dramatic coach, during an interview with an Exponent reporter, said she was particularly pleased with the way the caste was seizing the spirit of the play.

Sir Peter Androbus, king of the "Walk," an extremely "human" English gentleman, is very well portrayed by Jacob Forbes Solveig Rivines plays the part of Ruth Pennymint, the eccentric spinster, in a most capable manner. Katherine Cameron is the arrogant Caroline Thring, whose philanthropy is so unwelcome in "Pomander Walk." In Mrs. Poskett is centered much of the humor of the play. She is the designing widow of the "Walk," who displays more than casual interest in Sir Peter. This part is played by Alta Atkinson.

Bobcats Leave For South Thu.

Final Trip Takes Bobcats to Meet Colorado Pedagogues and U. of New Mexico.

The Bobcats will finish up their football schedule on foreign fields. They will leave next Thursday morning for their last trip which will take them to Greeley, Colorado, where they will tangle with the Colorado Teachers, and then to Albuquruque to mix with the University of New Mexico eleven.

The Blue and Gold men including eighteen players, the coach and manager, will arrive in Greeley Friday and romp on the field the next day to try for honors with the Teachers College. Greeley boasts of a good team this year with several fast men who will be hard to watch. Early in the season they defeated Regis College 21 to 13 and later on beat them again by a score of 14 to 0. Regis College held the fast Denver University eleven to a 13 to 0 score in their annual game.

The Teachers are having their big Homecoming of the year when the Bobcats play them and they are making it their biggest game of the season. The Colorado men have some very effective plays, among them the forward-pass is used to great advantage. Jacobs, who will be remembered by local people from last year's football and basketball seasons, is playing quarter for the foreigners. Timothy, a former Greeley star is playing in the backfield and is a good runner and passer. Plays that include passes from Timothy to Jacobs have proved very effective this year and in all probability they will try the same stunt on the visiting Bobcats.

After the game with the Teachers the Bobcats will go to Denver to await their departure for New Mexico.

Olive Schreiner of the class of '23 is teaching Science in the high school of Belgrade.

Bruins Outplay Bobcats For State Championship

HEAVY UNIVERSITY LINE TOO MUCH FOR BOBCATS. GAME HARD FOUGHT THROUGHOUT. HUGE CROWD WITNESSES BATTLE.

Sat. Pageant Huge Success

Part Played by College in Building a Greater State Shown by Magnificent Floats.

The Development of Montana, which was the theme of the mammoth parade held by the students of Montana State Saturday morning, was undoubtedly one of the biggest, best and most significant parades of its kind ever held in Montana.

Lead by the colors and followed by the band the parade wound its way down Main street. A pack-train and covered-wagon, which followed the band symbolized the early frontier days in Montana.

The El Tomato Motor Car Co. of the Mechanical Engineers, was a miniature fctory, showing the production of motor cars from the raw material (tin cans). The raw materials were scooped into the factory, and the finished product emerged on an endless chain which carried it into the cars for shipment.

The float of the Civils showed a chain of mountains, with a large river, at the foot of whih was a power house, designation that the water power had been converted into electricity.

A typical farm of Montana, with farm houses, and live stock were the material used by the Montana Experiment Station in showing the work done by the station.

A large beautiful black horse was next in line, draped with 250 medals that had been won by live stock belonging to Montna State College.

The Dairy Departmet's float showed an ice-cream fountain, with dairymaids and hugh ice-cream cones, carrying a sign with the words: "Ice-cream—Queen of Desserts."

"Barney Google" leading Spark Plug was the idea used by the veterinary department.

Decked with test tubes, burners, jars, and other chemical apparatus, while on another shelf were various products made by the chemists. was the theme of the float by the Chemists. A huge sign with the words

HOMECOMING SEES MANY GRADS BACK

125 Alumni Return for Bruin Tangle. Many Visitors From All Over State.

Undoubtedly one of the biggest "turnouts" ever witnessed at Montana State College was the result of "Home Coming Day" Nov. 17. The Alumni started to "roll in" last Wednesday, and by Friday night the biggest majority of them were back "on the hill."

The alumni expressed strong appreciaiton of the fine spirit that was in evidence, and especially that shown at the pep-rally staged Friday night.

