GIRL'S VOCATIONAL CONGRESS OPENS HERE THURSDAY

TWO DAYS OF ACTIVITIES PLANNED FOR VISITING HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS—LIST OF DELEGATES NOT AVAILABLE

Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the annual Girls' Vocational congress will open. The seniors will appear in cap and gown and the Spurs and Gown in uniform.

The dance which follows the parade Friday evening is primarily for the entertainment of the visitors, the officials of congress say. A slight diversion in that the dance will take the form of a general mixer will be made since there will be no "Pep" dance on the eve of the University home, Henry Gardiner, president of the S. M. S. C. advises.

The speakers this year are all from the state of Montana.

The program is as follows:

Thursday Afternoon, 1:30—Irene McDonald, chairman of convention. Dean Herrick presiding. Thelma Gaylord (president of Y. W. C. A.)—Devotional. Henry Gardiner (president of Associated Students)—Address of Welcome. Hazel Border (Gallatin High school) Greetings. Ruth Rutledge—Greetings as president of A. W. S. Response for High Schools of the state—Butte high school girl. J. Wheeler Barger—Meeting Your responsibilities. Ott Romney—Physical Education. Mrs. W. L. Fitzsimmons (Warm Springs, Montana)—The New World Conquer.

Thursday Evening, 8:00—Irene McDonald; Gladys Branegan, presiding. College Quartette—Dreaming. Dr. Jessie Richardson—Making Use of Women's Curiosity. Mr. Donald Kintz—Music and Viola. Dina Rees Evans—The Theatre. Mrs. Edith Grimes Waddell—Songs. Miss Rhoda Jane Dickinson (Minister of the First Congregational church Roundup)—Adventuring.

Friday Morning, 9:00—Irene McDonald; Miss Leora Hapner, presiding. Gladys Branegan—Home Economics. Rua Van Horn—Teaching. Vanyel Russell—Extension. Mrs. Fred Brown (Bozeman)—The Major Vocation. Miss Clara Schnedar—Art and the Bible. Miss Dorothy Chamberlain—The Commercial Possibilities of Art. Mary Jo Stockton (Bozeman Public Schools)—Public School Art. Miss Sara Jennings—My Observations of European Women. Mr. R. B. Bowden—The Publicist. Miss Rhoda J. Dickinson—The Look of Glass.

Friday Afternoon, 1:15—Irene McDonald; Dr. Jessie Richardson, presiding. College Chorus—My Love Dwells in Northern Land. Mrs. Nordquist—Life at College. Mrs. Erma Lescel Collins (Butte) The Field of Science. Mrs. W. L. Fitzsimmons—Some Practical Suggestions for Experiment. Dean Herrick—Closing of Convention. Inspection of Departments, Spurs to be guides. Reception at Herrick Hall at 3:30.

Friday Evening, 8:00—Pageant of Promise. Dance given for the visiting girls. The list of the delegates is not complete. They will not know exactly who all the girls are until next Thursday.

AYLORD RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

Thelma Gaylord returned Monday having attended the Y. W. C. A. convention at Portland held on the 4th, 5th and 6th of this month. Fifteen delegates were sent to this convention in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. These states make up the check division of Y. W. C. A. conference.

Work and plans for the coming year were planned and discussed. Plans were made for the Seabeck trip for next summer at which M. C. will send two delegates. Most of the time was devoted to discussion of the new purpose of Y. W. C. A. which will be voted on at the national convention of Y. W. C. A. to be held in Sacramento this winter. Thelma Gaylord's home being in Portland, she enjoyed a visit with her family while attending this convention.

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY HELD FOR WOMEN

Co-eds Talk Over Plans For Girls Vocational Congress

All women were excused from their eleven o'clock classes to attend a special assembly held in the assembly room of the Engineering building, for the purpose of discussing Girls' Vocational Congress.

A cello and violin duet by Misses Elinor and Edith Swingle opened the meeting.

The officers of A. W. S. were introduced to the girls—Vice president, Edythe Burg; secretary, Ruby Kind-sch; historian, Ruby Gill; treasurer, Iris Rose Peters. The treasurer gave a report on the girls that have not as yet paid their A. W. S. dues. Dean Herrick gave a short talk, in which she highly praised the present executive staff, for the splendid work that they were doing. She said that in 1913 and 1914, she had to have a staff meeting at 5 o'clock every evening in Hamilton Hall, for the girls did not know how to lead on.

She made the announcement that every girl who intends to go to the game in Butte next Saturday, must get a letter from their parents, saying what they were going and where they would be during their absence, and when they would return. That applies to every girl, whether she lives in the Dormitory or not. The town girls are to take their letters into Miss Dean's office. If a letter is not received from the parents of a girl, she will not be allowed to leave Bozeman at all. Girls are to wear their Blue and Gold ribbons in Butte.

The next report was given by Irene McDonald, chairman of the Girls' Vocational Congress. Miss MacDonald read the names of Caroline Haley, assistant; Recession, chairman, Anna Nordquist; Program, publicity and printing, Josephine O'Connor; Fin-tripp and Virginia Gilbert; Convention arrangements, Edythe Burg; Entertainment, Lillian Marshall.

Seniors are requested to be present Thursday afternoon in caps and gowns. Pages and Spurs are to be present in uniform at every session. The meetings will be interesting for all the college girls, and Miss MacDonald asked that all girls attend. There will be no leave of absences granted during the two days of Girls' Vocational Congress.

The Council of A.W.S. decided that the wearing of green ribbons by the freshman girls had not proved satisfactory, so they brought out three different things for discussion—green tams, green mittens or a green band of ribbon worn on the coat sleeve. It was decided that green tams should be worn.

