GALLATIN COUNTY COURT HOUSE — BOZEMAN

For Autumn sports, there is nothing to compare with famous Gallatin Country recognized by sportsmen as the last big game stronghold left in the United States, especially for elk, the sunny Indian summer days of October finds the knowing sportsmen from the East going to his favorite ranch in Gallatin Canyon for a several days' vacation and hunting trip. A one-day trip for elk, deer, moose or bear or a pack-train trip to the upper reaches of the famous Spanish Peaks, with mountain horses that are sure-footed and trail-wise — it makes little difference. Both will bring unforgetable memories.

Above: "OLD FAITHFUL"
Below: PETRIFIED FOREST

MAJOR INDUSTRIES: Agriculture, purebred and commercial livestock raising, livestock commission yards, slaughtering yards, honey production, wholesale roses, tourist business and manufacturing. AGRICULTURE: The area is noted for its exceptional yields of dry land wheat — 50-60 bushels per acre, while it is not unusual to harvest from 100-125 bushels of oats per acre on irrigated land. Other crops include rye, barley, peas, hay and potatoes.

Climate:

Days are warm; nights are cool; the very air is healing. Here in Gallatin county you will find that vacation and relaxation you always dreamt about. People are friendly, everything is informal. One visit and you'll be coming back each year.

CAMPUS MONTANA STATE COLLEGE — BOZEMAN, MONTANA

Two huge primitive areas have been set aside in the Gallatin National Forest to be preserved in their natural state for the people of this nation. They are the Spanish Peaks and Hilgard, each 5,000 square miles. They are to remain untouched by men as a symbol of the great western frontiers when explored by such historical figures as Lewis and Clark, John Colter and John Bozeman. These areas can be reached only on foot or horseback. Fishing is unbeatable and the scenery unsurpassed.

The petrified forest, extending 75 miles through the Gallatin range 60 miles south of Bozeman, is said to have the only upright species of the Sequoia or Redwood trees. This is confirmation that Montana at one time was a tropical oceanic area.

Visitors can eat a leisurely breakfast in Bozeman, drive through the scenic Gallatin canyon, see Old Faithful of Yellowstone National Park, then eat dinner in Bozeman that night. Bozeman is a city of 11,325 population (1950 government census), and is situated at an altitude of 4,793 feet above sea level. It is the home of Montana State College.

1. SKI ENTHUSIASTS
2. LEWIS & CLARK CAVERN
3. PRIMITIVE AREA

The Gallatin Empire is a nationally known Dude ranch country. These ranches are located in rugged mountain, fishing and hunting country far removed from cities. A complete western vacation with home-cooked food and pack trips into the primitive areas are included in the ranch plans. Other ranch activities are hunting, fishing, hiking, swimming, skeet shooting, evening entertainment or just relaxing in the invigorating mountain atmosphere. The nights are always cool, so restful sleeping is assured.
