THE WEEKLY EXPONENT.

L IV — THE WEEKLY EXPONENT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1912 — NUMBER 8

ARMON TALKS FOR ASSEMBLY

perintendent of Public Instruction is Speaker at Assembly Friday—Talks on Better Government.

At the conclusion of the regular exises at last Friday's assembly, W. Harmon gave a very interesting x to the students and faculty on the esent day methods of legislation.

Mr. Harmon began his talk by stating at when he taught in the local high ool he would tell the students how is were passed in the legislature, but w since he had had some experience getting bills passed he had found ch difference in the practical and oretical side of law making. Mr. rmon said that though unknown to voters, many bills were being pass for personal gain, and showed ow y it was for a man with a personal asure to hold back a good bill which uld benefit the whole state.

Ir. Harmon cited as an example of r legislation the passing of bills appriating more money than they had,as was last year in the case of the appriation for a new engineering lding for the college. He stated ther that it would be a simple mat to avoid all the trouble in securi the necessary funds by placing a manent tax on all the lands in the te and to divide the proceeds been the various institutions.

Ir. Harmon has been in school work Montana for the past twenty-seven rs, coming to the state in '85, four rs ahead of President Hamilton. In 4 he was elected to the office of erintendent of public instruction, ch office he has held since that e.

While in the superintendent's office Harmon had occasion to put many s before the legislature, and then found out just how our laws were ly made and how a man who has a sonal measure could hold back benial bills by saying to his colleagues: you don't vote for my bill, I 't vote for yours.'' One time Mr. rmon had a bill up before the legture which would necessitate only county superintendent passing on credentials of a prospective teacher. put the bill up before the house they passed it without debate, so then let it take its course. But n the bill was brought up before n Have to Work in Field of Mud and Snow—Are Training Hard Every Day.

acing miserable weather conditions, college football team began practice nday for their second game with the versity on November 9th. Snow covered the ground for the past k, making practice trying for both ches and men. Notwithstanding se conditions the men have entered work with a vim and are determed to reverse the score when they sh with the Varsity again. About nty-five men are reporting regularly h evening which shows that interest the team is still maintained and that squad is doing its best despite of adverse weather conditions. One kness shown by the college in the rsity game was their poor tackling. veral times when a runner should have n stopped in his tracks, poor tackling college players enable a gain of sevl yards by the Varsity. Coach Dockler has taken drastic measures to prove the tackling by spending a good tion of the time each evening on dummy.

The team that goes to Missoula will a much more efficient football mane than the one which played on ober 19th. Points which proved to weak have been strengthened and the same fighting spirit is shown the next clash the Varsity will cerly have to hustle to keep the blue gold from grabbing the big end of the score. At present the men are all in excellent condition, in fact the college has been particularly fortunate this year in having so few men out of the game on account of injuries; this will insure the best possible aggregation that the college can gather together to represent her in the coming game.

It is a deplorable condition that more games could not be scheduled this year. That twenty-five men should practice dilligently for two months to play two games speaks very highly for the determination and spirit the men have shown and also shows why M. S. C. has been able to produce at least a fair team from practically new material.

BOOSTERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR TODAY

The Boosters' Club will hold an important meeting today, the principal business of which will be the election of officers for the coming school year. This is the first meeting for this school year and a good attendance is desired. The Boosters' club has lots to do this year and desires the support of every college man on the hill.

The college Grange will hold a special meeting tomorrow evening at which time a number of new members will be initiated into the organization. Ths meeting was to have been held Monday, but was postponed because of the death of Arthur Carroll, one of the offciers of the organization.

ARRANGEMENTS BEGUN REGARDING DEBATING

Sophomore Class Sends Challenge to '16's—Wealth of Material Available in Two Lower Classes.

In following out the custom of years the sophomore class this week sent to the freshmen the annual challenge for an interclass debate, which provides that the members of the upper class shall submit the question and that the members of the lower class shall have the choice of sides. The stipulation is made, however, that the debating council shall approve the question and shall take a few other minor actions which, however, have nothing to do with the interclass contest.

It is expected that this debate will be the first of a series of debates, others being with the University of Montana and the Agricultural college of Utah, both of which debates are to be held in Bozeman this year. If the same plan as was carried out last year is followed, the question on the interclass argument will be the same as that in the other two contests. This gives the members of the under classes a better chance to prepare on the question in the tryouts for the college teams, and is an invaluable means of getting information on the question.

In the tryouts which were held last year of the persons who tried, all the members chosen on the debating squads were from the two lower classes, a majority of whom had spoken in the interclass debate. While it is too early yet to make any authoritative statements regarding the question to be debated upon, it is certain that it will be one of national interest and one that will be well worth the time spent in looking up information on the subject.