Norma Beck, president of the Spurs, made the announcement that college students would be warned to keep off the grass by the Spur whistles. After three warnings they will be brought up before the council. This will be enforced immediately. Miss Tripp and Miss VanHorsen led a few college songs in practice for the game in Butte.

PLANS FOR SPECIAL TO BUTTE UNCHANGED

Will Leave At Seven o'Clock From Bozeman. Return At Seven In Evening

There are to be no radical changes in the program for the special train to Butte, according to Prof. Therkelsen, faculty treasurer of the athletic association. The train will leave at seven o'clock. A one way fare of $3.44 will be charged for the trip. The train will arrive in Butte at about 10:30 in the morning. Street cars will be provided to take the visitors up town where a short demonstration will be put on before the arrival of the Missoula hosts.

The game will start promptly at 2:00 o'clock in Clark park. Cars will be provided to run from up town to the athletic park. It is expected that most of the students will be in the stands at least one-half hour before the game.

A short demonstration with aerial bombs will be staged before the game. Bombs which will release flags of the colors of the rival schools will be used. This feature has been arranged by the yell kings of Montana State college and of the University. Harold Rivines and Nelson Fritz will meet in Butte the evening before the game to complete arrangements.

VOCATIONAL MEETINGS BRING STUDENTS HERE

Survey of Schools By Prof. J. Wheeler Barger Indicates Tendency

"The two agencies most effective in causing high school students to come here to college are the annual vocational congresses," declared Prof. J. Wheeler Barger, in an interview recently.

Mr. Barger together with several other members of the faculty made definite inquiries through various sources concerning the motive forces which prompted students to come to Montana State college, while giving commencement addresses at high schools throughout the state last spring.

"Last spring it was my responsibility," continued Mr. Barger, "to visit approximately thirty high schools of this state in the interest of college attendance, and in practically all cases where a definite decision to come to the state college had been reached, the person concerned had been here to a vocational congress. At these congresses, young people face squarely and seriously, and some of them for the first time, the question of their life work and in the light of the information given by the speakers many of the young people are able to arrive at decisions. They are also made to appreciate the importance of collegiate training and are inspired to continue their education."

"While here attending the vocational congresses, the high school students get their first glimpses of college life. They get some taste of the social affairs by visiting social groups and attending mixers; they have the privilege to see some dramatic productions and colorful pageantry; and they have the chance to acquire a knowledge of the professional training offered in the various departments by talks, displays, and visitation in the various buildings."

"Every student in the institution should assume the responsibility of serving as host to these young people who are among us while attending vocational congresses," concluded Mr. Barger. "By so doing he will not only contribute to the pleasure of the visitors but also will render the college the service of placing the social and professional opportunities for training before a large number of prospective students."

CHEMISTRY CLASS VISITS SUGAR BEET FACTORY

The members of the Industrial Chemistry class and Prof. Wm. Cobligh, head of the department of chemistry, visited the factory of the Great Western Sugar company at Billings last Thursday. A formal inspection of the plant was undertaken in the morning while the afternoon was devoted to a general survey of the various departments by small groups of students.

The annual trip to the sugar beet factory in Billings is one of the required parts of the course, according to Mr. Cobligh. The plants in Billings together with various industrial operations in Anaconda, Trident, Helena, and Great Falls, are used for observational study by the classes of the chemistry department.

Those who made the trip were Prof. W. M. Cobligh, Joseph Devich, Mathew Veldhuis, Stephen O'Connor, John Towle, Larue Zeller, Frank Higgins, Ellsworth Boston, Peter Mack, Kenneth Schwartz, and Edwin Bcraft.

ASSEMBLY TOMORROW MORNING

A special one and one half hour assembly will be held tomorrow forenoon in the gym. Five periods will be held, the last two to be devoted to the assembly. This is to be the last general assembly before the Butte game Saturday. It is very important that all the students attend, as final arrangements will be announced regarding the special train and ticket sale; the parade or street rally in Butte, and much other important information regarding the trip.

Short addresses will be delivered by President Linfield, Dean Hamilton, Coach Romney and possibly by others. The balance of the time will be devoted to the practice of M. S. C. songs and yells. The bobcat band will furnish plenty of music. As other events prevent the holding of a rally Thursday or Friday evening, this assembly is to serve that purpose.

JUNIORS GIVE ANNUAL DANCE NOVEMBER 23

Will Raffle Turkey As Feature of Thanksgiving Eve Celebration For Seniors

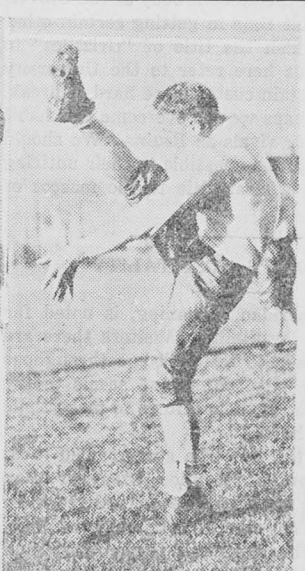

The annual Thanksgiving eve dance given by the members of the class of '29 will be held Wednesday evening, November 23 at the Rose Garden, according to an announcement by Frank Howard, chairman of the dance committee. This dance is an annual affair given in honor of the senior class.

A feature of the dance will be a turkey raffle at ten-thirty. The turkey will be furnished by the freshman class, a tradition of the annual affair. The Rose Garden orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. An admission of $1.00 will be charged, according to those in charge. A large turnout is expected from the members of the class to whom the proceeds will revert to apply on the Junior Prom in the spring.

