Vol. 2.

BOZEMAN, MONTANA, FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1911

No. 34

1912 ACTS TO-NIGHT

JUNIOR CLASS PRESENTS "COLLEGE WIDOW" THIS EVENING.

PROCEEDS FOR COLLEGE ANNUAL

Noble Donaldson, John Taylor, Wallace Fisher, Edna Hagerman and Margaret Edwards in Leading Roles.

Breathless suspense hangs over the college in anticipation of the presentation this evening of "The College Widow" by the junior class. This week has seen hard, consistent drilling to perfect the smaller points of the play, and this morning the cast is at the opera house for final rehearsal. The entire cast will attend the baseball game this afternoon, unless rain should prevent, and it is probable that the contestants on the diamond will be in the front seats to witness the stirring college play.

This is the first time the junior class has carried through their plans for a play, though it has often been attempted before. It will probably be an annual event hereafter. Mrs. Herrick has proven herself an expert in staging amateur plays. The cast for the production tonight is as follows:

"The College Widow is one of George Ade's best productions and contains a wealth of humorous and typically college situations. It is promised that tonight's presentation will do ample justice to the clever ideas of the author. Mrs. O. E. Myers' orchestra will provide the music for the evening.

BOOSTERINES ELECT OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR

During the noon hour Wednesday the Boosterines had a short business meeting for the purpose of making their final arrangements for their part in this afternoon's big parade, and the election of officers for the club for the ensuing year. Miss Rhoda Dawes, '13, is the new president of the girls' organization, and in that capacity she will take the place of Miss Edna Hagerman, retiring. Miss Vie Vallean was elected to the position of vice-president, and Miss Florence Pool will act as secretary-treasurer.

The Boosterine club has been a very powerful factor toward the improved college spirit which has been evidenced at this college during the past two years, and the choice of its officers consequently is of considerable interest to the student body in general.

After the election of officers the meeting was turned over to a discussion of plans for the float which will represent the girls of the college in the parade before the annual city official-faculty baseball game. The club decided to have an elaborate and tasteful representation with the college colors as a prominent color scheme. The girls have spent all their leisure time during the past two days in making artificial chrysanthemums of gold and blue hue, and these will be used in profusion on the float. A new custom is being established by the club this year in giving to the freshman girls the pleasant task of preparing the display. The float, it is rumored, will carry a most attractive human burden in addition to its load of bright color, and it is the expressed purpose of the ambitious coeds of the lower class to make the club's part in the parade the most attractive to be seen.

NO FINAL EXAMS FOR SENIORS

The fact that the seniors who have a standing of better than C in their studies will get out of final examinations the last semester is something that has caused considerable joy in the hearts of the students who took their last final examinations without knowing at the time that they were doing such a thing.

TOURNAMENT IS STARTED

Many of the Preliminary Games Already Played.

After much promoting and boasting on the parts of several members of the faculty and student body, the first tennis tournament ever held at the institution started last week. There were 14 contestants who handed in their names and played off their preliminary games, and the winners of two out of three sets of games are scheduled to go into the semi-finals.

The first pair to play were Ralph Brabrook and Cassius Kirk, the former winning two deuce sets with a score of 7-5 and 8-6. In a close game, the skill of Will Haines was overcome by the accuracy of Joseph Soper, and it took but two sets to give the latter his place in the semi-finals; score, 7-5 and 6-3. When Prof. M. H. Spaulding and Elwood Morris came together, the latter was successful in two sets. Prof. W. F. Brewer had too many cuts for J. R. Parker to master, and won 6-2 and 6-4. R. B. Williams, senior civil, proved more than a match for Edward Hodgskiss, who lost 6-2 and 8-6. Art Seamans got away with Will Hodgskiss in two short sets of 6-1 and 6-2. John Wharton got revenge on the botany department by playing three sets and winning two from Prof. D. B. Swingle with the scores of 6-1, 3-6 and 6-4.

Only one game in the semi-finals has been played as yet, Prof. Brewer winning from Roy Williams 6-4 and 6-2. The remainder will be played off during the next week, and Brabrook and Soper, Seamans and Wharton and Elwood Morris will play it out.

SECOND ANNUAL WORK DAY IS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Over One Hundred Students Wield Pick and Shovel or Some Other Instrument of Labor. New Court is Laid Out, Flag Pole Painted, and Some Work Done on Athletic Field. Boosterines Provide Excellent Dinner.

Last Saturday morning at eight o'clock the students began to appear to put in the second annual Labor day improving the college campus. During the greater part of the day there were from fifty to seventy-five enthusiastic workers on the new tennis court, flag pole, track and ash-pile and, though several of them had to be shown how to use a shovel, and then would find that they had an important business deal downtown, great results were accomplished.