As regards the personnel of the different teams, it need only be said that there is a wealth of material in both classes from which teams that would do credit to any institution may be chosen. The freshman class has a large number of persons who have at one time or another taken place in high school debates or speaking contests. Among those that can be mentioned are Miss Lulu Tuttle, who was a member of the championship Boulder team two years ago; Miss Alice Ulmer, who was the leader of the Gallatin county high aggregation the same year; David Steel, who was one of the final contestants in the extemporaneous contest held here last spring, and Anson Baxter, who was also entered for that same contest. There are several others who intend to try out for the team, and it is expected that some of them will make strong bids for places on some of the college teams.

Among the sophomores who have announced their intention of entering the

STUDENT SENATE HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR WEDNESDAY

All Members are in Attendance and Standing Committees for the Year are Appointed---New Committees are Chosen for Club Rooms and Honor System

The Student Senate held a short meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in Prof. Tallman's room. This was the frst meeting of the year so the principal business was the appointment of the various committees which will look after the various things to be cared for by that organization this year. Another matter of importance that was cared for was the appointment of a committee to meet with the faculty committee and decide what was to be done in regard to the college club rooms and how they are to be run. It is planned that the rooms will be under the supervision of a joint committee composed of members of the faculty and of the students, who will decide what hours the rooms are to be open, who will be given the use of them and the general conduct of the students using the rooms. The committee appointed by President Gordon of the Senate, consists of four members of the senate and the president. Those who will serve on that committee will be George Roosevelt, Arthur Seamans, Frederick Dissly and Harrell Hibbard. It is probable that this committee will be only a temporary one and later a smaller committee will be given control of the rooms. Before the appointment of the committee a general discussion on the use of the rooms took place, but definite action was not taken, it being left for the committee appointed to care for the working out of the details of managing the rooms.

A committee on credits was also appointed. This committee consists of Brooke Hartman, Roy Spain and Harrell Hibbard. They are expected to look through the student body to see that no student has more than ten credits of student work acording to the schedule adopted by the Senate last fall. If any student has eleven credits, they will be expected to report to the Senate and secure permision to carry them. Morethan eleven credits will not be allowed under any condition, as it is thought that no student can carry that much outside work in addition to his regular school work and do justice to both. For those in college this year for the first time, it may be interesting to know what these credits of student work are. Last year it was decided that some students were doing too much outside work at the expense of their studies and some were doing too little. In order to keep the few who were doing too much, within reasonable limits, and to make it necessary to divide the work up among the students it was decided that a committee should look into the amount of work required from the holder of each office and to give the different offices a certain credit rating corresponding to the time, work and respansibility required. This was done and it was decided that ten credits was the maximum that any man should carry, but made it possible for him to carry one extra credit if the senate thought it possible for him to do so and at the same time to care for his regular work.

Last year only three or four students had to appear before the organization. The committee on credits will also look up any new offices made since the last revision of credits and will add them to the list.

A committee on customs consisting of Clara Flanders, Brooke Hartman and Mae Myers, was also appointed This committee will be expected to see that college traditions and customs are carried out and will make plans for the conduct of the next class of freshmen. They are also expected to look up new ideas that may be incorporated into the college, thereby making college life more attractive and pleasant.

The honor system then came up for a lively discussion and it was finally decided that the senate should endeavor to get as much first hand information on the subject as possible and then it should make whatever recommendations it thought best. With that end in view a committee consisting of Rhoda Dawes, Frederick Dissley and George Roosevelt was appointed to report on the honor system at a future meeting of the senate.

Matters regarding the taking of posters from the bulletin board and similar and more serious offenses will

ARTHUR CARROLL DIES UNEXPECTEDLY OF FEVER

Was Well Liked Secretary of Director Linfield—Body Has Been Shipped East.

The college body was generally shocked Monday by the intelligence that the secretary to the director of experiment station, Arthur J. Carroll, was dead. It was not generally known that he was seriously ill and the news came as a terrible shock to his host of friends on the hill.

While his residence in the city and his connection with the college has been a comparatively short one, about two years, yet in that short time he had made a host of friends and had placed himself in such a position in their affections that his loss will be a hard one. He was a charter member of the local grange and was one of the foremost officers and members of this organization. He was also a member and office rof the local lodge of the Knight of Columbus.

Mr. Carroll was born in 1883 in Genessee, Wisconsin, spending the greater part of his life in that place until he came to Butte with his brother six years ago. He spent four years in Butte, leaving there to take the position that he held at the time of his death. He recently returned from a trip to his former home, where it is thought that he contracted typhoid fever, which was the cause of his death.