This annual dance is given by every fourth freshman class and is carried through their senior year in college. It becomes the duty of the freshman class each year to furnish the turkey for the raffle.

SHORT COURSE ENROLLMENT SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

Mr. Trettsven, principal and promoter of the agricultural short course held during the winter quarter of each year, reports that the enrollment this year will be far greater than was at first anticipated. Probably one reason for the increase of students this year is that a new course called grain elevator managing has been added.

Tri-colored Players Leave Bobcat Football Teams Somewhat In Lurch In Showing

A list of the scores of past Bobcat-Grizzly games shows that since the opening game in 1897 through last year the University representatives have sadly outdistanced the College in number of victories. Eighteen games have been won by hosts from over the hill. Only five games have been won by the Bobcat teams, the last one in 1908. Four of the games have ended in ties, two scoreless games, and the others at 6-6. In total number of points, the Bobcats have been slighted, likewise, 357 to 159.

ALUMNI WILL DINE AT SILVER BOW CLUB

Plans for the alumni dinner in Butte on November 19 have as yet not been completed. Reservations have been coming in rather slowly so far due to the unsettled weather conditions, as many people plan to drive. It is hoped that there will be about one hundred and fifty people present.

The luncheon will be served at the Silver Bow Club at twelve o'clock. President Linfield will preside. As soon as it is ascertained what alumni will be there plans will be made for talks by various people who have been well known and active on the campus.

At the close of the luncheon, cars will be provided to take them to Clark's Park to the game.

ABBEY ON TRIP THROUGH STATE WITH FEDERAL AGENT

Mr. Abbey, head of the M. S. C. agricultural education department, left for Red Lodge last Friday, where he met Mr. W. T. Spanton of Washington, D. C. Mr. Spanton is federal agent for all agricultural education work and together he and Mr. Abbey will visit several high schools throughout the state.

M. S. C. BAND GOES TO SHERIDAN, WYO.

Lou Howard Takes Musicians To Wyoming As Feature of Bobcat-Cowboy Tilt

Lou Howard and his 30 piece Bobcat band accompanied the football team to Sheridan for the Montana State-Wyoming football game last Friday. The band furnished most of the cheering for the team as well as an entertainment program between halves and before the game.

The band arrived in Sheridan in a special car Friday morning at 11:30. The Rotary club of Sheridan entertained the members of the organization at a special luncheon at noon at the Sheridan Inn. Following the lunch, the band paraded through the business district to General field.

High School Band Plays.

The parade through the business district consisted of the Bobcat band, the governor of Wyoming, Mr. Frank Emerson, the president of the University of Wyoming, and the Sheridan high school band. The Hon. Peter Kooi, Sheridan business man, escorted the governor and other officials in the parade.

The Sheridan high school band consisted of over forty-five pieces, a large number of whom were girls. The uniform of the high school band was particularly striking with a dark blue cloak, and white trousers. The drum major of the high school band was a young woman.

Plays Concert in Evening.

The Bobcat band occupied the northeast corner of the temporary bleachers and the high school band the northwest. Between halves of the game both teams alternated in furnishing the music. Although the weather was rather chilly throughout the duration of the game, the large crowd was kept in high spirits by the music furnished.

Peter Kooi entertained the members of the band, the governor of Wyoming, and president of the University of Wyoming at a special dinner in the evening before the trip was made to the dance pavilion where the band played an evening concert.

The band stopped in Billings Saturday morning where they played a street concert to advertise the Billings-Dawson high school game.

Expressions heard on the trip indicated that everywhere the band appeared they were favorably received. The members of the Sheridan Commercial Club who sponsored the game were very well pleased with the appearance of the organization which they claimed added much to the festive spirit of the day.

FANGS HOLD MEETING DISCUSS BUTTE GAME

Plan To Have Bobcat In The Parade Saturday Morning Before The Game

The Fang chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights held their fourth regular meeting of the year at the Lambda Phi house Nov. 13, at four o'clock.

Present at the meeting were Honorary Member Lou Howard, leader of the Bobcat band and Alumnus Tom Strand. These two members took part in the discussion which centered for the main around the Bobcat-Bruin game to be held in Butte Nov. 19.

Part of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of the Girls' Vocational meeting to be held here Nov. 17 and 18. As has been the custom the Fangs always take part in this meeting and this custom will be carried out again this year. The Fangs, along with the Spurs, will act as host and hostesses for the dance Friday night of the 18th.

The fact that the Bobcat has been considered a "jinx" has been discarded and once more the bobcat will be featured in the parade and at the game in Butte. The cat has been kept at the Gardens at Butte since last spring, because it was too large and strong to be taken care of here. Fangs going to Butte Friday will "dress" the Bobcat and have it ready for the large parade to be held there Saturday morning.

As last year, the Fangs will have much to do at the "big" game at Butte. They will have their part in the parade and afterwards will take care of the ushering at the game. Fangs will also take tickets at the gate and help identify students wishing to enter at the student gate.

In their last conference game of the season the Montana State football team defeated the University of Wyoming eleven 6-0 on a field of mud at Sheridan, Wyoming, last Friday. Over three thousand persons watched the two teams battle on even terms after the Bobcats had blocked a punt and fallen on the ball behind the Wyoming goal for the only score of the game.

A blizzard with a three inch snowfall the day before the game left the playing field in anything but a desirable condition. A bright sun on the day of the game kept the field soft. A cold wind during the closing period of the contest made handling the ball more uncertain than ever.

Teams In Condition

Both teams entered the contest with their full strength available due to an open date for each the week previous.

