Varick John Doig Jr.

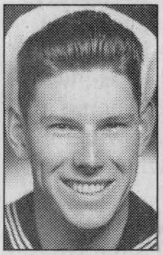

Varick John Doig Jr. passed away peacefully on March 7, 2008, with his immediate family by his side. John was the firstborn of Blanche Claire White and Varick John Doig Sr. on Nov. 10, 1930, in Townsend. He joined the U.S. Navy in November 1947 and served until November 1951. After an honorable discharge he joined the Montana National Guard.

He was married to Caryl Benetta Thronson at St. John's Lutheran Church on Aug. 28, 1952. He started working for Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company in February 1952 and retired 40 years to the day from U.S. West as an auditor.

John was preceded in death by his father, Varick, and wife, Caryl. He is survived by his mother, Blanche Doig; sister, Patricia Apland; brother, Marvin (Julie) Doig; his children, Robert (Mariellen) of Brick, N.J.; Michael (Karen) of East Helena; Linda (Cornelius) Valkenburg of Billings; Barbara (Elden) Sheridan of Helena; Bonni Kirby of Helena; special companion of 14 years, Rose Marie Lindstrom (Rosie); 11 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Doig Jr.

Doig Jr.

John and Caryl were married for 39 years before Caryl passed away in 1992. John and Caryl had five children: Robert Eugene, born in July 1953; Michael Dennis, born in June 1954; Linda Caryl, born in September 1955; Barbara Marie, born in March 1958; and Bonni Jon, born in March 1966.

John enjoyed traveling with his family, coaching baseball, fishing and camping. After his retirement he enjoyed volunteer work with the Montana Talking Books Library. The U.S. Navy and the telephone company were paramount in his life, and he reminisced frequently about the impact it made in his life.

John's special companion, Rosie, was a shining light in his life after Caryl's passing. He always lived his life in the manner he was raised — the only help for a man is at the end of his arm.

In lieu of flowers, the family request memorials sent to St. Peter's Cancer Treatment Center, 2475 Broadway, Helena, MT 59601. Hagler-Anderson Mortuary was entrusted with local arrangements.

We wish Dad fair seas and following winds on his final tour.

Dear Mr. Doig,

Please forgive my intruding on your privacy. I am writing to briefly relate the circumstances of my late wife's passing because they may be pertinent to those of your mother's passing, and might therefore be information you might wish to have.

I have loved your writing since my own mother, who was born and raised in the Helena Valley as a third generation Montanan, gave me a signed first edition "from my house of sky to yours" in 1978. I also have a signed first edition of Heart Earth from 1993.

I had the privilege of taking classes from both Wallace Stegner and Yvor Winters as an undergraduate at Stanford, and I know that you are a wonderful writer.

Jenny Gayle McLauchlan Carlson passed away at home about 4:00 in the morning on March 14th, 1998. She was almost 53. Her death was from complications caused over a period of years by Alpha-1 Antitrypsin Deficiency.

Alpha-1 is always fatal, sooner or later. It is about as common as cystic fibrosis, yet it is very underdiagnosed, perhaps because its symptoms can be insidious. It is often diagnosed as asthma, or emphysema, or "emphysema/asthma."

As I understand it, alpha-1 antitrypsin is an enzyme produced in the liver that is necessary for the shutting down of the body's immune response to pollution in the lungs. Without it, the body slowly devours one's lungs from the bottom up. This can be clearly seen on x-rays: emphysema destroys lungs from the top down, alpha-1 from the bottom up.

Theorists postulate that alpha-1 began in Sweden and spread to the other Scandinavian countries, across and around the Baltic, and to Scotland and Ireland.

My Jenny was the daughter of the children of immigrants. Her mother was 100% Norwegian, from Astoria, and her father was 100% Scottish, from Vancouver Island. Her father, Duncan, graduated from the University of Washington and then from the University of Oregon Medical School where he met his Marie, who was a nurse. After serving in the Army Medical Corps, Duncan completed his training at the Menninger Clinic and became a distinguished psychiatrist in Portland. Duncan and Marie had four daughters, but neither of them knew that each was a carrier of Alpha-1.

Jenny and I were married in 1979, when she was almost 34. From that time, I thought that she became shorter of breath than she should have. She also complained about the effects of the fumes from ordinary household cleaners, such as Comet cleanser. However, we remained fairly active. On Labor Day weekend of 1984, we climbed Mt. Pilchuck. In June of 1985, though, she could hardly climb the basement stairs from the laundry room. I took her to a Yale trained internist who diagnosed "emphysema/asthma," and subsequently, sometimes, just "asthma."

Four years later a friend in pediatric nursing suggested that Jenny might have Alpha-1, but her doctor refused to test her. So she went to an allergist, in search of asthma inhalers and a blood test. The test confirmed Alpha-1. Jenny was contacted by a research group in Portland who wanted her to join a study, and they mentioned that death followed an average of seven years after "severe onset."

Jenny declined to participate in the study and became the patient of a pulmonologist, the very diligent and compassionate Dr. Embra A. Roper of The Polyclinic in Seattle. Her disease progressed somewhat slowly, but she went on chronic oxygen early in January of 1996 and started to noticeably decline in November of 1997, when she sustained a spontaneous tear of her left Achilles tendon. She passed less than three months later, in great faith, looking forward to her release from mortality.

Earlier in the decade, Jenny's mother consigned to her some documents from her father's side of the family. Among them, we found the death certificate for her paternal grandmother, Jenny Aird McLauchlan. Grandmother Jenny had not been able to breathe well in the mill town air of Chemainus, so she returned to her native Edinburgh where she died in her early thirties. So she went from the pollution of wood smoke back to that of coal smoke. The death certificate listed the cause as "dementia."

We had learned earlier that dementia has been an historic diagnosis for alphas because no one would believe them when they said they couldn't breathe. Some were even consigned to asylums before they died. Their bronchia and lungs appeared intact, but their lungs were gone from the bottom up. My Jenny had less then 20% of her lung capacity when she passed.

One other piece of serendipity: Jenny was a classmate of Craig Lesley at Whitman College, Class of 1967.

If this letter is an unwelcome intrusion, please forgive me. One day, a few years after Jenny's death, my loss reminded me of yours, and I have thought ever since that I should communicate this information to you. I am doing so entirely out of respect for you and your family.

Very highest regards,

Eric Forsman Carlson

Dear Elspeth Johnson--

Your letter was a delight, not least because I am enthralled to have a relative named Elspeth. Several years ago I was sent on a cultural exchange tour, and the first three women my wife and I met in New Zealand, in connection with my tour of libraries etc., were all Elspeths. We began to wonder if it was some kind of New Zealand joke. All three of them were splendid to us, and I can now think of you as an honorary member of their ranks.

There is also a Queensland connection. My uncle, Paul Ringer, stayed on and married in Rockhampton after his World War II service there. He had a good knack with language, and when I was working on This House of Sky here would come his reminiscences of Montana spiced, if you'll excuse the phrase, with sayings such as "my arthritis is giving me curry" and "you're not wrong about that."

As to Brechin: your scholarly intuition, as Uncle Paul would have said, is not wrong! I did indeed base Nethermuir on that town, after rejecting Arbroath for some reason and Kerriemuir for another reason, on and on until Brechin simply felt right. Along with my notes and my wife's photos, I used census material (probably from 1891) to create a fictional version of where Angus and Rob were from, then used emigrants' letters in a University of St. Andrew's collection and material at the Mitchell Library in Glasgow for selected details of the voyage. Some, too, is sheer imagination; the ballad "Dancing at the rascal fair" I made up, to justify the book title that had occurred to me.

The Doigs on this side of the Atlantic have been blessed(?) with a bit of American zealotry, in the form of a California computer whiz who became enthusiastic about our genealogy. In case you have not come across it, I'm enclosing a few pertinent pages of his version of our shared forebears. I can't remember if I picked it up from his research or where, but there is a wonderful couplet about an early Doig who became provost of Dundee and was enthusiastically despised for being such a rapscallion. Upon his death, the street urchins sang: "Provost Doig is deid, God be thankit; many a better dog has been hangit." Also, Kenneth Doig in California once telephoned me in perplexity, asking if I knew anything about a certain Doig family he'd found in Florida. No, I asked, why? Because they're black Jamaicans in background, that's why! I greatly liked the idea of Jamaicans, the maestros of the Caribbean, contributing to our family line.

And you have contributed to my musing appreciation of that line. In your own work, I'd be interested in seeing anything you've written from your research on emigration to Queensland; one of my favorite books from my doctoral years was Marnie Bassett's The Hentys. Thanks so much for your letter.

Dear Ivan Doig,

I am about to write to you a tale stranger than fiction, so I do hope you 'hang in' to what may seem a long and rambling letter.

My name is Elspeth Johnson and I live in Broughty Ferry near Dundee in Scotland. Although I have lived here for over thirty years, I was born and brought up in England by Scottish parents and came to Dundee, following five years living in Melbourne, Australia. I retired from a long career in education in 1996 and became drawn into a research project about Scottish emigration to Queensland, Australia during the 1880's. (My daughter is living in Brisbane and this gave me the incentive for the research as well as access to passenger lists of Scots emigrants.)

In May of this year I successfully completed a doctorate dissertation that was examined orally by an external academic. During the course of the interview the examiner asked if I had read any of your novels because a section of my thesis reminded her of one of them. To tell the truth I didn't remember your name (the stress of the interview) and had to e-mail her later for details. In her reply she told me that she had been reminded of Dancing at the Rascal Fair but that I should read This House of Sky first to understand your Scottish background.