Saturday morning the alumni began to congregate in groups of ten, up in the Main Hall at ten o'clock, and began the inspection of the campus buildings. They were greatly pleased with our new buildings. The new Engineering Building especially appealed to them, and many of the graduates wished that they were back, to have the privilege of studying in the new building. With the old athletes, the new gym was a great pride to them, as they looked over the spacious building with all its fine features, and its big improvement over the old "Drill Hall."

As the Mammoth Parade went by the grads felt quite proud of the students in their ability to put across such a fine, well meaning and significant parade with all its fine floats and stunts.

By the time the game had started the alumni had all forgotten that they were graduates, and fell into Bobcats Threatened to Come to Front In Third Quarter.

The State University Bruins with a heavier and better balanced team plunged their way thru the Bobcat defense last Saturday to come out on top, a 24 to 13 victory standing in their favor. Playing before a crowd that broke all records for the local field the opposing teams played a wonderful game, an occasional fumble or pretty exhibition of running bringing the crowd to its feet.

The game started with the Bruins receiving the ball in their own territory. On the first play they fumbled and the Bobcat recovered. Playing with record speed the locals made first down twice and then stopped by the Bruin line Floyd Romney dropped back and kicked goal for the first counter of the game. The Bruins came back strong and Johnson tore thru the line for a thirty yard gain. Then gradually pushing their way up to the Bobcat line the locals strengthened their defense and held the line for two downs but Illman on the next play went across and after Plummer kicked goal the score stood 7 to 3, the Bobcats taking the lower end.

During the second quarter found the Bruins at their best. They scored two touchdowns, Illman making the first by intercpeting a pass and racing 34 yards to cross the last white line. Silvernale crossed the line for the second when he broke thru the line for a 14 yard gain, after the Blue and Gold men had been pushed back steadily. Plummer kicked goal both times and the half ended 21 to 3.

The Bobcats came back with a strong offensive in the third quarter and threatened to turn the tables. They took the ball from the kick off and marching down the field for three first downs they were within striking distance of the Bruin goal. Three passes were tried but grounded and again Floyd Romney dropped back and kicked the ball between the posts from a hard angle. Johnson, at the beginning of the final period fumbled the ball, and Benton facing thru recovered and went the rest of the distance for the only Bobcat touchdown. Floyd kicked goal. The Bruin then took the offensive and marched thru the Blue and Gold line for 60 yards only to be held at the 20 yard marker. Plummer then kicked a field goal for the last counter of the fray.

THE VOCATIONAL CONGRESS

The ninth annual vocational congress for high school girls that is to be held here this week will bring to Bozeman over a hundred serious-minded, alert young women who represent the principal high schools of Montana. These young women come for the purpose of receiving the messages which the splendid corps of speakers have for them. They come to learn the opportunities for trained women in the professional and commercial world.

To these delegates Montana State College extends a hearty welcome. We are glad to have the opportunity of entertining you here. It is hoped that you will gain valuable inspiration and that you will make use of the new ideas with which you come in contact here and that they will be of the greatest possible value to yourselves and the women whom you represent in choosing a vocation.

Since the institution of the vocational congress several years ago, the annual gathering of the high school women has, under the guidance of Dean Una B. Herrick, grown steadily in influence—each year seeing a stronger body of speakers, more delegates, more organizations represented, greater co-operation from the high schools and Women's Clubs of the State, and from every standpoint a keener appreciation of the real worth of the congress—until now it has become one of the most effective educational movements in the whole state.

Undoubtedly the vocational congress is securing wonderful results, and its purpose in helping young women of the state in choosing their life work is being admirably fulfilled. To the college, to the women's clubs of Montana and to Dean Una B. Herrick, to whose effort the success of the congress is due, The Exponent extends its heartiest congratulations.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

The student organizations of the many departments of the college are to be congratulated for their splendid work toward making the big program last Saturday a success. The floats in the parade were the results of much planning and voluntary effort and were certainly a credit to any educational institution in the county. The student committee that had charge of the program details, is certainly to be commented for the effort that they gave. The college pep organizations, the Spurs and Fangs, rendered services that were the very keystone in the successful handling of the record crowds at the game. The Student Athletic managers have no little credit due them for their valuable services in the business end of the game. The ticket sale and gate organization was very well planned and carried out. The student body as a whole is to be congratulated for the true sportsmanship and splendid spirit that they maintained.

BEARPAWS TAKE CUP FOR STUNT

Possession of Cup Won Last Year By Fangs Goes to Missoula Pepsters.

