

Tourney Sidelights

Some of the College "M" men seemed quite enthusiastic over their home town teams. Phat Semingsen was pulling for Great Falls but his support didn't seem to work until the fourth quarter. Then there didn't seem to be enough time.

Max Worthington cheered quite effectively for Billings. But that team against St. Charles did not seem to be the combination that is hoped to win the tourney. However, against a more experienced team than St. Charles, they might perform in a more convincing manner.

Brick Breeden seemed as good a salesman as he is a guard. His manner of closing the sale is very effective.

Ott Gardner gave a wonderful demonstration of high-pressure salesmanship while the crowd was filing out of the gym after the games were over Wednesday evening.

The tournament committee has gone to much trouble to clean the gym floor. The spectators should cooperate with the committee and try to keep the floor clean.

The Fangs and Spurs are again doing their bit. They seem to be the best ushers the college can find.

Who knows—Some of these fast high school players may be future Bobcats.

That musical talent is not lacking in the high school fans is supported by the perfect time in which they chew gum to the playing of the band.

Forsyth sure has a scrappy little squad. They look plenty fast on the offense and their quick forming five man defense shows the results of thorough drilling.

Manhattan looked good in the opening game of the tournament against Forsyth. Long shots coupled with neat accurate passing makes them a dangerous threat for any opponent.

Imagine our embarrassment when we scuttled out of the road of the automobile we thought had surely been turned loose in the gym—and found it was only the scorer's horn.

We wonder if Coach Eaton trains his teams in similar garb to what he galloped around in Tuesday night—as Ump.

The band had a particularly soft and soothing tone—d'ja notice it? Caught as soon as it stopped playing—is a pretty good date.

The usual run of valley enthusiasts were much evidence last night. If only they didn't think they were at a hog-calling tournament instead of one of basketball.

Did you notice the co-operation the drummers—in the band, of course, we mean—got on the bass drum? Guess they wanted to save the little one.

DeFrate just can't grow up and get over his high school ways. He leads the Gallatin half-wits in the yells of dear old Alma Mater—with Les Pace's co-operation of course.

We can excuse the Gallatin lads for keeping their hats on at the games—they just don't know any better.

Brick, as he hands Much a bottle of grape pop: "Drink this, Much, and you won't get a cauliflower ear."

And talk about a big crowd! My dear. Counting the teams there were eleven.

What the well dressed Ump, or Referee will wear: black and white striped shirt, with sweater to match, and—oh, well—just take a look at Ben Hardin.

The noise, pep, and spirit at the tournament last night so far excelled that shown at the Bobcat games that there can not possibly be any comparison.

It is certain a creditable note when a handful of high school rooters can come over here to the tournament and make the Bobcat rooters look like less than two cents worth of dog meat.

And look at the team we have to cheer for.

Oh Girls' have you seen Waldorf—from Forsyth—he has the cutest little moustache. And just a boy yet, too!

Even if Donohoe can't work up a good enough team to play in the tournament he at least works himself into a high pitch of enthusiasm just watching the better teams play.

It is very evident that Bud Barnes is Scotch. That whistle he first used last night he got as a "prize" in Cracker Jack.

The Billings Cheer Leaders are good. They got a lot of response from their small rooting section. Perhaps we could persuade them to take a try at a Bobcat rooting section.

Much to the janitors delight, Fat Semingsen retained his balance—or at least fell forward—in his attempted stroll around the railing of the balcony. Grease is so hard to remove. Especially from a floor.

Custer has probably displayed the best passing game seen so far. Miles City played one of the cleanest games of the series, there being only two fouls called on them in the entire game with Whitehall.

DEBATOR WILL GO TO PULLMAN

Pi Kappa Delta Will Hold Its Convention in Pullman on April 5 and 6. Montana State Will Send Delegate

Interest in varsity debate is keen this year and many students are competing for the honor of representing Montana State College in the Provincial Convention to be held at Pullman, Wash., on April 5 and 6. At this time the team representing us will meet the member schools of Pi Kappa Delta of Idaho, Oregon, Montana, and Washington. The varsity trip will begin the third of April when the team will debate the Butte School of Mines on the jury question. After leaving Butte the team will then take part in the Provincial Tournament. On April 8, they will debate Gonzaga and from there they go to debate the college of Puget Sound, Tacoma. This is the main trip of the year. However, the latter part of April there will be a debate at Billings with the Normal college there. This is the first time Montana State College has had fornic relations with the Billings school.

