

Student Senate Starts Contest In Writing Yells

Prizes Offered to Those Who Write Best Yells and Songs to Increase Pep on The Hill

The student senate has started a contest with the view of bringing out a number of new Montana State yells and songs to build up the old student pep. The contest has been made well worth while by the offering of thirty dollars in cash prizes for the best songs and yells submitted, the best song and the best yell submitted each knocking down a ten dollar remuneration to the ones whose names they bear. The rules and prizes are given in this issue and are worth reading.

The contest has already begun and will continue until the afternoon of October 29th, when the judges will meet to decide on the awards. This date will give ample time for the incorporation of the new pep-raisers into the student vocabulary before the big game with the "U" on November 11th. Students and others intending to submit either yells or songs are advised to get them into the special box in the Main Hall at the earliest possible opportunity as late contributions will not be considered. Yells accepted by the judges will be turned over to the Commissioner of Demonstrations who will put them into operation on the student body at once.

At the end of the first two weeks of training the Frosh football squad has been whipped into a fairly good shape. The upholders of the class of '25 have shown the student body that they are out to win and that they have the necessary pep and vim to do it.

During the past week the yearlings have had two scrimmages with the varsity squad, and several men have shown up to be promising material for M. S. C. S. future hopes. However, one thing seems to be a drawback for them, and that is the fact that not all of the candidates are showing up for practice. As the race for positions on the squad is a very close one, attendance every night is required by every man who wishes to fight for his class and eventually for Montana State.

During the scrimmages of the past week Mayler, a promising back-field man, suffered a badly hurt knee, but will probably be able to get back into the fray before the next week has passed. Outside of this one case no serious injuries have occurred, and outside of the few customary bruises and knocks the squad is in pretty good shape.

Coach Wilson will start giving the younger bunch training on his arrival from the Utah Aggies game. So far the Frosh have not had any definite coach, and with this additional help the squad should be able to pull a few surprises for the "side-line Johnnies."

Mayler, Hatfield and McKenzie have been showing up well in the backfield, while Joubert and McIver are giving the first year boys strength on the line. After Coach Wilson gets hold of the boys more material is expected to develop, and by the time for the first game of the season a well-rounded team should be in the harness.

The first game for the Frosh comes on October 21, against an independent team at Livingston, and the Missoula game comes on the following Saturday.

FROSH WIN SACK AND FLAG RUSHES

Second Year Men Win Frog Pond Pull Which Gives Freshmen Two Out of Three Contests

The grand finale in the hostilities between the Sophomore and Freshman classes was staged Saturday, when the class mixes took place. Once more the Sophs proved themselves to be the better pullers in the tug of war, and the Freshmen took their annual slimy bath in the frog-pond. There was never any doubt who the victors would be, as the rope was traveling toward the Sophs' side from the first. Superior teamwork and a slight advantage in the condition of the ground stood the Sophs in good stead. The Fangs, Septem Viri, and the upper classmen in general guarded both teams, and it is the opinion of almost everyone that the pull yesterday was fairer than any that has been held in years.

The Frosh won both the sack rush and the flag rush, which were held just before the frog-pond pull. In the sack rush the object was to see which class could get the most of the twenty-one sacks, which were placed in the middle of the field, behind their goal. The two teams of twenty men each, at the signal, rushed for the middle of the field. For a time it seemed that the Sophs had the best of it, and then the Frosh started to show the strategy which should have been the Sophs'. When the 15-minute of fighting was up, the Frosh had 15 sacks behind their line, while the Sophs had but 6. (Continued on Page Four)

Alpha Zeta Gives Charter

Petitions of Zeta Pi Is Granted and National Agricultural Fraternity To Be Installed

The local agricultural honorary society, Zeta Pi, has received formal notification that their petition for a chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural fraternity, has been granted.

