

the epidemic flu (as in, "she died of the epidemic flu"

one character is believer in Bernarr McFadden's notions, drinks hot water when he gets the flu (source: Tom Friedt tape, side B)

Death has different fathoms, and OO's was there in the shallows...
(or: was the deepest, most awful I had seen)

some info abt ~~Varick~~ Varick's WWI stint in checking file for Eng Crk--

Camp Lewis stuff?

NWC

N

978.6

B966

Big Horn County in World War (I) (pub'd by Hadin Tribune)

- has brief service biogs + pics; use for Scotch Heaven

Blackburn "taken down c. pneumonia"

- possible xerox: Reagin & Seerest

Briegelmann & Torke

Benson

Macleod - "Entered service Sept. 17, 1917... Sent to Camp Lewis, attached to Co. 36, D. B., 91st Division.
Oct. 18 assigned to Remount Depot 331. Discharged at Camp L March 19, 1919.

DB - Depot Brigade?

WWI victim names

Florian, Harold

McAlmon, Thomas

Jebson, Michael

flu:

Fain

Mulgrew

Thorbjornsen, Olaf

Gaines

Jick about barber:

I still think there is something unnatural about making conversation with a stranger while his hands are in your hair.

--Angus has Dair cut his hair, for above reason. Possible scene of dialogue between them, as she cuts his hair, he sits with cloth over his shoulders.

many guys' refrain that they had served their time over in Frogland and you by God can have the whole bedamned place, without ever really telling ~~you~~ what the experience was like. (That Frogland refrain, could be constantly heard from my father's generation.
incidentally, ~~was frequent~~. I have read that one out of every ten Montanans at the time--not one-tenth of the ~~the~~ men; one-tenth of the state's entire population--saw military service in 1917-18.)

Angus's remorse about deaths in WWI of boys he's taught at S. Fork

(this is missing in otherwise rich portrait of Owen McCarthy in The Year of the French--any link between teacher and students)