Romney, however, started Semingsen, Preston, Breeden, Wellington and Richards from his reserves. Wilson, Montana's big center, remained on the bench throughout the game. Wyoming started with their full strength on the field, it is believed. The Cowboys had a bit of bad luck in the opening few plays with Stanton, their captain, removed from the game because of injury. Osbourne, Wyoming right guard, went out in the play previous. Wellington, Montana halfback, left the game in the second quarter with a leg injury.

First Quarter

Wyoming kicked off to Montana on their fifty-five yard line. Wyoming substituted Bennett for Osbourne who went down on the first play. The Bobcats immediately punted to Wyoming's 20 yard line. Stanton, Wyoming captain, was injured and had to be substituted for, Metzler taking his place. George attempted to punt out of danger, but Semingsen leaped in to block the kick, Olsen diving under a Wyoming man to fall on the ball behind the goal line for the only touchdown of the game. Vogt was rushed in to kick goal but failed. The entire scoring of the game was over before the crowd had fairly gotten settled.

Montana State kicked off to George who returned the ball to the 40 yard line. George hit the line for two yards and Thompson failed to gain on the same play. George then punted to Montana's 22 yard line. Richards returning the ball to the 25 yard mark. Richards was thrown for a loss on the first play. Wellington punted to Wyoming's forty-five yard line where Harkins was downed in his tracks. Harkins went through the line for four yards and George added five more. George made first down with a two yard gain through the line. Harkins slipped through tackle for five yards. George followed on the next play with three more yards, but fumbled the ball, Semingsen falling on it. It was the Bobcats ball on their 35 yard line.

Slippery Going

Wellington punted to Harkins who wiggled and splashed around in the mud, getting five yards nearer the Bobcat goal line, when Babcock brought him down with one of the few clean tackles in the game. Harkins hit tackle for four yards and George for one. A fake punt formation play netted the Cowboys nothing. George then punted to Richards who fumbled the slippery ball on his (Continued on Page Three)

M. S. C. BOBCAT WILL BE AT BUTTE GAME

Is Kept at Butte Zoo Because of Its Violent Disposition

The Montana Bobcat, spirit of M. S. C., which became too large to be controlled easily, is now in the zoo at Butte and may be used at the Butte game if Coach Romney sees fit. The bobcat was formerly kept in a shed behind the Amigo club house, but it became so large that it was difficult to control, so it was taken to Butte and put in the zoo. Whether or not it will be used at the Butte game has been left to the discretion of Coach Romney. A new bobkitten will probably be purchased in the spring from the state ranger.

PARADE BOBCAT IN SHERIDAN.

One of the features of the parade in Sheridan before the game was the exhibition of a Bobcat led by Miss Jewell Reynolds dressed in the Cowboy costume of the University of Wyoming. The Bobcat is a pet of Miss Reynolds and is kept at the Pioneer park. The animal has been raised from a kitten by the girl and is said to be perfectly tame, showing no vicious tendencies whatsoever. Miss Reynolds is a freshman in Sheridan high school. Her father is superintendent of Pioneer Park.

THE OLD SPIRIT

In looking over the formidable list of results of past Bobcat-Grizzly football games, it might occur to us that there must have been shown a wonderful spirit by the student body of our institution. To continually, seemingly, go to meet the enemy and be "taken" is no fun. It has almost become a tradition. It takes real spirit to put everything into backing your team against such a proposition. Our hats are off to the student body of M. S. C. for that spirit.

Next Saturday in Butte when the two elevens line-up on the field there will be probably 8,000 Montana people in the stands, watching the representatives of the two schools. Besides the thrill of the game, they will be there to watch how the students of the two schools conduct themselves. The spirit of rivalry is keen, they know, and they will watch for evidences of it.

Since this is a holiday for us, an athletic holiday, as it were, we should stop to think of the people who have made it possible for us to be entertained in a neighboring city. There is the Butte Chamber of Commerce, for instance. The game is in their hands. All of the arrangements have been made by them. Let's think of them a little bit when we accept their hospitality next Saturday.

CALL THEM GRIZZLIES

The officials of the student body of the University had a difficult time in getting certain other schools to relinquish the title of "Grizzlies" to them. Most of us here refer to the University as "Bruins." Certain customs are hard to break, but if we try perhaps we can overcome this habit of referring to our rivals as Bruins. We should give as much respect as possible to their untiring efforts to obtain a clear title to the mascot of their adoption.

SHERIDAN'S HOSPITALITY

The city of Sheridan, Wyoming, is noted far and wide for its hospitality. Visitors there are welcomed and made to feel welcome throughout their stay in the city. Everyone seems to try to out do the other in their efforts to make their visitors feel "at home."

The band and the few who accompanied them were given a cordial reception wherever they went. Luncheons and dinners were tendered them on every hand. The Sheridan Commercial Club, The Rotarians, the American Legion post, and the Hon. Peter Kooi all won a particularly warm spot in the hearts of all visitors.

As to the method of handling the game and the crowd which attended, everything possible appeared to have been done. Comfortable bleachers were erected on the sides of the field, entertainment was provided, and efficient ushering and ticket distribution systems were used. The very minimum of inconvenience was in evidence everywhere.

Lastly, all of the business houses generously decorated their display windows in the colors of the rival schools. The decoration was carried out impartially throughout every window, it seemed. Such a fine exhibition of sportsmanship as shown by the northern Wyoming city will surely warrant future consideration for big games by any of us.

