BOOSTERS BOOST

FIRST REGULAR MEETING HELD WITH ROUSING INTEREST MONDAY NOON.

THEY WILL ENCOURAGE TEAMS

Appears That History of Last Year Will Be Outdone.—Much Business Transacted at Opening Meeting.

Monday noon witnessed the first meeting of the Boosters' Club at the M. A. C. A good turnout so early in the school year indicated that the club has lost none of the spirit for which it stood last year.

The organization of the Boosters was effected largely through the influence of James T. Annin early last fall. Its aim was to bring about an increase in college spirit at this college and at the same time direct that spirit into orderly and useful channels. Old students here know to what a splendid degree the club accomplished this end. Under its guidance athletic rallies were held, visiting and home teams supported. In these tokens of the club's interest in its esteemed member: Court Sheriff, Harold Wolpert and Selmer Salberg.

Last year considerable money was collected for the purpose of beautifying Assembly hall. This sum has been in the possession of the college authorities during the summer for safe keeping. The club voted that a committee of its members should instruct President Hamilton to spend the money at the discretion of himself or the faculty to the end in view. This committee included R. E. Bancroft, Walter Willson and Kyle Jones. President Spain reopened the subject of demonstrating college spirit and athletic interest by being present on the football practice field as often as possible. In order to quickly assist this end he suggested that the club should meet in a body that (Monday) afternoon and proceed to the field. His suggestion was approved by a vote and as a result a good turnout of the boys seconded the regular attendance of the Boosters at the field bleachers.

Meetings of the Boosters, whether of a formal or informal nature will be a frequent occurrence this year and they deserve a good attendance.

An effort was started towards the rehearsal of college yells at the practice field. In other words while football men are training regularly and

LOWER CLASSES TO HAVE TUG OF WAR

The freshman and sophomore committees in joint session yesterday afternoon decided on a tug of war over the station frog pond as the best means of introducing themselves to each other. The date has been set for Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. Two periods of ten minutes each with a ten minute interval will be devoted to the settlement of the strength question. There will be twenty huskies on each side and strenuous training for the event will fill the intervening time. The full twenty minutes of time are to be utilized, even if it results in one side going through the miry depths once every minute.

Officials will be selected and rules adopted Monday in order that everything may be harmony except the actual tug. The upper classes will be delegated to immerse any plikers. A flag rush will be the next on the program, date and details being unsettled as yet.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

OPENING ASSEMBLY OF COLLEGE YEAR HELD LAST FRIDAY MORNING.

DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Close of Period Given Over to Football Coaches.—Rev. McNamee Also Offers Word of Encouragement.

With a most encouraging attendance the opening Assembly of the year was held last Friday at the usual time. President J. M. Hamilton extended welcome to the old and new students and touched briefly upon the policy and scope of the college. It was an earnest, straightforward address and was rich in thoughtful advice to the students.

Among other things he said that any college can give information, and almost any student can acquire more than he uses. Now, in the days of specialization, one must choose from all the courses offered, and prepare for the vocation one intends to follow. Figures for the entire country show that more students take the classical than any other course while general science follows, and then engineering, medicine, law, theology, agriculture, dentistry, pharmacy, home science and veterinary courses. The old motto was to take work in preparation for a specific one.

In these days of "g" things a word must be said for the small college. Of 493 colleges 363 have less than three hundred pupils, and only twenty have more than fifteen hundred. It is believed by many that the ideal college should have between three hundred and five hundred students the best work being done when there is direct contact between the mind of the professor and that of the student.

In behalf of M. A. C. the president said it was the purpose to maintain it as a standard college, to send out of it as graduates those who can do things. Proof that such is the case is the registration for a medical degree at Johns Hopkins of a student who had a degree only from M. A. C. After a word of welcome to the new students the president spoke of what he called the by-products of the institution. He urged all students to affiliate themselves with at least one student enterprise.

When the president concluded, Rev. James F. McNamee, of Helena, spoke a few words to the students. Captain Sheriff of the football team then asked the students to come out to encourage football practice and as was followed by Coach McIntosh, who asked the students to help the football men train. Assistant Coach Schermerhorn urged everyone to work up college spirit, inspired by respect for the college, and resulting in service for it. He urged the adoption of the principle that we must stand by our teams, cheer all the time, but hardest when they are losing.

JUDGING FOR CORN CONTEST BEGINS OCTOBER 17TH

Judging of the corn grown for the contest for which President J. J. Hill, of the Great Northern Railway, offers $1,000 in prizes will begin October 17th.

