

Much Interest Over Debate

32 TRY FOR PLACES ON VARSITY DEBATE SQUADS

18 Are On Squad

Good Material in Group Selected to Compete for Places on Teams. Twelve Will Be Used for Debates With Other Colleges.

Members of the English department and others interested in debating on the hill are highly pleased over the increased interest in the platform activity this year, as evinced by the group of 32 candidates who tried out for the varsity squad last Tuesday and Wednesday. This is by far the largest number of students ever trying out for debate at the college and is nearly twice the number trying out last year.

Of the 32 people trying out, 18 were chosen to constitute the varsity squad. These are: John Barto, Don Bennett, Edward Bell, Arthur Bergstrom, Glen Boyer, Walter Carter, Robert Curry, Bruce Hollister, Paul Jackson, Ted Johnson, Joe Livers, Charles Lyndon, Edward McLeod, Edward Paulsen, Keturah Tibbles, Bryan Wilson, Virgil Wilson, and D. S. Wilson. From this squad the coach will choose the teams to meet other institutions, so that, according to Coach Barger, not more than 12 of this group will finally represent the college in intercollegiate contests.

It is the plan to assign these people to definite questions as soon as questions are chosen for debate, thereby stimulating continuous competition for places on the various teams and enabling the coach to select the very best of the available material for the intercollegiate contests.

"I see no reason why we should not have a successful debate season," said Professor Barger, when the try-outs were completed. "The students on the squad show great promise," he continued, "and the prospects of completing a satisfactory schedule in the near future looks very good."

A most encouraging feature of the tryouts this year, with regard to the future of the activity of debating at M. S. C. was the showing made by the freshmen. Six of them made the squad of 18, and of the six, Bryan O. Wilson was rated first by all five of the judges, and Joe Livers stood third in the final summation, the latter being beaten out by Ted Johnson, of last year's varsity squad. Only five of the 18 successful candidates will be lost through graduation this year, leaving a large nucleus around which to build teams for succeeding years.

B. A. Hollister and H. L. Tenney returned Saturday from Helena, where they were summoned to be present at the interview with the state committee of selection for the Rhodes scholarship. Thirteen candidates from Montana schools were summoned before this committee, which was composed of former Rhodes scholars.

DEAN HAMILTON ELECTED HEAD OF TEACHERS AGAIN

Dean Hamilton was re-elected president of the Montana State Teachers Association during its annual convocation at Helena last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This makes the Dean's second year as head of the association.

Sixteen members of the faculty of Montana State were present at the convention, and several of them appeared on the programs. Mr. Abbey spoke on "The Progress of Vocational Education," while Dean Herrick spoke on "The Responsibility of the University and College in Furnishing Better Teachers."

Other M. S. C. faculty members who appeared on the programs were J. H. Holst, Blanche Lee, Martha Hunter, Emily Linhoff, Edith Franks and Helen R. Brewer. Other faculty members who attended the meetings were Dean Hamilton, Gladys Brannagan, J. W. Ewer, Olga R. Hannon, Julia Tear, Anna E. Lindblom and Della A. Young.

BOYS' CONGRESS FOR NEXT MONTH

Over 800 Expected at Fourth Annual Congress—Last Year's Enrollment Far Under That Figure.

January 9 to 13 are the dates for the fourth boys vocational congress, according to M. J. Abbey, professor of agricultural education, and arrangements are rapidly nearing completion for this important event. It is estimated that more than 800 delegates will be present.

In addition to the congress, which is held during Farmers' Week, there will be a livestock judging contest for the young men. The Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads are boosting this contest and are offering to send three young men from each high school on or adjacent to their lines to take part.

Housing for the delegates is a big problem for those in charge to solve, and while the Milwaukee has given its intention of sending two Pullman cars here to accommodate a portion of the delegates, many will have to be housed in the barracks, and in private homes throughout the city. The Fanges are co-operating with Professor Abbey in his quest for accommodations and are helping materially to make the affair a success.

Many prominent speakers are to be on the program, and while the final touches have not been put on the program for this year's convention, a good series of talks are in store for the delegates.

ASSEMBLY.

