Y. M. C. A. HOLDS FIRST SESSION

President Hamilton Addresses Christian Association. Talks are Given by Student Members.

The college Y. M. C. A. held its first meeting last Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Miss Cehr's room at the college. The attendance was very good, this fact aurguring well for the success of the organization during the coming year. The meeting was remarkable for the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by both the faculty members and students present. A few songs occupied the first part of the evening. F. W. Schumacher, president of the organization then made a few remarks, mentioning the great scope of the work and the important place it holds in practically every college in the country. He outlined briefly the work of the society for the next few months, telling of the aim of the various committees and also saying that the present organization was of an elastic nature and that new committees would be formed as soon as the need for the same became evident.

He introduced President Hamilton as the next speaker, who opend his address by complimenting the young men on the splendid showing they had made at the first meeting. He further emphasized the remarks of Mr. Schumacher concerning the need of a live Y. M. C. A. at the college and the important position that it should hold. He went on to say that every man has a religion side to his make-up, that is developed either to a greater or less degree. The work of the Y. M. C. A. is to enlarge this side of a man in particular. When college men pass out into life and are loking for positions, inquiries come to the faculty here as to their character and utilization of time. If they have taken an active interest in this organization, the fact is sure to help them in their life as well as in their work.

President Hamilton made a few suggestions that promise to be of benefit during the coming winter. He also mentioned the Y. M. C. A. convention which is to be held in Bozeman on October 17, 18, and 19, and the impetus which this would give to religious work on the hill. He said that in this work the active assistance and co-operation of the college students would be necessary. The musical organization would be called upon to help in the entertainment of the visitors. Delegates would be present from all the associations of the state and a large number of young men in particular will be here to attend the sessions. These will be entertained at a supper to be given in the home science rooms by the Y. M. and Y. W., October 18, at 5:30 p. m.

On October 20 the campaign for funds for the building, which will be erected here, will be begun, and on October 27 it will come to a close with $65,000,-00 pledged, for the movement has the hearty support of the wealthy men of the town. An indicator of some kind will be placed over Main street in front of the headquarters which will tell how the campaign is progressing. President Hamilton is the chairman of this committee. At present he is devoting every afternoon to this work and when the campaign begins he expects to devote practically all of his time to it. He went on to say that all of this work was intended to boost the college as well as to help in the religious work. The intention is to make out of Bozeman an ideal college town. He closed his addres with an appeal for the enthusiastic support of all the male students of the college for the movement which was inaugurated so auspiciously at the first meeting.

Homer Millegan of the senior class was the next speaker. He said that with such men as were at the head of the association the movement could not help but be a success. He also mentioned the place which work of this nature should hold in every college. Wm. Maddox of the junior class spoke on the need of the Y. M. C. A. in the college as well as in town and the prominence which the organization held in practically every town of any size in the middle west. He pointed out that the formation of character was a necessary part of a college education and that the Y. M. C. A. assisted greatly in this work. As an engine is necessary to make an automobile go, so is character a requisite to make an organization of this kind "go.". Victor Cotner of the sophomore class mentioned the work of the association in Billings, where it has a substantial building in which to carry on the work. He went on to point out to what an extent the business men of the town recognized the good work done and assisted in it.

Mr. Truitt sang several solos which were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Schumacher thanked everyone who had helped to make the meeting a success and said that every indication pointed to the fact that many more meeting of as good a nature would be held during the year. He urged those presen t to try and increase the attendance at the next meeting which will be held two weeks from last Wednesday night at the same time and place.

CIVIL ENGINEERS ELECT OFFICERS

The first meeting of the Civing Engineering society for the year was held Friday afternoon and the following officers were elected for the coming year: W. B. Vestal of the senior class, president; Thomas Buckley of the senior class, vice-president; and Martin Kelley of the junior class, secretary-treasurer. Each candidate was elected by an unanimous ballot. Dean Richter of the department of engineering and Professor Plew of the civil engineering department were elected honorary members of the society.

On taking the chair Mr. Vestal stated that the society could be of a great deal of benefit to its members if properly handled. Throughout the year prominent engineers will be asked to address the society and in this manner its members will obtain much valuable information.