First, everybody present got a good day's exercise; second, the college will soon boast a second concrete tennis court; third, the flag pole was given a coat of paint and the cannon and ammunition box were greatly improved in appearance by giving them a coat of gray and black paint; fourth, the field was leveled off and a drain dug all around it just inside of the track; and last, two large cinder piles were gotten rid of.

At the same time a large crowd of Boosterines were busy preparing a big feed for the laborers, and was certainly no light task when you take into consideration the seventy-five hungry men that were to be provided for. But half the enjoyment of the day would have been lost if it hadn't been for the labors of the girls.

The biggest task set out for the day was getting the new tennis court ready for the concrete. This part of the work was in charge of Frank Froebe, who graduates from the civil engineering course this spring, and he also did all the technical work, so that to him the greatest credit for the new tennis court is due. The site for the new court had been plowed before the arrival of the workers, and several teams were on the scene at the start, more being added as more men arrived, till there were in all seven or eight teams at work. During the forenoon the site for the tennis court was excavated to a depth varying from seven inches on the edges to twelve through the center. The dirt taken from the court was dumped on the athletic field, and another gang was kept busy there spreading the dirt and leveling up the field. The work was such that everybody had a good chance to show what was in him, the large majority of the crowd raising callouses on their hands with a shovel, driving a scraper or being straw boss, each man taking the work he was best fitted for. While this was going on back of the college a small band under Jack Taylor's orders was giving the cannon and flag pole a more presentable appearance by giving them a much needed dressing of paint, and Jimmie Annin was doing duty on the ash pile with a fire hose, being careful to see that no one got near enough to him to interfere with his work. Dinner time saw the tennis court ready for cinders and several loads already hauled, the flag pole, cannon and ammunition chest, which was discovered at the barns, partly painted and the athletic field leveled off. It was a tired and hungry crowd that sought the domestic science rooms at twelve thirty to do duty to the good things the girls had prepared. That they had been busy during the morning was shown by the big dinner they had prepared under the supervision of the Boosterines. The menu was as follows:

Noodle Soup
Wafers
Boston Baked Pork and Beans
Brown Bread
Cabbage Salad Mashed Potatoes
Jelly Pickles Bread
"Three-story," "Concentrated" Lemon,
Apple, Chocolate and Squash Pie
Coffee Cheese

That the dinner was appreciated is shown by the fact that one of those to enjoy it carried off two plates of soup, three helpings of pork and beans and other things in proportion.

After dinner the usual half hour lay-off was taken, at which time the principal amusement was found in putting the ever troublesome Jimmie under the hydrant and squaring old scores with him.

A few minutes later the bunch was hard at work again, this time principally on the ash pile, though a few were still busy on the flag pole and others were spreading cinders. However, large as the ash pile behind the upper power house was, at about half past three it had been entirely cleaned away, and it was now necessary to go to the lower power house for more cinders, and soon most of this pile was also gone. The court was carefully leveled up by hand and then the steam engine was run over it to pack the cinders. Noble Donaldson had charge of the athletic field, and in the morning saw that the low places were filled in. In the afternoon George Morgan and Fred Gordon followed the plow around the edge of the field and then with the grader they quickly finished the ditch in which tile is to be placed to drain the track. The finishing touches to the work were given at about six-thirty, and the tired but well satisfied bunch left, most of them knowing a little about shoveling, at least enough to know that there must be an easier way to make a living.

CONSTITUTION FOR STUDENT GOVERNMENT ACCEPTED

College Students at Joint Meeting Decide to Rule Themselves. Committee Presents Good Constitution. Election for First President Takes Place This Morning. Taylor and Donaldson Candidates.

To-day the students are voting by ballot for the election of the first President of the Senate, a new organization created in the adoption last Friday, by the student body, of a constitution providing for a senate and a president of that body, to be elected by the students. At the present writing it seems that John C. Taylor will be elected to the position, as he ran clear away from all other candidates at a primary held last Monday.

The constitution, which was adopted last Friday, is published here to-day. It was drawn up by a select committee after presentation of the matter had been accomplished by David V. Higbie, president of the Booster's club, in its form as published it was unanimously adopted by the student body last Friday. At that time the arrangements for holding the elections this year were made, and in accordance therewith the primary election for the selection of two candidates for the presidency was held on Monday, the polls being kept open from 9:00 till 12:30.

