Bouffons Give Annual Formal This Week End

Social Lions to Present Prizes to Those Guessing New Pledges

"The fellow who names the new pledges of Les Bouffons receives a free ticket," is the announcement of Norman Hamill, Les Bouffons president. Hamill also said that girl correctly choosing the candidates would be presented with a box of chocolates.

Ballots may be left this week in Main Hall and the entire student body is eligible to participate. Winners will be announced at the dance, at which time the lucky gentleman will receive the price of his ticket and the lady will be presented with the best box of candy in Bozeman.

Preparations Near Completion

Preparations are practically complete for the premier social event of the year. One of Bozeman's snappiest dance bands has been engaged for the occasion and everything is in readiness for the climax of a successful season of organization and fraternity dances. The dance will be held at the Baxter hotel, Saturday evening, April 8. Dancing will commence at 8:30.

Founded in 1900 for the purpose of promoting good fellowship by active participation in social affairs, Les Bouffons is one of the oldest organizations on the campus. The name, Les Bouffons, meaning jesters or merry-makers, was adopted when the organization was first founded. The membership has been reduced to ten active upperclassmen of proved character, social qualities, and wide popularity.

Ten To Be Selected

Each year during the formal party the list of pledges is announced. Ten members of the junior class are chosen on their merits and presented to the party guests and formally pledged.

During the latter part of the spring quarter the new Bouffons entertain the school with a program of vaudeville stunts in the library. These acts are performed from the top of the library tables and cause much amusement for the students and faculty members.

Wishbone Essential

Shortly after pledging, the new neophytes must obtain the wishbone from a wild duck, and the phrase "I wish to become a Les Bouffon," is heard frequently. Sometime in May, the mock initiation is held, and barrels and Ghandi costumes are in order. It is necessary for the aspirants to sing, adn they sometimes practice for days in order to give a good interpretation on top of library tables.

Present members include Norman Hamill, James Gannaway, Wallace Wendt, Sax Martin, Frank Dyer, Everett Peterson, Bobby Long, Bob O'Brien, Ray Buzzetti and Herbert Archibald.

Second place was won by Byron Wilkinson, and third by Lewis Rexon. These men will receive from the commandant medals for their accomplishment. This is the first time this type of contest has been held by the Bobcat battalion, and has brought forth much enthusiasm in the "Frosh Army" enthusiasts.

It was recently announced in the military department that Major Walter H. Root of Fort Missoula will be here for the annual tactical inspection May 11 and 12. The annual administrative inspection will be made by Colonel Pillow of the 9th Corps Area on May 18 and 19.

Intensive drill has filled the schedule in the military department during the past week. Diagrams have been made on the floors showing the exact squad movements to enable the men

FIVE RECEIVE DEGREES AT END OF QUARTER

Sixteen New Students Enroll at Beginning of Spring Quarter Registration Drops

Five students completed work for bachelor degrees at the completion of the spring quarter. They were: Joe Mullin, Whitefish, Chem. Eng.; Robert Long, Anaconda, M. E.; Robert Rousch, Hardin, animal husbandry; Clarence Popham, Victor, Ag. Ed., and one candidate for a master's degree, Sami Wafa Dajoni, Jerusalem, Palestine, was also successful. His degree was in chemistry.

To compensate for those graduating 16 new students are registered at Montana State college for the spring term. The total registration for this quarter as compared to the winter quarter has fallen slightly, although it is expected that late registration will advance this total to a more equal basis. At present there are 865 students enrolled as compared with 908 at the end of the winter quarter.

HIKING SEASON OPENS FOR COLLEGE WOMEN

Coeds to Travel Miles In Quest of Points for Bobcat Sweaters

Montana State college girl hikers, with grub packs on their backs will hit the trail for Bozeman Hot Springs Saturday, April 8. Spring is here and the irresistible lure of the blue skies and the open road beckons the coeds.

Interesting tales of adventurous hikes, especially the one on which 52 girls climbed Mount Baldy, are often told by hiking veteras.

This year Edith G. Johnson has been chosen hiking manager. The program which has been worked out is as follows: Bozeman Hot Springs, April 8; Bridger canyon, May 13 and Lone Mount Ellis, May 30. Bobcat points will be offered, with a small hiking charm for five hikes. Six points will be given for thre hikes and ten for four hikes.