The home schedule begins March 25 at which time we meet North Dakota College, from Fargo, N. D. The question for debate is the farm relief. On April 2, Baylor University of Texas debates in Bozeman. On April 4, the University of Wyoming debates here.

The sophomore debate team, consisting of Dorothy Garret and Alice Vandenhoeck, will debate a team from Dillon State Normal at Bozeman, March 13. The question for debate is resolved: that a substitute for the jury system should be adopted. Montana State takes the affirmative of the question, and Dillon takes the negative. The debate will follow the (Continued on Page Three)

Physical Education Is Popular Course at Montana State College

One of the greatest demands of our present day educational system is that for trained coaches and athletic directors in high schools and secondary schools throughout the country. This new vocation is a direct result of policies adopted by educators of the twentieth century and to meet this demand, colleges and universities are offering training courses which are intended to fit men for either professional coaching positions or instructors of academic subjects.

Montana State College offers a four year course in physical education leading to a degree which is one of the best offered in the Western states.

Bobcats Will Play Exhibition Game Here With Billings Team Tomorrow

The Montana State Bobcats, twice repeating Rocky Mountain conference champions, will meet a group of Billings' all stars in an exhibition game here tomorrow, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This game will enable Coach Dyche to keep his men in condition for the crucial conference title series with Colorado University at Boulder, Colorado, March 23, 25 and 26.

All coaches, contestants are invited to see the greatest cage team of the country perform. It will give the high school players and the visitors a chance to see the present Bobcat team, that has won the western division title three successive years and the conference title for the past two years in action.

The game should give the crowd some idea as to the speed and caliber of the Bobcats. The Billings team is composed of former high school players and is plenty good. Last month they held the Hardin Moose to a four point victory and are capable of giving the Bobcats a great Battle.

When the Bobcats meet Colorado University at Boulder, March 23, 25, and 26, they will take with them the greatest aggregation of cage stars in the nation this year. Montana State has three all-conference selections again this season, the lanky Frank Ward, the diminutive "Cat" Thompson and the rangy "Brick" Breeden.

Besides this trio of stars there is Orland Ward and Max Worthington. The former placed all-conference on the second team of the Associated Press, but the latter for some mysterious reason failed to be recognized. Max is a guard that sports writers are predicting to prove as nearly equal to the great Breeden as possible.

Reports come from Boulder as to how the Coloradoans are going to "hand cuff" Frank and Tommy but they will have to be far better than the reputation they earned this year bestows on them. They had a lot of difficulty in nosing Colorado Teachers for first place in the eastern half while the Teachers only made a good scrimmage for the Cats. Then too, Red DeBernardi, all-American in three positions said that the Bobcats were the greatest team he had ever played against. The big Brick held him practically scoreless while Tommy played circles around him when Red was at guard and he never got the tip-off from Frank. The Bobcats defeated the Painters twice out of three games.

But even at that the championship series will be good if the Colorado team play as great ball as they de-

Trackmen Are Training For Spring Meets

Montana States hopes are far above those held for the past several years. The team this year is composed of veterans from the last two or three years and with the incoming Frosh it is expected that a team will be turned out that will be far above the average of the teams that have carried the Blue and Gold banner for many years.

At the same time the squad will be hampered due to the fact that there is no place for them to train as the track behind the Gym will be torn up and the cinder artist will be forced to do their stuff in the field down by the barracks. This will undoubtedly be a handicap to the team but hopes are still running high for a better team than has been had for many years.

The track meet this year will be a state collegiate meet instead of a dual meet between the University and the Bobcats as it has been in the past. Teams will be sent from Intermountain, Dillon, Mt. St. Charles, Mines, Bobcats, and the University. It will also be held in connection with the Interscholastic track meet that is held in Missoula every spring. In the past it has only been a meet between the "Cats" and the Grizzlies. A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown by all the Track men throughout the (Continued on Page Three) clare they are going to, though Bozeman fans aren't worrying about the Cats.

The Bobcats have a record that will stand with all college cage competition by scoring a total of 720 points in their 12 conference games in the western division. This makes them lead with 60 points per game in the conference and an average of 56 for the entire season's game.

Frank Ward—Captain and king pin of the famous trio, Ward, Breeden, and Thompson, is probably the greatest center in the Rocky Mountain conference. His ability of tapping the ball in with his fingers has been the deciding factor in many Bobcat victory.