This primary resulted in an overwhelming majority for Mr. Taylor, Charles Draper and Noble Donaldson running a poor second, with a number of votes scattered among half a dozen others. According to the constitution, the two high men are candidates. Owing to his previous election as editor-in-chief of this paper for next year, Mr. Draper considers himself ineligible and has withdrawn.

After the election to-day the classes will elect their full senatorial representation, and the new body will probably meet next week to organize. Not much can be accomplished this year, owing to the nearness of commencement, but the senate will be ready to act from the beginning of college next year.

The constitution as adopted is published here in full. It is suggested that the students who are in the least interested in the new plan of government should carefully preserve this issue of the Exponent in order to have a complete copy of the constitution at hand. It is probable that next year it will be published and distributed in convenient form, but at present there are no finances available for so doing:

PREAMBLE.

We, the students of the Montana State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, in order to provide a means for the establishment and continuation of customs, for the control and direction of student activities, and for the promotion of a high standard of honesty among the students, do hereby adopt and establish this constitution.

CONSTITUTION OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT AT MONTANA STATE COLLEGE.

Article I.

Sec. 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a senate.
Sec. 2. All executive duties shall devolve upon a president.

Article II.

Composition of and Eligibility to the Senate.

Sec. 1. The senate shall be composed of members chosen as follows. Four (4) Seniors; three (3) Juniors, two (2) Sophomores, for the term of one year; one (1) Freshman for the term as specified.

Sec. 2. No person shall be a senator who is not registered in a four-year college course at this institution.

Sec. 3. Vacancies occurring in the senate shall be filled by special election, held by the class from which the vacancy occurs.

Sec. 4. Senators shall be chosen by and from their respective classes.

Article III.

Presidency.

Sec. 1. The president of the senate shall be elected by the students in the manner hereinafter designated, and shall be a member of the senior class during his term of office.

Sec. 2. The senate shall, at their organization, elect one of their senior members to serve in the capacity of president pro tempore.

Article IV.

Powers and Duties of President and Senate.

Sec. 1. The senate shall have power to enact such legislation as shall be necessary to promote the general welfare of the students of this college.

Sec. 2. No act passed by the senate shall become a law until the fulfillment of any one of the following conditions: 1st. Upon receiving the signature of the president; 2nd. Upon receiving a two-third, affirmative vote over the president's veto; 3rd. Seven days after its passage, if unsigned and unvetoed by the president.

Sec. 3. While sitting for legislative purposes, the senate shall be organized as follows: The president shall preside, if present, otherwise his place shall be taken by the president pro tempore.

Sec. 4. The senate shall have power to try all cases concerning students of this college.

Sec. 5. When sitting as a judicial body, the senate shall be presided over

GREENHOUSES TO BE BUILT

Plans are Being Made for Construction of Flower Room.

One of the appropriations made by the state legislature in their recent session was $10,000 which was to be used for the construction of greenhouses at the State college. Since the money was set aside for this purpose, Prof. O. B. Whipple has been planning on the new buildings, and last week submitted plans for the contract, which was let to Lord & Burnham of Chicago.

The new addition to the college campus will consist of two main houses 90 feet long by 28 wide, which will occupy all the ground south of the agricultural hall, and will extend to the road in front of the biology building. In the center of the eastern section will be placed an iron frame palm house 39 feet square, which will be the prettiest part of the new greenhouses. To the western side of the west house there will be a space of ten feet set aside for a propagating house, while the space between the agricultural hall and the greenhouse proper will be used as a workroom for sorting and potting plants.

An extra section of the glass work is to be built by the biology department, which will make 1,100 more square feet of space available for the various work and experiments in plant pathology, etc.

MONTANAN READY

JUNIOR ANNUAL FOR 1912 IS EXCELLENT PUBLICATION.

WILL BE DISTRIBUTED MONDAY

Book Cast Much Favorable Reflection on Editors. Every Phase of College Life Noted in Contents.

The Annual is out! After fifteen months of unremitting labor, coupled with tears, entreaties, heart breaks and other disasters, the complete history of the college as embodied in the Junior Annual of 1912, will be placed on sale Monday in Main hall.

The book, containing nearly three hundred pages of reading matter and bound in an attractive texoderm cover of purple and silver, is by far the best the college has ever produced. The staff, composed of the following students: Chas. Draper, editor in chief; Jack Taylor, business manager; Margaret Edwards, art editor; Geo. Morgan, associate editor; and Edna Hagerman, associate editor; have worked unceasingly to make the book the best that the college has ever seen, and without a doubt have succeeded even beyond their fondest hopes.