A very interesting and entertaining assembly was presented Friday morning in the form of a one-act play, "Neighbors," by the Dramatic Club. Those who very skillfully acted out the play were Dorothy Dean, Manilla Lickliter, Winifred Cobleigh, Miriam Woodard, Kathleen Cameron, Larry Lyndon, Helen Griffin and Hazel Tallman. This is the first of a series of programs to be staged by the Dramatic Club this year. They plan to open meetings once a month, in order to encourage dramatics here at M. S. C., and assure programs of as much worth and interest as this one.

Miss Marguerite Evans added to the success of the program by giving a piano selection. Plans were also made at assembly to co-operate with the Woman's Club of Bozeman in an endeavor to raise money for the completion and maintenance of the new community center.

Senior Dance Held Wednesday

Annual Hop of Senior Class Best of Season — Freshmen Presented With Date on Which to Hold Their Annual Dance.

Undoubtedly the best dance that has been staged on the Hill for several years was the senior dance given last Wednesday night in the drill hall. Black and white decorations concealed the old hall completely, and transformed it into a charming ball room.

During the evening Marie Reardon entertained with a solo dance, which received a hearty encore; the men's quartet added a few splendid melodies. Most invigorating cider was served and huge lollipops favors in black and white were an added attraction.

At this time, Charles Lyndon, as president of the senior class, dedicated to Don Bennett, president of the freshman class, the privilege of holding their class dances at this time. The 1923 class hopes to make this a tradition to be passed down from the class of '26 to the incoming freshman class when they leave.

Joe Webster held the lucky number which carried off the Thanksgiving bird.

LES BOUFFONS CITY PLAYGROUND NAME PLEDGES

Five Prominent Men Are Pledged by Upper Class Honorary. One Pledge From Each Fraternity Except O. B.'s Who Have Two.

On last Wednesday night this year's pledges to Les Bouffons were named. Membership in this organization is restricted to ten active members. There are three active members in college at the present time—Ray McCarren, Bruce Hollister and Ted Cates. The active members who are not in school at the present time are Ted Cogswell and Carol Donohue. The pledges are Raymond Mountjoy, Harry McCann, Emmett Moore, Charles Lyndon and Robert Walters. The pledges are chosen from a list of names made out at a meeting which is held in the spring while the ten active members are still in college.

Bouffons are chosen for the active leadership in college activities, and for their social achievements. To be chosen as a Bouffon is one of the highest honors an upperclassman may attain. Les Bouffons is the oldest fraternity on the campus, being organized in 1909. The primary purpose of the organization is to give a formal dance in the winter quarter which ranks in the same class with the Junior Prom. The pledges wear their wishbones and ribbons until the time of their initiation during the winter quarter. At this time they appear on the campus attired in burlesque attire and entertain the students during the day, staging a special stunt during the assembly hour. This is followed by a formal initiation and later in the year the annual Les Bouffons formal is given.

Three years ago the Bouffons fostered the idea of improving the scholarship standards of the college fraternities. With this idea in mind, they offered a cup for the fraternity holding the highest scholarship record for the year. The O. B.'s won the cup the first year, the Sig. Alphas the second year, and the cup is in possession of the B. E.'s this year. If one fraternity wins the cup three years, it becomes their permanent possession.

Biology Building Soon To Be Ready

Because of its central location, Lewis Hall, the successor to the old biology building, is now one of the most conspicuous buildings on the campus. It is just west of Montana Hall, where the old drill hall used to stand. The building faces south, but its north exposure is so conspicuous from the city that especial attention has been given to its appearance.

Lewis Hall, named after the naturalist of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, will be occupied by two departments, botany and bacteriology, and entomology and zoology. It contains one hundred rooms and 44,500 square feet of floor space. Owing to the slope of the land where it is built, more than half of the basement rooms have good windows, and above this are three stories and an attic, all fully utilized.

The fact that this building has six times as much floor space as the old biology building has led some to believe that it provides more space than will be needed at first by the two departments that will occupy it, but analysis of the case shows that every room will be fully occupied as soon as it is available.

In planning the building, first attention was given to student needs, and most of the laboratories are located on the north side, where the light is best. There are sixteen student laboratories, four lecture rooms, twenty-two rooms for experiment station and extension work, and the remainder for museums, offices, libraries, store rooms and miscellaneous use.

The planning has been skillfully done and there is not an inch of waste space in the building. It conforms in every way to the requirements of a modern science building.

The new furniture is being made in the shops of the physical plant of the college, and if it ready as soon as the

CITY PLAYGROUND AT BEALL PARK

College Students Asked to Help Stage Stunt Night for Support of New Community Center. Plans Made for Skating Rinks.