Charles Lyndon, sent to Minneapolis by the Montana State local, returned Saturday morning with the news for which the honorary agriculturists have been waiting. While in attendance at the national conclave of Alpha Zeta in the Twin Cities, Lyndon appeared before the various committees of the fraternal and presented the case of the local group in support of their petition. He was also called upon to speak before the entire conclave, and the unanimous vote of the delegates assembled in favor of Montana State would seem to indicate that the picture of Montana State, past, present and future, was well presented. The high council in granting the chapter voiced the pleasure that our institution should have received so favorable a vote at the present time, as the other colleges, five in number, who presented petitions, were not so fortunate. Among the institutions which failed to receive the sanction of the conclave were South Dakota State and Florida State, both of which are as large as M. S. C., and conceded progressive state institutions. The fraternity of Alpha Zeta, with twenty-nine active chapters at the present time in the leading universities and colleges of the United States, is far from being in favor

THANKS TO BOZEMAN BUSINESS MEN.

Two weeks before college opened this fall the football squad reported for practice and were transported out to Karst Cold Springs, where they were to start their fall training. Over thirty men reported for this pre-season training camp. It is easy to see that the transporting of this number of men from Bozeman to the camp, thirty miles out in the mountains, required some expense and cars.

The athletic board of the college had no funds with which to meet this expense, and the plan of a training camp in the mountains was about to be dropped when several of the Bozeman business men came forward and offered their time and financial aid to put the project across. As a result of this co-operation on the part of some of the citizens of Bozeman, the boys enjoyed two weeks at Karst's, and the Bobcat football team got a start such as it had never before experienced.

The following are the firms and individuals to whom the college is indebted for services and financial aid: 'Pete' Karst, Bozeman Pea Cannery; Lindsey-Bozeman Co., Montana Milling Co., City Baseball League, George H. Willson Co., Otto Schmidt, Rev. H. G. Klemme, Miss Maxwell and members of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, who furnished cars to take the boys to camp.

IOTA DELTA PLEDGES

Due to a mechanical error some of the names of the pledges to the Iota Delta fraternity were omitted and some of the others were misspelled last week. The corrected list is as follows: Charlie Riddout, Gail Tidland, Julia Campbell, Octavia Marquis, "Rosebud" Winter, Velma McConnell, Maud Gallagher, Beatrice Fischl, Gertrude Gimberling, and Francis Baker.

REAL PEP RALLY FOR MINES GAME

Next Friday night there will be a rally staged by the entire student body to show the football men that all the rooters are still behind them after their week-end trip to Mormon territory, and to demonstrate their eagerness for a decisive victory over the School of Mines team on Saturday. It is the intention of the student body to become more proficient in the art of rallying, so that they may have a surplus of pep when the time for the annual struggle with the Bruins arrives. The Fangs of '23 and Septem Viri are to have charge of the rally and hope to make it one which will leave no doubt as to the ability of the students to function with unity and genuine enthusiasm in backing the team to the limit.

A different plan, and one which should be more efficient than those employed last year, will be used. Instead of selling the customary ribbon with a football slogan and a snarling Bobcat on it for 15 cents, a small white tag will be sold for the same price. These tags might be termed "meal tickets," as there will be refreshments present at the rally. The men in charge of the rally came to the conclusion that better results would be obtained by attacking the members of the student body through their appetites than by selling them ribbons. In accordance with the final plans, the entire student body will meet on the Emerson School grounds at 7:15 Friday night. The "peppers" will then snake-dance through the business district, holding frequent vocal conferences with Yell Leader DeHart. When the populace of the business district have become (Continued on Page Four)

BIG M GETS ITS ANNUAL WHITE COAT

Freshmen, Under Direction of Fangs, Renew Finish of Huge Letter

Montana State's great big "M" received a coat of whitewash last Wednesday when the Freshmen went in a body to do the work that tradition has handed down to the incoming class. The class of '25 were given a holiday on Columbus day so that they could have a chance to repair the finish on this biggest letter in existence, and they did a good job of whitening it.

Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock the men of the class met at the Y. M. C. A. ready to go out to the mountainside. They all piled into the buses and cars that had been secured for the occasion and started the day. When they arrived at the fish hatchery they secured cans to carry the water up in, and started the day's work without delay. Members of last year's Fangs were out there to tell them what was expected and show them the best way to do the work. The lime and water was passed up the mountain-side by the various members of the class and others stationed on the big letter mixed those ingredients and did the actual painting.