ATKINSON TELLS OF DRY CONGRESS IN CANADA

Large Crowds Attended—Was One of the Best Meetings of the Kind Ever Held.

The Seventh Annual meeting of the Dry Farming Congress, held at Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, from October 21 to 25 inclusive, was unusually successful according to Professor Alfred Atkinson of the agronomy department, who, with Director F. B. Linfield and Miss Lilla A. Harkins, arrived home from there, Sunday.

The attendance at the congress was nearly 4,000, while an average of 5,000 people a day visited the exposition during the six days. There were official representatives from nine foreign countries present at the congress as follows: Russia, two; and one each from Palestine, the Netherlands, Austria, Persia, Australia, China, Mexico and Brazil.

Montana, unlike most of the other western states, did not have an exhibit because of the fact that previous to last year her exhibits had been unusually large and fine and the room was desired for the other states.

There were in all 63 Montana people present. The program was given largely by college and experiment station men from both the United States and Canada. The special feature of the convention was the addresses given by L. H. Bailey, director of the College of

H. B. CORNWALL DONATES PAINTINGS TO COLLEGE

H. B. Cornwall, brother of the late Mrs. Marshall, left Bozeman Sunday for his home in New York. In disposing of the affairs of Mrs. Marshall, Mr. Cornwall donated a number of Mrs. Marshall's paintings to the college. Among these was a scene of five paintings of the Alcazar Palace at Seville, Spain. One is an interior view and the others are exterior views of the castle, and they show the style of Spanish architecture. They are done in colors true to nature, and were made during Mrs. Marshall's stay in that country. Among the other paintings are studies in the flowers of this country, Japan, Hawaii and the West Indies. These paintings will be a valuable addition to the collection already in the possession of the art department of the college.

It is planned to have the paintings of Spain architecture mounted and put up as a frieze in the art rooms. The college already has a number of paintings by Mrs. Marshall, some of which were purchased from her and some were donated to the department by her. Mrs. Marshall was responsible for the early work in the art department of the college and the paintings left by her will serve to keep her memory fresh in the minds of the students.

Mr. Cornwall was professor of chemistry at Princton for thirty-four years, and is now on the retired list with a Carnegie pension.

SEATING ASSIGNMENT IS FINALLY ARRANGED

Increase in Size of Classes Makes Change in Seating Arrangements Imperative—Presidents Confer.

Hereafter the students at the college will be seated in the college assembly hall in a different way than has been the custom since the foundation of the school.

The juniors and seniors will remain in the two middle tiers of seats, the seniors on the left and the juniors on the right. The sophomores, who have heretofore been placed behind the seniors, will now be placed in the tier of seats along the north wall of the assembly hall and the freshmen will be placed in the tier of seats on the other side of the hall and next to the juniors. The other students of the college will be given the seats that may be unoccupied in the back of the room. The faculty will be allowed to remain as they are on the platform.

The change was made necessary because of the increased enrollment this year which made it impossible to seat all of the students as before and still keep the classes together. The change was decided upon by a committee consisting of President Hamilton, President Arthur Seamans of the senior class, President Alonzo Truitt of the juniors and Robert Kelley and Alex Christie, presidents of the two lower classes.

The other departments of the college were represented by Miss Cantwell and F. L. Dissley. The committee met in President Hamilton's office Monday afternoon at two o'clock. The new arrangement of seating will be put into effect at the next regular assembly, which will be held a week from today.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB HOLDS BRIEF MEETING

The agricultural society held a short meeting yesterday at noon at which the principal business transacted was the making of final arrangements on the part of the club in regard to the attending the Home Science party this evening. It was voted in this connection to charter the street car and thus provide for transportation for the people attending the party.

Ford B. Leinard gave a short talk on the methods of the Canadian Pacific in land development. He told of the several experimental stations that the company had established along its line and and outlined the work done by these farms. The manner in which the land was disposed of to settlers was also discussed.

CLUB ROOMS TO OPEN SOON

Faculty Committee Has Been Appointed to Act With Students for Their Regulation.

Finishing touches are being made to the club rooms, the lights are being installed and the furniture put n place now so it is confidently expected that they will be thrown open for occupancy of the students within the coming week or at least within the next ten days.

Saturday the linoleum was laid on the floors and this week the plumbing has been completed and the heating plant connected to the rooms. All of the wood work has been finished and varnished and the rooms seem to be ready except for the lights and furniture. This, however, should not delay the opening of the rooms for a great while longer.