Under the direction of the department of parks, plans are well under way for a community playground at Bozeman at Beall Park, on North Black. The first definite step in this direction will be two ice rinks, the one on the short-cut to the college, and the other at Beall Park. Both rinks are in charge of a care-taker and they will be ready for use as soon as the weather permits. A field house will be maintained at Beall Park with two large heated rooms, one of which will be used as a ladies' rest room. The house may be used by skating parties at any time.

At the instigation of Mrs. E. B. Martin, Dean Herrick and President Atkinson, a number of prominent citizens and organizations became interested in a community playground at Beall Park. The entire project is supported by public donation. Each organization will be asked eventually to do some particular thing for the park.

The Woman's Club, the pioneer in this field, is already making plans for a stunt night to be held the latter part of January, and to be participated in by the Kiwanis, Rotary, and Housekeepers' Clubs, and the college. Although the plans are only tentative, as yet, the idea is to carry the stunts on in somewhat the same manner as those of the Y. W. stunt night, with prizes for the best stunts. The entire proceeds will go to Beall Park.

The M. S. C. Alumni Club, of Helena, held a banquet in the Placer Hotel at Helena during the teachers' convention. Professor Holst was the toastmaster of the evening. College songs were sung, accompaniments being played by Mrs. Ruth Norton McFarlin. M. S. C. faculty, and alumni from many parts of the state were there in full force, 47 being present.

One Way Traffic On College Hill

New Ruling Went Into Effect Yesterday — Parking Prohibited in Front of Main Hall and Aggie Building.

One-way traffic over the main campus road was put into effect yesterday, and parking of cars in front of Main Hall and the agricultural building was stopped by the same order.

Now motorists are required to park their cars either in a space provided behind the agricultural building or in the new court behind the engineering building. This was necessitated by the increasing number of cars that had been left in front of Main Hall, making it difficult to get through on the narrow road with cars.

Entrance to the main campus road will now be from Cleveland, at the corner of Seventh avenue, and traffic will only be allowed from Cleveland to Main Hall, and then to the Aggie building, instead of going up Cleveland to the Agricultural building and then climbing the hill by the Biology building to Main Hall.

This new ruling will be strictly enforced. (Continued on Page 4)

Several committees were appointed at the meeting. Ducky Farrell, Bob Walter and Earl Buckingham are to see Mr. Story in regard to courses for tobogganning and skiing. George Van Fleet is to look up designs for insignia and caps. Ferg Mitchell, Bert Julio and Dick Ross are to interview merchants in regard to a trophy to be given to winners in hockey contests.

STUNT NIGHT ON SATURDAY

College Y. W. C. A. to Hold Annual Frolic at Emerson—Much Interest Is Shown in the Affair.

The annual Y. W. C. A. Stunt Night will be held at the Emerson school auditorium next Saturday night, December 9. Every sorority and fraternity on the Hill, together with the Barbs and the H. O. M. Club, will be represented at this occasion and will contribute an act to the program. Preparations are almost complete, as each group is showing an exceptionally keen interest in the stunts this year.

The management of the show has been announced by Miss Dorothy Burgess, president of the College Y. W. C. A., and this management will have charge of the arrangements for next Saturday, in co-operation with the officials of the Y. W. C. A. The following officers were named:

Business manager, Miss Mary Baldwin; stage manager, George Van Fleet; publicity manager, Charles Lyndon.

The Stunt Night plan was introduced to Bozeman and the college by the College Y. W. C. A. in the school year 1919-20, and has been such a complete success in the past that it has grown and developed to the extent that it now holds a prominent place among the college activities of the fall quarter. As each sorority and fraternity on the campus contributes an act to the program, there will be keen competition for the highly coveted award.

Attractive prizes will be given for first and second places, while third place will be given honorary mention. These prizes will be on display in a downtown window next week. This affords each fraternity and sorority a chance to see the awards awaiting the victors, and consequently offers more spirit and competition to the program. A great deal of effort is expended on each stunt, which will make the program well worth seeing.

A new feature in the Stunt Night program will appear this year. The business officials have made arrangements for a reserve seat section. This section will include all of the best seats on the main floor, which are in the part of the auditorium most favorable to the stage. Coupons will be sold on the campus and down town during the week. These coupons will be exchanged for reserved seat tickets at the Emerson school, on Thursday.