I eventually succeeded in finding your books- one coming from Seattle via booksellers Amazon- and started with This House of Sky. Then I discovered that your Scottish ancestry had local roots. But it was only when I had traced your family in the 1881 census that my heart skipped a beat. The father of the brothers who emigrated (i.e. your g.-grandfather) was keeper of the monument at Panbride and several of his children had been born in Barry where my g-g-grandmother, Helen Doig, spent most of her life. I then looked at earlier censuses and parish records and have established that we are descended from two brothers William and Peter, the sons of Alexander Doig and Marjory Peddie.

Helen Doig was the daughter of William, and David Doig was the son of Peter, so these two were first cousins. I have attached a simple family tree to illustrate the association.

Also attached is a copy of an original I have, which came from the bible of William Doig, and lists his family with their dates of birth. I have not been able to find a reliable trace of his only son James Doig, beyond the 1841 census, but he did sign his mother's death certificate in 1885. William and Henrietta Doig spent the latter years of their life in Barry nearbye their daughter Helen Doig who had married William Leslie. I wonder if one or other of these Doig women assisted with the births of David Doig's children, born in Barry, or whether your g. grandfather lived for a while in the village. Helen Doig and William Leslie eventually progressed to become tenants of a small-holding in Barry in 1892 (part of the Dalhousie Estate which employed your g-grandfather David Doig), and this remained in the Leslie family until the mid 1960's. The property now belongs to our friends, Sandy and Elspeth Cochrane (another long story). Sandy is my husband's business partner. So, the old sheds are now used to house a small specialist engineering business and an industrial silver-smith. Elspeth keeps horses, donkeys and rare breeds of sheep on the land. The cottage and stabling, from the outside, is much the same as it would have been 100 years ago.

The photograph is of four generations of William Leslies and was taken in about 1924. The old man is William Leslie who married Helen Doig. In the middle is their son William Doig Leslie and then his son, my grandfather, with his little son, my uncle. There is no surviving photograph of female family members. Interestingly, William Doig Leslie's first wife, and mother of all his children, was Margaret Hood, a descendant of a brother of the poet Thomas Hood.

I had no idea of this family history when we came to Dundee in 1970. My grandfather and his brothers had left Barry at the beginning of WW1-they saw no prospects in the land and joined the police- moving to the central region of Scotland. In turn, my mother and father moved to England during WW2. Both my parents were dead by the time I was in my mid-twenties. When we returned from Australia my husband was offered an academic post in Dundee and my uncle then told me about the family connections to the area!!

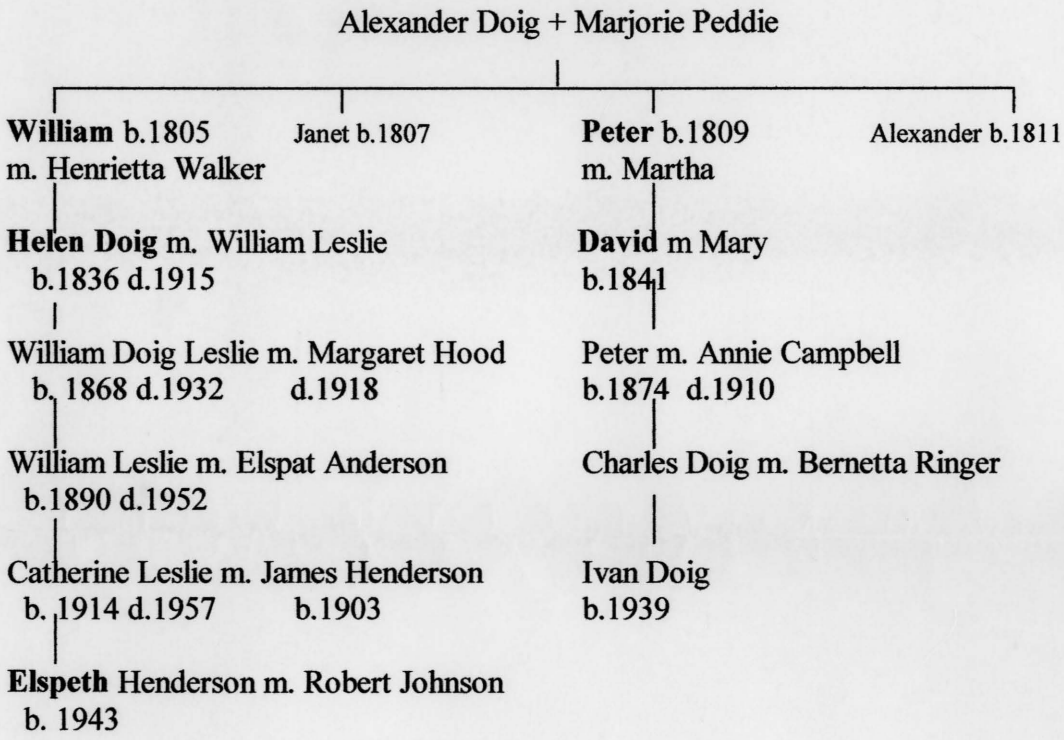

Back to the academic connection - my external examiner was Marjory Harper from Aberdeen University. She had been introduced to your books by visiting lecturers Frank and Margaret Szasz, friends of yours. What was it in my thesis that reminded her of Dancing at the Rascal Fair? Well, I had written a section about a group of lads from Brechin who emigrated to Queensland- many of them came from River Street, Brechin!! The dates of emigration and occupations were also similar to Rob Barclay and Alex McCaskill. In fact I thought at first you had based Nethermuir on Brechin. One final coincidence-your character Anna Ramsay dies in October 1918 and in real life my g.grandmother Margaret Hood Leslie, wife of William Doig Leslie, died of the same influenza in the same week.

I know from your books that you spent time in Scotland researching and no doubt some of what I have written will be known to you. However, I hope you do not mind my making this contact with you and sharing with you what I know of another branch of the Doig family. There will be hundreds of descendants of the original couple- Alexander Doig and Marjory Peddie- but I hope you agree with me that making a connection as I have described is somewhat unusual and exciting. I should also say that I have thoroughly enjoyed all three of your books that I have read so far. I particularly enjoyed This House of Sky. What a wonderful, unconventional upbringing your father and grandmother gave you. You have also introduced me to Montana, a state I knew virtually nothing about, and which is now high on my travel priorities.

Incidently, the experiences of Rob Barclay and Alex McCaskill were probably similar to their Angus cousins and friends who chose Queensland as an emigrant destination instead of North America. As in Montana the 640 acre parcels of land were too small to provide a living in most parts of Queensland, although they would have seemed a huge acreage to the newly arrived Scots. My thesis concentrated on the factors that determined emigration from Scotland but naturally I was able to follow some stories through, and Queensland, like Montana, was rarely a land of milk and honey. I aim to continue my research in Queensland to discover what happened to more of the Scots emigrants.
In the meantime, I hope you find my note and its contents of interest.
Best Wishes

Elspeth L. Ellison.

He was a cattle rancher at Horse Shoe Hills, MT on the Baxter Palce at Poison Hollow from 1933 until his death. On the neighboring ranch Charles Townsend also ran cattle and shared the forest grazing rights.

James married Elsie Florence Andes on 19 Aug 1934 in Warrensburg, MO. Elsie was born 15 Oct 1908 at Far West, MO, the daughter of Samuel Andes and Annie Florence Wildermouth. Elsie came from Eastern Montana where her parents had homsteaded. She taught at the Morgan school and the Durham school. Jim called her a "school puncher."

Jim died 11 Oct 1940 as the result of a head injury while helping a neighbor, Alvin Cowan; his horse tripped while chasing a cow, and he was thrown so that his head hit a rock. He was buried in the Meadow View Cemetery at Manhattan, MT.

After James death Elsie remarried to Oliver Wendell Townsend on 17 Aug 1946 in Warrensburg, MO. Wendell was born 22 Dec 1918 at Manhattan, MT. His father was Charles A. Townsend, who ran his cattle together with Jim Doig. Wendell is a family history buff, and traces his family back to Surgeon John Greene of Warwick, RI, the first medical doctor in Rhode Island, who came to America in 1635; his ancestors go back to 1066 in the era of William the Conqueror. We offer a special thanks to Wendell as much of this later branch of the Doigs was researched by him. They lived in Bozeman, MT from 1947 to 1955, and he worked for the Montana Air Conditioning Co. They moved to Independence, MO, and returned to Wendell's home town of Manhattan, MT in April, 1982.

MONTANA VISIT, May, '74

Grandma copied from her grandmother's album:

Grandma Matter's funeral was held on Tues. afternoon Oct. 7, Rev. H. Wenger officiating. Interment was made at Holy Trinity Cemetery north of town. Grandma Matter was born on the 13th day of May, 1838, in Germany, and died on Oct. 5, 1924, attaining the rare age of 86 years, 4 months and 22 days.

Emigrating to America while still young, she was joined in wedlock to Erich Kopplin residing at LaPorte, Indiana. Four children were born to them, two of whom survive: Robert Kopplin of Tomahawk, Wisc., and Mrs. Augusta Glun of Manitowoc, Wisc. Both of whom attended the funeral. Charlie Kopplin, residing at Phillips, Wisc., died about a year ago. His second sister Alvina having preceded him in death by 17 years. Erich Kopplin, the first husband having died, then deceased entered the state of matrimony for the second time marrying Gustav Matter, who lived just north of town. This marriage took place in 1874 on the 10th of Oct. Thus Grandma Matter lived 50 years on what is known as the Ed Matter farm. Four children were born to this union which two of them died in infancy. The other two are Gustave and Ed, both living north of town.