To the mournful strains of the funeral march the Missoula chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights marched out on the field between halves of the game carrying their black - draped coffin. Depositing it in the center of the grid, the president of the Bearpaws proceeded to read the sad rites. They then opened the casket and exposed to the view of the crowd a red-stained axe with the score of the 1922 game, 7-6, written on it. Solemnly announcing their intention of burying the hatchet The Bearpaws marched off the burial grouna.

The local chapter, the Fangs, next romped out on the field to the strains of "the old gray mare" with their ricketty spring wgon loaded with Fangs and propelled by a real, honest to-goodness gray mare. Amid much hilarity they rolled away.

The judges for this contest between the two chapters of the intercollegiate knights were: for M. S. C. Alan Cameron, treas. of the college; for Missoula, Dr. Jesse of Missoula, and Charles Fisher, president of the College Alumni Association. They returned a unanimous decision in favor of the Bearpaws.

"I am Mercedes Stabler. I am Lucille Staebler's little sister. Now I don't want you to call me Lucille Staebler's sister, I want you to call me Mercedes Staebler—Miss Mercedes Staebler."

"Of course, you all know Lucille, she has won such an enviable reputation while she has been here and I am going to try my very best to live up to the enviable reputation which Lucille has made for we Staebler's at M. S. C."

Folks, ain't life sweet after all, just think our cartoonist had had the privilege of reproducing for our columns the very sweet likeness of our most prominent self-advertised freshmen. It would be a great fallacy to say that it does not pay to advertise, for if Miss Mercy des Staebler had not told us who she was, how could we have known, and to think of the glorious privilege we have had.

A glance at the above likeness will reveal that her hair is cut in almost ultra-modern stylishness, possibly the "Dutch" has been left out because the hair is naturally curly, and then again maybe that is the "French" of it, and by the way, we just happened to think, curls conceal big ears, and by keeping it concealed it naturally counts more.

Isn't it just wonderful to be a sister? And then isn't it just glorious to be a sister to one who has won such popularity and fame. Folks stand 'round and stare at her and say "there goes Lucille's sister"—darn, there we made a slip—we meant Miss Mercedes Staebler, a thousand pardons. Never the less we see that Miss Mercy is scheduled to make her first college appearance in the next Torementon's show, and then we will be able to determine more fully just how well she is going to keep up the "rep" of "we Staeblers."

Our fair little Freshman Co-ed hails from that large city of Butte, Montana, now you know that Butte is a city of many parts, but just what part she hails from is not fully determined, however, we have the opportunity for many a varied guess so we guess we will let it go at that.

Truly a gift of the Gods has descended up on M. S. C. and folks, just look who it is:

This isn't leapyear Maud—what's the idea of going down to the bachelor's club for dinner?

Bob Scott says "pouring tea at the I. D. house isn't so bad after all." Good going, Bob, but what's the use?

There was a young lady named Maud
Who ws a society fraud.
In the ballroom I'm told
She was distant and cold
But on the backporch—Omagawd.

Floyd: It doesn't pay to be late at the Chi O house.

Rube: Naw, 'snot that—be late and your girl is gone.

(Extract from a letter written by a freshman girl to a friend at home:)

AT M. S. C. TEN YEARS AGO

Preliminary steps toward the formation of an "M" club at Montana State College were taken this week. All of the college men who have won a letter will be admitted as charter members and the first step was taken Monday, when the men held a meeting in the college drill hall at 3:30.

The members of the committee on constitution met Wednesday and outlined a constitution. According to the commitee the official name of the organization is to be the "M" club of Montana State college and the avowed purpose of the club is to better athletics on the hill and to make the winning of the college emblem an honor to be desired by the college students—Nov. 22, 1912.

Consolidation is one of the topics of conversation on the university campus this week. Every student favors the plan proposed for the merger of the four state institutions of higher eduactio.n.

A special convocation was held by the students Tuesday morning to discuss the consolidation plan. Resolutions favorin g the plan were unanimously adopted.