FACULTY GETS THROUGH SO FAR WITHOUT DEFEAT

S. A. E. Tie Sigs

Loss of Game by Sigma Chi to B. E. Quintet Puts Them on Par With S. A. E.'s in Victories. This Week Will Decide Championship.

Standing of the Teams.
Team.	W.	L.	Pct.
Faculty	4	0	1.000
Sigma Chi	4	1	.800
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	4	1	.800
Independents	3	2	.600
Beta Epsilon	3	3	.500
Omega Beta	1	4	.200
Barbs	1	4	.200
H. O. M.	0	5	.000

A good many upsets in the dope were the results of the intra-mural basketball games this last week. As a result, there is no particularly outstanding team, and the games this week will all have a bearing on the championship.

The Independents upset the B. E. team in a ragged game, 22 to 16. McGuin made all the points for the B. E.'s in the first half, but was too closely guarded in the second period to get any shots at the basket. Harna made 14 points for the Independents.

The Sig. Alph. team ran up another large score against the H. O. M. by defeating them 31 to 5. Bryan and Jacobs worked well together, while Hatfield and Ryburn never allowed the H. O. M. forwards a close shot.

By trouncing the Barbs 37 to 4, the Faculty added another game to their string of victories. The Faculty offense was their best defense, as when they once got the ball it was to score a basket.

The first game Tuesday between the O. B.'s and the H. O. M. was one of the closest of the series. The H. O. M. team came within one point of tying the O. B.'s. Rivers and Griffith were the stars of the opposing squads.

The S. A. E.-Sigma Chi game was the best yet played. Both teams were out for a victory, and the Sigma Chi victory was a hard-earned one. The game was rough at times, but only because of the hard and fast efforts to get the ball. Exceptional team work was shown by both squads, the guarding being especially good. Most of the points were made on free throws, the final score being 14 to 12 in favor of the Sigma Chis.

The Faculty romped away with another one by taking the B. E.'s into camp, 39 to 12. The B. E. team could not seem to get going against the fast offensive of the Faculty. Klemme and Romney put the ball into the hoop, as usual.

The Barb-Independent game resulted in a win for the independents, 22 to 12. The Harna-Lund-Larson combination worked well together, being too much for the Barb guards. Craven for the Barbs, was their star.

The S. A. E.-Beta Epsilon game was a lot better than the final score of 31 to 11 indicates. The first half ended with the S. A. E.'s on the long end of a 11 to 8 score. However, in the second half the S. A. E. team got together and with the help of some loose officiating, ran up the score. McGuin was the principal point-maker for the B. E.'s. Bryan and Jacobs did the scoring for the S. A. E.'s. Smith

PROFESSOR W. F. BREWER IMPROVING AFTER ILLNESS

Professor Brewer was able to be about yesterday for the first time since he was confined to his home with an attack of rheumatism two weeks ago. When he will be able to meet his classes again is a matter of conjecture, as he is still under the doctor's orders.

His classes for the past two weeks have been handled by other members of the English faculty, and his conferences with students which had been scheduled were abandoned last week.

STAFF APPOINTMENTS.

At the beginning of the fall quarter an editorial was published urging that any students interested in newspaper work enter the competitive try-outs for reporters. Much interest was shown in the work, twenty-nine students signifying their intentions to enter the competition. Seven of these students, who hold staff positions at the present time, were experienced reporters, having worked on the Exponent last year. The rest of the group were inexperienced, with the exception of those who had worked on high school papers. These prospective reporters were given news assignments during the quarter, their articles being compared and corrected by the editor.

As the amount of news contained in the paper does not furnish ample opportunity for all of the group to write articles each week it was decided that only those students whose ability for reporting was the most apparent would be given permanent positions on the staff. It is necessary that the size of the staff be kept as small as possible if the more efficient news system is to be maintained. Accordingly seven students have been placed permanently on the staff, their work proving the most satisfactory during the competition. These students are Vernon Zacher, Ed Heilman, Bert Julio, Mary Baldwin, Don Bennet, Katurah Tibbles, and Ray Squier.

If a reporter is to be of assistance to the editorial staff he or she must be capable, prompt, and dependable. He must have a sense of responsibility and must be willing to spend no small amount of time on this work each week. The above named students have fulfilled these requirements. Any members of the staff who fail to fulfill these requirements any time during the year will be dropped from the staff.