"Cat" Thompson—The greatest forward in the West leads the conference in scoring honors. No guard the Bobcats have met has been able to fathom him. The little all-conference star has one more year to play for M. S. C.

John Breeden—"Brick" all conference guard and captain last year is considered to be one of the most con- (Continued on Page Four)

Extemp Finals Held Tomorrow At the Emerson

The finals of the Extemporaneous Speaking Contest held in conjunction with the Eighteenth Annual Interscholastic Basketball Tournament will be held at the Emerson Auditorium at 1:30 tomorrow, Saturday, March 8. In accordance with the extemporaneous speaking contest rules, the preliminary contest was held this morning in Montana Hall. Fifteen of the sixteen representatives participated. The Glasgow representative was unable to attend because of illness. (Continued on Page Three)

Games Today Show Thrills As Strong Teams Do Battle

Wolf Point Is Eliminated, Three More Teams Are to Be Forced Out Tonight. Fergus Nearly Upsets Anaconda While Miles City Smothers Carbon.

With the elimination series nearly over the eighteenth annual state interscholastic basketball tourney race has narrowed down to four teams, Ronan, Custer, Butte Central and Anaconda. Today the hopes of Wolf Point was eliminated making four teams out of the race for good. Tonight three more will be forced out of the scramble for places.

The games are getting better and better with the elimination of the weaker teams and today's games saw the greatest of the games yet played. The first over time game of the tourney came when Whitehall took three extra minutes to defeat Havre in a thrilling battle this morning. Another record was hung up in the afternoon when Custer garnered 65 points to Corbon's 12.

The semi-finals in the morning promise great battles. Butte Central meets the smooth playing Ronan quint in a game that is hoped to go to the Chiefs. The winner will play the winner of the Anaconda-Custer game for the state title. Most of the dope floating around today placed Ronan and Custer in the final game but wouldn't go as far as to big the champion.

The Ronan outfit with Roullier, forward, and Clairmont center, have been showing the cleanest and smoothest playing of any team in the tournament. The Chief's can certainly shoot and have had some tough teams to show their skill on. Clairmont has not been out-jumped during their two games and makes a strong bid for all-state honors. They are smoother players that the Custer team but then the latter have not struck the hard teams that would make them extend themselves.

Custer run up the highest score of the tournament when they defeated Carbon county 65-12. Larimer was high point man with 22. Bolsplug and Smith each scored 12 points. The Custer team looks like the best team in the tournament. Tobin is probably the outstanding guard of the tournament. Carbon fought hard but were

Curly Leary Scores Games

W. J. Leary, "Curly" Leary, is again the scorer for the interscholastic tournament. Since the tournament was staged in the new gym for the first time in 1923, "Curly" Leary has scored the games.

When the gym was formally dedicated in 1923, Leary was manager of the basketball team. The Bobcats first game in the gym was played against Denver. The following week the basketball tournament opened and since that time "Curly" has always been present to fill the duties of official scorer.

Each year finds new teams and new stars in the making. Few can remember them all of those who become heroes for a day but Leary can name all the winners of the Bobcat award and all the championship teams. According to "Curly" the first tournament was the best. Miles City took that year while Missoula second. That year Kelley, Sweet, Babcock, and McHaifle, now famous athletes played. The 1928 tournament in Butte ranks next to the 1923 contest. That was the time Butte High and Butte Central, not considered winners, fought their way to the finals and staged one of the greatest games in the history of the tournament. Butte High came out the winner which made her four times the state champion. The 1929 tournament ranks well. When the final gun is sounded Curly's records will determine the winner. And as to his decision there will be no doubt.

Band to Take Annual Tour

Montana State's Band Now Numbers Fifty-four Members. Many New Men Playing. Will Show New Features During Utah U Series

Starting with ten men, 23 years ago, Lou Howard has now built up a band which, for the size of M. S. C., has the reputation of being one of the best in the country. This is due to the intense personal interest of its leader, and to "the increasing amount of promising material from high schools", which, Lou states, "will make for a wonderful band in the future." Sixty men are what now compose the largest and best-balanced band in the history of the school. Of these, 45 are freshmen, nearly all of whom are from high school bands. Twenty-four clarinets are played, as well as eight trumpets, two flutes, six French horns, eight slide-trumpets, two tenors, two baritone, five bases, and three drums. New and outstanding additions to the band will be shown to fans at the Utah U. games this week, it is said.