She leaves 22 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Grandma Matter was a devoted Christian. She loved her church and served her Christ. The leaven of christianity had made her a strong and beautiful character.

(This likely was originally copied by Aunt Marguerite from the Spencer, Wisc., paper.)

Dear Ivan,

Thank you so much for sending the article from the Montana magazine. Besides enjoying reading the article, I found the pictures a real contribution to the material I had gathered for the book club meeting.

I failed to mention in my previous letter that I had the two books you mentioned, and they also provided good material. The book of pictures I have had for a number of years. I just wish that the photographs were in color, because they seem rather bleak to me. However, I agree that it is good to have photos of the country portrayed in your books. This past summer, I was delighted to find Earthlight, Wordfire at the Tattered Cover bookstore in Denver. I had not previously known of its existence.

JoAnn Beetem also sent me some old photographs of the Doigs and your mother and yourself. Most of them I had not seen before, so I was very happy to have them.

At the book club meeting this past Monday, the women were delighted with all the photographs. Previously, the only photographs they had seen, I think, were those published with the reviews of your various books. The book club has been studying Western Literature for twenty-five years -- some of the members of the group have been there for all that time. The women are a very interesting bunch, mostly faculty wives but some of them faculty members themselves. They have a wide range of reading interests and they have traveled extensively. And they are all great fans of your work. Usually, when we are discussing a book, one or more of the women does not like it or does not approve of the author's approach to a subject. Monday all they could say were positive things about Heart Earth, and we had the biggest turnout of women at the meeting that we have had in the two years I have been in the book club.

My sisters, Joan and Margie, and I would really like to get together with you for lunch if you are in either Fort Collins or Denver on your book tour. I realize that you probably will have a hectic schedule, but if you could work us in, we would love it. We all wish we had had the opportunity to know you better as we were growing up, and we would welcome the chance to visit with you now as adults. Please let me know when you will be in our part of the country.

Thank you again for the material you sent.

Sincerely,

Marilyn

Dear Ivan,

For a long, long time I have meant to write to tell you how very much I have enjoyed your books. I have put it off for years because I am the world's best procastinator. One of the reasons that I particularly appreciate your beautiful use of language is that I have extreme difficulty putting thoughts, impressions and feelings into words. I am very impressed with your research and your need to present the West in a realistic way. Your capability of looking beyond people's faults and seeing their real worth is a real lesson in humanity.

Since I moved back to Colorado two years ago, I have met many fans of your work. The Western Literature Group of the Colorado State University Womens' Association has selected four of your books -- This House of Sky, the your fiction trilogy -- to read and discuss in past years. On November 13, the book selection for the group is Heart Earth and I have been asked to assist the leader for the discussion. I thought the Mother would have photos of your family in her albums that I could use, but all that I found were the picture of the four youngest Doig men (and an unidentified friend) and the pictures taken at Aunt Anna's wedding.

I was wondering if you would be willing to lend me photographs that would enhance our review of the book. Since you would probably not want to trust the photos to the mail, I am enclosing a check to cover copying the pictures. I have taken the few pictures I have to Kinko's and had them blown up to 8 1/5 x 11, and that size seems to work for presentations. If this is bad timing or if this is too much of an imposition, please just tear up the check. Otherwise, I would very much appreciate your sending the pictures to me at 925 Columbia Road #834, Fort Collins, Colorado 80525.

Reading and re-reading your books has given me great pleasure and a larger sense of heredity. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Doig

Dear Marilyn--

I'm not as much help on family pics for you as I wish I could be--my collection is strewn in archival boxes, and I'm up to my ears right now with a Thanksgiving deadline on the manuscript of my next book. But let's see if we can do you and the reading group some good from published sources:

--The enclosed photocopy of a magazine piece I wrote has several pics of my folks, including the one of my mom on horseback specifically mentioned in Heart Earth. If the photocopy version won't work for your enlargement purposes, I would think the CSU library would have the magazine on file to make better copies from, as it's a well-known scholarly quarterly.

--And CSU or the Stone Lion or the Tattered Cover might well have the book which contains a good selection of my family pics, Earthlight, Wordfire: The Work of Ivan Doig, by Elizabeth Simpson (U. of Idaho Press, 1992).

--One lesser library book you could check on: Inside This House of Sky, a photo book by Duncan Kelso. I wasn't any too thrilled with Duncan's photography, but he did shoot a lot of our home country, including the Doig homestead and the Sixteen country.

Hope this helps. I may get to Fort Collins next spring on the bookstore tour for this next book; those are often hectic forays up from the Denver airport, but it'd be fun to get together for lunch if we can. Besting of luck with the reading group, and all.

Dear Ivan:

Would you mind signing one of these copies for my father, Ed Doig, who lives in Livingston, MT. He will turn 65 years old on May 22 and I would like to send the book to him for a birthday present. My grandfather, Edwin Doig, Sr. was a brother of Charlie Doig and my father has given me copies of several of your books over the past 18 years. Your first book "This House of Sky" was published when I was a graduate student in Atlanta and people way down in Georgia would ask me if I happened to be related to you. It has been my pleasure over the years to have been able to answer yes whenever I have been posed with that question.

My favorite book is "Heart Earth" because in the first few pages you tell the same story that my grandfather, Edwin Doig, Sr. would tell me when we fished Deep Creek during my childhood. He would describe how he and his brothers rode their horses through the canyon into this invisible town of Sixteen for the Saturday night dances. From the smile on his face I could tell that the Doig brothers must have been pretty hot stuff, or at least they thought so!

I remember Charlie Doig from my grandmother Christine's funeral in Three Forks in about 1969. He was in a walker with oxygen and when I asked my mother about him she told me that he was very ill. She also told me that Bessie Ringer and Charlie visited her in the hospital in Townsend at the time she delivered me in 1954. She was always touched by the fact that they brought her a gift of baby clothing.

I am active in the Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association here in Denver and many Kappas have told me that they collect all of your books. The annual Book Author Dinner that you kicked off several years ago has become an established fundraiser for Craig Rehabilitation Hospital. We have several authors featured each year now and I hope that someday you will come back again to speak. The dinner has been been consistently drawing 600–700 guests.

I will be present at your reading at The Tattered Cover tonight. They are expecting quite a crowd and if the logistics are such that I cannot introduce myself to you, the bookstore has assured me that it will be safe to leave this letter and my copies of "Bucking the Sun" as you will do some additional signing after the people have gone home.

Thank you for your time and I will look forward to meeting you.

Sincerely yours,

Pam Doig

Dear Mr. Doig,

Many years ago, my father, (James Rufus Doig), told me that he and I and family were related to you. I don't know if this is true but I thought you might be able to tell me where in Scotland your family & perhaps mine, originated from or still reside. I will be going to Scotland in June and would be interested in contacting any other Doigs. I would appreciate any

Dear Mrs. Hulme--

In hasée, as I'm just back from some traveling and found your forwarded letter. The Doigs of my family are from a little place called Panbride, north of Dundee. Here's the name of a Doig who's done a lot of Doig genealogy on a computer:

Kenneth Doig
26363 Club Dr.
Madera CA 93638 phone (209)674-8014

I hope this helps. Enjoy your trip.

correction you could give me.

Dear DOIGS --

Although the response to the idea of a family reunion was not overwhelming, there were enough ticks against selections to warrant making some arrangements, some reservations and setting up a schedule of activities. The enthusiasm of my immediate family has kept me going on the plan for a long week-end in Montana in August with hopes of sharing with some of the Doig family. So here is the result of that effort. Living in California, I had forgotten how very friendly and genuinely helpful Montanans can be; it has been a pleasure dealing those people that will provide the services for such a week-end.
[Thanks for all the updates and additions to my mailing list]

Schedule

Friday, August 9	gather at the Elks Lodge at 106 E. Babcock (one block south of Main
4:00 P.M.	between Black and Bozeman Streets)
- 10:00 P.M.	buffet supper will be available from 6 P.M. on costing $5 get acquainted -- update geneology charts -- share photo albums-- cuss and discuss [in case you arrive earlier, please contact Wendell Townsend @384-6667 to find out who else has arrived or to get directions]
Saturday, August 10	meet at Lee and Dad's parking lot in Belgrade for all day trip back in
8:30 A.M.	Doig history (weather permitting). 4 x 4 Stage company will provide
-5:00 P.M.	vans which seat 12-14 people each and guaranteed to take the back roads (unless there has been too much rain) to Maudlow, Ringling, Wall Mountain, Sixteen, the Morgan Ranch returning via the Biggs place (alias Poison Hollow) and the Dry Creek road. Cost $20 per person noonish	A picnic lunch will be available in or near Ringling, hopefully at the school at Sixteen.
6:00 P.M.	A buffet dinner will be held at the Masonic Lodge in Manhattan
-10:00 P.M.	followed by story swapping and family tale telling costing approximately $6
Sunday, August 11	Catered barbecue picnic at Hyalite Lake Campgrounds

Camp sites up Hyalite Canyon (406) 587-9054	3 are being held for Doig Family Reunion

Transportation

The airlines flying into Bozeman are Delta, Northwest and Frontier. The cheaper flights during the summer months tend to fill up quickly, so booking early is well advised.