On account of limitations in transportation facilities, anyone wishing to participate in any hike should sign ahead of time either in Main Hall or in the Women's gym. This same situation makes it esential that all who sign for a hike report for it. Part of the transportation will be furnished without charge to W. A. A. members, while non-members will be charged a nominal fee. Ten cents will be the charge for W. A. A. members and 25 cents for non-members for the last three hikes.

Band Returns From Big Tour During Vacation

Lou Howard Believes Trip Most Successful Made During 23 Years Experience

"The annual band trip was by far the most successful tour ever made," stated Director Lou Howard, upon his return to Bozeman Wednesday. The tour this year was in the northwestern part of the state with other concerts at Great Falls and Helena.

"We were highly complimented to have in our audience so many adults, may of whom are parents of past, present or future M. S. C. students, and who were very much interested in our organization," said Mr. Howard.

First on the concert program was Cascade, Mont. School was dismissed for the occasion and most of the business houses closed for the concert. A record turnout was present, over 600 being in attendance.

Saturday morning in Great Falls, the high school and the Bobcat bands practiced for a joint program which was played Saturday evening in the new auditorium before an audience of 1600.

The band arrived in Conrad Sunday morning and rehearsed with the high school band. A matinee concert was played that afternoon to a capacity house.

Max Worthington, athletic director at Shelby, met the band at Conrad with several cars to take the group to Shelby for an evening concert. A small charge was made for the Shelby concert and the large receipts made it possible for the high school to purchase a flute and bass horn for its band.

The band arrived at Whitefish Monday noon. From Whitefish the bandmen autoed to Kalispell where a matinee concert was given to an audience of 700 people. After rehearsing with the Kalispell high school band, M. S. C. alumni in the city and the domestic science department of the high school served an excellent banquet to the band. Mr. and Mrs. "Rip" Wilson, Vera Ann O'Neil and Florence Johnson asssited in this banquet.

After the dinner, short speeches were made by Bob Patton, Louis True, Mr. Wilson and several Kalispell citizens. A duet was sung by Harold Slater and William Squires. In the evening the band played a concert to the largest audience ever assembled in the auditorium of the Presbyterian church.

Tuesday, a joint matinee concert was played by the Whitefish high school and the M. S. C. band. One of the high lights of the concert at Whitefish was a musical duet by Louis True and Thoralf Rivenes.

A concert was played Wednesday afternoon at the Helena high school. Later that day, the boys met Governor Cooney and Chancellor Brannon.

Barker Shown To Lewistown Group

College Play Taken to Montana Town for Elks' Charity Drive There

"The Barker," Keyon Nicholson's drama of carnival life which was presented last fall quarter to the college students, was successfully revived during the recent vacation when the original cast and director presented the show for two performaces in Lewistown March 24 at the Judith theater. The production was sponsored by the Lewistown order of Elks.

A matinee performance was given before the school children of Lewistown and the evening show played before a packed house of Lewistown townspeople. Both showing were highly appreciated by the audiences. Concerning the show the Lewistown Democrat-News said, "Congratulations go to the Lewistown Elks for providing the town with such a splendid entertainment; to the players for their intelligent and consistently effective work, and to Mr. Bert Hansen for turning out such a finished company—a credit to his department and to the State college."

Those who made the trip to Lewistown were: Director Bert Hansen, Ray Van Fleet, Lora Brown, Bob Smithers, Katherine Duncan, Joe Steiner, George Hoffman, Arlo Keene, Lilliam Willcomb, Gwen Bowler, Jacob Bauer, Dan Maxey and Carleton Dale as the cast for the show. Glen Muchow, Rachel Egbert, Leonard Deloughery, Gilbert Gillette and Marjorie Little made up the stage crew.

After the performance Friday evening the students working with "The Barker" were guests of the Elks' band at a dance. This band also furnished music between the acts of the show.

The company made the trip to Lewistown by automobile, leaving Bozeman Thursday morning, March 23, and returning Saturday. The scenery for the produpction was also transported by car.

H. & I. A. College Holds Open House

Five Hundred People Attend Show Presented By Various Departments

Five hundred people attended the open house held March 14 by the art, home economics and secretarial departments which comprise the college of household and industrial arts at Montana State college.