This year the 19th annual state tour of the band will start the first week in April. Two entire railway cars have been chartered for the members of the band, one being a Pullman, the other a baggage car. During this time they will play in the high school of Choteau, Conrad, Shelby, Libby, and also in various other cities. While stopping at these places the members of the band will be entertained by civic clubs and other organizations. Accompanying the band will be Ray Bowden, who will tell senior students in the high schools visited all about the work and opportunities in the branches of the Greater University of Montana. So far this year the band has made two trips, accompanying the football team to Butte and Billings. Next year trips are contemplated to Butte, Great Falls, and Sheridan, Wyoming.

One does not have to go to Gobi Desert to hunt fossils although for strictly fresh (95,000,000 year old) Dinosaur eggs it may be the only source of supply.

Roy Chapman Andrews mentioned fossil beds in Montana. Several of these are within easy reach of Bozeman. Closest are the Crinoids, plant like marine animals, found in the rocks on the top of Mount Baldy. In the Horse Shoe Hills, north of Manhattan, is a Tribolite deposit where primitive aquatic crustacea are preserved in a shale cliff in an abundance that at one time represented a thick soupy mixture of these elaborated forms.

In the hills south of Logan are fossil fish deposits in a sandstone outcropping, formerly in bed of Old Bozeman Lake. On the surrounding hills is an abundance of petrified wood, some of the most beautiful shades of Jade, amber, and Chalcedony. Here too are found occasional fragments of prehistoric monsters.

Perhaps the best collection of fossils in this region, if not in Montana, is that on display in the studio of Mr. Kindsey at Belgrade. In addition to fossils, Mr. Kindsey has a valuable collection of Indian relics both primitive and modern, which are of archaeological interest.

Perhaps our legislators at Helena who read the New York newspapers will get a new slant on the duties of a state college president after reading one editor's summary of their manifold duties. We know that President Clapp and Atkinson and Chancellor Brannon will have a chuckle, and possibly a hearty "Amen," for the following: "All that a modern state university president has to do," says the writer, "is to produce, every few months, a learned paper to dazzle the countryside, manage the intricate machinery of his several million dollar corporation, keep his army of temperamental, absent-minded underpaid professors cheerful and alert, understand what the university's archaeological expedition is doing in southeastern Abyssinia and raise money for it, deliver occasional uplifting chapel talks to the student body, attend the ball games, lunch with the rich alumni, whi might give new dormitories or laboratories in honor of their favorite maiden aunts, entertain the visiting English lecturers (and arrange for the deans to entertain the Americans), keep in touch with the members of the state Legislatures, who are making up the budget fo rnext year, and with the bright new Assemblymen who hope to make the headlines by denouncing frills in education, and lecture occasionally to the Norfolk County Sheesemakers Co-operative Association, the Suffolk County Grain Exchange, the Wessex Central Trades and Labor Council and the Essex W. C. T. U., as well as the State Chamber of Commerce, the Steuben Society and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, pointing out to each and all how the university serves every citizen of the state and notably assist them in their particular tasks and problems."—Butte Post.

A Spanish teacher at the University of Utah certainly has the interest of his class at heart. They were translating a novel sometime ago and the Prof. found a page that was immoral. He asked the students to refrain from reading the page. They all read it and the next day the instructor called each up to his desk and "heroically tore the offending page from their books."

Few people realize how difficult it is for the newer states to adequately finance their educational institutions in a manner sufficient to care for their growing needs. Demands due to increase in the student body and an expanding curriculum require an almost continuous building policy. In spite of al these difficulties Montana State College has made much progress in the past 36 years, both in faculty and physical equipment, and is an institution of which we should all be proud.

The bill creating the institution was signed February 16, 1893. On the 17th of March the site was selected and Dean Hamilton, at that time a member of the State Board of Education, participated in the selection. The original gift was a tract of land owned by Nelson Story, Sr., lying between Eighth and Eleventh avenues and south of Cleveland street. To this was added the 160 acres west of Eleventh avenue which was originally the County Poor Farm. On this tract were several barns and an old log building which the College used for institutional purposes until just a few years ago. It was located about where the present Stock Judging Pavilion is.

In the fall of the same year school was opened in an old frame building known as the Presbyterian Academy, located on Main street near the site of the present Catholic Church.

The first building erected on the campus was the building now used for Extension Division offices at a cost of $15,000 or $16,000. This building housed and cared for the Experiment Station. It was built from Federal funds in the summer of 1894.