It has been my experience to arrive in Bozeman in the summer and find no available rental cars, so if you plan to use a rental car, making a reservation is a necessity.

Other Activities

Additional activities in Gallatin County include --

- Museum of the Rockies
- Hiking expeditions
- Gallatin County Fair begins August 12
- Numerous art galleries.

Dear DOIGS --

Having had a surprisingly pleasant time at a reunion of the cousins on my Mother's side of the family last summer, and having been yet again reminded at Christmastime how much one appreciates hearing from the distant relatives, I began experimenting with an idea ----

What if the Doig family had a family reunion ?

- _____ I like the idea;
- _____ I hate the idea;
- _____ sell me on the idea;
- _____ I would not be able to make it.

say in August when the back trails are fairly passable on foot sans snowshoes?

- _____ August 9-11
- _____ August 16-18
- _____ August 23-25

What if there were a picnic/barbecue planned for the Saturday afternoon?

- _____ in or near Ringling,
- _____ at Livingston,
- _____ at Fairy Lake,
- _____ up Middle Creek (south of Bozeman).

March 18, '96

Dear Beverly--

Carol and I have been away most of the winter, and are just now trying to tame the mail. Very hastily, about your family reunion questions: we're out of the picture for this August. I hope you get it achieved this year, but if you don't, we might be able to make it some other summer.

Hope you're thriving. Excuse the brevity, but I wanted to respond quickest.

What about a block of rooms reserved so that informal visiting could happen easily (and group rates might be possible)?

- _____ Days' Inn in Bozeman
- _____ Bridger Bowl
- _____ camping facilities up Hyalite

What other activities would be of interest to make the week-end memorable?

- _____ an evening at the Elks' Lodge in Bozeman swapping stories and sharing old photos,
- _____ a reception at the Gallatin Gateway Inn to meet the gathered family members,
- _____ a get together in Livingston [suggest a place],
- _____ a dinner at the Masonic Lodge in Manhattan.

What type of informal excursions?

- _____ a day at Big Sky
- _____ a trip up the Horseshoe Hills and on to Maudlow or Sixteen Mile Canyon
- _____ a look around the Bridger Bowl and on to Fairy Lake

[your suggestions here]

Are there others that might like to be included on the mailing list?

Manhattan museum volunteer Elsie Doig Townsend serenades a visitor to the museum Monday while playing an antique organ.

Museum short on attractions

By SHERRY JONES
Chronicle Staff Writer

MANHATTAN — The big attraction in Manhattan's first-ever museum — an old stagecoach — is just about its only attraction so far.

"We do need lots more," says Rudy Sanchez of the Manhattan Area Historical Society, looking around at the bare white walls and empty display cases.

"But we figure, well, these are interesting things," he added, turning his attention back to the stagecoach.

Parked in the center of the spacious room that once was the town's jail, then its fire hall, the rickety old coach draws the visitor instantly to its rust and rotted timber shell. At its flanks are an old Model A Ford and an antique doctor's buggy, both in mint condition.

That, save for a handful of items in the display cases, is about as much as the Manhattan Historical Museum has to offer today — yet 100 people had passed through the museum's door by Monday, its 10th day open.

After looking at the stagecoach, perhaps they wandered to the back of the museum for a peek inside the small cement jail cells, which Sanchez hopes to liven up with a couple of mannequins.

Or maybe they thumbed through the written history of Manhattan, which sits alone in a large display case save for two antique pencil sharpeners, or looked over the butter churn, cream separator, bellows and harness-stitching machine arranged in a corner.

A batch of old Manhattan High School photos, some antiquated books and a Masons' display later, the tour is finished.

It can all be done in about 15 minutes, unless Elsie Townsend is working that day. In her 80s and full of stories about Manhattan and her world travels, Townsend can turn a quick museum visit into an extended stay — and she'll gladly throw in a concert on the antique pump organ.

In the works for a year, the museum just opened July 7, more than a month later than planned. Historical society members painted and carpeted the inside and installed lights, then set to searching for exhibits and recruiting volunteers.

They especially need people and goods in time for the museum's grand opening celebration, during Manhattan's Potato Festival Aug. 18.

Community enthusiasm for the museum has been high, but residents so far have been more talk than action, the Sanchezes say.

"Every day I'm on the phone trying to get volunteers," says Rudy Sanchez's wife, Angela, in their Northwest Antiques store.

The scarcity of things to show probably means people aren't aware, not that they don't care, Rudy Sanchez says.

Dear Sir:

Our daughter, Mrs Bob Foster, gave her Dad your book "Heart Earth" for Christmas.

In reading it you talked about the Moss Agate school.

Some 49 years ago my husband bought that school from the Ringling school board and moved it to town on an iron wheel mover.

He had a basement fixed for it a block south of Ralph Jordan's.

We made a home of it and raised our children; then LaVern built a smaller home and we sold it.

It's still a home and used.

This probably doesn't mean a thing to you but we thought it was interesting.

LaVern worked with Wally on the Hi-Way and we spent two years on Deep Creek before we moved into the house.

Thank you for a good book.

Dear Mrs. Crow—

22 Jan. '94

Thanks for your letter about the Moss Agate schoolhouse; I'll have a look next time I'm in WSS.

You maybe know that I boarded with the Jordans a winter or two? And I remember Pork working with my uncle Wally, too. The section house and Deep Creek and all that, I found interesting to go back to in writing Heart Earth; glad you're enjoying the book.

all best,

Edwin Doig, your Uncle, was my Great Uncle! My mother, who is with me, was his niece. We were from Three Forks.
He was married to my grandmother's sister, Christine Harder.

Christine Harder was the German lady's daughter you mentioned in This House of Sky.

The German lady was my great-grandmother, my mother's grandmother. ~~She~~ Mrs ~~Ha~~ Harder ran and owned The Harder Hotel in Ringling.

I brought a picture of her leaning on her glass counter.

You did know that your Uncle Ed passed away last November in Livingston at 96.

Dear "Cousin,"

Enclosed is the latest version I have of your Doig family tree. Your section is out of a total of 309 similar pages of Doigs, and more are in preparation. I am on the Kilmadock section that runs to 115 pages.

I hope you can add a few more bits of information and provide some more addresses and phone numbers of Doig descendants. Copies of any articles, newspaper clippings, photos, etc. will certainly be appreciated; please indicate the source. We hope to go to press in the next year, or two.

Our latest addition was from Jean Paterson in Dunblane, Scotland. She located a copy of the "Pre-Reformation" Doigs, or Dogs, that starts in 1460 and runs to about 1650. We are only one or two generations apart from connecting to the Kilmadock Doigs. There is also an unlocated Doig genealogy that was prepared in 1840 and includes Kilmadock, Brechen and Forfar; the search is on.

Jean also sent a tree on the Doigs that went from Kilmadock to New Zealand. I have current phone book listings on the islands, and we should be able to add to our tree.

John C. Doig has provided financial support, and a copy of the complete listings is being made available to a professional genealogist in Scotland. She is already familiar with the early Dogs, and can add much to our tree. One of the efforts will be to tie the separate branches, including yours, to the main tree.

I hope you will enjoy your family history. Bye for now.

Best regards,

Ken

Dear Dona--

on

The information I have our our Campbell and Doig forebears is scant, but there are a few key dates and names which might help you track them genealogically in Scotland. Here goes:

--Annie Campbell, my grandmother, was born March 16th, 1871, to John and Isabell Campbell, according to her Montana death certificate (she died Feb. 13, 1943, in Ringling). The birthplace is given only as Scotland, but I'm sure my aunt Anna has told me the Campbell side of the family is from around Perth (which I believe the true Scots pronounce "Pairth"). In any case, at the Scottish equivalent of the National Archives--I think it would be Register House in Edinburgh--you could try look up the birth record of an Annie Campbell born on March 16, 1871, parents John and Isabell, and see where they resided.

--Peter Doig, my grandfather, died Sept. 26, 1910, and while his death certificate lists his parents as David B. Doig and his mother's name as Mary Scott (the death certificate informant is Peter's brother David, so this info should be utterly accurate) it doesn't give his birthdate. But on the Declaration of Intention he filed to take out citizenship, in order to file for a homestead, it states he was born Jan. 15, 1874. One of his witnesses on that citizenship application, incidentally, is Donald Campbell; the other is David Winter, who I believe was also related to us, probably by marriage. And as I told you on the phone, both family lore and some scouting I did at Register House pinpointed a little place called Panbride, on the east coast of Scotland near Carnoustie, as the site the Doigs came from.

I hope you have fun over there; my wife Carol and I have loved both Cardiff and Scotland. A quick word of advice, if you're going to do any work in Scottish archives such as Register House: take some pencils, not pens. Last time I was there, doing census research for background to put into my novel Dancing at the Rascal Fair, a woman next to me broke out in wails when the Scottish attendant in blue dustcoat politely but relentlessly informed her she had to use pencil. Happy hunting, and let me know how it comes out, hmm? Maybe Carol and I can hear in person, in Mesa, eventually.

all best,

p.s. The cousin who I think interviewed Jeannie Campbell, or perhaps told me one of her sisters did, is Beverly Doig (daughter of Jim and Elsie, if you have any kind of family scorecard), 23251 Los Alisos #18, El Toro CA 92630; if she happens to be away, try her sister Marilyn Doig, 3257 RogaeRRiver Rd., Belmont MICH 49306.

Dear Iron,

I wrote to Uncle Archie and instead of trying to tell you what he said, I am just going to copy his letter as I got it. His hand writing is a little hard to read & I would like to keep the letter so here goes.