Just before noon the girls of the class arrived on the scene with the eats, that all were more or less delighted to get. After spending an hour in this delightful pastime of (Continued on Page Four)

Senate Power Is Explained

Special Assembly Called to Define Position of Student Governing Bodies

The Associated Students of the Montana State College held their first business session last Tuesday. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Miss Mayme Eagan, in the newly renovated drill hall.

The meeting was called for the express purpose of putting before the student body the powers of the Senate of the Associated Students, which have long remained inert. Among other things, Miss Eagan read from the constitution the powers and authority vested in the council of the Senate of the Associated Students.

Pat Morphey, captain of the football team, asked the upper classmen not to interfere in the Freshmen-Sophomore fights, and also for co-operation of students in athletics.

Joe DeHart, commissioner of demonstration, led a few yells, and suggested that instead of warming the bleachers, every one should stand up and yell.

After a brief explanation of the duties of the Fangs by Ted Cogswell, the meeting was adjourned.

"Don't leave the boosting of your school to the other fellow. It is as much your school as anybody's."

Gladys Matthews and Mayme Eagan spent Wednesday in Helena, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scofield (formerly Miss Dorothy Ann Holland), who are spending a part of their honeymoon here.

In a game marked by hard fighting and good clean football, the Bobcat squad lost its game to the Utah Aggies on the Utah field last Saturday afternoon. Montana State boosters need have no doubt as to the type of play shown by the Bobcats in this game. Hitting the line with a mighty come-back after the pepless game against St. Charles on the local field a week ago, the entire team from Captain "Pat" Morphey down, showed the Utahans that Montanans still have the old Bobcat spirit. The score of 30-7 in favor of our western neighbors in no way indicates the closeness of the game, as the Mormons are loud in their praise of the scrap put up by their visitors. Every yard made by the heavy and lightning-like offensive machine of the Utah Aggies was well earned, and the last quarter was as closely contested as the opening play.

Capt. Morphey was the outstanding star of the Bobcat game, smashing as he did the offensive of the Mormons time after time. Continued playing of the same class will put him on the "All Rocky Mountain" eleven. Asbury at his old stand at center showed the same type of play that Christianson set as a standard for his followers two years ago. In the backfield, McCarren, MacDonald and Cates worked with speed and precision that has characterized the Utah backfield in the last two games we have played with them, and of (Continued on Page Four)

MEN'S ASSEMBLY HELD ON FRIDAY

The men of Montana State met together last Friday at the regular assembly hour to talk over the matter of leadership and pep in the school. Dean Hamilton took charge of the meeting and explained that these meetings would be arranged from time to time in the future so that the men of the college could get together and have enjoyable meetings such as the women have had for some time. Dean Hamilton explained that the men were under a handicap in that all the men of the college could not get in the assembly room at the same time. This difficulty will be overcome in the future by calling meetings of just certain classes at one time.

President Atkinson gave the talk of the hour, speaking on leadership and the advantages that education gave the men in attaining this valuable quality. He explained that a college career could not guarantee a man that he would be a great leader, but it did help to bring out any qualities of leadership that the man might naturally possess. However, the science of leadership or whatever it may be called, is not as yet fully enough understood so that a course in college could be offered in its instruction. The president expressed his wish that such a course might be entered into the curriculum, but explained that at the present educational status of the world it was impractical.

The meeting was called to order by eDan Hamilton, and then turned over to Yell Leader Joe DeHart, who led in several songs, Valborg Ravens accompanying on the piano.

All students of agriculture, except those out for football, are expected to be present at a short business meeting of the Agricultural Club next Thursday at 3:30. The meeting will be held in room 110 of the Aggie building. Meeting will last less than a half hour.

BACK THE FANGS — BUY A TAG

Since their inception about a year ago, the Fangs have demonstrated that they are more than a name, that they are banded together for a purpose and that they will let nothing deviate them from the accomplishment of that purpose. They have undertaken a number of things that were intended to better the college and to promote school spirit. Every thing that they have undertaken so far has been carried to a successful conclusion, often in the face of pretty big odds. The members, as a group and as individuals, have given freely of their time and efforts that M. S. C. might be a better school.

The Fangs who served so well last year are about to retire in favor of their successors who have been elected from the present sophomore class. The student body has demonstrated its confidence in the organization and all it has attempted heretofore. That confidence can safely be vested in the new Fangs who take up their duties this week.