With a view of their being ready for occupancy within a short time the student senate appointed a committee of five at their meeting Wednesday to make preliminary arrangements for the use of the rooms and at a faculty meeting a similar committee was appointed. Thinking that the senate would undoubtedly name all of its members on the student committee the faculty appointed a committee of six, thus bringing their representation to the same as that of the students. It is probable that the other man in the senate will be named on the student committee.

This committee will not be a permanent one, but will probably turn the rooms over to a board of directors who will have permanent charge. The members of the faculty named by President Hamilton, were Profs. W. F. Brewer, R. D. Kneale, L. G. Schermerhorn, R. A. Barnes, I. T. Gilruth and H. H. Morris of the chemistry station staff. A large part of the meeting was given over to a discussion of the use of the rooms as it was desired that the general opinion of the faculty be known by the committee. However, nothing definite was done and the committee was authorized to go ahead with whatever plans it thought best and to make a report at the next meeting.

It was stated by President Hamilton to an Exponent representative, however, that the policy of the faculty in regard to the rooms would be to

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB ENTERTAINS AT HALL

Is First Party of Kind for the Year. Good Time Is Planned and Crowd Is Expected.

One of the main social events of the season is scheduled for tonight, when the young ladies comprising the Home Economics club will entertain the men of the Agricultural club at a well appointed mask ball. Invitations of unique and pleasing design have been sent to every four-year student of agriculture in the institution, and it is expected that a great majority of each club will be in attendance. For those who do not dance, other entertainments, in keeping with the Hallowe'en season, will be provided, so no member of either club will be justified in remaining away on the grounds that he or she does not dance.

The freshmen students in home science are in charge of the decorations, and they confidently assert that tonight the interior of the drill hall will present a most beautiful appearance. Their original ideas on the subject will all conform to the one main object, that of producing an exceedingly ''spooky'' efect. To this end a profusion of jack-o-lanterns, ghosts, etc., will be used. They further state that the ''fussers'' will necessarily have to brave terrible fiends and ghosts in order to reach the ''cozy corners,'' of which there will be a generous supply.

Entered as second class mail matter at Bozeman, Montana, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Weekly Exponent is strictly a student enterprise. Its chief purpose is to present to its readers each week an accurate and complete record of the developments in college affairs during that period and it is intended that its influence shall be exerted for the upbuilding of M. S. C. The paper is the result of voluntary effort put forth by the students who compose the staff.

Debate Activity Commenced.

The first step in debate at the college for the coming year was taken this week when the sophomore class chalenged the freshmen to a debate to be held between the two classes December 13. While the preliminary steps this year are a little late, nevertheless there will be enough time for a thorough preparation for the event if the plans for the event are pushed from now on. Only five weeks remain for the preparation for this event, and in that time a great deal will have to be accomplished.

It is hoped that a goodly number of men wil turn out for this event, for from those who appear in this contest several intercollegiate debaters must be chosen, owing to the loss of several men from the college debate squad this fall. There are two debates, one with the University of Montana and the other with the Utah agricultural college, scheduled for this year at the present time. Both of these institutions will be represented by strong teams, which will come to Bozeman. Last year the college won from the university and lost to Utah. This year it is up to the college to win both events, as they are to be held on the home platform.

A lively interest displayed in this activity from the beginning of the year will do a great deal towards turning out a winning team this year. So it is hoped that a large number of students will appear for these preliminary events. Besides, the honor of representing the college in an intercollegiate contest, those who go out for debate derive a large amount of individual benefit. Practice makes perfect, so ability to talk and advance arguments is secured through work on the platform, and no practice of more value may be secured than than on the debate platform. Much of the success of a man's after life depends on his style of address and his ability to state his case, so the work done in debate in college will by no means be lost. Under the efficient coaching of Prof. Gilruth, two of the best teams ever turned out by the college were rounded into form last year, and the training that made them such will be available for those who try out this year. Some of the best training to be secured in college may be had in this work, and the student who takes it up will make no mistake.

Student interest in debate is as keen as that in athletics, a crowded house will see each of the debates this winter, so no new student should think for a minute that debate at the college is anything but a live issue. The man who can make a college debate team is as highly honored as a football star, and the returns to the man participating are great, so a large turnout should answer the call of the two classes for men to represent them in the contest on the thirteenth of December.

Echos From the Football Rally.

The following clipping taken from last week's Kaimin shows what a freshman at the University thought of the spirit shown by the students here at the rally held the night before the game. More than likely a number of the students on the hill were surprised. However, it will be seen that a very favorable impression was produced. The fact that such an impression was made and the fact that strangers attend all football games, see all such rallies and carry away certain impressions of the institution should be enough argument for the students to continue to show spirit such as that referred to. The article follows:

"On last Friday night, the day the Varsity football team arrived in Bozeman, the state collegians held a football rally on the main business street of Bozeman.