This contest was begun last spring and was open to all the young people of the state under the age of 18 years. The judging will be done by Mr. F. L. Waite, a graduate of Iowa State College.

BOOSTERINES HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETINGS

The Boosterines met Monday noon and filled the vacancy caused by the withdrawal from school of their president, Christine Cameron, by electing Edna Hagerman to that position. Irene Piedadue was made vice president.

The club decided to take an even more active part than last year in the support of college activities and appointed Irene Piedadue, Vera Anderson and Ruth Stanton to compose special songs for singing at football practice and games.

There was a large attendance at the first meeting and also a splendid turnout of co-eds the same evening at the football grounds. Their presence has lent strength and courage to the boys in uniform and the club promises to be a potent factor in the upbuilding of a better college spirit.

The club was organized last year as a companion to the Boosters and did a great deal of effective work. They have raised a large fund for the decoration of the interior of Assembly hall and were always present in force to help along any college undertaking. The boosterine float in the parade preceding the city official-faculty baseball game last spring was con-

TEAM IS CHOSEN

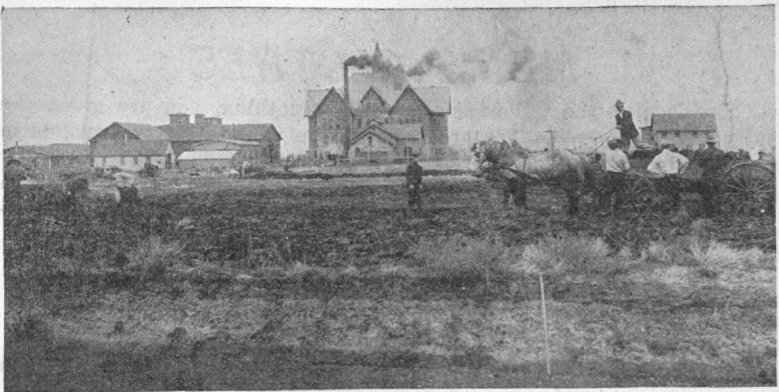

TO REPRESENT THE COLLEGE IN GRAIN JUDGING CONTEST AT SPOKANE.

FIRST OF KIND FROM STATE

Will Compete Against Similar Teams From Northwest Colleges at Dry Farm Congress.—Leave Saturday.

Full of confidence and determination the grain judging team which is to represent this college in the contest at the International Dry Farming Congress at Spokane next week, returned last night from Helena. They were accompanied by Prof. H. F. Patterson, in charge of the work, who shared their enthusiasm.

The four highest in the local contest competed at the State fair in order to determine which three should go to Spokane. The following was the result: George Morgan, Fred Gordon and John Taylor. These three will leave Saturday afternoon for short the society met to consider every event of interest to the college as a whole and determined what could be done by its members to forward the success of the event in question. The watchword has ever been advancement and the spirit to boost.

Under the auspices of the Boosters' Club some of its members last year established "Labor Day" at this college. This was an event of which it is the aim of the club to establish a custom, namely: to set aside one day each year to be utilized by the student body for the improvement in some way of the college campus or equipment. Last year a large crew of students, under the leadership of Archie S. Brown, began the grading of the new athletic field. After a full day of shovelling and scraper handling the fellows were in fine condition to do justice to a splendid spread prepared for them by the Boosterines, the sister organization. This event was entirely too pleasant a one not to be repeated, hence, aside from the good purpose of it there should be no trouble in arousing the proper interest to establish the custom.

This action on the part of the Boosters was only one of many similar in nature. Money was collected for the purpose of beautifying the interior of Assembly hall, demonstrations were arranged for basketball games and football contests attended with rousing ceremonies.

Because of the nature of its aims and actions, the Boosters' Club ranks first in importance as a factor in the movement toward a better college spirit in this college. With this importance in view it is pleasing to note that the first meeting of the year was so well attended and fruitful of results. Close to fifty men were present when President J. Marvin Spain, in a few well chosen words, stated the meaning of membership in the club and tendered a welcome to all new men in the college. All of this number signed the 1910 membership list and in a short time thirty-one had paid the nominal annual dues of 50c.