"Dad & My Mother came out from Scotland May 9, 1888. They were married May 4, 1888 took a boat for the U.S.A. landed in New York then from there to Townsend Mt. and got on a stage from there to white Sulphur Springs. Next day they traveled by foot to the Jim Campbell homestead which is the Campbell Ranch owned by the Higgins family. My Dads Brother Jim filed on a homestead there. Jim was the first Campbell to come from Scotland. Jim got a friend of my Dads to come from Scotland, Done Winter. Done got a job working for the Foster Sheep Co. Done Winter then got Dad to come to Montana. Mother and Dad stayed in Jim Campbell's cabin a year or better. The cabin did not have a floor in it and I think it is still there. (It is there now) Jim Campbell had itching feet. He went up the Klondike Alaska gold rush and he never returned. I do not think he proved up on his homestead, before going to Alaska. Dad started out for himself from there to where the old ranch is now. 13 miles South of Ringling In Gallatin County, to take up a homestead. Dad thought he could homestead there but being it was Northern Pacific Railroad he could not. Later he did file on Section 6 adjoining Section 5 and took up his homestead. Iron talks about the Middle Fork, the old ranch is on a branch of the Middle Fork which flows into the South Fork creek then into Sixteen mile creek near Francis now, (was Josephine P.O.) I have a Gallatin National Forest Bozeman Ranger District map. It shows the Jim Campbell ranch in Meagher Co. South of Kenyling and the Potter and Gerde Ranch. Strange our old ranch is only marked as a black dot on the map. Dad lived out there 57 years.

Finally - Mother Jeannie died Aug. 4 1962. She was living with Albert & Bob Foreman in Bozeman Mt. Dad McDonald, died Jan. 19, 1946 in Bozeman.

I did not know Iron's father died, the last I heard he was living in white Sulphur. I hope you can read this rambling letter of mine.

I just finished talking to my nephew Bob Foreman and he is interested in what Jean is doing and would like to buy a copy of the book & I would like one too when it is finished. Bob Foreman said he thought Walter Doig was writing up some of his family genealogy."

Love,
arch

Mother he talks about is:

Jeannie Scott Cameron Doig Campbell

Father he talks about is:

Donald Campbell.

Somewhere at Kenyon I have where they were born in Scotland & what years. If I find it I'll mail it on to you Jean. Before

I close this I am going to call Uncle Archie and see if he knows about Annie Campbell all I know is that she was Donald Campbells sister and married a Doig, and Jeannie Doig married Donald Campbell, so Angus Doig + Bob Campbell (my Dad) and Angus Doig were double Cousins.

Both of my Grandparents are buried in Bozeman, (Jeannie + Donald Campbell)

Just talked Uncle Archie and he doesn't know to much about Annie Doig - He thinks she came here soon after Jeannie + Donald Campbell did. Thought she worked in Lewistown for awhile, then married Pete Doig who was Jeannie (sister). + Dave Doig's brother. She died in Reigling. Pete had a ranch on Turner Basin.

well. hope this helps some.
It has really been interesting

Dear Corinne

Have been a bit slow getting off this note of thanks for your digging into the Doig-Campbell family background. The material from Archie is very useful. The same day your letter came, I also got one from Beverly Doig, the oldest daughter of Elsie Townsend, my uncle Jim's widow. Beverly has had quite an interest in the family background, and I guess once talked with Jeannie Campbell to write a high school assignment of some sort. Her information squares pretty well with Archie's, with the exception that she has Donald and Jeannie Campbell coming by ship to Quebec instead of New York. Beverly has the name of the ship as the Cartaghian, but I wonder if it wouldn't have been the Carthaginian. Anyway, that's something I can check on, when I can get to it.

One other detail from Beverly which might interest you. Jeannie told her that when she and Donald arrived by stagecoach in White Sulphur, "No one was there to meet them, so they began walking toward Donald's brother's place up Sixteen Mile Canyon. Finally they met someone who knew Jim Campbell and brought horses for them to ride."

I'm slowly gathering material on the Doigs, though my interest is less in the genealogy than in trying to figure out what happened back in Scotland to spread the family out into the world -- at least four of them off into the hills of Montana, and a couple of others off to India, as I gather it.

The book I'm working on really will focus on my dad, with just enough of the family background to make his Wall Mountain boyhood understandable. It's very difficult to write -- everything has to be pried out of memory or otherwise tracked down -- and it'll be more than a year, maybe a couple, before it's done. But some of it is beginning to be good enough to please me, and I'll see that you get some copies when it's at last in print. And perhaps we'll see you sometime this summer; I think I'm going to have to make a research trip to White Sulphur and Helena. Again, thanks for your help, Corinne. All our best to Bill and the girls.

17021 10th Ave. NW
Seattle, Wash. 98177
January 28, 1976

Dear Corinne

You probably never expected that I'd be writing you about the background of the Campbell family -- I know I never expected it -- but that's where some of my current research and writing seems to lead. Off and on, I've been working on a book about my dad, what his life in Montana was like, and so on. Well, I thought I never much gave a damn about genealogy, but now I find that I have to track down as much genealogy as I can to figure out how the Doigs and the Campbells happened to land in Montana from Scotland. And I wonder if you know some answers which would help a lot.

All this comes about because I've been writing to my Aunt Anna (Beetem) in Nebraska to learn what she can remember of Dad's family, as one of the last ones left. She thinks that your grandparents, Donald and Jeannie Campbell (if I have the bloodline of your family straight in my head) were the first ones to come over from Scotland -- and then were followed by Dad's mother, Annie Campbell, and others of her family. It could have been, too, that D.L. Doig followed them over, and in turn was followed by Dad's father Peter, and some other Doigs.

Anyway, all this comes down to a few questions, which I wonder if you have the answer for, or know where I could find out:

--Do you know what year Donald and Jeannie Campbell came from Scotland?

--Did they take up a homestead right away, and is there any family story about how they happened to come all the way to the area they chose?

--I've looked at maps to locate their homestead -- the National Archives can provide copies of the paperwork made out by a homesteader if a person supplies the exact location -- but I'm a bit confused between two sites. I dimly remember that when I was a kid, Dad worked for your dad part of one spring, and I seem to remember the place as being on the Middle Fork of Sixteen. But the maps I've looked at show the "Campbell ranch" as being in there beyond the Snodgrass -- looks to me as if the location is the southeast quarter of Section 10, in Township 5 North. What happened there -- did your grandparents homestead on the Section 10 place, and move to the ranch your dad later ran? Or is my memory just fuzzy?

--Finally, do you know when Donald and Jeannie Campbell died, and where?

All this ancestor hunting aside, how's everything with the Higgins family? Our closest touch with your area now comes from Wally and Emma Ringer, who come out to see Wally's son about every year. With both my father and grandmother gone now, our trips to Montana get scarcer. We may make one sometime this summer, though.

All is well with us. I keep busy with writing, and only lack the time to do as much as I want. Carol still likes her teaching job, though she says the kids out of high school seem to be worse and worse at reading and writing. And incidentally, we have a constant reminder of you and Bill: the easy chair you gave Grandma years ago as a gift for her babysitting is now here in our study, still getting a lot of use and still good and comfortable.

best regards to Bill and the girls

I tried to write the story of the Daigs, but failed miserably - gave up after 20 pages - could not get the "flavor" of it. I hope you do have success with it - Keep at Anna; she's your best source.

Friday, Feb. 6, 1976

Dear Ivan,

Yes, it has been long since we met. The last time that I remember was a week end we stayed in your home in White Sulpher Springs and my husband went hunting with your father. He was married to the second wife - her name eludes me - a very unhappy experience that union was for him - probably for you too.

I have sent your letter on to my oldest daughter, Beverly. When she and Marilyn were going to Scotland, she wrote to Aunt Jeannie (Daig) Campbell and asked about the places and things to see there that related to the family history. When my daughters arrived in Dundee and went to Moneke (I don't know how it is spelled) they found that Aunt Jeannie's memory was accurate.

I have forgotten all that Aunt Jeannie told me of the Doig family. One thing I remember: she said that Dave Doig often helped the Pete Doig family (after the death of Pete). He took all their family to town and bought shoes for the winter (at least once, I know).

My husband (Jim) had no respect for Dave Doig - spoke of his unkindness to them - said he cheated them of pasture land, etc. When I mentioned this to Aunt Jeannie (once on a visit) she protested quickly - in her Scottish dialect - "It is not so." Then I remembered that Anna had said Aunt Jeannie was closely attached to Dave Haig.

And she did not accept the term "Scotch," preferring "Scottish."

Once, when I was teaching in Bozeman and I visited Aunt Jeannie, I said I was teaching "Bobby Burns." Quickly she corrected me, "~~Not~~ It's Robbie Burns, not Bobbie Burns," and her r's rolled across her tongue.

When Jim and I were married, his mother said we were acting like "two dooses (doves) in a doo cote." Jim?

Wendell often used the word "skeeter" to indicate confusion or a "mess." Jim's mother called the linoleum on the floor "ile-cloth."

Anna can tell you more of these familiar expressions.

Jim often said he talked through his nose to save the "wear and tear on his teeth" but he pronounced

"wear and tear" differently from what I do.

Have you ever met Ed? He should be able to recall many details of the early life on the homestead? Of course he left home early - at 13 or 15.