In 1895 the Legislature voted to sell bonds to the extent of $100,000 which were secured by 140,000 acres of school lands. It was from this money that Montana Hall and the old chemistry building, which burned down a few years ago, were built. The former chemistry building was located just about half way between Montana Hall and Lewis Hall facing north. Out of this money was also built, for veterinary purposes, the old stone building now used by the Secretarial department.

In 1904 Dean Hamilton, who was professor of English at Missoula, was made president following Dr. Reed. President Hamilton at once saw the need of a gymnasium and the following year an old drill hall that had been without floor or ceiling was converted into a pretty fair gymnasium and was used for gymnasium purposes until it became necessary to move it away in order to make room for Lewis Hall. It is now the Stock judging pavilion.

In 1907 the Legislature appropriated $80,000 for an agricultural building which is the present one. In 1909 they appropriated $50,000 for building and furnishing Hamilton Hall. Of this $45,000 was used for the building and $5,000 for furnishing. The present steam laboratory and mathematics building were built in 1913 at a total cost of $7,000 from brick made at the State Prison. In 1917, $125,000 was appropriated for a building and it was generally understood that it would be an engineering building, but the burning of the old chemistry building made it necessary to use this money for a new chemistry building which was left in its present unfinished state on account of the lack of funds. Previous to 1917 there had no comprehensive campus plans and things just seemed to grow in the direction of least resistance. One of the first things undertaken by Chancellor Elliot, who came to Montana in 1916, was to retain Mr. Carsle* of Helena, and Cass Gilbert of New York, for the purpose of making a complete campus layout for both the State College and the State University. These plans have been quite consistently followed in locating all building erected since then. During the fall of the same year, at a cost of $20,000 each, temporary Baracks were built to serve the Student Army Training Corps.

After the war Dr. Elliot made the need of buildings at the educational institutions his first concern and at once set about initiating a bond issue of $5,000,000 which was voted in 1919. Of this, Bozeman received $1,455,000 and plans were immediately gotten under way for the erection of adequate buildings. In the Senate Chamber at Helena one forenoon in the spring of 1922, contracts totaling more than $2,000,000 were let. In this was included for the College, an engineering building, biology building, gymnasium, heating plant and shops, together with an equal amount at Missoula. All these buildings were of fireproof construction and planned to conform to a general harmony in design as recommended by Mr. Gilbert.

The engineerin* building and shops were designed by Fred E. Willson, Architect, and were built at a cost of $310,000. To the great surprise of everyone, considerable difficulty was experienced with the footings. Water and quicksand were encountered at four feet below the surface and before the excavations were completed two horses were drowned. It was necessary to carry the footings twelve feet below in order to obtain suitable bearing. Lewis Hall and the gymnasium were both planned by George H. Shanley, Architect, Great Falls, and were built at a cost of $225,000 each. The heating plant was designed by Charles L. Pillsbury Company, Heating Engineers of Minneapolis. It is a model of efficiency and there has been very little increase in heating costs over the old heating plants though the area heated has more than doubled.

After completing this much of the building program it became necessary to take definite steps towards landscaping the campus in conformity with the new plan. This necessitated destroying a great many trees, tearing up old roads and building new ones, installing water pipes for irrigation and many other things of considerable expense.

In 1926 plans were made in the Department of Architecture for a woman's building and Herrick Hall was completed that year at a cost of $120,000. Montana Hall which had been a thing fearfully and wonderfully built, having two basements below that occupied by the Physics department and a ventilating system apparently especially designed to increase the fire hazard, was remodelled at the same time at a cost of $40,000. It, together with the old chemistry building were originally heated by 14 Pec-Williamson hot air furnaces installed in the lower of the three basements.

With this outlay on new buildings, it seemed we would be in pretty fair shape for a while but increase in attendance and expanding activities as is usual in most new states increased at such a rate that at the present time there is still a shortage of room. ed. It is still necessary for us to use old wood shops for service shops and foundry. They should be torn down and adequate service quarters built in conformity with the campus plan. The library facilities at the institution should be made adequate by the erection of a building for library purposes. The Home Economics department is also in need of a Home Management house. At present it is necessary to rent private houses for this purpose. The athletic field which is to be located directly back of the gymnasium requires considerable grading, planting, watering and draining for which there are no funds available. It is a tremendous expense to provide and maintain all the facilities necessary for a growing institution. The engineering shops are over crowded. The State has been as liberal with us as they could afford to be but like all growing states and institutions, the demand upon our resources are not likely to grow lighter for sometime.