The club then proceeded to a short business session during which three subjects received attention. Capt. Court Sheriff, of the football team, called attention to the former faithfulness and good spirit of a member, who is now sadly afflicted as to health. Walter Smith, of last year's football eleven is now an invalid from a complication of spinal troubles. The Boosters decided to send flowers, a personal letter and a postal shower to Mr. Smith and the following committee was privileged to arrange for tirelessly for coming contests it is the purpose of the Boosters' Club to train the student body just as regularly to do its part towards attaining victory by systematically and energetically encouraging teams on the field.

REGISTRATION IS NORMAL

Nearly All Students Have Entered Though a Few Will Come Next Week.

Registration for the full term is now about over. A few of the older students are expected the first of the week but otherwise the regular college and preparatory courses will see no further increase until the opening of the second semester. Though all of the new students at the institution are not yet classified the indications are that the Freshman class will number about 60.

Considering the fact that the usual quota of from 15 to 25 from the preparatory department is missing this year owing to the change from a three to a four year basis, this is a most creditable showing. All the students are bona fide. They are not hired to come in for athletics and they were not prevailed upon, through misrepresentation, to enter this college.

They are come because they know this is the only place in the state where engineering in four of its branches, home science, agriculture and pharmacy are competently taught. There has been no book agent, drawing a commission on his converts, touring the state for the purpose of securing numbers for the freshman class.

There are between eighty and one hundred who are registered here for the first time this fall. This is a considerable increase over last year and shows that the influence of the college is growing. The total registration for the college has not been ascertained but will show an increase in all but the freshmen and only a difference of 12 at most will be found in that class.

About the twentieth of October there will be an influx of students for the short course in the agricultural school. Last year about forty entered for that work.

Mr. L. M. Bond, of the Experiment Station went over to Livingston yesterday to oversee the moving of a threshing machine from that place to the dry land ranch at Clyde Park.

WILL VISIT TRIDENT SUNDAY

The Society of Civil Engineers met last Tuesday at 1:30 p. m., with President Tremper in the chair. The society had considerable business before it for its decision. One of the chief questions was about future meetings and it was decided to have a meeting once a month in which some program should be given, generally by some outside speaker who is recognized in the engineering world. Any important business requiring not to exceed ten or fifteen minutes may be acted upon at those meetings but all other at a special business meeting.

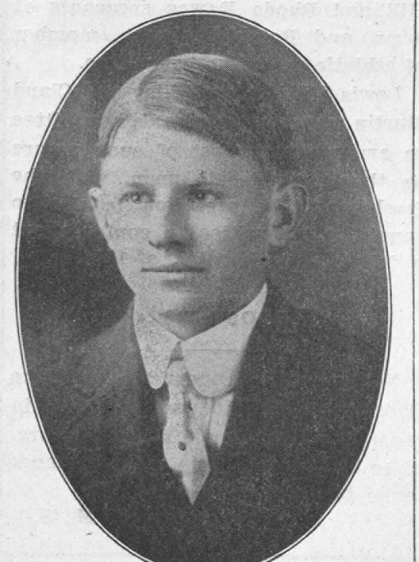

President Tremper then brought before the society plans for a trip to Trident, between Logan and Helena, to inspect the cement plant there. After some discussion it was agreed that the trip should be taken next Sunday. The party will leave on No. 3 at 5:48 a. m. and return on No. 4, which arrives here at 2:40 p. m. Trident is about seven miles west of Logan which is twenty-four miles from Bozeman. The trip is open to all who wish to go.

The arrangements for the trip are in charge of W. G. Tremper and Ralph Brabrook and a large number have already signified to this committee their intention of taking the trip.

JAMES T. ANNIN IS CONVALESCENT AFTER ATTACK OF DIPHTHERIA

The student body was startled and pained Tuesday morning by word that James T. Annin, '11, managing editor of the Weekly Exponent, was confined to his room with a well developed attack of diphtheria.

Mr. Annin is now under the care of a trained nurse and is reported convalescent. Owing to quarantine regulation he probably will remain isolated for two more weeks.

JAMES T. ANNIN Who is ill with Diphtheria.

This is the only known case of diphtheria in the city and it is thought was contracted by Mr. Annin on the train. His room mate and others who were at the same house were thoroughly fumigated and released.

The Boosters' Club, of which the patient is a member, has taken steps to keep him in good spirits during his enforced absence from school duties.

sidered the feature of that big event. The girls met again Wednesday noon to practice songs and yells, about 70 girls being present. They will help to make this morning's assembly the most enthusiastic on record by singing the praise of the speakers as they take the floor.

HONORS TO M.A.C. STUDENT

Fred Gordon, '13, Wins Splendid Cup at State Fair.