Have you read my second book? It is a story (in third person, but using my mother as ~~point~~ protagonist) of the homesteading of the little Andes community in 1910. The publishers edited the manuscript very badly - even changed the title (originally If the Flag Makes, to the mundane (ename) Always the ~~Fron~~ Frontier. Ugh! I did much research for this writing, searching for and reading old diaries, letters, records, paying one old-time homesteader to come to visit me, talking to others who had gone there in 1911 and 1912. I was keenly disappointed with the book as it was published.

In August my family (Dorys is) planning to spend a week in Montana, camping in the canyon of Middle Creek, not far from Bozeman. Wendell and I own a small ranch in the Gallatin Valley and hope to retire there someday. Meanwhile we lease it for grazing.

If you like roughing it - sleeping on the ground in tents, cooking over a campfire, climbing up mountain canyon walls to see beautiful falls and lakes - come join us there. My husband keeps us supplied with fresh fish from the streams.

Thank you for writing.

Sincerely,

Elsie Townsend

Dear Ivan,

My book, Always the Frontier is not so good. To get it published I had to let the editors cut 60 pages from the manuscript - also edit (delete) hundreds of words and phrases which were part of the local color. I have regretted its being published in this truncated condition. However, I can get a copy of the book for you - if you wish. It is sold by the Herald Book Store here in town.

The Christian Herald Publishing Company (in New York - it has sold 40,000 copies of my first book already) suggested that I submit my complete (original) manuscript to of that second book and let them consider publishing it as it was written. My title for it was If the Flax Makes- symbolic of the success of the community of homesteaders - also explained in the early part of the book. Being a teacher of literature - and of writing - for so many years, I felt very deeply when this title was changed!!

No, Ed Daig's remembrance of events of the Daig family are not accurate at times. You know, he left the family early (when Edward was 14, Jim told me) and went out on his own. Not ever did he seem close to their problems and struggle for existence.

Would enjoy seeing you and your wife - someday.

Sincerely,

Your Aunt Elsie

P.S. Beverly Daig just called - wanted to ask about Daig history material for you. She's much interested

P.P.S.

Claude Daig is another one you should listen to. His Scottish burr is authentic. Have you ever met him? He lives in Minnesota now, you know. His address is Box 146, Mt. Iron, Minnesota, 55751.

Beverly wrote to the Daig aunt who lived in Idaho - the correspondence lasted for years. Also Beverly had letters from Aunt Jeannie Campbell - written when Beverly was going to Scotland - about the Daigs and Campbell's there.

Archie Campbell, Bob Campbell's brother, is in a senior citizen home in Bozeman. I plan to visit him this summer. address: 120 Highland Blvd., Bozeman, 59715 E. J.

Dear Elsie--

Talk about a voice from the past, hmm? I can dimly remember a visit my dad and I made to your place -- in Bozeman? -- when I was a grade schooler, and that's been a while ago. Anyway, perhaps you know from Anna that I'm now a writer, plugging away at full-time at magazine pieces and books, and as most writers eventually do, I've come down with the notion that I should do some writing about my own family and its background. The book, as I see it somewhere in my head, will focus on my dad and the life we led together after my mother died in '45. When I wrote to Anna recently to ask her some questions about how the Doigs happened to end up back there in the Basin all the way from Scotland, she suggested that you might have some early family information which could help. By the same token, some of the material I'm gathering about the family after it came to Montana might interest you, if you're still gathering information, too.

Incidentally, I have seen None to Give Away. My dad bought a copy for me, and was quite thrilled that you'd written the book. I hope it has sold well for you.

Judging from what Anna has told me, I suppose I'm interested in any material whatsoever about the Doig (and Campbell) background in Scotland. If you have some sort of file or collection of information which could be photocopied, I'd happily pay whatever costs might be involved. The genealogy as such is not my main interest, but it does seem to be a key for the story of immigration and settlement which I'm mainly aiming for. (You likely have no way of knowing that I took some time out a few years ago to go to the U. of Washington and earn a Ph.D. in U.S. frontier history. At the time, it had nothing to do with this project, but now it comes in handy.) That is, I'm trying to get any clues I can about what the family life had been like in Scotland in preceding generations, and why, all at once sometime in the late 19th century, so many of the Doigs up and left Scotland.

For my part, I've been tracking down paperwork for the homestead which Peter Doig took up in the Basin, and during a trip to Montana later this year I'll try to track down any court records and newspaper items about the Doigs. If you'd like any of this, let me know.

Now, what news of your own family? I've lost track of your children and what they're doing, except for the memory from Anna's letters that you put them through fine educations. Also, do you teach in a community college? My wife teaches journalism and English at Shoreline Community College here in Seattle. We love Seattle and the Northwest, and seem to be here to stay.

Finally, as one writer to another, I hope your work is going well, and that your books are selling by the jillion.

Ivan Doig

Dear Elsie:

Thanks for sending the book. I haven't had a real chance to go through it yet, but will do so pretty promptly. You didn't tell me the price, so I am sending a check for the figure on the inside cover.

I'm continuing to plug away at my book as time allows. Anna continues to be helpful, and I must take the time somehow to frame some new questions for her. Once she gets started, she digs a lot of material out of her memory.

It begins to look as if I will make a research trip to Montana sometime this summer. There are several people I should talk to there. It is too early to firm up plans, but if Carol and I can coincide with you in August, we'll give it a try.

Have I written since I heard from Beverly? She was really very helpful, and sounds like a good lady, besides.

Best regards,

Dear Elsie

A very quick line of thanks for your helpful letter. I had intended to put off writing until I could send a copy of a magazine piece I recently did about Lewis and Clark as place-namers; might interest you, since it starts in Missouri and at least briefly mentions the Gallatin Valley. Anyway, the issue of the magazine hasn't come out yet, and I'll simply pass it along whenever it does.

I appreciate your searching your memory for some of the sounds of how the Doigs talked. It all helps. I fortunately tape-recorded my dad several years ago, and it's useful to hear how his burr sounded. It wasn't until I got married and my wife pointed out to me how Dad sounded that I realized he had a Scots accent.

You're right that the hard chore of writing about the Doigs is to get the flavor of the family and the area. I'm trying to focus as closely as I can on Dad and myself, which means I can scrape a good deal of material out of my own memory or other people's.

I will indeed keep at Anna; she's already been an enormously useful source. Ed Doig has been some help, but with him there's the problem that he's always dead certain about information, whether or not he's right about it. I'll look forward to anything Beverly may be able to contribute. And I would like to see your book, Always the Frontier. What's the simplest way to buy a copy?

Finally, thanks for the invitation to the Gallatin in August. Our summer plans aren't set yet, but we'll get in touch if a trip to Montana materializes. It would be fun to see you and your family; and I think you would like my professor wife a lot.

best regards

Dear Dean,

Mom forwarded your letter and I have been digging through some of the material I have on the Doig and Campbell families. Several years ago I did a full family tree (4 generations) back, but I have not been able to locate that -- too much moving around and storing things!

Let me recall what I can for you. Your grandfather was Peter Doig who married Annie Campbell after coming to the U.S. to work for Donald Campbell and Jeannie (Doig) Campbell on their ranch up Sixteen Mile Canyon. His father was David Doig who was the gardner for the Earl of Dalhousie at Panmure Monument about 12 miles out of Dundee near Monikie Station. There are still Doigs living in that area. David had two brothers and two sisters. William managed a linen factory in Dundee (still a Doig enterprise). Jim was a taylor in Dundee. Mary and Martha I don't know much about. David had four sons and three daughters. William was poet but not very successful. Jim went to India with the Seaforth Hilanders ~~to India~~ and died there at an early age (20) from bad water. Margaret was 35 years a missionary to India. Jeannie married Donald Campbell from Perth and came to live in America. David ~~who~~ also come to America and lived near Townsend. Peter ~~was~~ is our Grandfather.

Aunt Jeannie described their trip to America for me when I was researching some family history for a high school paper. They left Glasgow on the Cartagholan May 9th, 1888 bound for Quebec. They came across by train and the latter part of the trip was by stage coach into White Sulphur Spring. No one was there to meet them so they began walking toward Donald's brother's place up Sixteen Mile Canyon. Finally, they met someone who who knew Jim Campbell and brought horses for them to ride. They began ranching there and soon brought over their brother and sister, Peter Doig and Annie Campbell, to help on the ranch. They later married and had their own ranch on Walled Mountain. I think you may be aware that Aunt Jennie had Uncle Donald committed to an asylum for many years until their son Bob had him released and took him to live in his home. Sally Foreman kept an eye on Aunt Jennie when she was living in Bozeman. Eliza Campbell (annie's sister) married Jack Schaller and they settled in Idaho (Spencer, I think). I wrote to her for several years until she died in 1967. Her father lived with them there after his wife died and did stone mason work. He was 88 when he died. Another sister, Margaret taught school near Ruth. Some where I noted there were 10 children -- 6 girls & 4 boys but I can't account for all of them. I think your father was named for one of the boys.

Campbells

If you traveled in Scotland, I am sure that you checked the Doig folder at the Dundee Library and discovered that Thomas Doig was a weaver granted charter in 1475

Captain James Doig led local Dundee volunteers against the English in 1553. Later was a prominent citizen Alexander Doig built the "Dog Well" in the downtown plaza in 1749.

Marilyn & I took the bus to Monikie Station, walked in some graveyards and then walked back to Dundee enjoying the rolling countryside and low stone fences -- not unlike the Valley below Townsend.