Exhibits and demonstrations were in progress throughout the evening and a style show was staged at 8:15 and 9:15 in the fireplace room and adjoining corridors. Students were at work in the art department doing block printing, oil painting lettering, soap carving and clay modeling. There were unusually attractive displays of beautiful textiles from many foreign countries on exhibition in the clothing laboratories, in addition to many new and old costumes. Scones were prepared and baked throughout the evening in the foods laboratory and were seved in the adjoining dining room.

Research Equipment

Interesting equipment in the home economics research laboratory, directed by Dr. Jessie Richardson, was demonstrated by graduate students in home economics. Much interest was displayed in the 200 experimental animals (rats and guinea pigs) which were to be seen in the basement of Herrick Hall.

Large quantity cooking was demonstrated by the girls, cookery class. Rolls were made and sold to visitors at a nominal cost. The home management house was also open to visitors.

Secretarial students carried on some very interesting activities typical of the work in their courses. Many types of machines used in modern offices were demonstrated and the typewriting class put on a novel exhibition of typing to music.

Miss Branegan in Charge

Those in charge were Dr. Gladys Branegan, dean of the college of household and industrial arts; Mrs. Olga Ross Hannon, of the art department, and Miss Jessie Connell of the secretarial department.

Juniors in Miss Edith Rhyne's clothing class were responsible for the style show. Attractive programs were provided for the visitors.

AG CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

New Ag club officers were elected for the ensuing year at a meeting held March 23, Dick Peck gained the office of president after a spirited contest with Bill Vance, who was later elected vice president of the group. Howard Lord was elected treasurer and Ted Hedricks was elected secretary.

These men are expected to make the group more active and prominent than ever before. Plans are already under way for assisting in making this year's livestock convetion, to be held in Bozeman the last of May, the best that has ever been held. In connection with this convention, the boys will present their annual "Little International" which because of the numerous prizes being offered should be a great success. Over 50 boys are already working on the animals they will exhibit at the show.

The Ag club will also assist in the serving of the big barbecue which will be held on the grounds in front of the agricultural building during the convention.

Select Yearbook Editor Tomorrow

All Four Candidates to Be Revoted on Due to Election Difficulties

Since the student editorial election Tuesday, March 14, when none of the aspirants to the editorship of the 1933 Montanan received a vote large enough to determine him elected campus interest in the four-way race has increased. Ben Law was elected editor of the Exponent at this election.

The board of publications has announced that a second election will be held between the hours of 8 and 5 tomorrow in Main Hall to elect a Montanan editor. If then no candidate is given a majority, the one with the least number of votes will be eliminated and a third contest held among the three remaining. If necessary, the process will be repeated again until one candidate has received a definite majority.

Results of the March 14 election gave William Schenk 136 votes, Nick Bielenberg 137, Stuart Challendar 152, and Lou Gudgel, 164. The reason for holding the election over it that in the recount of the votes there were more votes in the ballot box the second night than were in when the votes were first counted.

These four candidates include the most experienced men on the Montanan staffs of the last two years. Stuart Challendar holding the position of panels editor, has done most of the picture mounting for the 1932 and 1933 books. William Schenk, as sports and organization editor this year has had a large part in organizing an annual which is going to be unique for this school.

Lou Gudgel is agricultural editor and is also yell king. Gudgel has been active in student affairs winning the watch at the Little international last year and being adjudged the outstanding ag student this year. Nick Beilenberg is assistant art editor working under Stubby Lane. He has been a participant in swimming other curricular activities.

Idahoans Take Forensic Meet Held At M.S.C.

State University Wins Second Place in Pi Kappa Delta Convention Contests

College of Idaho won the Northwestern province forensic tournament held at Montana State college last week-end by placing first in men's debate, men's oratory, and women's extemporaeous speaking.

Gerald Wallace and Erwin Schwiebert of the Idaho school, won victories in all five debates while Eunice Ewen and Gwen Caser secured similar laurels in the co-ed contests.

M. S. C. Debaters Win 3

That Montana State college can vie with the best of them in forensic fields was evidenced in the performance of the local debators. Sam Eagle and Ben Law won victories over Montana State university, Montana School of Mines, and Intermountain Union college. The team emerged in second place. Arguing in a similar fashion, Mary Lowney and Rachel Egbert had little trouble in upsetting Linfield college, Intermountain Union, and the Montana school of Mines in the feminine contests. A three way tie for third place in men's debate remains between Montana university, Linfield college, and the School of Mines. The women debaters who were awarded third place in a similar manner represented Intermountain Union, Linfield and Montana University.