This seems to be Fred Gordon's lucky month. He is not only president of his class and a member of the grain judging team but he is winner of the handsome silver loving cup offered annually by the Montana State Fair to the winner of the young men's stock judging contest.

This contest was held at Helena Wednesday. Six were entered, Fred Gordon winning out with a narrow margin over Frank McGuire, his class mate. The cup, which is beautifully engraved appropriate to the occasion, is a most imposing symbol of proved merit. It will not arrive here until the last of the week, at which time it will be placed on display at the college.

The contest was largely under the direction of Prof. H. P. Griffin of the Animal Industry department here. The cup offered is a permanent one and similar ones have been won by students several times previously. It is said though that this is the most costly trophy yet offered.

FIRST ARENA MEETING CALLED

The first meeting of the Arena Literary society will be held Thursday evening, October 6th. The program will be as follows: Opening Address, President J. Marvin Spain.

Reading of the Arena Constitution, and By-Laws, Miss Rhoda Dawes. Recitation, Miss Blanche Metheny. Vocal Solo, Miss Edna Hagerman.

After this program has been rendered a discussion of the plans for the ensuing year will follow. The Arena was much strengthened last spring by the merger with the Hamiltonia. Literary society interest among co-eds and male students alike was greatly increased by this move and an active and beneficial year is expected.

Spokane and the contest with teams from five or six colleges of the Northwest will occur Tuesday. There will be quite a large M. A. C. delegation to cheer the boys in their efforts.

Since returning they have been training their judgment of small grains in the laboratory at college and are rapidly reaching an expert stage. Interest in the developments has been intense. In order that the best possible team should be selected a preliminary tryout was held here and then the final one at Helena Tuesday and Wednesday.

They accompanied A. A. Atkinson, who scored the grain exhibits at the State fair, while he was grading the samples. In this way a good deal of the practical side of the work was absorbed. Though the team was inexperienced up to two weeks ago it is thought that a strong showing will be made at Spokane.

In the tryout held here last week there were six contestants. The following scores were made, the four highest going to Helena:

George Morgan, 3190 out of a possible 4000; Fred Gordon, 3140; John C. Taylor, 2975; Noble C. Donaldson, 2875; Guy J. Millegan, 2835; and John Blessing, 2260.

This is the first time that such a team has been sent out by the institution and the more than regular class room work has previously been done in it. Since the first announcement of the contest, however, there has been constant drill in judging the different grains and marked improvement has been shown each day.

Prof. Patterson is well pleased with the work and believes that a splendid showing will be made. He himself was a member of such a team for four years while in school and is a reliable authority on the work.

The rules governing the contest are interesting in themselves. The principal ones are given below:

1. The sample shall be judged on a seed basis (milling or market.)
2. The first five samples shall be placed in the order of merit.
3. Oral reasons shall be given the judges.
4. Sixty per cent shall be allowed for placing.
5. Forty per cent shall be allowed for reasons.
6. Thirty minutes shall be allowed for placing each class.
7. Not more than ten minutes shall be allowed for stating reasons.

A GRATIFYING CONDITION

The great advantage of a large coaching staff for football is making itself felt. It is an inspiration and a revelation to watch the work of the three now engaged in rounding the team into shape. Instead of one man trying to direct the practice of two, three or four squads at one time, there is one experienced man, with an interest in the practice and with the respect and admiration of the candidates, in charge of each squad.

There is no time that the men are forced to stand idle, contracting colds and otherwise endangering their health, owing to the shortage of coaches. One man finds it impossible to cover all the details of the play and to watch all the players, consequently one man alone is unable to turn out a finished, well trained machine. With three, four, or five, as it will be in the near future, it is different.

And this difference is only beginning to show. When the team trots out onto the field to engage in the fierce struggle of the championship games this season, it will be prepared to meet emergencies, it will be acquainted with the game to an extent that was impossible for the teams heretofore unless each member had enjoyed a number of years of experience. Just how far this efficient coaching will go towards making up for lack of experience on the part of the players is a question which remains to be answered. It seems to be the general opinion among the present candidates that they are learning the game faster about in proportion to the increase in the number of coaches.

Whatever may be the result it is certain the coaches are getting the right spirit and action into the men. It is certain that every possible thing is being done by them. There are, however, a number of things which might be done by the student body which takes no active part at present in the training. The team will be forced to play before crowds. New men and even old ones are apt to get a certain amount of "stage fright" upon their first appearance before a large gathering. A close watcher might have noted this Monday evening when the Boosters and Boosters appeared on the field in force.

