Harvest of Memories (Valier history)

p. 55--"When union trouble broke out in Butte in Sept. 1914 the militia posts around the state were ordered to assemble in Helena, to establish and maintain order in Butte. Headlines in the Valerian on Sept. 4, 1914, read, "Valier Boys Shoulder Arms--Company D, NGM Ordered to Butte."

A special train was sent to take them to Helena. The Valier contingent had twenty more men than any other post in the state..."

--Company D was sent to Mexico in 1916, and in WWI many members enlisted as a group in the army.

--possible use: with rural Montana's fear and suspicion of Butte.