'FAMILY UPSTAIRS' PLEASES AUDIENCE

Annual Tormentors Production Best In Years According To Critics

(By Patricia Knowles)

Perhaps in the well known fact that realistic literature appeals to the people of today one finds the reason for the great amount of pleasure gained by a large audience from Harry Duff's three act domestic comedy-drama, "The Family Upstairs," presented by members of Tormentors at the Ellen last Tuesday evening, November 8.

So naturally did the players become members of "The Family Upstairs", and so human was the plot, and so appropriate were the costumes and the setting that everyone in the audience inwardly exclaimed, "That's just like home!"

Mrs. Beatrice Freeman Davis is to be complimented upon her coaching of the play. So well had she chosen the players that the actors seem to be living the play, rather than merely repeating specified lines and actions. In their acting they all cooperated to successfully bring out the theme of the play—that love triumphs of all difficulties, even sham and deception, two of its greatest enemies.

In Mrs. Heiler (Mary Tattan), was seen the type of mother known the world over—that sort which loves her family so much that worrying about them is her chief duty. Patient and exasperated by turns, yet lovable and well-meaning through the entire play, she tries to arrange the marriage of her elder daughter, mollify her yawning son and tired husband, and convert her younger daughter into a musician.

Her husband, Joe Heller, ably portrayed by "Red" MacGregor, also has his troubles, and like his wife, worries excessively about his family. Submissive or dominating as the fancy strikes him, he excellently portrays the tired father of three children, who believes that when they move it will be to the insane asylum. His repeated query "When do we eat?" and his praise of the olives which cost a dollar and twenty-five cents will long be remembered by all who heard him.

"Mimms" Cameron takes the role of Louise Heller, the sweet elder daughter of "The Family Upstairs." Desperately she fights the sham put on by her mother to impress "her young man," and because she believes that truth is better than deception, she triumphantly wins the heart of her handsome lover.

The hero, Charles Grant (Keith Sime) plays the role of the lover to perfection. So great is his love for the pretty Louise, he forgives the eccentricities of her family and "loves her just the same." His ardor was naturally portrayed and seemed to be a logical part of the matrimonial "mixup" of the Hellers.

Lois Cobleigh as Annabelle, the younger daughter of the Hellers succeeded ably in portraying the modern twelve-year old child who dislikes practicing lessons of any sort. Her "Wrestle with Spring," as her brother called it, was a thing worthy to be remembered, especially when she played it while reading the comic section of the newspaper.

"Yens" Rivines took the part of the seventeen-year-old Willie, who had political ambitions with ease. His telephone conversations with his fair lady, Alice, and his continued yawning were perhaps his best drawing cards. As the injured heir of the household he complained with a striking naturalness, "Only been out of bed two minutes, and then you pick on me," and "First you don't want me to sleep so much, and now you don't think I sleep enough!" that is heard in every American home today.

'U' GAME FULL OF FIREWORKS WRITERS SAY, TEAMS EVEN

BREAKS MAY DECIDE OUTCOME, LINES ARE EXPECTED TO FIGHT TO STANDSTILL

(By Willis Wood)

Saturday, November 19, Clark Park. Butte will be the setting for Montana's football classic of the year. The Bobcats of Montana State college will meet the Grizzlies of Montana University in their twenty-eighth annual contest. This game holds the interest of the entire state on that day. The outcome of the game is of course impossible to predict with any assurance of accuracy for the prediction. In former years the comparative strength of the two teams has been estimated, the season scores taken to account, and from the summary of data forecasts made, only to have some disregarded factor enter to upset the "dope." Last week's claim, the University publication, contained a preview of the Butte game. It was a conservative comparison of the strength of both teams but the headline head, "Grizzlies Liked to Win." The supporters of the Bobcats pick them to win. So after all it is only a reflection of the loyal support which each student body gives to its football team.

"Superiority Complex"

If the psychology factor plays any important part in Saturday's game, the Grizzlies will undoubtedly have the advantage of it, because they have won 18 games from the Bobcats while the latter have won but five, and four have resulted in ties. This year's Bobcat team has been playing the game of football with a determination and spirit that does not have any place for outside minor factors though and the "superiority complex," upon which the University pins considerable faith will have little, if any place in this year's contest.

Last Saturday the Bobcats won from the Wyoming Cowboys by the narrow margin of 6 to 0, while Gonzaga was holding the Grizzlies to a scoreless tie. However both teams considered these games of minor importance to the coming fray and did not use their full strength. Several of the regulars of both teams were held out of the game and but few plays were used. One thing for certain, both teams and coaches are going to Clark park with a determination to put forth their best and all they have, this itself is sufficient to assure a hardly contested game full of fight. The lines of the two teams are both dependable defensive walls that rate high in western football circles. The strength and caliber of the Bobcat line is indicated by their showing in outplaying Purdue from "end to end" in the words of Purdue's coach, Jimmie Phelan. On the other hand the University line has been holding its own against the best in the coast conference and is rated as one of the best in that conference. Therefore it is doubted if either line has any advantage worthy of mention and straight line plunges will not have an important place in the game. The Bobcats have the strongest backfield combination that has worked for the State college in many years. They have line plungers, good runners and have developed a strong passing combination. Their experience in the last few games against Purdue and other teams that have had to resort to aerial football for any effectiveness has been valuable to the development of a defense against this type of football. The Grizzlies have an aerial attack worthy of note and are expecting to use it effectively in Saturday's game. Their strong line and fast backfield with its aerial attack gave California a surprise two weeks ago, and it was only with strong reserve power that California was able to win this game which they had been considering a set-up.