Next Friday night both the old and the new Fangs are sponsoring one of the most unique, and what promises to be one of the best "pep" producing, rallies that has been staged here for several years. After the usual rally down town they plan to move up to the campus where a bonfire will be built and a "weenie" roast held. In order to secure the money with which to buy the weiners, buns, cookies, etc., they are selling tags at twenty-five cents each which tag will entitle the holder to all he can eat.

The Fangs have demonstrated that they are deserving of all the support that the student body can give them. Therefore it is the duty of every student on the hill to get behind them, buy a tag and help make this the best rally and get-together we have ever had.

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT IS DUE

It is only fair to give credit where credit is due and the class of 1925 is certainly deserving of a great deal of credit for the way the old "M" on the side of Mount Baldy shows up.

Last Wednesday, the freshmen class, under the direction of the Fangs, gave the giant letter it's annual coat of whitewash and as a result it looks better than it has for a long time. Any student who has ever helped to paint the letter knows what a job it is and how easy it is to slight the work or to do it in a slip shod manner and what a temptation it gets to be along in the afternoon to hurry the work through regardless of the thoroughness of the job. Be it said to the credit of the present freshman class however that they had enough spirit and determination to do the work and do it right, the result of which is that the proud old emblem that means so much to every student on the hill and to every one that sees it, stands out clearly in its solemn dignity, representing, as it was intended, the greatness of the state and the institution in which we are receiving our education.

1925 let us compliment you. You have made a splendid start. If you keep on the way you have begun you will have a record second to none at your graduation four years hence.

It is terrible to have to do this, folks. We haven't slept a wink all day from thinking about it. The low droning of the pros. could not sooth us, neither could the hose-advertisement pose of the girl across from us detract our attention. But, honestly, freshmen, we must war n you and upper classmen, we must remind you. You evidently need to understand and realize that whatever you do and whatever you say at any time is always seen or heard by Eli. Eli is a spirit that works for the good of M. S. C. alone. Eli has no pity. Eli simply is a combination of loyalty to Montana State and a sense of humor. We need that sense of humor sometimes. Our case is similar to Bohart's, perhaps. Imagine being clipped by the Frosh for being a Sophomore, and then thrown in the fish hatchery for not helping with the "M." What's a fellow going to do?

We went to assembly last Tuesday. Did you notice the gym piano? Follow its example of loyalty, folks. We were struck with admiration for the splendid backing which it furnished the speakers. Its noble support should be appreciated.

Speaking of the assembly, did you get the "point" to DeHart's speech?

Senior—Hey, Freshie, why the mad rush?

Frosh (wistfully)—I'm hunting a hair-raising experience.

That might be a good definition of a pair of clippers.

The mad scramble is on us again. Of course Maurine Plew is captain of the first Absence team. She earned that last year. No doubt she follows that policy, that absence makes the heart grow fonder. Anything to help. Remember Scotty, from last year, though, Maurine.

Have you heard the new song, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Me Now?"

Torch—Boy, I'm going to get a date with her.

B. C.—If she goes with you she'll lose her reputation.

Torch—Say, if she goes with me her reputation's made.

Maybe that's right. Seems as though we do remember a battered nose last year connected with a mistake as to who turned the car lights off.

It should be a matter of very highest satisfaction (somehow that reminds us of somebody) to the music department to note the interest taken in song on the campus during the last weeks. Never before have the students at M. S. C. shown such a keen desire for vocal entertainment as is noticed among the lower classmen. Even at the theater one hears the sweet, melancholy strains of "Good morning, Mr. Zip, Zip, Zip, with your hair cut just as short as mine." We understand that Frosh Cameron and Hare even serenaded the Alpha O. girls. That might be termed fussing, and punished accordingly. Don has "such a sweet voice," though.

Things you seldom see nowadays: A freshman with hair.

Cheap books at the bookstore.

The steps on the west end of the main building unoccupied. Anything new on the bulletin board (or bull board).

A class meeting with a majority of the class present.

A student worrying about the first round-up.

Street tying ribbons on young ladies' ankles.

How about that, Gretchen?