Of course the usual sections are allotted to the classes, but a different policy has been followed in writing the senior and junior summaries. A complete record of all the activities in which the seniors have been engaged is given and the juniors are favored with a witty write-up, as well as mention of their various offices and accomplishments. Without doubt there are some of those favored who will wonder just where the writers of these summaries got their information; and just how the publishers of the book expect to get out of the numerous suits for slander which will probably result. Incidentally the editors have discovered a number of literary lights hitherto unknown to the English department.

But to get back to the main question,—the Annual proper; sections are given to each of the different student organizations and the clearest and best cuts ever seen in any state annual illustrate each organization and the work that it is doing. In all, over three hundred and fifty cuts are contained in its pages, showing in detail every phase of the life at Montana State, serious and otherwise.

For once the faculty section is filled with pictures of a recent vintage, and without doubt the members of that august body will show their appreciation by buying a separate copy for each and every one of their families. The sections devoted to the does and stags have numerous pictures showing the harrowing experiences of the initiates, while other pictures, caught when no one was looking, show the more intimate fussing life of our close friends and companions.

The funniest section of all is that devoted to "college extremes" and kindred subjects, and here it is that we find a witty tour of the college written by an unknown, who signs himself C. L. K. You are privileged to make one guess as to the author and the lucky one will have the rare privilege of buying three copies of the Junior book. Immediately following this comes the calendar of the college year, and this is one of the best things in the entire book, for a complete account of each day is given, together with cartoons and snapshots illustrating all the big events.

Athletics is given one of the biggest spaces in the entire annual, and all the different teams and games are shown in a series of fine engravings. Complete records of all the games and events are given and a fine set of pictures show the recent state high school basket ball tourney. A good write-up goes with the tourney pictures and shows all the games and their respective scores.

The book is dedicated to Prof. W. F. Brewer of the English department in recognition of his work for the college.

Remember, it will be on sale Monday morning at 10:30 and each one should be on hand to get his copy as the edition is somewhat limited and the managers need the money.

The Exponent is written, edited and managed entirely by students. No financial remuneration is connected with positions on the staff. It is printed for the students faculty and alumni and contains all the news of its field.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

The plan of student government recently adopted and soon to be put into execution at this college is anything but an innovation. It is a growth, a crystallization of forces already at work.

Despite general impressions to the contrary, the plan does not include anything looking toward rigid discipline of unusual standards of action. The prime purpose of offering such an organization was to afford some central and authoritative body to deal with the problems which confront the students during the course of a year. Probably among the first actions of the Senate will be found something looking to the establishment of new customs and maintenance of the old. Instead of allowing the observation of these customs to happen, it is expected that they will be provided for and given their due place in the events of the year.

There is a great deal that might be accomplished through the recommendation of such a body. A list of customs which require observance might be compiled, with dates exact or approximate; duplication of dates for college affairs might be prohibited; regulations governing freshmen and other students might be adopted, such as would lend dignity and impressiveness to the institution; and a dozen other matters might be mentioned. Besides, there are questions frequently arising which could be promptly settled, probably to the satisfaction of the majority, by a body with the prestige which the Senate will or should have.

The plan of organizing to meet these problems is the only innovation connected with the scheme. It has been tried at other places and found successful; it should work here. Being largely an experiment, it can not be expected that a revolution will be accomplished in a day. Many matters which should receive attention will probably be neglected, mistakes will likely be made, yet if success is to be hoped for, it will come because the new system is given a chance.

Patience and persistence will accomplish the desired results, providing the general student body lends its support. It is absolutely necessary, now that the experiment has been entered into, that the "knockers" keep their hammers in the show case till ample time for testing the plan has been given. If there was opposition to the adoption of the plan, it was not manifested. The time for knocking was when the scheme was first suggested, not when it has been adopted and is about to be applied. In this respect the monumental indifference of some students requires only censure.

Pardon the repetition, the student body must stand back of the government adopted till it has been definitely proved either efficient or inefficient. Do not expect too much, and try to aid in making it a success. Experience at other colleges has shown that the beginning finds many obstacles and plenty of entanglements. Time only will tell whether it is an unqualified success or not. If you can do nothing to further perfect the scheme, and have nothing constructive to offer, keep your unkind thoughts to yourself. Those who will take up the work will have plenty of difficulty without undertaking to compete against indifference or unfounded opposition.

If you have a good idea, give it out; if something is wrong, help to right it; but do not condemn the effort merely because you know nothing about it.

EXPONENT STAFF ANNOUNCEMENTS.

When it became necessary to name the Exponent staff for next year it was apparent that most of the present members of the staff will be available for the work next year, and as their attention to duty has apparently been very satisfactory to the readers, and particularly satisfactory to the editor, practically the same staff is named as now conducts the paper.