Breaks Will Tell

There is one department in which the Bobcats have a definite superior strength, that is in reserve power which the University seems to lack. However, after all is said and done it looks as if the two teams will take the field Saturday on a very even footing. It is going to be a game of spectacular end runs, passes, and sensational football which is the type of game pleasing to the spectator. Both teams are determined and both student bodies are confident in the ability of their respective teams. It is going to be a real struggle between traditional rivals with the outcome in doubt. Victory will no doubt go to the team that shows the most "football sense" and has the foresight and ability to take advantage of the breaks.

MONTANA STATE

Cashmore, of Dillon, will be at left end. Cashmore has been playing a wonderful game this year and is putting up a strong bid for all-conference honors.

Olsen, of Great Falls High, is playing his third year at left tackle for the State college. His defense is always dependable and his offense full of fight.

Ario, another Great Falls man, will play his last game for Montana State. "Jim" has been a consistent guard on the left side of the line for three years.

Wilson, all conference center of last year, will be in a Blue and Gold uniform for the last time. "Rip" has been a favorite of the student body and his ability needs no introduction.

Vogt, of the Bitter Root valley, will no doubt start at right guard. Vogt was out of the early season play because of injuries but is in top form now.

Dobeus, of Lewistown, is another three year man. He has been playing a very commendable game at right tackle.

Hurd, from Big Sandy, has been playing a good game at right end. Hurd was out of the game all last year because of injuries.

Ott Gardner, Montana State's triple threat, has been playing the best game of his career this year and has shown ability in handling the position of quarterback.

Archie Eikrem, from last year's Kittens, will start at left half. Eikrem has been doing some good line plunging and making his share of Montana State's yardage.

Captain Babcock, of Miles City, always plays a steady game at right half. Babcock's force in hitting the line has featured many games.

Chez, Montana State's defensive subback, uses plenty of head work and hits the line with a force that commands respect.

As both lines are strong defensive walls and the backfields are fast, using somewhat the same styles of play, the weather conditions should not give any advantage to either team. However it is hoped that the field will be dry and the day clear to permit a fast spectacular game. If the field should be heavy and the game resolve into a punting duel Ott Gardner can undoubtedly hold his own against the best of the "U".

Bobcats' Reserve Strong.

Montana State has some very good reserve power if it has to be used. Wellington, a substitute quarter-back, plays a good game and will no doubt get a chance Saturday if he has recovered from an injured ankle. Richards, another backfield sub, is an accurate passer playing his first year at Varsity ball. Any injuries or vacancies in the line can be replaced by Preston, Brecken or Semingson.

MONTANA UNIVERSITY

Tom Davis, an all state high school end from Butte high school, will be at right end. This is his second year of Varsity football at the University.

Vierheus, captain of the Grizzlies, will be playing his last game for the University. Vierhaus, a giant in stature, plays right tackle and is a strong linesman.

Murray, a former star of Saint Charles, is another veteran of last year's Grizzly team and will defend the position of right guard.

Lewis, of Butte High, did not play last year but was with the Cubs the preceding season. He was an all state man in high school and has been playing a good steady game at center this year.

Dessel will be in the position of left guard. This is his first year at the University and he never played with the Cubs, so is an unknown quantity to the Bobcats.

Whitcomb, a veteran linesman of last year's Grizzly team, will be playing his usual position at left tackle.

Ronglien, at left end, is a man of Varsity experience though he was not in last year's game between the university and State college.

Chinske, who will direct the University play is a triple threat man and is doing much to fill the shoes vacated by the famous "Bill" Kelly's graduation last year.

Kain, of Helena high, will be at left half. Kain is a veteran and valuable man to the university's backfield.

Morrow, who will play right half for the university, is another man from last year's line and will need watching.

Mellinger, university full back, is another new man in the "U" lineup this year.

and others who have shown up very well this year. Ball and Lewis who have had considerable experience at end positions this year are both dependable and will probably bet into action Saturday. Little is known of the university's reserve power but that seems to be their weakness this year.

After all the facts are tabulated and considered it would take a deep insight to find any marked advantage on either side. The university will miss the great Kelly, who featured their last year's victory, but are sending a good representative team against the Bobcats. Montana State has the best balanced team that they have sent against the university for several years and have at least an even break to begin with. For the final outcome—well the game will be over at approximately 3:30 p. m. Saturday and until then we do not choose to commit ourselves.

own 35 yard line. Wellington grabbed the loose ball and started a zigzag path toward Wyoming's goal, gaining thirty yards before being brought down. Chez hit the line for no gain and Richards made a single yard at center. Wyoming used five men behind the line on defense. Whitman being pulled back from end position. Wyoming took Vogt's punt on their 20 yard line and promptly reeled off fifteen yards through mud and water with Harkins packing the ball. George gained three yards at tackle and then punted to Richards on Montana's twenty-five yard line who was chased back to the fifteen mark. Vogt immediately punted to the fifty yard line.

George took the ball for Wyoming and gained one yard before being thrown out of bounds as he neared the side line. Harkins gained two yards. George took the ball on the next play and passed to Harkins who fumbled it. It was the first attempt at passing by either team. If Harkins had caught the ball he would have been three yards behind the line of scrimmage. George then punted to Richards who elected to try for a fair catch which he completed as the quarter ended further mud splashing.

Second Quarter

With the ball on his own 15 yard line, Vogt punted to Wyoming's 37 yard line. Harkins took the punt and returned it ten yards in a brilliant run. George lost three yards around left end. Harkins then tried the right end, slipping and splashing through the mud for 12 yards. George then punted to Montana's 18 yard line. Wellington took the ball for Montana and started on a long run through the treacherous mud only to slip down with only the safety man between him and the goal. Wellington and Richards each gained four yards around the end before Wellington kicked to Wyoming's five yard line.