The University of Chicago has initiated the plan of sending congratulatory noices of highest marks, as well as warning notices of failure, to students.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

The Co-eds of M. S. C. are to be admired for their fine spirit and splendid sportsmanship at the game last Saturday. Girls, you did your best in cheering and co-operating with the yell leader, in your loyal support of our wonderful team, in your good representation at the game, in your wearing the blue and gold ribbons and most of all, in your marvelous spirit. There were no "catty" remarks shouted out nor unnecessary "razzing." It is a pleasure to mention that several complimentary remarks of the Missoulians came within my hearing in regard to the wonderful spirit of our Studenty Body. And I heard, too, various Missoula Co-eds say how much "at home" the M. S. C. girls made them feel and how they enjoyed their brief visit with us. Isn't that something to be proud of, girls?

And another thing—we all admit that it was a good game. Saturday; our boys played their best! Have you told them about it? Congratulate each one and let them know that you're proud of 'em!

There is little need to dwell on the subject of spirit and true sportsmanship, girls, you have proved your loyalty to M. S. C. at every turn.—Let's keep the good work up, now!

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

Compilation of statistics on the recent intelligence test given the freshman students has just been completed by Professor Holst. The test, which was given for the purpose of subsequent comparison between the intelligence and accomplishment of students, indicates, says Professor Holst, "that there are few, if any, in the freshman class who lack the ability to do college work if they have the proper attitude and the absolutely necessary application and persistence."

The test was taken by 272 freshmen. The lowest score made was 92; the highest, 212. The highest possible was 220.

"The Evergreen," of Washington State College, Pullman, comes out with this startling assertion, "Engagement Jewelry Satisfices Co-Ed's Longing for Decoration."

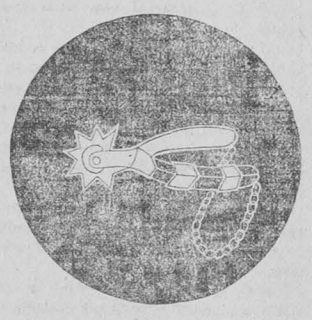
SPURS!



"The girls in the white sweaters with the Spur embelm!" They are the ce-eds of M. S. C. What the Fangs are to the men on the campus, and have similar work to do in that they promote general interests of the school. Pep, spirit, and fair-play are advocated by the Spurs in their work. They hope that co-eds on the hill will co-operate with them all times, and whenever there is anything the Spurs can do to help you, just let 'em know! They're "At your service."

What It Is

Louis, who was trying his best to appreciate Stunt's music: "When a piece threatens every minute to be a tune and always disappoints you, its classical."

Thelma Newkirk:" Would you marry a man to reform him?"

Nellie Refsnes: "I suppose I shall have to—there isn't one of them that suits me the way he is now."

Lucille: "So Bill said my singing was Heavenly?"

Solveig:" Well, I suppose he meant that but what he said really was that it was unearthly."

Bert Julio: "All dogs are cute."

Alberta Mitchell: "Oh, Bert, how you flatter yourself."

Beulah, feeling economic: "Gee, girls, I know where you can get a bath for 10c."

Irma: "Where?"

Beulah: "In Mrs. McCray's office."

Irma:" Wh-huh—That's room number 10-c."

A modest man is commended by women, but never liked by them."

Ruth Davidson: "I have a little book in which I write all my thoughts every night."

Spud: "How long have you been doing it?"

Ruth: "Ever since I came to college."

Spud: "By now you must have the first page nearly filled."

THE FLIRT

Oh, dear! I'm in an awful fix.
(I always get "in dutch")
I lost my Sig pin just last night;
Though I don't miss it much.
My H. O. M. Club I'll begin
To wear, or B. E. sword and shield.
You see I'm fairly highly rated;
With three Sig Alph pins in a row
My bureau now is decorated,
(Which boy I love best I don't know)
My roomie wore my Barb pin,
So I gave her the toy one day,
But and O. B. pin took its place
Without the least delay.
I've vamped a boy in every "frat"
And I've sported all their pins;
And now it's time toflip the coins
To see which dear boy wins.

Eliza would like to know when the I Ds initiated Karl Gallagher. He is wearing one of their pins over his "right" heart.

Fifty thousand years ago,
When wilderness was here.
Man with powder in his gun,
Went out to hunt the deer

Now things have changed,
And on a different plan:
Dear with powder on her nose,
Goes out to hunt the man

TAG DAY

The treasurer of the student senate wishes to express its gratitude to the tudent body for its eager and generous buying of the blue tags. PAGEANT HUGE SUCCESS

"Greater and More Efficient Production by by the Chemists."