But if the attendance at each practice were large it would accustom the players to appearing before crowds. It would also accustom the students to the sight of their classmates rushing into imminent danger and making brainy plays. These are minor points in what would be the effect if the attendance of Monday evening were equalled or excelled every afternoon. The principal, the psychological effect will be dwelt upon this morning in assembly in better words than are at the command of the writer. The fact remains that the students who wish to see a creditable football team this fall must do their share towards producing it. Of course it means a little sacrifice of time but it will soon develop that it is not time lost. Directly and indirectly it will be repaid many fold.

TO THE GRAIN SCORING TEAM.

Next week three of our fellow students will be trying hard to bring still more honor to M. A. C. They will be in Spokane in competition with similar teams from all parts of the west and probably some from farther east. That this college will be well represented admits of no doubt. That this grain judging team will bring back the cup and gold medal is certainly possible.

But whether they win or lose their mission will not be for nothing. They will return with added experience and renewed determination. They will have helped to inform the people that things are accomplished here worth while. That they may be successful is the earnest and sincere hope of every member of the institution. The honor conferred upon them in selecting them to represent the college is in itself repayment for the hours of study and worry expended, and the winning of the contest would add wonderfully to the crystallization of a more advanced college spirit.

RENEWED ACTIVITY.

The past week has witnessed an unprecedented activity among student organizations. From early Monday morning till the time of going to press the bulletin board has been loaded with notices of meetings, programs, and other evidences of renewed activity. Last spring most of these organizations were enjoying the highest type of perfection to which they have ever attained. It is hoped and expected that that record will be continued and new fields conquered this year.

They are making the right start and are already making progress. The first thing necessary is to get the new students interested. The advice from President Hamilton last Friday, that each student select at least one by-product for his own deserves consideration and action on the part of all. Most students can support two societies or enterprises, many find that three or four is not too many. But the new student should be sure that he is ready to take active part in the proceedings of the society before becoming a member. It will do harm both to him and to the society to join and not take a real part in matters. There is not much time to act. Not many weeks will elapse before the year is so far advanced that new members will find it hard to get into the work. They are too likely to feel like outsiders. Join something, take up some form of volunteer work, for in that is contained a great part of what the college offers you. Grasp the opportunity at the beginning of the year and help prepare yourselves for the times when the burdens of administering these various clubs, societies and enterprises will fall upon your shoulders.

FRESHMEN REPORTERS WANTED

Twice it has been stated publicly that freshmen are needed on the Exponent staff. In order that the paper may be truly representative of the college all classes should be represented among those who are doing the work. Freshmen in the four year courses are wanted in particular, for the present policy of the paper requires familiarity with all its departments for proper supervision. Some day a member of the present freshman class will be called upon to take charge of the work. If that person has not had previous experience it will react to the detriment of the Exponent.

There are many other considerations which make it desirable that some of the new collegiate attendants should take a place on the staff. That they will be amply repaid in experience is beyond doubt. So far not enough have reported. It remains for some of the enterprising members to take hold of the matter themselves or see to it that others do.

A STRENUOUS YEAR PROPOSED

The Arena Literary Society is out with a program to be given in College hall next Thursday evening. This is the only literary society in the college, the Arena and Hamiltonia having consolidated last spring. It has charge of the intercollegiate debating and oratorical contests of the college and is practically the only avenue through which training in parliamentary procedure, debating, reciting and extemporaneous speaking may be attained.

As a rule the meetings of the society are open to the public and the student body in particular is urged to attend. Such is the case at this opening meeting. Come out this time and see the organization as it works. The purpose and plans of the Arena will be ably dwelt upon by the president, J. M. Spain. You will then be able to judge whether or not you wish to apply for membership.

This will be the last issue of the Exponent which will be distributed indiscriminately. Pay your subscription to W. L. Chapman.

M. A. C. AT THE STATE FAIR

Other institutions of Montana may have more space for their exhibits at the State fair, but none had a better arranged or a more attractive one than the Montana Agricultural College. Scarcely a person passed the M. A. C. exhibit without going in to look at the many neatly arranged pictures of various classes, teams and buildings of M. A. C. The Weekly Exponent was a surprise to everyone as few believed that any college the west had as good a weekly paper. The colored panoramic view of the campus and buildings, under the electric arc, created a most striking effect. While the exhibit was smaller this year than usual, it was concrete and served to represent the college in every department in a general way. The University of Montana had their exhibit just opposite that of M. A. C. covering just twice the floor space and commanding the best location in the Educational hall. They were represented strongly by the forestry department this year, which was very artistically arranged. Dr. Taylor, who had charge of the M. A. C. exhibit was successful in interesting everyone who stopped to look over the display.