It encourages the athletes to victory. Besides playing at college games the band will give a number of other services such as furnishing all the music for the high school basketball pen air concert this spring.

In the past the band has played for sessions of the State legislature, at military meetings, and at other State gatherings. Fred Homan, of the College faculty, and Charles Fisher, resident of the Owenhouse Hardware company, are two of the charter members of the band who are at present living in Bozeman.

The military department of M. S. C. includes the band. Students who play are exempt from one year of military drill, but they take part in the procession of the R. O. T. C. and play during military field day in the spring.

The band constitutes one of the greatest pep organizations on the hill. It not only gives pep to the students but it encourages the athletes to victory. During pep assemblies and parades, the band takes an active part. Being concert-players as well as band-men all the music for the annual high school basketball tournament is furnished by the band. At the beginning of the tournament the band gave a concert and since that time has played between halves at all the games.

FANGS INITIATE NINETEEN MEN

The Fang chapter of Intercollegiate Knights initiated 19 pledges Saturday, March 2. Due to the fact that the Utah University game was played that night, the Annual Fang banquet and formal initiation was held on the following Monday evening. The following men were knighted from the respective fraternities: Alpha Gamma Rho—Gillette and Peterson; Amigo—Funk; Beta Epsilon—Graham and Decker; Delta Tau—Stahl and Flynn; Kappa Sigma—Tice and Slatery; Independent—Gates, Guidinger, and Hulbert; Omega Beta—Howe and Blanning; Pi Kappa Alpha—Carl Wahl and Erickila; Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Alams; Sigma Chi, Loftus and Cowen. On account of illness, Laist, a Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledge and Buckley, an Amigo pledge could not attend the initiation. They will be put through at a later date.

The banquet was held at Gilkerson's banquet room, and was "pleasantly enjoyed. Unfortunately, Mr. Lew Howard could not fill his usual place as toastmaster because of band duties.

However, Harold Griener, Duke of the Fangs, took charge of the program in an admirable way. The first speaker was Bernard Brown, former Duke, who emphasized the possibilities of the chapter's future. Dean Hamilton then favored the group with a message on "The Opportunities of Youth". The formal knighting followed these talks.

With these new members broadening the extent of its service, the local Chapter is cooperating with the Spurs in the task of serving the various teams here for the High School Tournament.

SERVICE CLUBS HOLD MEETING

The Fangs and Spurs held a joint meeting in the Lecture room of Herrick Hall, Tuesday at five o'clock.

"The purpose of these meetings, which we plan to hold once a quarter," said Harold Griener, Duke of the Fangs, "is first, to establish better co-operation between the Spurs and the Fangs; second, we hope to get better acquainted with each other's aims and ideals."

Dorothy Garrett, president of Spurs, acted as chairman for the meeting. Vera Ann O'Neil was elected as scribe to keep the records of the joint activities of the two service groups.

Plans were discussed and committees appointed for the Fang-Spur dance to be held the first of next quarter.

School spirit and pep was discussed at some length. Jake Wentworth summed up the opinions of the groups by saying, "Pep and school spirit are spontaneous things. They have to be fostered and developed. It is the purpose and aim of the Fangs and Spurs to help develop school spirit when possible."

Dean Herrick gave a short talk on the ideals of service which she hopes the Fangs and Spurs are aiming at.

After a few tournament announcements the Spurs invited the Fangs to the fireplace room for a social time and refreshments. The hour closed with the singing of school songs.

Oxford plan, whereby no decisions are given.

The Forensic program will be brought to a close with the semi-temporary contest in competition with Missoula. The contest is to take place in Bozeman May 13. Three students will represent Montana State and three from the University of Montana, speaking on some phase of the foreign relations question.

Following a canvass regarding talking movies it has developed that the majority of the students and faculty of Colorado U. favor the "Talkies", but also prefer the theatre orchestras to the synchronized music as played by a special orchestra with the making of the picture.

STUDENTS TO SELECT EDITOR OF YEARBOOK

Nominations for the editor of the 1930 Montanan will be made at a special assembly to be held at the gymnasium March 11, at 4 o'clock. Election will probably be held at the end of the week.