The advisability of putting out an Engineering Journal this year was taken up but no definite action was taken at this meeting, later on however it will again be considered. With a set of officers that are bound to push things along, the society will no doubt experience a very prosperous year.

Professor F. S. Cooley, superintendent of the Montana Farmers' institutes, is now busily engeged in preparing a list of lecturers for the national association of institute workers which organization will meet in Washington beginning November 10. Professor Cooley is chairman of the committee on lecturers.

CIVIC LEAGUE OFFERS COURSE

Nine Special Numbers Go to Make Up Course of Entertainment. Special Rate to Students.

The Bozeman civic league course will be given this year and special tickets will be sold to the students of the college. The first number is booked for the evening of October 28th when Mr. Ng Poon Chew, a prominent Chinese editor of San Francisco will speak on the subject: "New China." Eight other numbers extending throughout the winter months will provide a very entertaining and instructive course. At a meeting of the officers of the league held Wednesday evening arrangements were made for the disposal of tickets and in a short time student admission tickets admitting to the entire course will be offered to the students at a reduced rate.

The entertainers who will appear in the course this year and the dates upon which they are booked to reach Bozeman are:

Mr. Ng Poon Chew, October 28th; Commonwealth Quartette, November 10th; Josef Koneeny, violinist, January 24th; Edward P. Elliot, monologist, January 27th; L. B. Wickersham, lecturer, February 5th; Sarah Ruth Bates Co., musical, February 11th; Dr. Thomas E. Green, March 2nd; The Floyds, magicians, March 20th; Robert A. Brown, character portrayals, April 24th.

REGISTRATION FOR THE SHORT COURSE IS VERY ENCOURAGING

Registration in Short Course at the College Exceeds That of Last Year--Course of Great Benefit to Students Instruction Begins Next Wednesday

The registration for the short course in Agriculture which began last Tuesday is very encouraging. The registration already exceeds that of last year and many more will undoubtedly register before the first of the week.

The course is a very practical one and is becoming more popular every year. It enables those who must work on the farm for six months of the year to secure a valuable education during the other six months. The course takes up all branches of farm work in a practical and thorough manner and undoubtedly is a great factor in the improvement of rural conditions in Montana. The instruction deals with Agronomy, Animal Industry, Horticulture and Farm Mechanics in theory and practice. Although no changes have been made in the curiculum this year, several are being contemplated and will probably be instituted sometime in the near future.

Professor Holst, formerly superintendent of rural schools at Hamilton and a well known advocate of "better agriculture" has charge of the School of Agriculture this year. Under his direction a very successful year will certainly be experienced.

The classes began actual work on Wednesday and by the first of the week when all the old students will be back the work will be well under way.

VISITING TEACHERS ARE ENTERTAINED ON HILL

Institute Visitors Tendered Reception at Dormitory. President Hamilton and Miss Harkins Speak.

Yesterday afternon the visiting teachers who have been attending the sessions of the institute were the guests of the college. A reception was tendered them at Hamilton hall, Miss Harkins of the domestic science department gave a demonstration and talk on the serving of warm lunches in the rural schools and President Hamilton gave an illustrated lecture on Montana history.

The reception at Hamilton hall was an informal affair held between the hours of four and five. Refreshments were served and the teachers were shown the dining room, the kitchen and the equipment of the hall.

The domestic science rooms proved especially interesting to the visitors and Miss Harkins' talk was very instructive. Miss Harkins has made a study of this problem and she showed the necessity of such a lunch and the feasibility of preparing it.

President Hamilton gave a talk in the assembly hall on the history of Montana which was along the same lines as previous lectures by the president on the same subject. Many lantern slides showing famous spots in Montana history were used to illustrate the lecture. Mrs. Herrick read one of the recent successful plays to the visitors.

NORTON-HIGGINS WEDDING HELD IN BOZEMAN.

Charles W. Norton and Miss Lucille Higgins were quietly married at the First Methodist Episcopal church, by the pastor, Rev. Jesse Lachlen, Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. They were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Patti Higins and by Earl Peets. They will make their home for the present on a ranch which the groom has rented in the Gallatin valley.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Higgins of Gallatin county, formerly of Bozeman. She is a graduate of the Montana State college and for a time was an instructor in the physics department of the college. The groom has resided in Gallatin county for the past nine years and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Norton. After completing his work in the Bozeman schools, he spent some time at Wm. Jewell college in Liberty, Mo. Both bride and groom are held in high esteem by all who know them.