The managers of the Exponent are as necessary to its publication as the reporters and editors. Advertisements must be collected and composed, the printed copies must be delivered on the hill and mailed to the subscribers, and the most important of all, the finances of the paper must be carefully managed and expended. The business is most efficiently transacted if done by one person, the business manager; but the work of the other two managers requires that they have assistants. Herrick Brassfield has been appointed to the position of assistant advertising manager, and F. A. Ralston will be assistant circulation manager. These two men have been working with their respective managers since the opening of the fall term and are thoroughly familiar with the work. They have proven themselves to be capable, and are interested in their work, having faithfully performed the duties assigned to them each week.

As the Exponent is supported and fostered by the student body any student who is interested in newspaper work should enter the reporting competition.

However, at the present time the number of student on the staff has nearly reached the maximum and only those students who conform very closely with the requirements will be given a permanent position on the staff. Until such time as the staff members receive college credits for their work on the paper or the manager and editor are given financial remuneration, as in many other colleges, the number of students on the staff will necessarily be large.

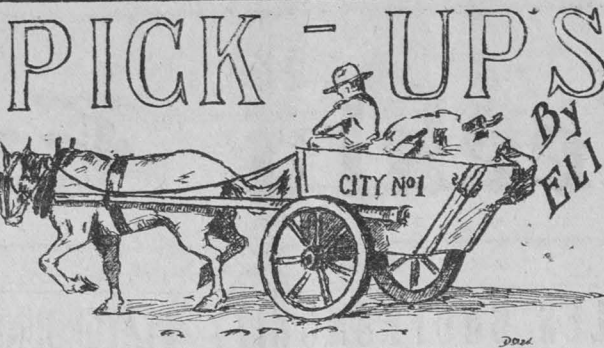

CO-ED ATHLETICS

Sunday is the date set for the first "honest-to-goodness" hike for the C. A. A. All college women who desire to go are requested to notify Eleanor Marston before Friday, so that arrangements can be made for them.

According to present plans a bob-sled will be at the Y. M. C. A. at 11 o'clock Sunday morning to transport the hikers to Three Bears Inn. Those who desire can hike or skii out. Dinner will be served at the Inn. The return trip to Bozeman will be started at 6 o'clock.

Tadpole and shark tests are to be given at the "Y." tonight for all college women desiring to take them. All girls wishing emblems are asked to pay their dues to Margaret Conkling within the next 10 days.

Once more the gay Thanksgiving day has passed away, and like the winds that blow through the trees and blows the—nuf sed; too much of this sweet verse has already been quoted, and if you know it, good enough, and if you don't, well, just go around and see Phat Williams—he usually knows the latest gags. Now, there I go again. I have a terrible time to keep to my subject, but nevertheless Eli feels that the most of us didn't find enough things to be thankful for in just one day of Thanksgiving time, but still we can be thankful that it was a holiday, and instead of filling ourselves with that priceless jewel called knowledge, the majority of us filled ourselves with turkey. And still others abideth in solemnness as they pour forth their thankfulness that the end of the quarter was reaching its climax, and much the same as the climax of a story, it will undoubtedly be the turning point for many of us. For bitter thoughts recall to us, "Remember the day of judgment awaiteth thee at the end of the quarter." Aw. such momentrifiy, for we're not indeed thankful that we had the whole day to spend with "the object of our affections." What was that you just said, Emmett?

But let us turn from all this seriousness and look on the bright side of life. With this in mind, we shall now turn to chapter thirteen, verse the third, wherein the Prophet Jesse James said to the Aphetians: said: Regretteth not thy future glory, for remember, That the flappers of today Will be the chaperones of tomorrow.

Speaking of great men, one of Eli's scouts has just discovered that the Sigma Chi's have one in their very midst. This little episode was disclosed in the following way: Finley (to Pitt, who was leading a song)—"Say, Pitt, you're a natural born leader." Cowan—"Yes, a fine sheep-herder."

You know this world is full of complimentary people, and again there are some that go around with a chip on their shoulder, and it seems as though their motto is: "Don't boost, knock and feel mean."

Eli has an apology to make to George Scotten. My scouts made a false report when they told Eli it was three girls that George fell for, but when the truth was disclosed, why, we learned it was only one girl he fell for, the other two falls were up stairs.