It is necessary that the future editor be elected before the close of the present quarter. Since Montana State Colleges do not have a journalistic department the students body at large elects an editor from the candidates who express themselves as desirous of undertaking the position. All candidates and nominees must be passed on by the committee on publications consisting of Bob Tootell, John Dexter, Bernard Brown, Bill McCall, and Frank Heikkila.

The Montanan is the summary of the events of the entire school year. It contains everything that a collegian should remember about his college days—the football games and the basketball victories of the Bobcats, the social events of the year, the dramatic productions put on by the talent of M. S. C., the sororities, and fraternities, the organizations, the humorous section, and the pictures of the Juniors and Seniors. In short—the Montanan is the summary of college life and activities.

Every year the Montanan is increasing in size and in number. New attractions and feature sections are constantly being added. The number of publications for the 1928 annual was 1,000, but this year it has increased to 1505. If the college continues to grow as it has in the past past few years the Montanan will soon be as large as any college year book in the West.

Last year the Montanan received the distinction of being awarded first class Honor rating by the National Scholastic Press Association. From all indications of the splendid work on the 1929 year book, it is evident that the Montanan will again receive rating as a first class annual.

is also offered which enables men to coach college teams.

Beginning in the fall of 1920 with completion of the gym, Physical Education has steadily advanced until it is one of the most popular courses offered at the college. Before the gym was built the department had very poor facilities with which to work but now is housed in one of the finest athletic buildings of the Northwest.

Probably one of the outstanding products of the Physical Education department is the Bobcat basketball team. With hardly an exception, each member of this team is enrolled in the physical education department. It is also true that the stars of Montana State athletics are, also, usually studying physical education.

Graduates of this department have been very successful. Val Glynn plays professional baseball with the San Francisco Seals. "Rip" Wilson is principal of the county high school at White Sulphur Springs, Montana. Hugh Cottom, who graduated in 1928 is coaching at Havre and has brought a team to the present state tournament. A number of graduates are serving as playground directors and

Bobcats Have Three of the Nation's Best Basketball Men

FAMOUS PLAYERS WITH BOBCATS

Ward, Thompson, and Breeden Are Rated Among the Best in the United States

Assistant guards in the Nation. His ability in breaking up opponents plays seems almost uncanny to his admirers. "Brick" graduates this year and his absence will leave a gap almost impossible to fill.

O. Ward—Orland has been first choice for playing the other forward berth this year. His ability to score from all angles and his adaptability to playing with Thompson and his brother, Frank, has won him the position as one of the most valuable players on the team.

Worthington—Max Worthington the star guard from Billings and winner of the Bobcat award in 1927 is usually in the lineup for the other guard position. Worthington's ability to score in connection with his super-defensive work makes him a candidate for all-conference honors.

McFarland—Peck McFarland with his fast and shifty playing and his accuracy for the basket has earned him a prominent place on the Bobcat squad. It is about an even break who plays the other forward opposite Thompson, Orland Ward or McFarland, and Peck always makes a creditable showing when he gets in play.

Gardner—Ott Gardner playing his last year of college athletics has been an outstanding athlete for M. S. C. for the last four years. Gardner is giving Worthington a real fight for a guard position and he plays equally well at either guard or forward.

Buzzetti—Buzzetti who is playing his first year of college basketball is a fast and accurate forward or center. While he has not seen so much action this year, his knack of hanging up goals is sure to be an asset to future Bobcat teams.

Browning—"Red" Browning, the smallest man on the squad makes up for his size by his fighting Bobcat spirit. Browning is a hard guard to get around and his fast scrappy ways makes him a dangerous opponent to face.

Saddler—Harold Saddler, reserve forward, is developing into a player that makes any of them step to keep up with him. Saddler is a regular flash on the basketball court and with a little experience he will make himself known in college basketball circles.

McElliott—Don McElliott, sophomore, was annexed to the squad due to his class of play. McElliott has not gotten in many of the scrimmages this year but his eye for the basket should make him a strong contender for the squad next season.

Homme—The only Freshman on the squad was taken on the team after his showing in the intra-mural series.

Homme saw a few minutes of play in a couple of the latter games and he looks very promising for a first year man.

The game was fast and Fergus had the ball practically more than half of the time. Anaconda won the game with a pair of luck baskets in the final quarter which gave them a lead that they were able to hold. Anaconda lead 12 to 3 at the end of the first quarter. The first half ended the score was 16-12 in favor of Anaconda. Fergus held Anaconda scores the third quarter while the tied the score at 16-16. GOLDEN TORNADO IS OUTSTANDING

Bobcats Defeat the Best in the Nation Including A. A. U. Champs and Pacific Coast Teams

The "wonder" Bobcat basketball team has again fought its way to the championship of the Western Division of the Rocky Mountain conference. If they succeed in taking the Eastern Division victors into camp they will have won the trophy as Conference winners for the third consecutive time.