The following are the appointments so far made:

Edwin A. Chambers, '13, managing editor.

Charles L. Hansen, '12, business manager.

George W. Morgan, '12, assistant business manager.

Joseph T. Nordquist, '15, circulation manager.

Rhoda Dawes, '13, intercollegiate editor.

Frieda M. Bull, '07, alumni reporter.

Selmar Solberg, '14, athletic reporter.

Myrtle Alderson, '13, Horace Davis, '14, general reporters.

The staff for the Monthly Supplement has not as yet been selected, but will probably be much the same as this year. On the Weekly staff there remain several vacancies in the reporting department; just how many remains to be seen when the candidates for positions report for duty next fall. It is the intention to put in several of next year's record breaking freshman class in reporter capacities, and to that end some competitive tests will be conducted next fall.

In connection with this announcement the writer wishes to call attention again to the fact that the Exponent is not maintained as a recreation or as a pastime, but requires a faithful application to business, not only once in a while, but every week in the college year.

It is with considerable pride that we point to the fact that the paper has never been late in reaching the students, and that despite occasional weeks when the supply of news seemed extremely limited, the Exponent has always found enough to fill its columns with acceptable material.

Every department of the paper has received careful attention, and it should be here mentioned that the department which appears least conspicuous to the general public, the business department, represents in itself a great amount of consistent and faithful application.

The business management has been in such capable hands this year that it seems particularly fortunate that the same men will be in a position to continue with the work. It will be necessary early in the year to begin the training of new men to take the place of Messrs. Hansen and Morgan, who will be seniors next year, unless they should remain in college another year. The business management of the Exponent, as well as the other departments, has assumed such magnitude that new men should be accustomed to the duties gradually, and this policy will be followed out as far as practicable.

It is with considerable regret that the loss of three valued members of the staff through graduation is contemplated. James Annin has served faithfully and with frequent brilliancy for a year and a half, and this year as managing editor and later as associate editor of the Weekly, has made himself almost indispensable.

J. M. Spain, as managing editor of the Supplement, has been faithful and efficient in the performance of his duties. Miss Irene Pledale, as a reporter on the Weekly, has done some good work, though often unable to assist, owing to thesis and other work.

Remarks in this vein of appreciation of honest and consistent endeavor might be continued indefinitely, but space forbids. It is firmly believed that the standards set by the paper since its expansion into a weekly publication will prove amply difficult to maintain, and the coming year must see a continuance of the same spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion to the Exponent's interests which have characterized the staff in the past.

CHAS. H. DRAPER, '12,
Editor-in-Chief, 1911-1912.

CIVIL ENGINEERS GET GOOD POSITIONS

During the past two weeks the various students of the college have been arranging for their summer work. The civil engineers have more good jobs than any other section of the work taught at college. Louis Dahling, Dave Higbee and Frank Froebe are ditch riders or water commissioners in the West Gallatin; John McGraw is working on a litigation suit in the neighborhood of Dillon; Harold Wolpert and Freeman Daley will probably be stationed in the Beaverhead valley as water measurers; Sam Pound is working in his profession near Big Timber; Roy Williams will be at the Hegeen dam with Dave DeMuth; Hugo Dahling is working in Bozeman; and Will Tremper will have charge of considerable construction work in Helena.

by the president, who shall serve in the capacity of judge, rendering decision on points of law, and determining other questions which ordinarily come before a judge. The senate shall compose a jury and their decision shall be final, except that an appeal may be taken to the faculty of this college, which body may sustain, overrule or amend the action.

Sec. 6. President shall have power to veto any act of the senate, within seven days of its passage. The senate shall have power to overrule a veto by a two-thirds vote of its members.

Sec. 7. The senate shall keep a journal of its proceedings, which shall be open at all times to the president and members of the senate.

Sec. 8. Senate shall have power to enact such laws as shall be deemed necessary to carry out the provisions of this constitution.

Sec. 9. If the student body does not approve of the action of the senate, they may, by securing ten per cent of the signatures of the students, have the particular action, law or rule voted before the assembled students. A two-thirds vote will be required to cancel any such act, rule or law.

Article V.

Election of President and Senators.

Sec. 1. The president shall be nominated by popular vote, conducted as follows: One week preceding the general election, a primary election shall be held, at which each student shall have a vote, casting a written ballot for some member of the then junior class. The two persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be considered the nominees. In case two or more persons tie for second highest number of votes all those so tying shall be considered nominees; and should more than two tie for highest number of votes, they shall be considered nominees. Upon presentation of a petition bearing signatures of a greater number of students than the highest candidates received votes in the primary election another candidate for the presidency may be added to the list of nominees. Said petition shall designate the person so nominated and must be in the hands of the senate by noon of the Tuesday following the primary election.