The constitution of the reorganized Student Senate as finally adopted by the students of the college Friday is printed in full in this issue of the Exponent. Several slight changes have been made from the constitution as first printed in the Exponent. It is urged that all the students at the college preserve this copy of the paper that they may know the powers of the body and may have an accurate copy of the constitution for future reference.

Constitution of the Student Senate of Montana State College.

Preamble.

We, the students of Montana State college, feeling the need of a board of control or central governing body of the student organizations and activities at the college, do hereby create the Student Senate and adopt the following constitution:

Constitution.

Article I—Name. The name of this organization shall be "The Student Senate of Montana State college."

Article II—Object. The object of this organization shall be the general control and supervision of all student activities and organizations at Montana State college.

Section 1. The Senate shall keep records of the organizations at the college, including a copy of the constitution of each. No organization will be recognized by the Senate unless it supplies a copy of its constitution and complies with all the decrees of the Senate.

Sec. 2. The Senate shall have the full control of granting dates to college organizations. They shall also have the power to divide the student assembly period among the several organizations at the college.

Sec. 3. The Senate shall have charge of the establishment and perpetuation of customs at the college.

Sec. 4. The Senate shall have the power to audit the treasurer's books in

PRESIDENT ENTERTAINS

Annual Reception Held at Hamilton Hall. College Orchestra Furnishes Music for Occasion.

The annual reception given for the faculty by President Hamilton, was held Friday evening at Hamilton hall. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and the girls assisted in the evening's entertainment. The college orchestra rendered a number of selections, which was a pleasing feature of the evening. On the receiving line were President Hamilton, Mrs. Herrick, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Walter Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. Davidson.

Miss Eckles of the senior class, and Misses Myers and Kennard of the junior class, had charge of the tables and refreshments and they were assisted by Miss Stanley and Miss Sweat of the sophomore class. A large number of guests were present to enjoy the first formal social reception at the hall this year.

DR. WARREN IN ASSEMBLY

New York Educator Delivers Interesting Talk in Assembly. Track Sweaters are Awarded.

The second regular assembly of the year was held Friday, the first part of the hour being devoted to student affairs, while Dr. Warren, of the Department of Education of New York, gave a brief talk during the remainder of the period.

In a few opening words, President Hamilton stated that the students had been called together to vote on the report submitted by the class and society presidents on the advisability of reogganizing the Student Senate. Inasmuch as these people had adopted the report, he hoped that there would not be a dissenting vote.

Wm. B. Vestal, Jr., president of the Senate, was then called upon to give the essential points in the new organization. He went carefully over the constitution, explaining each point clearly and telling how it differed from the old constitution. He said that such a student organization had a place in the school, and that everyone in the Senate would do their best to serve those whom they represented. The constitution was unanimously adopted as read.

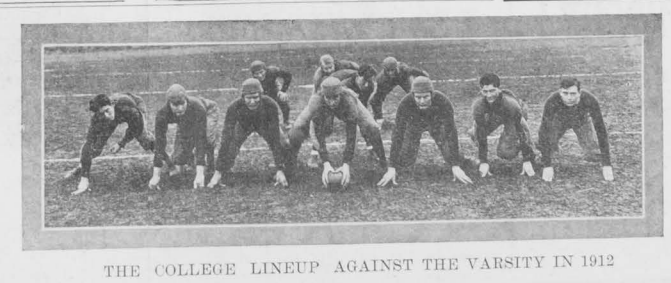

Those who won their letters in track last spring were then given their sweaters. Mr. Truitt, president of the Athletic association, made the presentation speech in each case, and each man was warmly applauded. Captain Schumacher, Max Kenck, Alden Webster, Bill Hodgskiss and Ralph Brabrook were the men receiving these tokens.