Harkins took the catch, side stepped Olsen, who was coming at full speed, returning it to the 20 yard line. A penalty took Wyoming back to their five yard line where George messed up a kick which traveled along the side line going out of bounds at the thirty yard line. Wellington was injured on the first play and was carried from the field with a badly hurt ankle. With seven minutes of the period left, Romney sent in Eikrem, Gardner, Dobeus and Ball.

Bobcats Threaten Goal

Unused to the muddy field, the veterans lost the ball on downs. Babcock pulled down Harkins who had slipped through the line and was on his way to a touchdown. George tried the line once but gained little. Harkins then discarded his mud-soaked headgear and dove into the line only to be tackled fiercely by Dobeus. The ball slipped from his hands and bounded into the arms of Jim Ario.

Gardner tried right end but was forced out of bounds with a small gain. Eikrem went through the line to Wyoming's ten yard line. Eikrem again took the ball, gaining four yards through the line. Gardner lost one yard on an end run. Chez made four yards through the line and nothing on the second attempt. The ball went to Wyoming on their two yard line.

Intercepts Pass.

Best went in for Ario. With his back to the fence, George punted from behind his own goal line. Whitman touches low kick, giving the ball to the Bobcats on Wyoming's 12 yard line. With only three quarters of a minute to play, the Bobcats attempted to score by the aerial route. Whitman intercepted the pass, running to the thirty yard mark before being downed. The half ended with the ball in possession of Wyoming on their thirty yard line.

Second Half.

Both teams changed to white sweat shirts between halves, but the mud soon blackened them. Vogt kicked out of bounds on first try and to Thompson on second. Thompson returns kick to 25 yard line and then gains little on first play. Gardner returned Wyoming's punt 12 yards before being pulled down. Gardner then kicked to Harkins who was nailed in his tracks by Hurd. George gained four yards through line and then kicked to Gardner. On the first play Gardner lost one yard. Eikrem took the ball through tackle for four yards and Chez gained two on cross back. Gardner kicked twenty five yards to Harkins who made no return.

Montana was penalized five yards on first play. Harkins made no gain around end and George made only one through left side. Both sides were offside on next play. Harkins took the ball three times in succession, making seven yards. George then kicked short to Babcock who returned the ball twelve yards.

Gardner Kicks 42 Yards

Eikrem took the ball outside on line plunge. Montana was penalized for offside. Chez gained four yards through the line. Gardner kicked 42 yards to Harkins who snook off a tackler and returned the ball five yards. Harkins made four through line and then slid on his face in the mud for two more from take kick formation. Brecken substituted for Vogt. Wyoming lost the ball but recovered Gardner's fumble. The ball was on the fifty yard line. Thompson missed the play on an attempted criss-cross; Harkins carried the ball but lost two yards. George heaved a pass to Whitman who pulled it out of the air for a nine yard gain.

An attempt was made to measure the distance, but the condition of the field prevented accurate measurement. The head linemen decided that the Cowboys had six inches to go. George tried the line, but gained nothing. Montana took the ball on the forty yard line. Babcock took the ball for two yards through line before the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter.

Gardner kicked to Harkins who was nailed in his tracks while trying to sway out of the path of Montana tacklers. Harkins hit the line for eight yards and made first down on the second play with four more. Although slight of build, the Laramie had showed great football ability. Ray Thompson lost the ball on a reverse end run, Montana recovering. Chez took the ball for two yards, Eikrem for six, and Gardner for two more. Montana was awarded first down. Gardner essayed an end run which ended with a perfect high dive, landing face downward. Eikrem gained four yards in two downs. A forward pass, Gardner to Chez, was missed by inches. The ball went over.

Line Plunges Feature

Harkins went through the line for four yards. George tried right end for no gain when Hurd tripped him up. George kicked to Gardner who received it on the twenty-five yard line, returning five. Wedge Thompson, track star, substituted for his brother Ray. Babcock jumped into the line, gaining one yard through the line. Gardner kicked twenty-seven yards to W. Thompson who made no return. W. Thompson made seven yards through the line before being pulled down by Eikrem. The Cowboy backfield then made two first downs in succession from a series of line plunges.

Harkins lost one yard on the next play. A double pass with W. Thompson on the receiving end netted Wyoming nine yards. Thompson again tried the end with no gain. Wyoming challenged the mud and Montana defense for the last time when George hit the line for no gain. The ball went over to Montana. Chez carried the ball into the line for no gain as the game ended:

The Lineups:

Montana State	Pos.	Wyoming
Cashmore	LE	Bunker
Olsen	LT	Stewart
Ario	LG	Toucher
Preston	C	Tathum
Brecken	RG	Osbourne
Semingson	RT	Duncan
Hurd	RE	Whitman
Richards	QB	Stanton
Wellington	LH	Harkins
Babcock	RH	R. Thompson
Chez	FB	George

Officials: Referee, Pat Kelly, Dartmouth; umpire, Cahoon, Utah; head linemen, Chaurer, Nebraska; timekeeper, Brubak, Princeton.

Worden, Kleffman, and O'Leary also did great work at half, while Stanich, Mills and Honnold look like they have varsity stuff in them. O'Leary and Kleffman also handled the full-back position part of the time.

Line Strong

Max Worthington was one of the mainstays of the team, and played fine football all season. He did most of the kicking, and was on the receiving end of a good many passes. Other ends that showed up well were Breuner and Bohart. Popham, Skinner, Howell and Harrer were four exceptionally good centers. Lucke was an outstanding tackle, while Bilant, Hawkins and M. Johnson all did their share. There were plenty of other good tackles with Viertel, Lanham, Martin, Wagner, West, Freese and Wheat all doing fine work.