But the funny part of it is that scarcely two days after the last issue of the Exponent came out telling about this little incident, Eli got letters from four different girls saying that they were one of the lucky girls. Now, Eli hates to call anyone a liar, but there's a nigger in the woodpile, somewhere.

ELI PHILOSOPHY.

To our dear Alma Mater: Any school will go to the dogs if it has too many social hounds. To athletic fans: Money is the root of all evil. That is why so many of us root so hard at the games.

To our dear co-eds: If you are troubled with chapped lips, why, just eat onions, and that will keep the chaps off your lops.

It is getting close to Christmas time; now is a mighty good time to get on the "outs" with your sweethearts. To all of us: When you have no reason to smile, keep on practicing, anyway.

Eli extends his heartfelt congratulations to the seniors for the most successful dance they gave. But it certainly was too bad that they had such heavy expenses that at occasional intervals they had to cut out the source of light completely, and we just a had a terrible time moving about in the dark, only to bump into some one and then get "bawled out" for disturbing them.

The seniors certainly used their heads when they advertised that every other dance would be in the moonlight, and boy, they sure got the crowd, and from reports it seems as though most every one took advantage of this fact.

Did any of you see Woody and Peggy standing down there in the corner? Well, anyhow, Sherlock Holmes Eli reported this one:

Woody—"It is about time for the lights to go out again; will you be afraid?"

Peggy—"Why, no; that is, if you take that cigaret out of your mouth."

It seems as though Ed and Maurine had decided to take a little rest, and as a consequence they naturally picked out a very cosy corner. To add to the attraction, and just as fate would have it, the next dance happened to be a moonlight. Eli, Jr., said that a good time was had by both.

Say, Paul, that certainly was a dirty trick that George pulled on you at the senior dance. Here you are kind enough to take the young lady to the dance, and then find that when you take her home that she is wearing some other fellow's fraternity pin. Now that wasn't very nice, Rhoda.

The following interesting gossip comes directly from the Pi Phace house:

Eva—"Do you know, I find it so much colder out here than it is back home. Back there I wore light garments all winter long. I'm from Indiana, you know."

Joe—"Is that so? I'm from Missouri."

Just before leaving for the show Sunday night:

Esther—"Don't you think you'll get cold wearing that light coat tonight?"

Christine—"You don't know Dixie very well, do you?"

Thanks to my scout from Pi Phi house, she has been doing some wonderful work.

Well, I guess that that is enough razz to our friends at the Piffy house. We shall now direct our attention to the Awful Ole Pies. They have been sitting pretty close, but we finally got some good ones on them.

CANNOT WEAR MUSTACHES.

Freshmen medical students at the University of Oklahoma are having a difficult time trying to find some scheme of identification. First they tried wearing mustaches, but abandoned this upon imperative recommendations from their brethren of the legal profession. Next they decided to wear green ties and immediately incurred the wrath of the engineers. Now they are puzzled to know what to try next.—Iowa State Student.

"Kemper Memory Book," by "The Fireplace."

Mary would like to have Jack call for it right away.

And do you know, they went down to fix the furnace at 8 o'clock and they didn't get back till 9.

Jack, you sure must have had a terrible hard time getting the fire started.

Next week's column will contain the entire doings of that woman haters' club called the W. H. W., who have been invading our beloved campus something hilarious until it was checked. Thanks to Lillian and Rhoda.

We shall close this week's program with that interesting bed-time fairy tale:

Once there was a prof. who never gave exams, or took the roll, but he died, which proves that the good die young.

day and Friday.
In the school year 1919-20, the S. A. E. fraternity won first prize, and the O. B. fraternity was awarded second. Last year the O. B. fraternity won first honors, the Iota Delta second, and the Pi Phi's and Sigma Chi's were given honorary mention.

VENISON FEED GIVEN BOBCATS.

The members of the varsity football squad were guests at a delightful venison dinner Tuesday evening, November 28, given by Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Tabertow and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Williams, at the Williams apartments on Main.

Art Williams and Rex Tabertow, strong rooters for M. S. C., declared after witnessing the Missoula game that if they could secure the deer, they would "throw a feed" in honor of the victorious Bobcats. They got the deer. The wives of the men served a dinner such as any of the fellows will be proud to tell to their grandchildren 60 years hence.