Not alone by the exhibit but by many connected with the college was this institution represented. The grain and stock judging contests participated in by students from here served to emphasize the importance of M. A. C. and a number of members of the faculty were on hand, either as officials or as spectators.

The daily exhibition flights of J. C. Mars in a Curtis bi-plane at the fair attracted the attention of more people than any other event on the program. To the person who has never seen an aeroplane in flight it is almost impossible to believe what he sees with his own eyes, that such a craft could navigate the air. Mr. Mars thrilled the crowd more than once by his complete control and the many graceful dips and turns he negotiated. On Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock he made the greatest flight ever seen in Montana. After circling the race track several times until he had reached an altitude of 1250 feet, he started on a short cross country flight. After traveling out a mile he returned, landing close to the grand stand, amid deafening applause.

TAX AMENDMENT WILL BE DISCUSSED.

The faculty committee on Assembly programs has announced that next Friday, October 7, the period will be devoted to a discussion of the tax amendment which is to come before the voters of the state this fall. The proposed amendment is, in effect, to permit the present rate of taxation to continue until the present valuation of the state has doubled. If the amendment is lost the rate will be almost cut in half and the development of the state hampered. Such a state of affairs would preclude any appropriations for new buildings at the state institutions for some years to come.

At the Assembly the matter will be discussed from several points of view so that the students may be in a position to vote intelligently upon this vital question at the regular election this fall.

SOPHS TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

The Sophomore class held its first meeting of the year Wednesday noon and organized by electing Fred Gordon president, Leroy Willey vice-president, Frank McGuire treasurer, Lewis Hill and Rhoda Dawes sergeants at arms, and Ralph Brabrook, member of athletic executive committee.

Lewis Hill, Leroy Willey and Claud Martin were appointed as a committee to arrange a contest of such nature as they may decide upon, with the freshmen. The president is also to appoint a committee to confer about a debate with the class of 1914.

JOINT RECEPTION AT DRILL HALL TONIGHT

Tonight is the time set for the joint reception under the auspices of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. The students will be entertained at the drill hall as has been the custom. Some new and special features have been planned for this evening, among these is a county fair in which the students will take part as classes. The exact details of the plans are carefully guarded, those in charge merely signifying that plenty of amusement will be provided.

This is one of the biggest social events of the year and has always been successful. It will give the girls a chance to get acquainted with the attractive looking new students who have been eagerly watched as they strolled through the halls during the past week. The old students will also find it an opportune time for meeting the new girls.

It is a safe prediction that all who come will have a good time. It is not a formal affair but is one of general jollification.

Prof. W. M. Cobleigh, A. A. Atkinson and R. A. Cooley, members of the committee to arrange the M. A. C. exhibit at the state fair, spent Friday and Saturday of last week in Helena. Prof. Atkinson accompanied by his wife is in Helena again this week where he is a judge of the grains at the state fair. Prof. Atkinson will later go to Spokane for the dry farming congress.

George P. Williams Jr., a graduate of the Cedar Rapids high school and who attended Iowa State University, registered last Monday as an Aggie.

Among other things of interest on the bulletin board this week was a list of those whose registration cards had not yet been returned to the office. A close examination revealed the fact that about half of the student body had their names on this roll of honor.

The Teton county high school is probably the holder of a record for attendance at M. A. C. Out of seven who graduated there last spring, five are now registered as freshmen here. Homer Thompson, '02, is principal of the school and results point to loyal boosting on his part.

Miss Ernestine Nichols, a former student at M. A. C. and also of Stanford University accompanied Miss Mignon Quaw, '02, to New York city, where the young ladies will take a course at the Columbia University. Enroute they stopped in Chicago a few days to visit friends and attend the wedding of Miss Nichols' brother George R. Nichols, jr., and Miss Ethel Burnley.

The senior preparatory class met and organized yesterday. Those who were chosen to represent them this year are: President, Joe Nordquist; vice president, Roy C. Wilkins; treasurer, Noah Kirby; secretary, Alma Bancroft. Besides these an arrangement and a refreshment committee were chosen by the president. Although the class is rather small they expect to accomplish much and do all in their power to make this year a hummer as the class will have the honor of being the first to graduate from the preparatory department since it was put on a four year basis.