"It began at 7:30 o'clock with the college band leading, and a great majority of the college students in line. They formed a circle in front of the Bozeman hotel and started the snake dance. They entered the hotel and danced around the Varsity's special dining table, and then came out and continued to the next corner, where the real rally was held.

"Many of the men were made to give speeches and the keynote of all the talks was expression of confidence of victory over the Bruins.

"Captain Dornblaser of the Bruins was called to make a speech, but owing to his size was not able to be found in the crowd. Pat Kelly talked instead. He politely told the collegians that they were badly mistaken, and that the Bruins were going to be victors. Shorty Whisler also talked.

"After this the two football teams were taken to one of the shows. Here the students entered one door and went out another, all the time giving many yells, showing their confidence of winning the game on the morrow.

"The one big thing this rally showed us was that when it came to spirit the collegians have us beaten by two hundred per cent, and it was not only the boys who were showing spirit, for the girls certainly did their share. They were everywhere, shouting and singing, infusing spirit into everyone. Those students showed more spirit in a half hour than we have showed in a month and a half. They displayed more enthusiasm after losing the game than has been shown here over our victory.

"We beat the collegians at football, but they have us snowed under when it comes to school spirit. Those men and women over there feel that they have the honor of their college in their hand. They showed this in the way they danced around the bon fire they had built, and they ought to be proud of the spirit they are displaying. The football team had the whole school behind them.

"Take a lesson from these people, let some of your latent spirit come out, let the football team know you are behind them. Show some real live spirit.. Don't let the others beat us in college spirit. If you have any pride in your university, show it. Don't be dead all the time.

"The football men returned victorious, but they do not feel so joyous, because if a stranger should visit here he would never dream that a football victory had been won. Here is hoping that the students will wake from their long slumber and show some real university spirit. Live for your college. Don't just exist."

JACK-'O-LANTERN CLUB IS PREPARING PLAY

Work on the play "The Professor's Malady" which the Jack-oLanterns will give just before the holidays has commenced. Rehearsals were to begin last evening, and from then on the work will be pushed in order that this may be the best play ever put out by the club. A full cast has not been given out for publication, but among the leading characters will be Kyle Jones, who acts the part of the "Professor," an eccentric old man. Mr. Jones, who is president of the club, has appeared in several productions put on by college people, and has always done exceptionally well, so the same can be expected from him in the production now being worked up. Mae Myers will have a leading feminine role and it is understood that Joseph Truman and Georgia Cullum, who have appeared in Jack-o-Lantern productions before, will carr yimportant parts in the coming play.

This is the first of several plays which it is expected will be given by the club this year. Mrs. Herrick, dean of women, will direct the rehearsals, and a staff from the club will care for the business end of the venture.

For Justices of the Peace, Township No. 1—
GEO. W. ELLIS.
FRANK M. GRAY.

The democratic party presents to you the following candidates on the county ticket:

For district judge, Benj. B. Law, a man who is thoroughly qualified to fill the position if elected. For the past ten years he has been engaged in active practice before the bar in this county and various other counties throughout the state. Alson an ex-student of Montana State College, and deserves support.

For the legislature, we present to you P. M. Abbott, H. M. Stewart, J. M. Graybeal and A. W. Orton, who are well acquainted with the needs of Gallatin county and recognized friends of Montana State College. You will make no mistake by giving them a vote on election day.

For county commissioner, C. W. Overstreet. Mr. Overstreet is a farmer by occupation and has been a resident of Gallatin county for the past thirty-five years. A vote for Overstreet will mean a vote for an economical and business like administration in county affairs.

For clerk of the district court, Wm. L. Hays, who in his present occupation has always been courteous, kind and accommodating. If elected you may be sure of the same treatment at his hands in all matters in the clerk's office.

For county attorney, W. W. Goodman, of twelve years experience in the active practice of the law. If elected you may be sure of a square deal to all and special privilege to none.

For sheriff, W. S. Evans, who has been a resident of Gallatin county for twenty years, is an ex-student of the University of Missippi and a graduate of the Missiissippi Military Academy and asks your suffrage. College boys will do well to rally to the support of this college man.

For county treasurer, Charles S. Ruffner. He is the present incumbert of the office, a native son of Gallatin county. You will make no mistake if you vote for him for the office to which he aspires

For clerk and recorder, George Arnett, who has been a resident of Bozeman for many years and who has always taken an active part in both political and business affairs of the city and county, is up for election. A vote for him will be a just recognition of his qualifications for the office to which he aspires.

For assessor, R. W. Harwood. We think it would be well for the college students to join with the rest of the voters of Gallatin county and cast a ballot for Mr. Harwood for re-election to the position he has ably filled for the past two years to the satisfaction of everyone.