Coach Romney, notwithstanding the fact that he "could not talk long nor with much force on account of the pressure that existed on the one remaining button," thanked the hosts and hostess very heartily and told, to the complete embarrassment of some present, of some of the non-publishable victories of the year. Such incidents as Mashin's wonderful day coach offensive game, Ransley's 62-yard run against the Bison, and McCarren's habit of chasing sheriffs, were reviewed remarkably well.

Those present on this memorable occasion were Coaches Romney and Jones, Captain McCarren, W. E. Bowden, Glen Fox, Clarence Bryan, Carl Husemeyer, Frank Cowan, John Brittain, Champ Hannon, Veri McCoy, Cleveland, Jap Ransley, Thomas Shoenotham, Norman DeKay, Donald MacDonald, Arthur MacDonald, Tracy McGuinn and John Mashin.

"JAZZETTES ORGANIZED.

Norman, Okla.—The Jazzettes, women's pep organization, and sister organization to the Jazz Hounds, has been organized at the University of Oklahoma this year.

White skirt, red jacket, red jazzbo tie and dinky red cap pulled over one eye designates the Jazzette. There are twenty-six Jazzettes at the University. They appear at all athletic games and student meetings, injecting spirit and jazz everywhere they go. They have adopted a chant similar to the "We're rough, we're tough," of the roughnecks.

CO-ED. SWIMMING CLASS.

Miss Pack wishes all the members of the class to purchase regulation suits and caps. A number of awards are being prepared for the girls who accomplish a designated number of things. These awards are to be made in a form which

GIRLS IN AGRICULTURE.

The Aggies of M. S. C. are proud to count three young women among their number. Each of the three lower classes of the college is represented by a woman who is regularly enrolled in the agricultural course, and what is more, takes a real and active interest in the work of the College Club, and an active part in the other outside interests of the Ag-students.

The women taking agriculture are Miss Alice McClintock, from Joliet; Miss Helen Noble, a sophomore from Great Falls, and Bernice Evans, a freshman from Whitehall.

All three of these girls are Aggies from the word go, and besides showing a real interest in agriculture and a willingness to take part in the work that the activities of an agricultural course call for, they are demonstrating that there is no valid reason why a girl should not study agriculture and make it her profession, if her interest lies in that direction.

ARE OPALS UNLUCKY?

WELL, READ THIS

Are you afraid to wear opals?

The traditionally "unlucky" stones are becoming less popular among American college students, according to a report from Burr, Patterson & Co., manufacturing fraternity jewelers of Detroit, who declare that the demand for them as settings for fraternity badges is steadily decreasing in favor of pearls.

The old superstition that the iridescent jewel was bound to bring dire misfortune to its wearer not born in October has apparently been dissipated, but it is interesting to note that its believers had considerable historical grounds for their fears.

For centuries, men have had a peculiar feeling towards the opal — amounting at times to awe and inspired, perhaps, by the strange changes of color which seemed to go on inside the stone without any apparent reason.

Scientists have since shown, however, that the opal contains a certain amount of water in its composition which is, of course, affected by atmospheric conditions and particularly by the application of heat. When exposed to the latter, for example, the stone will lose its brilliance and degenerate into a mere pebble.

A stone which has seemed to share the mystery attached to the opal — the tourmaline, a transparent composite occurring in shades of both red and green. Undoubtedly one of the many traits of this stone which have tended to cast a glamour about it, is its susceptibility to electrification. The ancients discovered that when heated by the sun or friction, the tourmaline would attract chaff or small bits of paper and this property, together with that of changing color according to the light, they regarded as almost magical. Children at Amsterdam are credited by some with having discovered the electrical qualities of the tourmaline while at play.

In addition to this, it was found that when two slices of tourmaline composition cut parallel were laid one upon the other and viewed in one direction, they were opaque. However, when a double refracting crystal was placed between them, one became transparent and the other remained opaque.

One of the world's greatest deposits of tourmaline was discovered in the state of Maine by two students looking for specimens of minerals. The cave which they accidentally stumbled upon is said to have resembled the mythical cave of Aladdin in its splendor and in spite of the fact that it covered but a few square rods, nearly forty varieties of the stone were found.

Among the throngs of people who were quick to visit the cave were the Russian and Austrian consuls to America, who obtained specimens for the museums of Petrograd and Vienna.