Sec. 2. The president shall be elected by ballot, a plurality being required for election.

Sec. 3. The elections, primary and general, shall be under the direction of the senate.

Sec. 4. The student president shall be elected not later than the first Friday in each year, and the election of senators, unless otherwise specified, shall take place after the election of the President and before the second Friday of May.

Sec. 5. The election of Senators shall be by ballot, majority of the votes cast shall be required for election, and the result shall be certified by the President and Secretary of the class holding the election within seven days thereafter.

Sec. 6. The Freshman Senator shall assume his office on November 1st. He shall not be chosen by his class earlier than October 20. His term of office shall expire when the new Senate is installed.

Sec. 7. The installation of President and Senators shall take place the third Friday in May. They shall attend all meetings of the present Senate during the remainder of the school year but shall not have a vote until they take office the following September.

Sec. 8. Any class may replace a Senator by two-thirds vote of its mem-

College Notes

Clyde Stieb has accepted a position with the Kendall Drug Co., at Hamilton, for the summer.

Seat sales for The College Widow continue good. A few good locations left. Gallatin Drug Store till eight o'clock this evening.

C. H. Burfield, of the first year pharmacy class, will spend the summer vacation in the employ of the City Drug Co., at Dillon.

The president's arm is in fine condition for one inning's pitching, and the students will miss it if they don't see "prexie" in this role this afternoon.

When asked how many men he would fan Prof. Cobleigh, slated to dish up the chemicals for the batters to analyze this afternoon stated that it all depended on his highness, the ump.

Noyes Lorentz, a student in the preparatory department, departed last Saturday for Radersburg, where he will enter the employ of his brother, Floyd Lorentz, '07, who is engaged in mining and electrical engineering at that place.

W. B. Vestal, of the sophomore class, completed his work for the year and left last Friday for Harlem, where he will be engaged this summer in civil engineering work. Mr. Vestal expects to return early next fall with a number of recruits for the freshman class.

Walter Aitken, Belgrade's genial attorney, was a Bozeman visitor Wednesday. While here Mr. Aitken took advantage of his opportunity to enter the subscription list of the Montanan, and to say some nice things about the Exponent, of which he is already a subscriber.

R. W. Kaill and Arthur B. Ayers, representatives of the Oregon Short Line, Southern Pacific and several other of the railway systems of the southwest, were visitors on the hill yesterday morning, where they were distributing literature dealing with their respective lines.

Prof. F. B. Linfield, director of the Experiment station, and L. G. Schermerhorn, of the horticultural department, were visitors at the capitol building in Helena the first of the week. They took to Helena with them the bids for the contract of building the new greenhouses and turned them over to the state board of examiners.

Margaret Edwards and Wallace Fisher, in The College Widow, will convulse the audience with laughter.

Prof. Mollett of the pharmacy section, says that he would rather sub as far as base ball is concerned, but can put up a fine exhibition with the medicine ball.

Jack Larrabee, alias Jack Taylor, acts in The College Widow as though he might have been disappointed in love before. Anyway, he gets it there good and strong.

Edna Hagerman, as The College Widow, is apparently in her element, though she had never discovered that fact before. Her previous experience in dramatic work makes her particularly successful in interpreting the The College Widow.

F. S. Cooley, whose body will be used for a backstop in the preliminary game this afternoon, has arranged a deal of relayed passes with Pres. J. M. Hamilton so that it will be impossible for any of the gray whiskered to pilfer the second sack.

Prof. Alfred Atkinson, head of the agronomy department, returned yesterday from a visit to the dry land sub-station at Moccasin, in Fergus county. The legislature appropriated $4,500 to fix up this station and plans are made to build a new barn, house, and other improvements. The buildings will be started next month.

Miss Erma McCarthy arrived Wednesday afternoon from St. Paul to visit her sister, Miss Ray McCarthy, at Hamilton Hall. She has been attending a boarding school at St. Paul and was en route home for the summer vacation. The two sisters departed yesterday morning for Townsend. Miss Ray McCarthy will return to her college duties Monday.

The faculty committee that has charge of the dedication services of Hamilton Hall during commencement week was entertained at luncheon last Monday noon by Mrs. Una B. Herrick, in Hamilton Hall. Places were set for Miss L. A. Baldwin, Miss M. A. Cantwell, Mrs. Una B. Herrick, and Profs. Alfred Atkinson and R. D. Kneale and wives.