President Hamilton then introduced Dr. Warren, and it was the regret of everyone present that he had only half an hour in which to talk. He said that Montana was one of the greatest states in the Union; that the prospects of its future were even beyond the imagination of those who lived here at the present time. He emphasized the fact that the college men and women of today would occupy a conspicuous place in the development of the state's resources.

On starting west, he said, he recognized its superiority in an agricultural way, and urged his wife to sell their property in New York and move west. On passing through the middle west, he became more enthusiastic and again sent word back to hurry west. When he came into the bad lands of Eastern Montana all these bright visions passed away, however, and the land looked so barren and poor that you could not even to raise a rumpus on it. On coming to the fertile valleys, however, the real Montana lay before him, and he was more determined than ever to settle in the state. He said that he liked the customs of Montana's people, even though they were strange, and her fertile lands offered the best agricultural opportunities in the United States.

Dr. Warren changed somewhat from this subject and spoke briefly on "What Will the Rising Generation do With Their Leisure Hours?" The average nowadays, he said, was to devote eight hours to work, eight hours to sleep and eight hours to leisure. With new inventions and modern methods, this division of a persons time will be changed. Five hours will be devoted to work, ten hours to leisure and eight hours to sleep. It is these hours of leisure that the rising generation have to contend with. He suggested two methods for occupying part of the leisure time. First, everyone should be taught to like good books. He said that it was a tragedy to see a person well along in years with nothing to do but to sit idly around. Their former friends were probably gone and there was absolutely no way for them to occupy their time. The love of good books, he said, would remedy the evil, for in them they would find friends of former days, and they would find something to occupy their time and elevate their thouhts. A second method was the love of music. He said that nothing appealed more to a person than a good piece of music, and that nothing showed a person's ignorance more than the lack of knowledge of the most noted pieces of music. He urged that everyone grasp

The Club Rooms.

Since their opening the club rooms at the college have been one of the best things on the hill as they afford a means of whiling away an idle hour, give the students a place for the discussion of topics of general interest, keep the crowds of smokers from congregating at the several entrances to the campus and provide a place for harmless amusement for the college students. At the same time their management has been a problem ever since the first day that they were thrown open. The faculty tried it, the student senate did likewise and then a joint committee of students and faculty members. Short course men were excluded; for a while they were admitted. With all of this experimenting the management of the rooms still presents a problem that is difficult to solve. However a right start has been made in the appointment of a committee of students to work with the faculty in the planning of some method for their management.

There may be several ways for the successful running of this enterprise but whatever plan is adopted, it must first of all be such that the students have an interest in the rooms and secondly it must put the enterprise on a business basis.

In the first place the students have not had the interest in the rooms that they should have had. It is true that they have used them but there are some that have monopolized them and at the same time have been careless in their use of the pool and billiard tables and the other apparatus. As a result much of the equipment of the rooms has been put in such condition that repairs are necesary and the rooms are not kept clean and neat looking as they should be.

Secondly if the enterprise is not put on a business basis there will never be funds enough to pay for the repair work and general upkeep of the rooms. A collection box was placed in the rooms last year in order that any one who played at the tables might help in their upkeep by depositing whatever he feit like in the box. This was a total failure. Those who played all the time did so because it was not necessary to pay for their pleasure and those who would have paid were never given the opportunity to do so, or at least there were never any funds in the box.

A plan has been suggested that should do away with the faults in the running of the rooms up to date as it will give the students an interest in the rooms and also be the means of providing at least a part of the funds necessary for their upkeep. That plan is to form a club modeled after the clubs formed by business men and used for the same purpose as the college union was to be used. According to the plan all who are to be members of the club will be given cards and will be required to pay a regular due of say a dollar a semester. This will help in the purchase of the equipment. The members of the club can then form an organization with a president, and the other officers usually found in such a body. With this organization there will be people in the student body interested in the rooms. There will be some one whose business it is to see that they are run right and one other thing; those who hold cards will not willingly let others who do not, down town boys and others, monopolize the tables and other things in the room.

One more plan that may work out is to make a nominal chare for each game the close of each season and arrange for that in order to make this work out there should be some one in constant attendance at the hooms. However it seems that the students should be willing to stand on their honor and put that sum whatever it is in the collection box for each game played. With such an organization as suggested above there is more probability of the plan working for when any one is found playing and not paying, the card held by him could at once be taken in and he could be kept entirely out of the rooms.