There is probably more about the family in America which I have not heard. We were not so much with the family, except Aunt Anna, after Daddy died. Mom can tell you about her early years teaching up Sixteen Mile and near Brainards.

Good luck with your research and your book. You have much more courage than do I. I think I'll stick to my solid profession -- computing. It is amazing the scientific ability which shows at various times in the Daigs. There is a famous surgeon in Australia named Daig. Also the head of Control Data Australia Limited is Graeme Daig. ~~Ades~~ Some of William's descendants live in the Ohio area and there is a doctor amongst them. I met a distant relative working for Aero-space Corporation as a Mathematician.

In the phone book at Dundee are listed 63 Daigs - I have found Daigs in Windsor, Canada; Ottawa, Canada and Toronto. I haven't done much about the history in recent years. I would be interested in anything you find.

Dear Beverly

Hey, many thanks for your letter and all the information in it; that was voluntarism above and beyond the call of duty. Some of the specific facts you had from Jeanie Campbell have helped immensely. The same day your letter came, there also came a letter from Corinne Higgins, Jeannie's grand-daughter -- each of you had some information the other didn't.

Also, my quick stay in Scotland wasn't very fruitful for family research because a letter from Anna didn't catch up with me in time -- I didn't have the basic names and birthdates to work with in the Scottish archives in Edinburgh, which was the way I intended to approach the family background. So, your information from Dundee is helpful, too.

I'll try keep you posted on the more recent family information I come up with -- some of it will await a research trip to Montana this summer. Meanwhile, I was interested in all the scientific ability you've noted in the Doigs. I must have gotten some of the family genes where that was omitted -- my skills are almost entirely verbal now, though I did have the knack when I was a kid of being able to do some instant arithmetic, including multiplying sets of 2 and 3-digit numbers, in my head. That knack is long vanished, and I admire your expertise with the computer, which is pretty much a mysterious gadget to me.

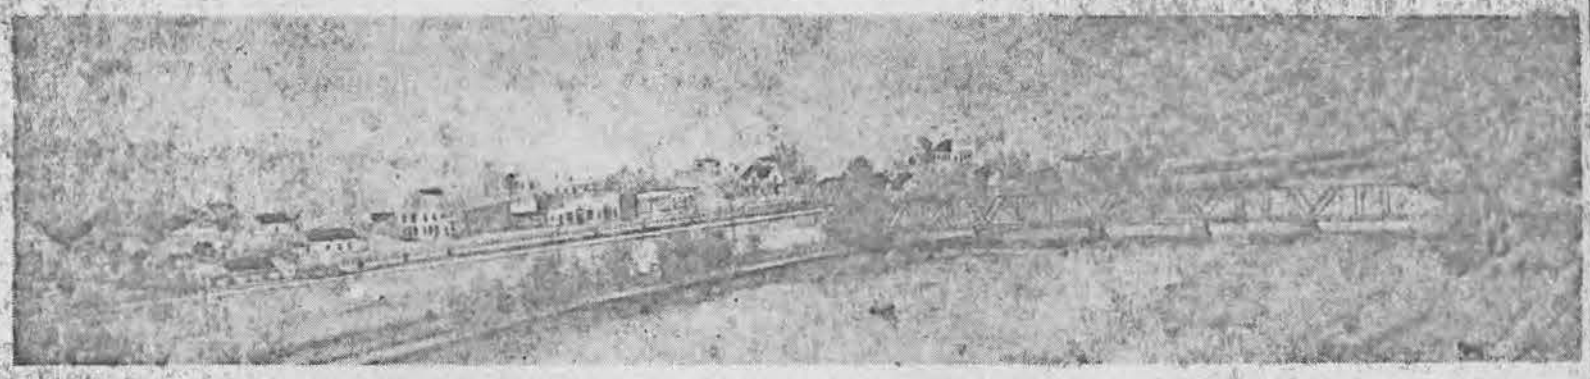

So, thanks again. I'll be in touch as I go along with this project, and I hope sometime we'll meet. The last time, neither of us could have been much bigger than a teddy bear.

best regards

Ivan

March 6-1967 Don't think this is all correct.

THE HISTORY OF TOSTON — By Eleanor H. Marks

Toston about 1900. This pre-dates the blacksmith shop and the "Central" Hotel, although Mary Shull Undem's impressive brick shows up on the corner. The Holker house is here, and the "Bird Cage" east of the Holker house. The school house had but one story. (Picture courtesy of Mrs. Wilbur Greaves)

SIXTEEN AND WALLED MOUNTAIN

A man named George Robeson was an early day homesteader in this area and owned the land on which Sixteen Mile Station is located. (It is part of the D. D. Davis ranches now). Mrs. Robeson cooked for the railroad crews building the Jawbone and the first postoffice was on this ranch. Mr. Robeson is quoted by Walter Doig as having remembered carrying food to a family who were enroute to Bozeman one bad winter. The snow had become so deep that it was necessary for them to winter near Pat's Run. Either they built a sort of Indian dwelling or had stopped at an old encampment that Indians had built earlier. In any case, their winter home was a teepee made of Quaking Asp boughs covered with hides. For many years traces of this habitation remained along with a broken down wagon. Some graves nearby testified to the fact that some members of the family must have perished before spring.

Earl White was another early day rancher at Sixteen (his place was later a part of the C-A). The Whites had three sons: Everett, Herbert and Aaron (called "Big A"); and daughters: Inez (Mrs. Frank Austin, Three Forks), Jennie and Frances.

A man by the name of Charlie Jordan had a homestead at Deer Park and had two sons, John and Bob, and a daughter, Erma. He used to ship cattle along with Doigs from the Deer Park siding.

Others were: Frank and Bob Winterhalter, Frank Mesher, (section foreman, lived a mile below Stockburgers on the Milwaukee); Charlie Peterson worked on the section and herded sheep; Peter Holmes was a section foreman and homesteaded near Cardinel (formerly Crane, School Dist. No. 63, later No. 1). The original Stockburger ranch was later owned by George Brainard. He had several children: sons—Harry, Bill, Albert, Charles, John, Don (called Bill); and daughters: Betty (Mason), May and Ruth. This land is now owned by Bill Brainard. A man by the name of Ernest Hale lived there at one time, and his children went to the Toston school for a time. Bill Mott, Charlie Beenig and Maurice Beatty all lived there.

Jim Stewart lived at Stewart's Basin. He had sons: Bob, Frank, Alex and Jess (killed when a tree fell on him), and a daughter, Nellie, who married Fred Koenig.

On the Six Mile side, a man named Ross Windsor homesteaded. He had a son, Willis and two daughters, Bertha and Lena. They moved to Toston during the 20's and lived on the Suiter place (now Mrs. Hattie Hargrove) and Windsor worked on the "new" bridge. The writer recalls the son, Willis because of his rather unique way of entertaining the girls by eating fried grasshoppers!

THE DOIGS

David Doig (April 4, 1864-Aug. 11, 1939) and his wife, Mary and their three children, came from Scotland to Helena in 1891, where he worked as a tailor for two years before buying the homestead of Tom Sherlock at Walled Mountain. He continued buying land until he owned a great deal on which he ranched and raised cattle until he moved to Toston where Art Jersey now lives, in about 1928. (This was the Gutherie Middleton place originally). He raised chickens as a sideline and showed them all over the world, winning many trophies. He is said to have had the finest in North America at one time, and possibly in the world. He sold chickens to the Russian government at $100 per fowl.

His sons were: David (Houston, Texas); Donald (died of the flu in 1918); Alex (deceased); Walter (married Villa Leach) and daughters: Mary (Christison); Jean (White, deceased), Mayme (Jersey, deceased); Margaret (Gordon, deceased) and Nellie (Shanks, deceased). Mary, David and Jean were born in Scotland. Mrs. Mary Doig returned to Scotland for a visit in 1927.

Peter Doig, brother of David, also ranched at Walled Mountain. His sons were: Edwin (a Three Forks barber); Varick (retired, lives in Townsend); Charles (Ringling); Jim (killed by being thrown from a horse); Angus (also died from the affects of a fall after being thrown from a horse); Claude (raises thoroughbred stock at Big Timber); and daughter Anna (Beetam, lives in Nebraska).

David and Peter had a sister who was Mrs. Donald Campbell and she lived at Ringling.

JACOB MITCHELL

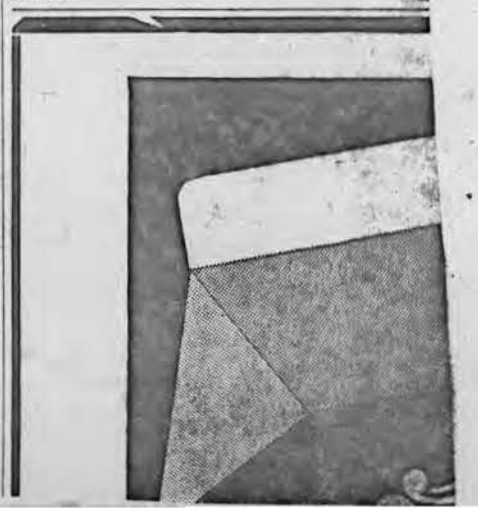

Jacob Mitchell was born in Douglas, Scotland in 1875, and came to the United States about 1895. He came to Walled Mountain in 1897 and the last lap of his journey took him over the Jawbone railroad. He married Mary Luke Sanford, a teacher from Kalispell who was educated at Bozeman and the University of Montana. They bought a relinquishment from W. E. Tierney and went into the sheep business for the next 40 years. They also bought the ranch where the family now resides on Deep Creek in 1919. They moved to this ranch in 1937 and have since run a very successful cattle operation. They had two sons, Charles (former Broadwater County Commissioner) and Jacob, who, with Mrs. Mitchell, operate the ranch since Mr. Mitchell's death on Aug. 25, 1954.