A girl on the hill was heard to remark, "You simply never have seen wonderful brown eyes 'till you have seen John Lillard's." Oh, gee!

We understand that you have some fraternity nuts at the Alpha O. house, Mamie.

Did you ever stop to think thatno matter how full the moon is, it always has a sober face.

The M. S. C. fusser happened to let slip after a date that the girl he stepped rolled her own. Imagine going with a girl who smokes!

Mrs. Bascom was buying some lard at the meat counter. Her little boy was outside waiting for her. A neighbor lady came by and asked the boy: "Where's your ma?" "She's in the store getting fat."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mary L. had to make a speech in English. She was a little shy and her knees shook considerably. She really was glad when she was through. The prof made the criticism, "You were entirely too much at ease." Now wouldn't that make the grid iron?

Ain't we got funny?

Was she shy when you asked her age?

Yes, about ten years.—Exchange.

We would like to see a little of this free love come to our campus. The high cost of fussing is keeping us broke.

Packy, seeing Bunny for the first time in his nudement: "Who in blazes is that?"

Albert Beck—"Gee whiz! But the flies like my bald head!"

The printers balled up one item last week. We meant to observe that the sororities seemed to have adopted Coach Graves' motto, "There shall be no regrets."

Dean—What is it that you all have on your feet?

Don—Corns!

And so the reason for big puffs is big ears, girls? Well, we wondered.

Judy says that if she has as good a time at her next wedding as she did at this one, she would not mind one bit being married again.

We wonder if Dean is of the same opinion

A certain girl rather interested in Torchy mentioned that she would like to see the Freshies cut his hair, because it might grow in a different color!

It was a dark and gloomy night. And, ah, it was a still place. And then, a shot! He braced his feet raised his hands slowly, yearningly, rolled his eyes toward the heavens, and gulped the moonshine down.

Why not cut off his head, too?

Why is Bob like a cork? Because he does.

A few car owners have suggested the placing of davenport in the main hall in order to save wear and tear on their cars, which they are forced to park outside during school hours. Truly an excellent idea.

The saddest words of tongue or pen Are, perhaps, "It might have been." But the sweetest words to lad or lass Are the wonder words, "This chem you pass."

Misses Helen Bancroft, Marion Buzard, and Ethel Young went on a fishing trip last Wednesday to Shedd's Bridge.

Y. W. AUTO RIDE IS SUCCESSFUL

The Young Women's Christian Association of Montana State College held its second entertainment of the year in the form of an auto ride through the Gallatin valley.

Eleven cars made the trip. The first automobile left the agricultural building at 4 o'clock, the others leaving at intervals of 15 minutes. Each car took a different road, so that the Gallatin valley was pretty well looked over before the girls finally came back to Bogart's Grove, where a well prepared and tempting supper was awaiting them.

A huge bonfire was built in the middle of the grove, which beside imparting a congenial glow to the crowd, also served to boil coffee and roast marshmallows.

The lunches were put up in boxes for two, and the proof of their excellence is manifested by the multitude of complimentary remarks that are heard floating around the campus.

After the boxes were emptied, songs were sung and stunts were performed, and when time for going home was announced, the girls were prone, very prone, to stay a little longer.

The Y. W. C. A. wishes to thank the following for the use of their cars: Mr. and Mrs. Bath, Miss Julia Martin, Mrs. Arnett, Mr. F. S. Cooley, Mr. Cleming, Miss Brewer, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. W. A. Davis, Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Gladys Christiansen, and Howard Korsland.

POPULAR RELIGION PAMPHLETS ISSUED BY STUDENT PASTOR.

Dr. Shailer Mathews, who gave the masterly commencement address at our commencement last June, has prepared a brief pamphlet on the topic, "Why I Believe in Jesus Christ." The student-pastor will be glad to put a copy of this leaflet into the hands of each member of the college community who will call for it at the office, on the second floor of the main building.

Mrs. McKee entertained the active members of Pi Beta Phi at an attractive supper party given at her home last Sunday night in honor of Miss Margaret Campbell.

The Chi Omega fraternity entertained at a fireside party Sunday night. Light refreshments were served during the evening. The guests were Misses Alta Tappe, Miriam Woodard, and Elizabeth Frazier.