FRESHMEN BECOMING ACTIVE

The first meeting of the class of 1914 was held at 1 o'clock on Wednesday in the preparatory room. Leslie Crouch, acting as chairman, called the meeting to order. The class discussed the advisability of electing officers but, on motion of Meade Campbell, decided to elect a governor-general as temporary leader until the members were better acquainted. Mr. Higbee was chosen to take this place. The committee for the Freshman "stunt" of the County Fair then reported their plans and these having been adopted the meeting adjourned.

Thursday noon the class met again to complete the election of temporary officers and to take up other business. Miss Viola Fowler was chosen as treasurer, Miss Georgia Cullum, secretary and Alonzo Truitt as member of the athletic executive committee. The discussion of the impending struggle with the class of '13 resulted in the appointment of a committee to meet with the sophomore committee for the perfection of details. It is proposed that all conflicts between the two classes shall be of an organized and regular nature. The committee of the '14 class is Alden Webster, Alonzo Truitt and Roy Spain.

For the purpose of drawing up and presenting a constitution for the regulation of freshman affairs, Miss Cullum, Mr. Davis and Miss Morgan were appointed.

Late last evening Prof. C. S. Dearborn was severely injured by a fly-piece of steel. Prof. Dearborn was working with one of the machines in the shop. The flying fragment struck him in the cheek lacerating it badly. The patient maintained an heroic calm while Prof. Mollet dressed the wound. He is resting easy at this writing.

College Athletics

Hugo Dahling continues his good footwork and is advancing the ball like a veteran. "Dutch" is there with the shoe-string tackles on defense.

The practice was hampered in the middle of the week by the absence of several of the squad who were attending the State fair in Helena.

Peck is out of the game with a bad knee. The same trouble has hampered this sure tackling end for the past two years. Dr. Brewer hopes to have him back in condition after a short rest.

The bleachers on the east side of the field will soon have to be enlarged if the Boosters continue to turn out to practice in such goodly numbers. Their presence as well as that of the Boosters is heartily appreciated.

The coaches have procured the services of a former colored pugilist and expert rubber. Two rubbing tables have been installed and the bruises yield readily to the magic of the big colored man. Coach McIntosh and a few volunteer rubbers are assisting and even the most trivial injury is receiving prompt attention.

Brook Hartman and Higbee are doing good work at the end positions and if they can fathom trick plays may be counted upon to reduce gains around M. A. C.'s ends to a minimum this fall. The second eleven is about on a par with the first and is receiving good coaching. It can be expected to spring the necessary program of tricks within a few days.

Every member of the squad regrets deeply the loss of Annin who is now confined with what gives indication of being a light attack of diphtheria. Annin was showing good form at the end position and this combined with his ready wit at the dressing room, made him strong with both coaches and men. He will probably be back in the togs by the middle of the season.

As is natural at this season of the year, with intercollegiate games near at hand, football is now absorbing the lion's share of the athletic interest at M. A. C. As the men are rapidly rounding into condition, physically, the coaches are increasing the pressure and development is the obvious result. A carefully kept weight chart shows beyond a doubt that this college will have a featherweight team entered in the championship race, but there is spirit enough present to carry this light machine to a creditable showing. Each man seems to vie with every other man on the entire squad to show the quickest start, the surest tackle and the craftiest headwork. Barring accidents it will un-

REED-BEHRINGER.

D. A. Reed and Miss Grace Behringer, a popular young couple, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Follette, at 7:30 o'clock last Wednesday evening.

It was a quiet wedding only the immediate family being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Ross, D. D.

The bride and groom are well and favorably known in Bozeman. Mr. Reed, who holds a position with the Nicholson Shoe store, has resided in Bozeman for about two years and in that time has made a host of friends. He holds the respect of all who know him. The bride is exceedingly popular and is loved by old and young. She attended college here for several years.

The happy couple will make their home in Bozeman and their friends wish for them a long life of happiness and prosperity.—Republican-Courier.

REV. J. E. PARKER

AT Y. M. C. A. MEETING

As announced in last week's issue, Rev. J. E. Parker, of the Christian church addressed the young men in Prof. Brewer's room at 1 o'clock last Tuesday. Mr. Parker is to be congratulated upon his logical and straight from the shoulder delivery. It is quite certain that his talk appealed to everyone present and that all carried away clearer and more concise ideas of what the Y. M. C. A. should stand for. Not only were they given a clearer idea of that but they were led to see wherein it is pre-eminently worth while.