For county superintendent, Miss Ida W. Davis, who has on the official ballot no opposition, but a vote for her will be only a small recognition of the satisfaction she has given as county superintendent.

For county suveyor, Lewis A. Cowan, who is recognized as being one of the best engineers in the state of Montana and also a graduate from Montana State College. The boys will no doubt do well by checking his name on the ballot.

For coroner, Dr. A. D. Brewer. He is the present incumbent of this office and his work has been such that he is entitled to your support for re-election.

For public administrator, D. P. McElwee. His services in the past to the people of Montana wins for him the respect and good will of all who know him. If elected, people will secure a congenial and faithful public servant.

For justices of the peace, George W. Ellis and Frank M. Gray. Mr. Ellis has served in the position for many years and even those that have appeared before him cannot help but appreciate him for the just and impartial way in which the office is conducted. Frank M. Gray is an ex-student of Montana State College. He is a thorough student of law and well equipped to fill the office.

Friday evening the men at the Delta Chi house entertained a number of their lady friends at an informal house party. The evening was spent in dancing and music. The guests commenced to arrive at about eight thirty and the first hour was spent in getting acquainted. Then a program of eight dances followed, the music being furnished by the Chisholm boys at the piano and violin. Singing old and new songs followed until after midnight. Refreshments were served near the close of the evening. Twenty four couples were present. The chaperones for the occasion were Prof. and Mrs. Kneale and Prof. and Mrs. Snow.

Word has been received from Willard V. King stating that he is now enrolled as a graduate student in Tulane university at New Orleans. He has enrolled under Dean Sharp and will major in medical entomology and minor in public health and parasitology. It is possible that Mr. King, in co-operation with the bacteriologists at Tulane, will carry one set of experiments to substantiate a set by Rosenau, which seem to point out that a certain fly carries infantile paralysis from one person to another. He will also do research work on pellagra. Since his graduation from the college in 1911 Mr. King has been in the employ of the bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture and has worked on the spotted fever tick in this state and pellagra in South Carolina.

The best of music will be furnished by Miss Madge Switzer at the piano, Miss Georgia Cullom on the violin and Roy Malsor with the drums. An orchestra of this personnel will speak for itself.

The patrons and patronesses of the ball will be Professor and Mrs. Alfred Atkinson, Misses Harkins, Hess and Ballinger and Professors Wells and Miller, and they will look after the chaperoning of the young people.

For those whose appetites are stimulated by the evening's pleasures, there will be refreshments of a substantial nature, hence those Agriculturists who are fortunate enough to attend will, in all probabilities, leave the drill hall tomorow night with the most cordial feelings for their hostesses.

FRESHMEN TO HAVE PARTY TOMORROW EVENING

Final arrangements were made Friday by the freshmen for a social session to take place tomorrow at the college drill hall. It is planned that the members of the class may become better acquainted in this way. The party was to have been held earlier in the season but had to be postponed. It was also decided to organize a freshman orchestra and plans for such an organization will be made at the next meeting of the class. This is the first class to attempt any such organization, and they state that the orchestra will be heard from often this winter.

W. S. C. has published its new constitution governing all student activities. It is very complete and possesses some unique ideas which are being tried for the first time. One of the principal features is that athletics should receive but 44 per cent of the treasury proceeds, the greater part being divided between oratory, debate, hospital, glee club and other smaller attractions. Emblems are provided for all in the following activities: Football, baseball, basketball, track, wrestling, tennis and debate, with very definite rules for their awarding.

Statistics complied by the United States Bureau of Education show that there were 4,856 foreigners enrolled as regular students in the universities and colleges of the United States during the year 1911-1912.

Theodore Roosevelt triumphed over all other presidential candidates in a straw vote taken by the Weekly Kaimin here Monday, winning half of the total number of votes cast. Roosevelt polled 84 votes. Wilson was second with 58, Taft a poor third with 14. Debs found seven supporters and Chafin three. The Wilson people tried to stuff the ballot box, but were caught in the act. One man cast ten ballots for Wilson. It is also stated that the Taft men stuffed the box, one man putting in most of the fourteen polled by the man who is now president of the country.

The old timers of the university say that the mask ball given by the freshmen in the gymnasium Saturday night in honor of the sophomores, is the best class stunt ever given here. The affair was not only for the sophomores. Nearly the whole school was there and the freshmen were capable hosts. They had the gym decorated more elaborately than any class has ever attempted to decorate it before. The spirit of Hallowe'en reigned supreme among the revelers.