A party consisting of Misses Margaret Maxey, Frances Kyle, Ethel Ditty, and Lena Michel motored to Hunters' Hot Springs Wednesday to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase and Miss Helen Noble were guests of the Alpha Omicron Pi fraternity at dinner Sunday.

The Zeta Kappas entertained Misses Jane Matthews and Alta Tappe at dinner Saturday.

Joe Sweeney left for Helena Monday with Pat Kelley, on a business trip. He returned to Bozeman Wednesday evening.

Football Team Gets Sendoff

300 Rooters Are at Station When Bobcats Leave for Utah

Another big rally took place last Thursday afternoon before the Bobcats left for the U. A. C. game. Meeting at the main hall at 4 o'clock, the snake was formed and started its winding way around the hill for a short time and then departed for the depot, spreading plenty of enthusiasm along its route. The march to the depot was accompanied with the usual sort of yells and songs, to tell the people of Bozeman that they were with the team on their victory-searching trip.

At the depot yells were given for each member of the team twice, once before the train arrived, and again as the Bobcats got on the train. Good wishes for success were in great evidence, and the players expressed their thanks and told the rooting student body that they would do their best. Pat Morphy, captain of the Blue and Gold grid warriors, and Ted Cogswell, gave short talks expressing the sentiment of the team and relating how they intended to uphold the old standard of M. S. the time-old saying "Bobcats fight!" The train then departed and the team was on its way, with the best of wishes of all those present.

The attendance was rather disappointing by the fact that there were only about 300 in the rally, while the number eligible to attend was much larger. It is hoped that in the future the per cent of the students at a rally will equal the percentage of the student body which are able and can if they only would attend.

BOBCATS LOSE GAME TO UTAH AGGIES.

fered a defense that kept the speedy Utahans on the move. The other men of the squad so far outclassed the play of the week before that there was no comparison in the fight shown in the two games, and considering that this was the second game of the season, it looks as though we may yet have a team that will set a record before the season is over. If the progress made in the past week is an indication of that to be made during the rest of the season, bright prospects are in store for Montana State boosters.

The Utah team played as the Mormon Aggies have always played since it has been our good fortune to be on their schedule. Piloted by Louie Falck, the Utah veteran, the entire team played real football from the first whistle and showed the cleanest sportsmanship that could be asked by any team. Falck, at quarterback, starred for the Mormons, making 60 and 70 yards in two great runs for touchdowns. "Chick" Hart, at right end, shared honors with his captain, smashing into the play on offense and standing like a wall on defense.

The first quarter opened with the Bobcats showing the best play, the Utahans evidently being overconfident. The ball worked back and forth across the field, but neither side could make the line for a count.

In the second period a fumble by Cates gave the Mormons a stand on our ten-yard line, from which position two line plunges and a left end run by Bailiff brought the first count of the game. Falck kicked goal.

During the third period the Bobcats punted several times in order to break down the progress which the rushing offensive of the Loganites was making. The final exchange of punts gave Utah the ball on our twenty-yard line, and from there the elusive Falck ran over the line for a second count. Following close upon this score came the first long run by the Utah captain. Receiving MacDonald's punt on the Utah forty-yard line, Falck managed to work his way through the entire blue line and backfield to drop the ball again for the third score. Just before the close of the third period the failure of a pass from the four-yard line registered a touchback for M. S. C.

The fourth period started with an exchange of punts between MacDonald and Falck, the latter receiving the ball on the Utah thirty-yard line and tearing through the entire field for a seventy-yard jaunt on the end of which lay their final touchdown. Following this score the Bobcats opened up with two nice forward passes, putting the ball on the Utah twenty-five-yard line. Two penalties on Utah put the Bobcats on the one-yard line, when MacCarren carried the ball over for the Bobcat score. MacDonald kicked goal.

The last score of the game was a field kick planted between the posts by the Mormons.

The line-up was as follows:
Montana State Utah Aggies.
Jorgenson l. e. Woodside
Morphy (capt.) l. t. Maughan
Husemeyer l. g. Harris
Ashbury c. Hansen
Robertson r. g. Ritter
Knight r. t. Hendricks
Mashin r. e. Hart
MacCarren q. Falck
MacDonald l. h. b. Stanger
Cates r. h. b. Ballif
Slawson f. b. Knowles

of expansion, and the local group were very fortunate in securing, through the medium of their delegate, so complete recognition from the national, while other older local groups were turned down.