In a big truck were the members of the Treble Clef and Glee Club, who sang various college songs as they wound their way down the street in the parade.

A color scheme of Blue and Gold, with a huge M on the back of the decorated sedan, and the words "Home Ec" was the idea of the prettiest float used by the Home Economics Department.

On foot the Art Club, with their regular costumes, carrying a sign, Art Club, with streamers from the sign down to each girl.

The Frosh showed their fine spirit by entering a float in the parade, which was significant of the painting of the "M" each year. Two huge M's were painted on both sides of the car in Blue and Gold, with Frosh sitting in the back of the car in old clothes carrying brooms and pails.

Next came the Frosh Clown band, who used every kind of instrument from an auto horn down to a Jew's harp.

The C. G. A. girls marched in a group, and with significant costumes showing how they took part in various contests. They marched in the following order: Football, tennis, hiking, basketball, swimming, rifle shooting, baseball, skating, and hockey.

The Y. W. C. A. girls rode in a prettily decorated car in blue and white.

The Spurs also marched, in regular body formation, making a pretty formation with their white sweaters and white skirts.

The float put out by the Barbs, showed a Bobcat over a football showing his supremacy in football over the Bruins. In a cage was a family of monkeys, over which was a sign, "Home Coming."

The Electric Club float showed a game in progress between the Bruin and The Bobcat, and the returns being sent out from the sidelines. On another part of the float, the news was being printed in a newspaper office and papers being prited as the returns came over the wire.

The Montana Power Company also entered a float showing various electric devices, but the clever idea was the sign, "Cook Your Bear Meat on an Electric Range."

The Agronomy and Horticulture float used various farm products produced in Montana, while high above eveything else was the beautiful silver cup won by the stock judging team in Portland two weeks ago.

Last but not least was the cleverly designed float put out by the Architects, which was a large Mausoleum, with the words "In Memorium of the Bruins," written on the doors.

In the opinion of the visitors and the town people who lined the streets to watch the Mammoth Parade, this pageant was incomparably better thanany other of its kind ever staged in Montana.

At eight thirty in the evening everyone went to the big all-college-university dance in the new gym. The crowd filled the main floor and the "good old mixer" spirit held sway.

LIGHTED "M" FEATURE FRIDAY NIGHT RALLY

At eight-thirty a large pile of wood was miraculously produced from nowhere by the hoards of pajama-clad frosh, and a bonfire was started, around which the students gathered for further yells and songs. Shortly after nine the pep makers disbanded, after plans were made to gather on the hill again at one o'clock Saturday for the march to the game.

Student Opinion

TO THE EDITOR:
THE WEEKLY EXPONENT.
Dear Sir:

Now that our first rushing season under the new rules has come to an end and we have at last settled down to business for the remainder of the year, I would like to express a few frank opinions of mine on the results we have accomplished.

The first thing that I would like to comment on in regard to the new-rushing rules is that rather than eliminate the ill feelings, as was expected of them, they have increased the enmity between the various organizations on the campus. One organization has knocked the other to their rushees and this has naturally gotten out until now there are men on our campus who do not speak to one another and who are the worst of enemies who should be the best of friends. Even well-known members of the faculty have taken a hand in the mix-up, which has been going on during the past six weeks.

The writer is possessed of certain facts regarding the rushing season just past. He knows that a certain organization has offered certain prominent freshmen room and board as an inducement to come their way, he also knows that other freshmen have been told deliberate falsehoods by members of the faculty in an effort to get them to join one fraternity in preference to another.

Loyalty to our alma mater has been forgotten, studies have been neglected to such an extent that many men will fail who other wise would have passed, scholarship has been placed in the discard, just for one thing, and that is fraternities.

Rushing rules such as we now have are not for small schools such as ours, but for larger schools where the freshmen should have a longer period in which to get acquainted.

—A. Student.

THE TRUTH

—We're not "spinning any yarns" in these advertisements.

—We're giving you a plain statement of facts. When we tell you a suit of clothes or an overcoat is PURE WOOL, you can bank on it being PURE WOOL! It will stand any test.

—Lots of fabrics are "chemically treated"—now-a-days—so that those that haven't had wide experience in handling woolen goods can't tell the deception.

—The truth is goon enough for us—and the truth of the matter is, we make a fair profit on reliable merchandise and honest values.