The famous team have gone even better than they did the last two years and are nearing the close of the most successful season of their collegiate playing.

The Bobcats have played nearly 30 games during the season, winning by far the majority of the contests.

They have won from not only R. M. C. teams but from some of the best teams of the country. During the start of the season they made a barnstorming trip on which they met Whitman College of Walla Walla, Washington, Idaho U., Moscow, Idaho, and Washington State at Pullman, Washington.

January 10, 11, and 12, the Bobcats tangled with the Cook Painters, National A. A. U. champions, rated one of the greatest aggregations in the United States. The Painters won the first game by a close score but the Bobcats took the second by quite a decided margin. Both games being in Bozeman. The third and last game of the series, the Bobcat trio, Ward, Breeden and Thompson clearly outclassed the all-American outfit.

In the Western Division the Bobcats have played four games each with three Utah teams, Utah U., B. Y. U., and Utah Aggs. In the 12 games they have dropped only one, that being to U. A. C. in a very evenly contested battle.

downed 26-20 by Sweet Grass. This eliminated Wolf Point and gave Sweet Grass the right to continue for fifth and eighth place in the final standings. Wolf Point took the lead and held it until just before the end of the second quarter when Sweet Grass tied it at 10 and then jumped into the lead just before the gun to hold a 12-10 advantage.

Starting the second half Wolf Point tied it at 12 but the Sweet Grass boys gradually pulled away and at the third period they lead 20-14. The final period was fast and both teams struggled fiercely for the ball but neither could gain an advantage and both scored 6 points to bring the final to 26-20 for Sweet Grass.

Whitefish 40; St. Charles 16
Whitefish eliminated St. Charles 40-16 to open the afternoon session of games. The game was fast and at times rough. Whitefish showed a marked improvement over their morning's game with Central and were shooting from all angles on the floor with more than the ordinary amount of success. Whitefish opened but was soon tied when Wilham garnered five points to give the Saints the lead 7-6 at the end of the quarter. Whitefish took the lead in the second stanza with a swift attack that swept the Saints defense off their feet and the score stood 20-8 at the half.

Whitefish continued to increase their lead and displayed the best passing of any team so far in the tourney. Their passing and shooting were well above par. The third quarter ended 31-10. Continuing their spree they ended with a 40-16 lead.

Custer 52; Whitehall 3
Whitehall proved to be no match for the strong Custer County team and were downed 52-3. Custer took the lead and were never headed or pushed at any time. Custer was the best team that has been seen on the floor so far and showed the best team work as well as the best floor work of any of the sixteen teams that have now finished their first rounds. The quarter ended with Custer leading 10-2. The game was all too one-sided to be interesting and the half ended 25-2. Continuing the attack the Custer boys went on to count with great regularity and by the end of the third quarter they lead 37-3. The fourth period saw them adding 15 more points to bring their total to 52 while Whitehall was held to three points.

Ronan 39; Manhattan 18
Manhattan proved to be no opponent of the powerful Ronan team and they were easily taken 39-18. The game was fast throughout and the passing of both teams was clever. The ability of Ronan to break and shoot proved the undoing of the Manhattan team more than once.

Ronan took the lead and held a 10-4 advantage at the quarter. The second quarter was another fast period with Ronan having a decided advantage but being unable to connect as well as usual. Ronan lead 16-6.

The third period was all Ronan's with the passing and scoring all in their favor. The final period saw Manhattan put on a scoring spree that was short lived but netted them 7 points. The game ended Ronan 39, Manhattan 18.

The opening game of the morning session was taken by Whitehall 20-16, after a hard fought contest that had to be carried into an overtime period to decide the winner.

Whitehall took the lead and at the quarter they were leading 8-2. The teams fought with the terms about even and long shots were all that either team was able to get. Havre connected for the only score of the period which ended 8-4 in Whitehall's favor.

Coming back in the third period Havre swept Whitehall off their feet and took the lead 13-9. Havre lead 16-11 with five minutes to go and then Manlove diminutive Whitehall captain, broke through with two field goals and a free throw to tie it up at 16.