Eunice Ewer, College of Idaho, won the women's extemporaneous speaking contest with Marie Thomas, Intermountain Union, and Marguerite Roscoe, Montana State college, in second and third places.

Coed Winners

Feminine orators were headed by Marie Wilkinson, Intermountain Union, followed by Dorothy Fetterly, Montana Montana University, and Florence Mace, of Linfield college.

Outstanding in the men's extemporary was Edward Alexander of Montana State university, but he was hard pressed by Delmar Leeson of Intermountain Union, and Robert Frerichs of Linfield.

In the oratorical contest for men Gerald Wallace of the College of Idaho received first honors. Donald Greeling, Montana State university, was second. A tie for third place was awarded to William Sweeney of Mon-

PRESIDENT OUTLINES ALUMNI LOAN PLANS

Senate Refuses to Approve or Disapprove Proposition For Students

President Alfred Atkinson discussed before the student senate Thursday, the advisability of students joining the alumni association while still members of the college.

It was pointed out in this meeting that it would be possible for students to become members of the alumni association upon payment of $15. This would be paid by taking the deposits of the freshmen, sophomore and junior students after the breakage charges at the end of the year had been deducted.

President Atkinson explained the advisability of having a strong alumni association. It would be possible to put out a strong alumni journal to keep alumni informed of conditions and activities of the school. It would also help to provide jobs for those who leave from this institution.

Following President Atkinson's speech, the student senate informally discussed the matter, and it was decided to hold a meeting Monday.

At the meeting yesterday it was decided to submit the proposition to the students for their approval or disapproval at an election to be held the 12th. This election is to be by secret ballot following the Australian ballot system.

At an assembly Thursday Judge Berg of Livingston will explain the proposition to the students. At this time a motion will be made by one of the senate members to submit the measure to the students.

FRATERNITY AND SORORITY TAXES

Students attending state institutions are getting the worst of the deal when it comes to paying taxes. Every student in school has parents who pay taxes, and then the students must pay taxes to live in fraternity and sorority houses. In this way parents of students must pay twice.

At most institutions dormitories are provided for the students, but at M. S. C. there is no dormity for the men and only one for the women which won't even hold all the freshmen girls. Consequently, they have to room in town. And the best place to go is to a fraternity or sorority house. Those who don't go to frat houses have to go to private homes where this tax burden is charged in the form of rent.

What this school needs are dormitories or else fraternity and sorority tax exemptions. There is no need of penalizing parents for sending their children to school. As it is now, fraternity and sororities payed $3175.00 for taxes last year. If taxes were eliminated on fraternities and sororities, it would only mean an increase in state taxes of a minute fraction of a mill—a mere drop in the tax bucket.

For those who are interested in the amounts of taxes the county treasurer gave the following statistics on the taxes paid by the social groups. Sigma Chi $303.52, Omega Beta $228.76, Pi Kappa Alpha $239.30, A. G. R. $242.37, Kappa Sigma $357.27, S. A. E. $726.79, L. C. A. $131.81, Alpha Gamma Delta $94.75, A. O. Pi $144.86, Pi Beta Phi $312.61, K. D. $193.00. Chi Omega and Alpha Delta Pi pay no taxes but pay house rent which would be reduced about $200.00 if there were no taxes on houses occupied by sororities.

If taxes were abolished on fraternity and sorority houses, it would mean a saving to the Independents as the fraternities would lower their room rent and private rooming houses would have to lower rent to compete with the social groups. If taxes were removed, it would mean about $4.00 to every student in school. There is no reason for paying taxes twice, especially when it could be used for a good advantage in continuing one's higher education.

NEW CHANCELLOR

The "Montana Kamin" which recently commented on the Exponent's recommendation that we have a young man from our Greater University as Chancellor, has pointed out that being Chancellor of the Greater University of Montana is a difficult job. A man is isolated from contact with any of the units and yet is expected to maintain contact with all of them.

"The Chancellor is flooded with detail, innundated with petty wrongs and stormed with criticism. Like a professional juggler he must balance six units, a board of education, a state legislature, and a great and powerful public. The "Kaimen" seemed to feel that it would be wise to select a young man for the job but could not think of any professor on the university campus whom they disliked enough to inflict the job with all its troubles.