Eighteen students who have taken parts in university plays in former years, met last week and organized a dramatic club which they hope to make a permanent institution in the university. They say that dramatics has not been given the proper attention by the Associated Students and they intend to secure for the art its proper recognition here. They plan to give several plays during the year. The proceeds of these plays will be used to buy costumes and decorations for the assembly hall. The organization is to be exclusive. No one will be admitted who is not particularly interested in dramatics. Even those interested will have to give proof of their dramatic ability in some way. Carl Glick, '14, who has played on the professional stage—a member of the Donald Robertson company of Chicago—was chosen president.

The appearance of several persons on the campus this week with three shades of red ribbons pinned to their coats, brought the students to the realization of the fact that they have a "Collegiate Association of Red Heads" in the institution. The society was organized last spring. This week the thre remaining charter members pledged all the strawberry blonde freshmen they could find and the club expects to thrive. The "Tow Heads" and the "Sore Heads" are also talking of banding together.

A letter from Professor Cunningham, one of the football coaches who accompanied the football team to Utah, says that the score of 17 to 0 in the recent game with the Utah Aggies, does not at all show the real character of the game, which, he says, the Montana team ought to have won. According to a letter from one of the men on the team, the 'Varsity backs carried the ball over the Aggie goal line twice, but neither touchdown was allowed by the officials. The coach says that the backs went through the Aggie line for large gains at will.

Nearly every student in the university was at the depot to see the Bruins off on their trip to Utah. It was the best exhibition of college spirit seen this year. Whether or not the large turn-out was due to the article appearing in the last issue of the Kaimin written by a freshman in praise of the spirit shown by the State collegians, is not known.

A spirited reception is being planned for the football team when they arrive home from Utah, whether they win their game with the university Saturday or not. Last night the yell leader held a "Singing on the Steps" at which he suggested plans for the event.

NOTES OF THE WORK ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

For the past week twenty-five men have reported faithfully for practice each evening and have spent three hours in tumbling around in snow four inches deep in order that M. S. C. might make a better showing against the 'Varsity in their next game. This shows that the men are doing their utmost to improve the team and every member of the squad deserves a great deal of credit. While it may be too much to ask the students to turn out in the snow and cold to watch the practice, yet it seems that if the men on the team can fall around in the snow and still stay by it, the student body ought to be able to spend a few minutes at least on the side lines encouraging them. It was the spirit shown by the student body during the two days that the 'Varsity was here that aided the men in playing the game that they did. With the next game only a week away it is no time to let the spirit lag and it is up to every student that possibly can to get out each evening for a few minutes while the men are on the field.

There is some talk around college of sending a large delegation to Missoula for the coming game. There is nothing that will help the men more when playing than to know that there is a number of their fellow students watching their every movement and cheering them on. While the writer is not in a position to pass on the advisability of sending a large crowd, from every point of view, the above statement seems to have sufficient ground to grant the action. Another good idea would be to take the band. This is another large factor in cheering on the blue and gold and everything along these lines that would aid in winning the game should be taken into account.

The 'Varsity played their second game of the season with the Utah Agricultural college in Utah last Saturday and were defeated by a score of 17 to 0. Several men who played in Bozeman last fall were prominent in the Aggies scoring, while Captain Dornblaser played a star game for Montana. Tomorrow the University will play the University of Utah. Judging from the record of the Utah team so far this season, this will prove the hardest game of the schedule for the Montana men.

The high school championship of the state is proving an exciting race. Gallatin and Missoula are the more prominent aggregation, while Butte, Great Falls and Anaconda are by no means out of the game. Gallatin defeated the Billings team for the second time this season by a score of 7 to 0. The game was played in Billings, Saturday, and was close and hard fought throughout. The same day Anaconda won from Great Falls to the tune of 9 to 0. The biggest surprise was the defeat of the Butte team by Missoula by a one sided score of 31 to 0. The Garden aggregation have a heavy fast team and will undoubtedly make a strong bid for the state championship.

The football season in the east is now past the preliminary stage and a number of the big games have been played. Princeton, Yale and Harvard are the contenders for the championship in the east, while Wisconsin and Chicago seem to be the strongest teams in the west.

One noticeable feature of most of the games played so far is the reversion to the old-style of football. Most of the colleges are using straight line bucks and end runs in preference to forward passes and trick formations. This is undoubtedly due to the fact that four downs are given to gain ten yards which encourages a line bucking game for two or three yards per down.

Coach Dockstader s already making preparations for the coming basketball season. Several traveling teams have written for games, while the Varsity and Mines expect to be represented by strong aggregations. This insures a busy season for M. S. C. and one which is eagerly watched for by the students the senate, that body sent it to a committee, and it was never reported back. Finally, after not hearing of the fate of the bill, Mr. Harmon looked it up and found that as there were several measures of personal interest to the members, his bill had received no attention.