Miss Harriet Kinney was a guest of Miss Vie Valleau at dinner at Hamilton Hall last Sunday.

Miss Ethel Van Camp, of Two Dot, arrived in the city last Wednesday afternoon, where she will visit friends for the next two weeks. Miss Van Camp hopes to be able to enter school next fall and resume her sophomore work.

For six weeks the juniors, together with some good dramatic talent from outside the class, have been practicing on The College Widow. The result of their efforts is a near-professional rendition of that eminently successful play.

The freshman girls in the home science course are planning on a four course dinner to be served next Monday evening at five o'clock. The guests of honor are to be President J. M. Hamilton, Mrs. Una B. Herrick and Prof. W. M. Cobleigh and wife.

Among the numerous visitors at Hamilton Hall last Sunday were Ned Chambers, Harmon Wilson, Walter Willson and Wallace Fisher. It was arranged by some of the more ingenious inhabitants of the dorm that these four were able to remain for dinner.

It is learned through official sources that the freshmen at their meeting last Monday formally adopted a certain variety of head dress for their ornamentation next fall. Among other business transacted was the nipping of a financial panic started by the demand of the treasurer for class dues. Bullion, bonds and other security were rushed across the continent to supply the demand for a medium of exchange.

Tomorrow (Saturday) evening a dance will be given at Elks' hall to be known as the final college dance of the season and to bear the title of the Rah-Rah Hop. The arrangements are in charge of the seniors, who are putting on this event for the benefit of their treasury, which was somewhat depleted by the excess bills for engraving which went into last year's Montanan. A good, sociable time is promised, and no better way of closing a strenuous week could be devised.

Hugo Dahling, known in the vaudeville world as "Speedo," has dropped his school work for the year and is busy in one of the city offices.

Reports from California are to the effect that Miss Vera Anderson, '13, will return next Wednesday, after spending several months in the balmy south.

One day during commencement week the freshman girls are going to give demonstrations in cooking, and there will also be a display of work from the sewing department and samples of the weaving done on the college loom.

Paul Mitchell, '09, who has the distinction of being the first graduate of the Pharmacy department of M.S.C., has recently purchased a drug store at Belfry, Montana. Mr. Mitchell, together with Edgar Allen, '10, and Spencer J. Crosby, '11 now belong to Carbon County the last two named being located at Red Lodge.

Frederick Warde, who is probably our greatest living tragedian, comes to the opera house, on Wednesday, May 24th, in a special production of Shakespeare's popular tragedy, Julius Caesar, in which he will appear as Brutus. Mr. Warde is the last of a school of players who have made dramatic history in this country and has been worshipped by lovers of tragedy for over a quarter of a century.

The junior class held a meeting last Tuesday, at which plans for the observation of the custom of entertaining the seniors just before commencement were discussed. After recommending a dance-party, the matter was left in the hands of a committee composed of Joseph Morgan, J. E. Hodgskiss, Nathalie Sackett, Florence Baker and Laura Piedalue. It was further decided to hold the annual class election next week.

Last Wednesday evening the S. N. L. club, made up of most of the girls of the present sophomore class, were entertained at dinner at the domestic science department. A four course repast was served. The following girls were present, with Miss Abigail Hess as chaperone: Rhoda Dawes, Olive Clark, Georgia Hollier, Ruth Hartman, Hettie Schumacher, Ruth Anderson, Helen Shiell, Alda Smith, Ethel Van Camp and Margaret Bole.

Mr. Philip A. Swartz, a traveling secretary representing the student volunteer movement for foreign missions, will visit Bozeman and the college May 21 and 22. A joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. has been arranged to take place Sunday, May 21, at the Presbyterian church. After the meeting Mr. Swartz will spend his time in interviewing the students about the college. Mr. Swartz comes highly recommended and has a rich and varied experience along this line of work. This is a rare opportunity, and a good representation is desired.

BASEBALL TO-DAY

THIS AFTERNOON THE GREAT ANNUAL EVENT OF THE SEASON WILL BE PULLED OFF.

GAME CALLED AT 2:30 SHARP

Both Teams Have Been Training Hard and are in Mid Season Form. With President Hamilton in the box and Capt. Cooley to Receive Them, the College Battery Could not be Improved.

Linfield's ability as a first baseman is well known throughout the union and in Canada and with another Canadian slugger to hold down second there will be no stealing to-day. The third baseman comes to us from across the pond with a noble recommendation, and those who will remember his wonderful batting average of last season will know he is there with the stick.