We, too, should hate to inflict the job on any professor. Its a tough job and that's why it will take a young man and a man who has had experience in the educational circles of the state. There is a man on this campus whom we feel could and would hold the job and would be a credit to all of the six units. To clarify the situation any student who has taken economics will agree that there is one fellow on this campus who has not reached the two-score mark who will fill the job to the satisfaction of the students and of the public.

TOO MUCH RECOGNITION FOR DULLARDS

How many collegians really think on their own account? The ability to make Phi Beta Kappa and other so-called honoraries by mere conformance to standardized requirements without ever doing any original or even independent thinking is more and more being pointed to as a serious indictment against our educational system, according to the Daily Nebraskan.

Professors with their grading systems and emphasis upon requirements tend to place the premium upon conformity and a penalty upon individualism. The college "Parrot" who hands back to his instructors whatever they give out is too frequently regarded as the student and scholar, while the individualistic student who thinks for himself is often penalized for his refusal to submit to rigid standards or to memorizing his way through college.

"The ideal student is always in revolt," says William Allen White. "A confronting student never learns anything new and never forgets anything old." College is the best place to learn conformity and be cast into the common mold. The ideal student is usualy neither the best scholastically nor the most popular in extra-curricular activities. His individulism tends to destroy his popularity, both with the professors and the students.

Prograss is made through original thinking and initiative not by "apple polishing" and mere conformance to the idea that everything a prof says is right and that everything he assigns must be done.

The Ash Can

Ashes to ashes, and dust to dust;
If we don't get the dirt, somebody must.

And they call that week between quarters, spring vacation!

Lots of colleges advertise their Lovers Lanes, and their Sweetheart Avenues but I've wondered if any of them have balconies on their gyms like we have. If you don't think there are romantic corners ask some of the boys who were at the Frosh mixer.

Speaking of the Frosh mixer reminds us to wonder why Nina Davis took such a sudden interest in forensics and mixers over the week-end, but then somebody told us that J. Howard Dunn of the University debate team was the big reason.

Even that patched eye can't slow up the handsome Linforth. Only the other day we saw him buying that new book "What Two Million Women Want," just to see if they spelled his name right.

The most promising recreation idea we've seen yet is roller skating. It's cheap, not much oil is needed, all nice skates can skate, and when you check in for mattress duty, insomnia is as scarce as an "A" in Freshman Chemistry.

Since Stew Wagner has gone to work in Cascade, he decided to campus Gladys McCrea so she couldn't stay out on him for the first week-end anyway.

All of those boys who were working so hard for that Purity League pledge pins have our sympathy too. We understand the organization is going to merge into a Bartender's local after the beer days start.

And at the Dorm they told us that the office is no date promoting agency, but then maybe that's just a rumor, cause some of the boys were lucky, and others went away saying. "She might be the apple of her Mother's eye but she's not even appealing to me."

According to critics Marshall and Bennion, the ticket sale ability of the "Vagabond King" has been cut down least 50% by the change in wearing apparel of the dancing chorus from bathing suits to rompers.

MASONS TO HOLD MEET

Honoring student members of the Masonic order, a Montana State college night will be held at the A. F. & A. M. club rooms, April 6, for all master Masons at the college.

Bozeman Lodge No. 18 is arranging a special program for all students, faculty and alumni who are members. Those who do not belong to the Bozeman lodges are requested to leave their names in the registrar's office.

Zales Ecton, repesentative from Gallatin county to the State legislature, will be the principal speaker. Other talks will be given by President Atkinson and Judge Berg, president of the M. S. C. alumni association. The program will include musical numbers. Dinner will be served at 6:30 and will cost 50 cents per plate.

ONE CREDIT COURSES

With all of the stress of progression placed upon the number of credits acquired it seems almost ludicrous that in many one-credit courses considerably more work is necessitated than in some three- or four-credit courses. One is forced to sacrifice much time that could be spent upon more valuable courses in order to complete the work assigned by teachers of a one-credit course. What the basis for valuation of a course is, I do not know, but if it is the amount of work done necessary to secure passing grade then the number of credits awarded for the various courses must be considerably changed in order to reach a satisfactory average. I, personally, do not enjoy attending class three times a week or so and contributing much time outside in order to secure a paltry one credit.

ALUMNI BENEFITS

For many years the Montana State College Alumni association has hardly been worthy of its name and the main reason for its inactivity has been lack amount of money it has been able to keep in touch with the many graduates and also provide a loan fund that has enabled many students to remain in school.