The first school at Walled Mountain, on land that is now Pete Cartwright's cow camp, was taught by Stella Keene, then Ida Baltz. Mary L. Stanford also taught there and later married Jacob Mitchell.

These people were, of course, dependent entirely upon their own resources for recreation. There were dances and other entertainment in the school house and at private homes. Mrs. Christison can remember Mrs. Robeson playing the piano in the school house and practicing Sunday school hymns. There were card games at Doig's where they played "500" and "Whist." Rachel Sutton (Smith) entertained with lavish dinners as she was a fine cook. She also smoked a corncob pipe and made beautiful patchwork quilts. (The writer has two of these purchased at a sale that Mrs. Smith held after she moved to Townsend). The isolation of these people would lead one to believe that theirs must have been a lonely existance, but Villa Doig commented "I was lonely for months after I left and moved to Townsend." Lela Swarts Biggs learned to dance at the Stockburger school house when she was in the 7th grade.

MAUDLOW

Maudlow (named for Miss Maud Harlow, daughter of R. A. Harlow, president of the Montana Railroad), located between Lombard and Sixteen, was a postoffice and trading center, but little remains of the town today. Fairly recently, however, a large saw mill has been placed there. After the division of the Climbing Arrow ranch, Don Anderson, one of the owners, has timbered off a section of land 6 by 22 miles and ships logs out by rail and truck. What remains after the logs are cut is run through a chipping machine and sent east for paper. Many trailer houses are stationed there to accomodate the workmen.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS

At the western edge of the valley in the Big Belt Mountains lay Gold Country--Confederate Gulch! This was one of the big names in Montana's golden era of mining, like Alder, Bannock and Last Chance. Here was Diamond City, the parent-town of White Sulphur Springs.

In the early '60s the Big Belt Gulches were filled with gold-seekers, and millions of dollars in gold were washed out of the gravel bars of Boulder, Greenhorn, and famous Montana Bar. Then, suddenly, it was over. People left as quickly as they had come. Some who had established businesses in Diamond City, which, in 1867, was the county seat of that sprawling area, Meagher County, moved lock, stock, and barrel and some buildings down to the Springs.

The springs, called White Sulphur because of the gasses and minerals in the water which bubbled out of a small thermal area at 115 degrees, were claimed by James Brewer, who took squatters rights and built a cabin there in the winter of '66-'67. There were few settlers in the valley, but they were harassed enough by renegade Indian parties to cause a Fort* to be established in '69. This was the trading post and center of business until 1870 when Diamond City descended on the springs with its county seat, its newspaper, the "Rocky Mountain Husbandman," its doctor, Dr. Parberry, and its trade. A town was born. With freight lines passing through from Fort Benton to Helena, it was soon flourishing. The springs became attractive as a health resort. The newspaper, with its front page devoted to promoting agriculture and the short understated items on Indian forays on the back page, was read throughout the Territory. White Sulphur Springs had one of the first high schools (1888). Court sessions for the area, down along the Mussellshell, through Judith Basin to Lewistown, were held in the balconied old courthouse set back in the cottonwood trees. It was no longer Gold Country. It was Cow Country, and it is still Cow Country. A thriving lumber mill and tourism help the present day economy. "Cattle on the range and money in the bank" built several impressive early day homes. The Castle is one of them. We hope you enjoy it.

you probably have this

April 9, 1968

Dear Russ;

Thanks for sending on the article by Ivan Doig. Very nice. Yes we probably are related not too distantly. Most of the Doigs in the country are descended from three brothers who came over from Edinburgh something over a hundred years ago, and settled in New York. One stayed there, and there are quite a number of Doigs around New York and New Jersey. One went to Canada, and my ancester went to Kansas to establish a Presbyterian church. If Ivan is related to the Frank Doig who used to be with Strang & Prosser, he and I are certainly related, because Frank had a strong resemblance to my fathers youngest brother.

Glad to know the "Cahill Construction Company" has completed the Project, and that thepresses are now being installed. Quite a different picture than the little old building in the center of town that I knew in 1930.

Down here we are now entering the "Summer Season". The Papayas have been in abundance for the last month, the Mangoes are ripening, and soon we'll have guavas, avacados, and mommy apples. The hibiscus and bougainvilla have been particularly spectacular this year, and the buds on the frangipani trees and the Pride of Barbados give promise of great masses of flowers.

We had the pleasure of a half day visit from the Farrars recently, off the Nieuw Amsterdam. So next time you see them they can give you a first hand report on this rather unusual island.

Was glad to know you took some of the family ov- to Hawaii for a Mai Tai. Send me the recipe, and I'll introduce it down here. We have all kinds of Rum - brown, white, dark,- Mount Gay, Fernandes, Doorly's (distilled by a relative of Harry Doorly).

Latest tid-bit from Nevis: One of the peasant women from up on the mountain went to the hospital to have her baby. When she brought it up to the village she was asked what she had named the baby girl.

Dear Claude

Probably the last you saw or heard of me, I was just a little shaver. I can't recall that our families saw one another after my dad and I came down and stayed with you during a Big Timber rodeo, and that was a lot of years ago. Anyway, to tell you what I'm up to: I make my living as a writer -- about a hundred magazine articles and three books written to date -- and I'm starting to write a book about my dad, what his life in Montana was like, how the Doigs happened to land back there in the Basin from Scotland, and so on. I've talked with Ed and with Walter Doig, and have been writing to Anna; she suggested that since you have a good memory, I might do well to try some questions on you. So, I wonder if you can help me on any of these points:

--I've tried to ask folks around White Sulphur Springs and Ringling, "Did you ever work with Charlie Doig or any of the other Doig boys?" But the ones who can remember those days are getting scarce. So, can you remember any of the places where my dad worked, either as a youngster back in the Basin or during the 1920's when he was a young man? Was he ever foreman on any place you can think of?

--From what Dad told me, a lot of bronc-busting went on when you guys were young; I think he considered that you were the best rider in the family, in fact. Others, such as Clifford Shearer, tell me Dad was quite a rider himself. Can you remember anything about those riding days -- where the horses came from, some of the places the riding was done, anything at all about my dad or the other guys you rode with?

--Anna gave me, to the best of her memory, the birthdates for all the family; is she right that yours was June 20, 1908? That would have made you seven years younger than Dad. You had a lot of older brothers around when you were growing up. I've never quite understood how the family operated after your father died -- was one of the older brothers more or less in charge of the panch, or did your mother pretty much run it, or what? Also, what was the arrangement during the 1920's -- did all the brothers except Ed live at home until they got married, or was it just you and Anna with your mother?

--I've looked up the paperwork on the homestead your father took out, and it's listed as 160 acres. But Clifford Shearer thought the Doig place was bigger than that, and Anna thought maybe so, too. Do you know how many acres it was, and how they got the land?

--One last question: from the photo albums I inherited from my dad and mother, it looks as if Dad and Angus chummed together a lot in the late 1920's, and you seem to be on hand quite a bit, too. Can you remember from that time as to how my dad met my mother, and why they went together so long before they were married?

And, of course, anything you can add on your own about the family would be much appreciated, Claude. Sorry to bother you with a list of questions, but it seems the only way to find out anything. By the way, the last time I was in Montana -- I don't get there any too often since Dad died in '71 and my grandmother Ringer died in '74 -- I talked with Walter Doig and Johnny Gruar, both doing pretty well. And what are you up to these days?

best regards

Dear Blanche

Some of my Christmas cards have been pretty late in getting sent this year. Carol and I are just back from three weeks in California, where we spent the holidays with her folks. Between the traveling and some research work I did during the trip, not much else got done.

You asked in your card about the book I'm writing about the Doigs. Lord knows when it'll be done -- I simply peck away at it between other projects -- and it's not entirely about the family, but yes, I'll let you know whenever it finally reaches print. In the meantime, maybe you could help me with a few questions, as a lot of the Doig history before my time is pretty unclear to me. Ed and Anna both have answered some questions for me, but there are always more. You can help by telling me whatever you can remember about when and why the Doig ranch in the Turney Basin was sold. Some of the questions:

--What year was the ranch sold, and who bought it? Were you and Red living on the ranch when it was sold, or who?

--Why was it sold, and who had the say so about selling -- Mother Doig? Ed seems to remember that all the brothers and Anna shared in the sale price, which wasn't very much -- is that the way you remember it?

--Do you know how many acres the ranch was? Someone told me it was 300 or 320 acres, but I've looked up Peter Doig's original homestead claim papers, and that was for only 160 acres.

--I'm not quite clear how the ranch was run after the brothers were all grown. Did different ones run it for Mother Doig at different times, or what? Did Red stay on and run the place for some years, I suppose before you were married?

--I guess no one at all lives in the Basin now, do they? I wonder who the last people to live there would have been, and about when they left?

I don't expect you'll have answers to all of these, but whatever you can remember will be a lot of help.

All is well with us. Carol still is teaching, and I'm still writing. I have another textbook being published in a few months, and meanwhile do quite a bit of magazine writing. We enjoy Seattle, and seem to be here to stay. Your trip to see Marvin and family in East Berlin sounds like a great adventure -- I'm glad your health is good enough so that you can enjoy life that way.

best regards

Ivan
