

The Craighead Environmental Research Institute

Save the Grizzly Project

Objectives

1. Collaborate with individuals and groups interested in and working to save the grizzly
2. Monitor or participate with planning bodies developing grizzly bear management policies
3. Suggest ^{or support} management recommendations for survival of the grizzly
4. Produce a documentary bear-ecology management film
5. Encourage independent private sector participation in a program of grizzly bear recovery and management.
6. Help keep the public informed on the status of the grizzly bear
7. Establish & finance independent investigations of man-bear and human deaths caused by grizzlies.

Funds will be solicited to carry out the above objectives:

Donations are appreciated and should be sent to the:

Craighead Environmental Research Institute, Box 156
Moose, Wyo. 83012. Donations are tax deductible.

The Craighead Environmental Research Institute

Save the Grizzly Project

Objectives:

1. Collaborate with individuals and groups interested in and working to save the grizzly.
2. Monitor or participate with planning bodies developing grizzly bear management policies.
3. Suggest or support management recommendations for survival of the grizzly.
4. Produce a documentary bear-ecology management film.
5. Encourage independent private sector participation in a program of grizzly bear recovery and management.
6. Help keep the public informed on the status of the grizzly bear.

Funds will be solicited to carry out the above objectives.

Donations are appreciated and should be sent to the:

Craighead Environmental Research Institute
Box 156
Moose, Wyoming 83012

Donations are tax deductible