There has been some protest against the recent proposal of the association to grant life membership in the Alumni group for the sum of $15. Loudest of the protests seems to be against the withdrawal of the student's $10 yearly deposit to pay for the membership fee. The argument against it is that at this time the students need every dollar to continue their education. Do not those who are protesting realize that if they do need more money to continue school the money which they have put into the association will come back to them in the form of loans? If the new proposall goes through, there will be a greater amount of money available for loans.

And increased student loans will not be the only new advantage provided for students. At other schools where there is a strong Alumni association are able to maintain a strong employment agency for students who need work while going to school. With the increased funds, the association here could perform a similar function.

The approval of the Alumni association plan deserves the hearty approval of every student who is a supporter of Montana State college not only for the advantage that it will bring to himself but because it will make this college a stronger institution.

Bernard Copping.

ALUMNI PROPOSAL

A plan to get students to become members of an organization whose inactivity has been worse than a joke is now being proposed to the students. That organization is the Montana State College Alumni association.

Despite the enthusiastic manner in which it was proposed by The Montana Collegian, the Association's mouthpiece and partisan newspaper, it savors of an ironclad rule to force the undergraduate to turn in his deposit. This $10 deposit was originated with the intention of having the money covering only breakage in laboratories, fines for library books, and other incidentals. Lately it has become the prey of the military science department as well as those divsions that feel that it is a legitimate course of least resistance when the demand money from all their students is necessary.

The Alumni association wishes to take what is left of this deposit after each petty grafter has had his cut. They have magnanimously allowed the undergraduate to receive a life-membership for the paltry sum of $15, whereas, before it has been $40, a very reasonable figure for such an honor.

To consider this proposal in the two ways it could be submitted is to show the fallacy of the proposal. If it were optional, there would be so few who would take advantage of it that the plan would fail in its purpose., to get money not members as they would have you believe. If it is not optional then the student pays money to belong to an organization whose only seeming purpose is to support some officers. This money is none too easy to obtain at present and with everything and everyone calling for an economy slash, the sucker is entitled to at least save what he has, that is if "suckers" or "goats" are entitled to anything.

Students beware lest the term "sucker" becomes a merited appellation and prevent the Alumni association's plan of forcing you to become a member.

Allan Schwartz.

Persons who stutter use 50 per cent more words than persons who do not, Joseph W. Hawthorne of the psychology department of Washington university here, has concluded after testing 300 school children, 100 of whom stuttered. He asked each of them three questions and then counted the words they used in reply.(—NSFA).

It takes resourcefulness . . .

Time and again, Bell System engineers have demonstrated their pioneering bent in working out unusual telephone construction problems.

For example, they laid a huge conduit under the Harlem River. They dredged a trench in the river bottom, lowered enormous sections of iron pipe, sent down divers to join the sections, encased the finished tube in concrete. Through this they ran telephone cables forming one of New York's main lines of communication. Across the Gila River in Arizona they constructed a catenary span 2373 feet long. To bridge oceans, they developed radio telephony. They have built telephone lines over mountains, across deserts, through swamps.

Their resourcefulness in getting through, over or under natural barriers makes possible telephone service that is practically world wide in reach.

A MIRACLE...You sit at home in easy chairs, behind closed doors, while from a sound-proof room . . . perhaps thousands of miles away... comes the music that you listen to on the Chesterfield program.
That sealed room in the Columbia Broadcasting Headquarters sends out good music and good songs 6 nights a week to 50 million people from coast to coast . . . with the voice of Norman Brokenshire . . . just about the best announcer in this country . . . to tell you "Chesterfields are milder and taste better."
Why is the Chesterfield Program broadcast 6 nights a week over a coast-to-coast network reaching 50 million people?
Because we want every smoker in this country to know that Chesterfield cigarettes are milder.
We want to tell every smoker from coast to coast that Chesterfield cigarettes taste better...
We want everyone to know that they can depend on a LIGGETT & MYERS product.

SPRING FOOTBALL CAMPAIGN STARTS

Coach Dyche Has 75 Aspirants Out for First Drill. Many Frosh Stars Turnout

Beginning his campaign for the 1933 season more than six months before the opening battle Coach Dyche yesterday welcomed some 75 aspiring gridsters to the first session of the spring training period. For the next three weeks Dyche will drill his candidates in preparation for the opening game with the Rocky Mountain conference champs, Utah University, next September.