Whether this plan is the one to be finally adopted by the committee in charge remains to be seen, but whatever it is it must be such as to keep the interest of the students and also to put the rooms on a business basis.

After negotiations covering several weeks, dates for games with the University of Montana have been arranged for, the first to be played here November 1 and the second there November 15. While not altogether satisfactory owing to the fact that the first game will come but three days after the game with the Utah Agricultural college and the second game will be played in Missoula the same as last year this is the best arangement that could be made.

Just why there should be so much trouble and uncertainty in arranging for two dates for football games is difficult to understand. Coach E. F. Bunker and manager Martin Kelly are not to blame, that much is certain. They have been writing and telegraphing every day or two endeavoring to arrange the schedule. The fault lies in the system. Each school desires to get as good a schedule as possible and each desires to see what games it will be possible to get before arranging definitely for any of them. This seems to have been especially true at the university this year. Another matter which has been troublesome has been the desire of the university to play but one game this year contrary to the custom in the past and to play that game in Missoula. Just why they desired to make this departure from former customs is not known but neither team ever has such a heavy schedule that two games cannot be played between the college and university and by having one game on each field each team is given an equal chance. As a result of the system now used everything is always unsettled until after a full schedule should have been decided on and several of the games played off.

The one way to have any chance of arranging a schedule is to have representatives of the university, the school of mines and the college meet at the close of each season and arange for games for the coming season. Any other games that can be secured can then be worked into the vacant dates. The four important games for each of the schools would be settled and the useless trouble and worry under the present system would be done away with.

FACULTY MEMBER HAS ARTICLE IN MAGAZINE

"The Creed of an American Schoolboy" by Miss Brown Appears in Recent Issue of Education.

Marion Frances Brwn, professor of English at the State college is the author of the Creed of an American School Boy, published in a recent issue of Education. The complet article follows:

I believe in my country and my state, in the nobility and purity of American men and women, and in the greatness of American heroes of yesterday and today.

I belive in the right and justice of submitting myself to all authority higher than my own:—to the laws of my country, my state and my community, and to the will of my parent and teachers.

I believeve in the strength of union, in noble and lasting friendships, and in the beauty and loyalty of love.

I belive in truth and kindness, in the effacacy of education, in war when the cause is just and in the love of peace at all times.

I believe that it lies within my power, by being true to myself and to my principles, to help place the America of the future upon a higher pedestal than she has ever been before.

I believe that the boys and girls of today shall be noble men and women of a great tomorrow, and that the American nation shall stand first and foremost in the onward march of humanity.

FRECKLES.
The Play Faithfully Reproduced.

"Freckles," by Gene Stratton-Porter the most widely read novel of the past two years, dramatized by Neil Twomey, is announced for Bozeman opera house, Friday, October 10.

In the dramatization of this novel, Mr. Twomey has followed the text of the book faithfully, reproducing every important scené contained in the story.

"Freckles" is a pastorial play, beautiful in its simplicity, telling the adventures and love story of a homeless Irish lad in the great Limberlost swamps of Indiana. There is no character in modern fiction endowed with more simple nobility and wonderful sweetness. It is said to be a greater play than it is a novel.

Crosbie Gill, the famous scenic artist, of Wallack's Broadway theater, New York, has pictured the great Limberlost swamp and its environs with consumate skill; and the electricians and stage mechanics have completed the picture, equal to nature in every detail. As in other cities, "Freckles" will be a dramatic event here.

ELECTRICALS ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

At a meeting of the electrical society held Friday, officers for the coming year were elected. Max Kenck of the senior class was chosen for president, John Potter of the junior class, vice-president, Taylor Lescher of the sophomore class, secretary, and William Goff, treasurer. Plans for the year were made and the annual assembly and electric show will again be held.

MISS OLIVE CLARK SECURES POSITION

Miss Olive Clark, who graduated in June of this year from the domestic science department of the college, has been elected as special dietician at St. Peter's hospital in Helena. She will leave to take up her work about the first of November. This is another deserved compliment to the college here as well as to Miss Clark's faithful work. She is amply able to take the work as soon as the school is ready for her.