Arrangements are being made by the high council of the fraternity for the installation of the chapter here in the near future, when the local Zeta Pi will don the insignia of the greater group.

FROSH PAINT "M."

eating and talking, most of the men went back to work. It is rumored that at this time some of the fellows were so enamored by the girls that they were unable to devote their energies to the task before them, and as a result the remainder of the class had to do their work. By 3 o'clock the giant "M" was completely covered and the Freshmen started back to town.

That night the class of '25 finished celebrating the biggest day of their first year by throwing a dance. At first it seemed that it would be impossible to have a dance because the gym was entirely without lights. This difficulty was overcome when the boys used their inventive genius and strung lights from basket to basket. The next difficulty was to secure a chaperone. Mary Stranahan and Pat Morphey were called on to act that part, and the dance went merrily on.

STUDENT SENATE OPENS

and give the judges something to do in the contest. It is no song writers contest, this, but a contest in which every person at Montana State has an equal opportunity of adding something to the college vocabulary.

In a way the flag rush was disappointing. Last year it was one of the most furiously fought events of the mix. This time the Frosh showed themselves to be far superior to the Sophs. In a little over a minute from the time the starting gun was fired, little Marzetta had started up the pole in quest of the Sophomore flag. The Sophs tried to send a man up after him, but the Frosh were not to be caught napping and he was promptly hauled down. In less time than it takes to tell it, Marzetta had scaled the 15-foot pole, and the Sophomore flag was safely stored under his sweater.

And so the war between the classes of '24 and '25 is a closed chapter. The Sophs heave a sigh of relief when they remember that their scalps shall no longer be in danger. The Frosh have stored their clippers until next year, discarded their green caps, and are trying to make up for the fussing they have missed.

MINES GAME RALLY.

entirely familiar with the "cause of the commotion," the squirming snake will then turn its head toward the campus, where it will be gorged with "hot dogs" and buns. The remainder of the evening will be spent in giving college yells and in the rendition of alma mater harmony around roaring camp-fires which will be replenished by the class of '25. The results of the Freshmen's wood-gathering expedition will be consumed along the road running east from the "Aggie" building.

The Fangs, '23, will tag the entire student body with the circular "meal tickets," and it is their desire that everybody come to the rally Friday night and consume his or her two feet of "hot dog" injected among the larger half of a "baker's dozen." As has been the custom, Fangs, '23, will make, if necessary, a slackers' list of those would-be college "sports" who think that it is more important to attend the "Pan" rather than the rally. It is the hope of the organizations in charge that such a gathering will further stimulate football enthusiasm and instigate the Blue and Gold rooters to back the fighting Bobcat squad to the limit from the time when they first follow Captain Morphy onto Gatton Field until the Frosh carry them victorious from the gridiron.

SHORT COURSE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY NOTES.

The members of the Short Course Agricultural society met and enjoyed a smoker and program last Thursday. This organization admits to membership all the men taking short course agriculture, including vocational men. The meeting was held in the short course assembly room in the agricultural building.

Many college and popular songs President Harbo gave the introductory address of the day, being followed by Mr. Henneby, who spoke on the subject, "The Present Economic Conditions in Montana." Mr. Rhea explained "The Whys and Wherefores of an Agricultural Organization;" Professor Holst gave several little talks that were timely and that everyone enjoyed. The talks given by the students were very interesting to all present.

Cigars and cigarettes were smoked during the program, and following, cocoa, doughnuts and rolls were served. All the men departed with the feeling that "All's right with the world."

JEWELRY MAKES WOMAN MORE CHARMING And that is the reason for jewelry

It is not the beauty of the ring, the pin, the bracelet, as an object of art that makes it sought after.

It is the added touch of loveliness it gives to a dress—the subtle manner in which it enhances the charm of a graceful neck, a well-formed hand, tapering fingers—the emphasis it gives to pleasing natural characteristics.

The new fall jewelry apparel with uncommon vigor to those who through environment and position have developed keenest appreciation of the finer things of life.