The frosh team this year was tough but light, and Schyler is about the only outstanding lineman eligible for 1933, although others may develop. Olivera, a fast, very shifty, back also shows promise. Coffey is a fine punter and may push Eastman and Parke for the kicking assignment.

To fill MacLean's shoes Dyche has Anderson, now a sophomore. Weighing 170 pounds Anderson is a fine offensive pivot man but is rather weak on the defense. Dyche may use Anderson offensively and then switch a tackle over to play defensive center. The guard positions will be hardest to fill. At the present it is impossible to tell who will play at the guard spot.

As it now stands next year's team will boast of an exceptionally strong, versatile set of backs. Parke, Eastman, Edwards, Hansen, Corkey Dyer, all veterans will be back, as well as Olivera and Coffey ,from last season's frosh squad. The line will be of questionable strength, with few reserves. Veteran linemen returning are Burns and Coey, wingmen; Walker and Baltzell, tackles; and Anderson, center.

FOUR GIRLS WIN SWIMMING HONORS

Esther Brown won first in the elementary back stroke for form, and the swan dive. Miss Brown and Miss Bielenberg tied for first in the front jackknife. Others who took first places were Laura May Maxey, who exhibited the best form in the back crawl, Alice McDowell with her side stroke for form, and Modesta Monforton whose form in the overarm side stroke was judged best and in the American crawl was equal to Mary Ellen Bielenberg's try.

The final scoring of points over all contests gave the the College of Idaho 30; Montana State university, 15 2-3; Intermountain, 14 1-3; Montana State college, 13 1-2; Linfield, 7 1-6, and the Montana School of Mines, 3 1-6.

One of the pleasant social affairs of the convention was the reception tea sponsored by the associated students for the forensic delegates. Anna Lee Johns as commissioner of social affairs was in charge. Mrs. Ethelyn Harrison, social director, poured while Marie Thomas, president of the Intermountain Union college student chapter, headed the receiving line with James Ganaway, president of the Associated Students.

60 Attend Banquet

The convention banquet was held at the Hotel Baxter Friday evening with 60 in attendance. President Alfred Atkinson was toastmaster. The group was made up of visiting delegates, members of the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, and a few faculty members.

the chorus for which is being drilled under the direction of Cynthia Hopkins. Most students are already familiar with Miss Hopkins' work in this line as she had charge of the dance numbers for last year's musical comedy, "The Fortune Teller." However, the dance numbers in "The Vagabond King" will be entirely different from any previous show as the routine for the dances in this production are entirely original with Miss Hopkins.

Besides her work in directing the dance numbers Miss Hopkins is also doing a number of solo dances in "The Vagabond King."

Members of the chorus that is being drilled for three dances are Margaret Roberts, Irma Puutio, Frances Frisbie, Katherine Busch, Frances Taylor, Virginia Monteath and Alice Watters. Another chorus under the direction of Bernice Norris will dance in the first act of the show.

Changes in the cadet corps are as follows: Cadet Captain Joe Hazen promoted to cadet major and First Lieutenant John Parker to captain of Company A. Cadet Major Herbert Archibald has received his commission in the reserve corps and Michael Deevy and R. H. Skonard are Completing work necessary to obtain their reserve commissions.

ILLUSION:
A "strong man" once gave public performances in which he stopped a 9 lb. cannon ball shot from a fully charged cannon. The audience gasped when the gun flashed and the human Gibraltar stepped forward out of the smoke uninjured, with the 9 lb. shot in his hands.
EXPLANATION:
The trick lay in the way an assistant prepared the cannon for the performance. He used the regulation amount of powder and wadding, but placed the greater part of the charge of powder ahead of the shot. The cannon ball was propelled only by the small charge behind it which was just sufficient to lob the 9 lb. ball over to the strong man.

It's fun to be fooled— ...it's more fun to KNOW
A performance sometimes staged in cigarette advertising is the illusion that cigarettes are made easy on the throat by some special process of manufacture.
EXPLANATION: All cigarettes are made in almost exactly the same way. Manufacturing methods are standard and used by all. A cigarette is only as good as the tobaccos it contains.
It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.
In costly tobaccos you will find mildness, good taste, throat-ease.
Smoke Camels critically, and give your taste a chance to appreciate the greater pleasure and satisfaction offered by the more expensive tobaccos. Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.