SUPERINTENDENT TALKS FOR COLLEGE ASSEMBLY

The matter of securing appropriations at each session of the legislature was next taken up by Mr. Harmon, who said that it was a shame to have to go up there and push the matter when it was a well known fact to all the members that appropriations would have to be made if schools were to continue. He urged that a provision should be made whereby a tax would be levied on all lands in the state and the proceeds divided among the state institutions.

In conclusion Mr. Harmon stated that he had talked to Dr. Craighead, and that the latter is a friend of M. S. C. He also said that if the institutions are to progress, every one must work together, and though he himself was not a candidate for superintendent at the coming election, he could be considered as a loyal worker and a true friend of the institution.

STUDENT SENATE HOLD FIRST MEETING WEDNESDAY

be looked into by the senate and a committee will be in charge of that work. It will be done quietly and without any publicity for a time at least.

It is expected that the several committees will commence work at once and will be ready to make reports at the next meeting of the senate. The senate did a great deal of good work last year and a repitition of it with much more added is expected again this year.

The senate was organized a year ago last spring through the efforts of the Boosters' club of which David V. Higbie was president at the time. It was intended that the senate should be the body representing the students and should be the organization to embody the sentiment of the students on all questions of policy in student affairs. The membership of the senate consists of a president chosen from the senior class and four other members of the senior class, three from the junior class, two from the sophomore and another from the freshmen. All of these with the exception of the last named are elected in the spring of each year just before the close of the school year. The freshman representative is selected in the fall after the new classes have become well organized.

ARRANGEMENTS BEGIN REGARDING DEBATING

race for positions on the class team are Ernest Border, Alfred Eberle, John Fiske, George Roosevelt, Rowland Iaegele, christina Wood, Elwin G. Wood, Charles Amos Whipple, Jr., Alfred Linfield, Robert T. Kelley and Lyndall Davidson. All the members of the present sophomore class who were on the debating squad last year have left school and there is only one person now in the institution who was on the squad.

The interclass debate was originated in 1905, when the class of 1909 challenged the class of 1908 and suffered defeat at their hands. Since that time the debate has been an annual occurrence, the sophomores winning five times to the freshmen's three. The class of 1913 is the only class which won both debates in which it partieipated. Of the other classes now in college, the juniors won one and lost one, the sophomores being the victims of the juniors' one victory.

Just what action will be taken regarding the giving of the college emblem to debaters this year has not yet been fully decided. Two years ago the college letter was given to those who took place in all intercollegiate contests, and the people who took part in any intercollegiate contests in oratory were also awarded gold emblems. That this was not done last year was due to the lack of a donor, the emblems having been given the year before through the generosity of a member of the college faculty.

I. T. Gilruth of the English department, will coach the intercollegiate debate teams and will have a general supervision of the interclass debate.

He had been feeling rather badly since his return, but at no time did he feel seriously ill until the evening of his death, when both his physician, Dr. Piedalue, and Father Leitham were called in a few minutes before the end. A requiem high mass was celebrated at the Catholic church Tuesday morning, at which many friends of the deceased man were present, and which the Knights of Columbus attended in a body, after which the lodge escorted the body to the Milwaukee depot, from which it was sent to the old family home.

The Exponent joins with the host of friends which Mr. Carroll had at the college in extending to the relatives its heartfelt sympathy.

CLUB ROOMS AT COLLEGE TO OPEN SOON

let the students run them and in all of the plans the students are to take the initiative. The faculty will only act in an advisory capacity, but will reserve the right to step in if the students do not run the rooms in an orderly way; do not regulate their use so that they will not interfere with studies, or so that the greatest good will come to the greatest number.

It is probable that the committee a pointed will get together within t next few days. Other institution where they have club rooms, have be written so that the college may inco porate the best plans possible into t use of the rooms here.

Some talk had been heard of havi a formal opening of the rooms and th will probably be considered by t committee.

As it is generally known the roo are three in number and are locat on the third floor of Agricultur Hall. The largest one is 27½ by feet and is located in the south e of the building. A hall ten feet wi leads to this room from the stairw and on either side of the hall is room 19 by 25 feet. It planned th the entire floor will be used for t purpose as soon as funds are availab

At a meeting of the Athletic as ciation executive committee held Thu day at noon, it was decided to see the high school would come up to t college for scrimmage Saturday. discussion as to whether a matched ga should be secured was held, but it w decided that owing to the nearness the next game with the University th it would be unwise to play a matc game now. However, if the high sch has no previous date for Saturday scrimmage with them will probably held on the college field.