In an interview with Clark regarding his experience at shortstop, he replied as follows: "While I have always been captain of the team heretofore, I want to compliment Capt. Cooley for so wisely choosing me to take care of the hot grounders. I have always done good work in the infield, and at short I can bring my feet into play advantageously. I will play my usual game."

The "fielders" are Oliver, R. A. Cooley and Tallman. These men need no further praise as they are all would-be professionals. A word for the subs might be added in that they are extremely unfortunate that only nine can play the game. Qualifications are of the highest order.

As for the city council nine, the writer has been unable to get the exact line up. The players have all won fame in errorless games, and Captain Manry is at a loss just how to place his men for perfect team work. It may be said, however, that he cannot

Those desiring type-writing done, either for thesis or other lines, will save by having N. B. Lundwall perform the same. He has run out some 25 theses, offers a reduction to students in prices, is acquainted with technical terms, and all work is guaranteed. Bell phone 293 red.

Those Mens Suits

THAT WE ARE SELLING AT ABOUT HALF OF ORIGINAL PRICE

Are, of course, not of this season's buying. If they were we could not make such a low price on them.

Neither are they older than 1910, as the extremely low price that we make on season old suits insures a complete clean-up each season.

There is no lot that has more than two suits, but in the several lots are all sizes from 35 to 42 and a few stout and long models.

Five minutes in our clothing section will convince any Exponent reader that these savings can be made without the sacrifice of any material point of style.

COLLEGE PICTURE BOOKLET

Bulletin With Many Cuts and Interesting Topics Ready for Distribution.

The college is now distributing what is believed by many to be the most attractive booklet setting forth the institution that has ever been published. The title of the new publication is Education for Efficiency, and it endeavors, with a remarkable degree of success, to give a true and just idea of Montana's leading educational institution. The book is profusely illustrated, having more than forty views of the buildings, grounds, equipment and students in different activities.

Education for Efficiency contains 36 pages and is bound in one of the handsomest covers ever seen on a Montana publication. The cover bears the new college seal, a very suggestive design. There is only a limited amount of literature explaining the work of the college, but this little is made to count heavily, and no space is wasted on digressions.

Among the topics treated are: Foreword, The New Montana, What the College Offers, Some Positions Held by Alumni, How the College is Supported, The Faculty, The Experiment Station, The College in its Home, The Montana Farmers' Institutes, A College Democracy, Athletics, Standards, Why Not Come to the Montana State College and A Few Relevant Facts.

All are concise and pointed, emphasizing the efficiency feature of the education offered here. Probably the most striking part of the book is the page, the last in the book, entitled, A Few Relevant Facts. Here is given a list of more than 100 different subjects of a practical application which the college offers to the young people of Montana. When it is considered that this 100 does not nearly represent all that is offered here, but that there are five times that many in the curriculum, some idea of the magnitude of the institution, and the breadth of its field, is gained.

Education for Efficiency is being mailed out to all high school seniors, prospective students, libraries, newspapers, and to the list of over 800 names collected for the catalogue on the tour of the Better Farming Special. It will be mailed on application to any address. The book is not intended to take the place of the catalog in any respect, but that publication will be completed in a few days and will be mailed out as usual. The Montana State College is to be congratulated upon having undertaken and succeeded in publishing a book so thoroughly suggestive of the institution and so appealing to the high school graduate.

MISS BANCROFT GIVES GRADUATING PIANO RECITAL

Before a large and appreciative audience, Miss Alma Jane Bancroft gave her graduating recital in music last Friday evening at assembly hall. Miss Bancroft has been a student in the music department for several years, specializing in piano, and her work this year in particular has been marked by particular brilliance.

Miss Bancroft was assisted in her recital by Prof. Earle B. Oliver, vocal, and Miss Regina Barnes, accompanist. The following difficult program was rendered in a manner that would do credit to any school:

Mendelssohn, Concerto in G minor, op. 25.
Andante, Presto.
Molto Allegro e vivace.
Orchestral part on second piano, Mr. McNeely.

Raff, impromptu Valse, op. 94.

King Israfel.
Mr. Oliver

Jensen, Murmuring Zephyrs.
Sinding, Marche Grotesque, op. 32, No. 1.
Chopin, Polonaise, op. 26, No. 1.
Nocturne, op. 32, No. 1.
Ballade, op. 38.

Clutsam, I Know of Two Bright Eyes.
Bendix, Auf Wiedersehn.
Mr. Oliver

Liszt, The Nightingale.
Von Weber, Rondo Brillante, op. 62.
Miss Bancroft will receive her diploma in piano during Commencement week.