GLEE CLUBS ARE ORGANIZED AT COLLEGE

After several weeks used in trying out applicants for positions on the two Glee clubs, they have finally been selected. The men's club will be composed of Alonzo Truitt, Avory Dehnert, Max Kenck, Homer Millegan, Hubert Rice, George A. Cooley, Albert Anderson, Hamilton Steel, David Steel, and George Roosevelt.

The Ladies' Glee club will be composed of the Misses Cullum, Coffey, Stanley, Schumacher, Fowler, Borthwick, Everett, Walker, Switzer, Wilcomb, Eckles, Hollier, Axtell, Shepard, Riddell, Heighton, Spain, and Crest.

Regular rehearsals will be held from now on and it is planned that the clubs will give an assembly program sometime before Christmas. They will also appear at other college functions from time to time. Both organizations will be under the leadership of U. Holmes Bishop under whose efficient leadership they developed into most creditable organizations last year.

It ain't no use to grumble and complain,

COLLEGE NOTES

Miss Olive Selin, ex '16, is attending the teachers' institute this week.

Miss Georgia Cullom '14 has been elected president of the Girls' Glee club.

John Potter, '15 was elected president of the band during the week and will represent that organization in the senate.

Dean Richter of the department of engineering has returned from Missoula where he has been on business since the state fair.

The department of animal industry sold this week to Mr. Harry Horsewood of Columbus, Montana, four head of Shropshire sheep.

Director Linfield of the experiment station and M. L. Wilson also of the experiment station staff are in attendance at the farmers' institute and fair at Fallon.

A meeting of the freshman class was held last Wednesday for the purpose of distributing seats in the assembly. Committees were appointed at the same time and all arrangements made for the freshman dance.

The first dairy laboratory work of the freshmen agricultural student was done Wednesday under the direction of Professor R. C. Jones. Several Babcock tests were run and the work was on the whole very successful.

For programs and folders, or printing that's nice
And all to be had at a reasonable price,
The place to get it? Why, can't you guess?
See Vic Cotner of The Superior Press!

Albert Anderson has been appointed clerk of the student senate. This position requires that all proceedings of that body will be carefully written and kept on file for the inspection of all the students. A better selection than Mr. Anderson would be hard to find and it insures that this department will be well taken care of.

Fire damaged the switchboard of the college telephone exchange and slightly scorched the walls of the experiment station office, Tuesday evening. Otto Batch discovered the fire about 7:30 Tuesday evening and extinguished it before much damage was done to the building. Crossed wires are thought to be the cause of the fire.

The class in stock judging made two trips to Gallatin valey ranches last week for the purpose of examining stock. A trip was made to the Smith ranch where some thoroughbred Percherons are owned. The class was accompanied on this trip by Professor Miller. The Briggs ranch where another herd of Percherons are located was visited by the same class under Profesor Flint.

FRECKLES TAKES GRIP ON LIFE.

Messrs Martin and A. G. Delamater will present Neil Twomey's damatization of Gene Stattton-Porter's "Freckles" at the Bozeman opera house, Friday, October 10.

There has been nothing produced in the history of the American stage just like "Freckles." It is distinctive and original; but of such absorbing interest that it is not difficult to understand why the hundreds of thousands of fiction readers have delighted in the story, nor why the play has become so popular with all classes of theater goers.

In his dramatization Neil Twomey has kept faithfully to the text of Mrs. Porter's story; every character has been brought out in bold relief in the play, and where the picture was in the minds eye of the reader, it is now in the actual line of vision.

The great Limberlost scene, in which Freckles has taken hold on life is realistically shown. It is a beautiful stage picture with the thickness of the swamp forming a dark massive background below, while above, tower gigantic trees.

The coming of "Freckles" will be a theatrical event, just as it was an event in fiction; the drama is now as great a success as is the history and is playing to immense crowds everywhere.

FOOTBALL

The fist game of the season will be played on the local grounds tomorrow afternoon with the Anaconda Independents.

While the game will be with an outside team and will in no way influence the collegiate championship, the affair will give the blue and gold warriors a chance to test their strength and prepare them for the coming championship fray.