Mr. Parker's talk had three main divisions. First, the physical side of life, its value and its bearing on the whole life. Second, the intellectual side as illustrated in the trained and untrained mind; and lastly the will with its wonderful possibilities. Mr. Parker may always be sure of a warm welcome here.

GIRLS MEET AT GATTON HOME

Friday evening sixty-five college girls with lady members of the faculty gathered at the Gaton home on Lindsey Place for the annual Y. W. C. A. reception. As each one arrived, she was given a slip to be pinned on her, on which was written her name. Later each one was given a card containing two initials. After the holder of the card guessed for whom the initials stood, she wrote that girl's favorite pastime, chief occupation, greatest accomplishment and favorite expression, using two words beginning with the given initials. The reading of these caused much amusement. Ruth Stanton played a piano solo, and Edna Hagerman sang, after which the girls joined in the college songs. After refreshments were served the merry crowd disbanded.

WILL CONDUCT BIBLE CLASS.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. held a Bible Study Rally at their regular meeting Tuesday noon. Miss Olive Clarke was the leader and Dr. Ross of the Presbyterian church gave a talk on the organizing of Bible study classes. Dr. Ross will conduct one of these classes, his topic for the year being the Comparative Study of the Four Gospels. Miss Mary Davidson '10 and Miss Harriet Thorpe ex-'11 will also conduct classes, taking for their subjects the "Fifty two Chapters of Blessings" and the "Parables of Jesus," respectively. The latter class will be composed of exclusively Preparatory and Short Course girls. There are fifteen students already enrolled for the work.

ARTHUR WADE SUFFERS INJURY

News reached the city this week that Arthur Wade ex-'10, was seriously burned by a charge of electricity. It seems that Mr. Wade was testing a dynamo in the plant of the Madison River Power Co., at Norris, where he is employed, and a short circuit occurred burning his right hand severely. It was at first feared that amputation would be necessary but later reports indicate that Mr. Wade will be all right next week. He is expected to register here about the 10th of October and will finish with the class of 1911 next spring.

Mr. Wade was one of the strong members of the band while in school, his part being the manipulation of the piccolo. He has written that he is anxious to resume this work in connection with his college studies.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION TO BOYS.

About a hundred young men of the college met in the Domestic Science rooms in Agricultural Hall last Friday for the annual stag social. Many pronounced it the best of its kind for years. As it was rather late before the bunch gathered, there was not much excitement in the fore part of the evening except in the way of mixing around and getting acquainted with one another. After all had arrived on the scene some new features of amusement were introduced quite successfully. These kept every one in good humor until the feed on sandwiches, cake and ice cream was ready to serve. One feature of interest was the lack of all rough-housing, which seemed to be pretty generally appreciated.

Here as in a good story, the climax was at the end. At one end of the room was a table at which were seated Mr. Charles H. Draper, toastmaster for the evening, President J. M. Hamilton, Professor W. F. Brewer, Professor Wm. Shoppe, Mr. Guy J. Millegan, president of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Ray E. Bancroft and Mr. E. A. Chambers. President Hamilton responded in a toast of welcome to the new students wherein he told a number of entertaining stories. Guy Millegan responded to "Our Responsibility," Prof. Brewer gave the new students some timely instruction on the subject of co-education. Considering the experience of the speaker, it is believed that the freshmen were not the only ones who received considerable information.

Prof. Shoppe, assistant coach, came at them with a straight talk on anything, which of course, was athletics. In short he told them it was up to the student body to get to work and arouse some spirit in the institution. Mr. Bancroft responded to "The Recollections of a Senior," Mr. Chambers responded to "Why I Was Late Tonight." If you want to know you will have to ask him.

This closed an enjoyable evening for which too much credit cannot be given to Chairman S. A. Williams of the social committee and his assistants.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB TO MEET.

The first regular meeting of the Agricultural Club is to be held at one o'clock, Thursday, Oct. 6, in Prof. Clark's class room on the second floor of the Agricultural Building. The new students in Agriculture, especially, are urged to attend.

Prof. R. C. Jones will give an address of welcome to Agricultural students and Ray Bancroft will explain the purpose of the Agricultural club and of the Book Society. Considerable business of an important nature is to be transacted and new members will be received.