Things look mighty promising for the Bobcats of 1928 if a group of men like this turns out. "More promising varsity material has been uncovered this year than ever before," is the statement given out by Coach Dyche last Sunday.

Good Material

According to Coach Dyche, there were at least three good men for every position. This is one reason that the team did not look very good in the first few games. There had to be a great deal of shifting around to find out where each man belonged. For the first few weeks, none of the men knew what their mates could do. Nevertheless they soon rounded into shape, and were working together nicely when they battled the Cubs. DeFrate was one of the fastest men on the squad, and made a great deal of the kitten's yardage. Barnett and Leland were the other two quarterbacks, and all three were capable of running the team nicely. Winner was one of the best defensive men, and a good halfback.

KITTENS FINISH SUCCELSFUL YEAR

Yearling Squad Undefeated After Playing Best Teams In State

The Bobkittens finished the season undefeated for the third successive year when they handed the Cubs a 25-0 defeat on November 5. The last time that the Frosh failed to win was in 1923 when the Dublin Gulch Independents of Butte won by a 19-10 score.

This has been a great year for the Bobkittens, and its effect will be felt in the varsity lineup of 1928. More all-state men and high calibre football players came to Montana State this year than ever before. As a result of this, the Bobkittens piled up 106 points to their opponents' 20. They defeated both Billings and Butte high school who will play for the state championship on Thanksgiving day. They stopped the Billings "Broncos" by a 19-0 score, and came home from Butte with fond memories of a 28-14 victory. They took two games from the Billings Poly by scores of 7 to 0 and 28 to 0. Gallatin went down to the tune of 27 to 6, and their ancient enemies, the Cubs, were forced to be content with the short end of a 25-0 tally.

You'll like P.A. — and how!

OPEN a tidy red tin of Prince Albert and give your olfactory nerve a treat. Never have you met an aroma that had so much come-and-get-it. Some fragrance, Fellows. And that's just a starter. Load up and light up. . . .

Cool as final exams. Sweet as passing. Mild as cafe au lait — mild, but with that rich, full-bodied flavor that bangs your smoke-gong right on the nose on every fire-up. You'll like this long-burning Prince Albert in the bowl of a pipe. And how!

One of the first things you notice about P.A. is that it never bites your tongue or parches your throat, no matter how wide you open the smoke-throttle. It is one tobacco that never wears out its welcome. You can stoke and smoke to your heart's content, with P.A. for packing. Get some Prince Albert now and get going!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

"Chemical Warfare Is Not Inhuman," Says Prof. Sheppard

A droning roar sounds overhead above the din of a busy city, there is a flash of bright metal wings against the sky, and two shadowy streaks mark the passage of the deadliest missiles to be used in future warfare, the chemical bombs. Will the entire population of great cities be thus annihilated in the next war? Will an airplane, fortunate to escape any protecting anti aircraft guns, be able to transform a metropolis into a lifeless morgue by bombing it with ultra-poisonous gasses? Science says no!

Professor Sheppard, who holds a commission in the United States Army division of chemical warfare, gave forth the facts as presented in the following article, in a lecture before the Alpha Chi Sigma meeting last Wednesday night. "Washington wishes to correct the misstatements so frequently made in regard to the dangers we may expect from airplane gas attacks in future wars. As the larger bombing planes can carry as yet only a few tons of a load, the several thousand tons of any known explosive which would be necessary to depopulate a large city, would require a transport fleet of such proportions that it might be combatted with little difficulty. And even if their bombs were discharged within the city, the simplest type of gas proof buildings, as developed during the late war, would be ample protection to the townspeople. These houses are made gas-proof by blowing air through a chemically saturated cloth into the rooms. The slight pressure thus created seals cracks such as around doors and windows, from any incoming gasses by forcing air out through them. The buildings need not be air tight, nor of any special construction.

Far more important results are to be expected from future chemical warfare on the enemies of mankind. In an effort to combat a water worm called the borer, which destroys concrete and wooden docks by eating away the under-water parts, a new chemical point is being developed at Englewood government arsenal, which promises to prevent the borer from attacking the docks. If successful, this development will save several millions of dollars a year to the navy department alone, and much more will be saved to commercial and municipal finance. From motion picture news reels we may see pictures of aeroplanes "dusting" large fields of the boll weevil in his attempts to destroy the cotton before the bolls open. An arsenic poison is now being used effectively against the swarming hordes of destructible pests. The new anti-harmale paint promises to greatly increase the speed efficiency of ships

ART CLUB WILL HOLD BAZAAR DECEMBER 3-4

The annual Art Club Bazaar will be held Friday afternoon and Saturday morning on Dec. 2nd and 3rd. For this bazaar beautiful articles of artistic handcraft have been secured from Greece and the Armenian Relief stations. Fabrics, prints, jewelry and various interesting things have been ordered from Japan, China and New Mexico. Wall hangings and fabrics from Persia and India will add interest to the collection. The bazaar has steadily gained popularity in the city and many people look forward to the event to buy unique Christmas gifts.

the Collar of this amazing
new shirt
CAN'T SHRINK

WE HAVE something brand new to show you. A line of shirts—tailored by Shirtcraft—with the new-type Everfit collars. These collars can never pinch your neck, can never crease or wrinkle, no matter how many times they're laundered—because they will not, cannot shrink. A new, exclusive process makes this possible. No matter what size you wear, you'll find it here, and—what's more—you'll find the size precisely the same after 100 launderings, when ordinary collars feel like a hangman's noose.