Nothing definite can be found out concerning the visitors' lineup and very little is known of their strength. However it has been rumored that the names of several ex-college players appear on the list.

Whatever the case, the college team is going into the contest with the utmost confidence of success and they feel that they can take care of any surprises the Anaconda boys may spring.

The Weekly Kamin has taken offense at the attitude of Montana State college for their manner of handling the football situation. The people on the hill are wondering what the "woman's seminary" expected the college to offer them in the line of football dates as it has kept its schedule open all season pending their decision. But womanlike their demands have been unreasonable and little else was expected.

However the schoolmarms have come through and have offered the first and fifteenth of November as desirable dates. The collegians are glad to accept these and the first of the battles will be staged in Bozeman.

The addition of these two contests to the schedule have given the squad a new incentive to fight it out on the gridiron. Whatever other games they may have in view, the chief object and desire of the team from now on will be to gain the championship.

The second game of the season will be with the Utah Aggies on October 28. It is generally conceded that the Aggies have a very strong lineup and the game will be interesting from more than one point of view as they will play the Missoulians three days prior to their game here.

The School of Mines were overwhelmingly defated by the Butte High school Saturday. Whether the contest points to a remarkably fast High school eleven or reflects on the Miners cannot be told. Whatever the case the Miners have decided to await developments in their team before scheduling any college games.

Meanwhile the college eleven has been plugging away at daily practice. The lineup is being shifted with every practice with a view of finding out the most efficient players. At the present time it would be a difficult task to pick a team for battle and from the quality of their playing the first and second teams can hardly be distinguished.

One of the newest candidates on the gridiron is Bill Fluhr. Bill is trying out for a job on the end of the line and has the weight and speed required for the place. Bill tried out on the squad last year but was unable to make the team, and has come back this year with more vim and better form than ever.

One of the weak points of last years' team was the quality of its punting. Strange to say the punting is one of the strongest factors in the offensive work of this year's aggregation with honors about even between Taylor and Jolley. Anything less than forty-five yards is less than the average when either of these boys boot the pigskin.

LYNDALL DAVIDSON HEADS CHEMICAL SOCIETY IN 1913

The Chemistry club of the college held a meeting Wednesday evening at which officers for the year were elected and other matters discussed. Lyndall Davidson was elected president; A. Paull Thompson, vice-president and Ray Jones, secretary-treasurer. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution in accordance with the requirements of the student senate.

Seminars will be held every two weeks on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 at which matters of interest to the chemist will be discussed. This work will continue through the entire junior and senior years. It is intended to keep the student acquainted with what is going on in the field of chemistry and to assist in keeping the work already had, in mind.

It settled in her head;
And everywhere that Mary went
Her cold was sure to spread.
It followed her to school one day;

The teacher trid to drive it out,
Tried hard, but a-choo!
It didn't do a bit of good,
The teacher caught it too.

Wisconsin university stretches over a mile in length along the shore of one of the prettiest lakes in the state. Its campus contains 926 acres and the 55 buildings are distributed over the picturesque wooded groves and open meadows. The library of the Wisconsin State Historical society holds about 450,000 volumes. Five thousand seven hundred and forty-eight students are enrolled in the university.

Pa heard him give the Aggie yell,
For joy he could not speak.
He murmured, "Mother, listen.
To our Willie talking Greek."

"When I get to Heaven," said a woman to her Beaconian husband, "I am going to ask Shakespeare if he wrote those plays."

"Maybe he wont be there," was his reply.

"Then you ask him," said the wife.

A technical man is, presumably, an educated man; and if he do not speak like one, suspicion is cast upon the entire range of his learing. When a man cannot spell correctly, or use ordinary good grammar (and there are many university men who cannot) it is difficult to convince others that he is professionally able.—Harrington.

SOPHOMORE PARTY A HUGE SUCCESS

Saturday night, the sophomores took posession of the gymnasium. The event was their first class party. Although the snow fell fast and mother earth was rather "sloppy" underfoot, everyone seemed happy and apparently enjoyed themselves.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served in the cafe in the agricultural building.

The very amiable chaperones for this affair were, Miss Harriet Kinney and Mr. W. T. Haines.
