Bids For Union Building Open In Near Future

Tentative Plans Approved By Executive Committee; Willson Completes Final Details

Bids on construction materials for the new student union building should be opened sometime in the near future, according to Bill White, president of the Associated Students, and chairman of the executive committee in charge of the building.

Tentative plans have already been approved by the committee. The architect, Mr. Fred F. Willson, of Bozeman, is now working on the finishing details. The building, as previously announced, is to be on the strip of land between the math building and Roberts Hall. It will be shaped like an "L", with the longer leg running parallel to the road west of Roberts Hall, and the other parallel to the street in back of Hamilton Hall. The ground floor of the larger wing will contain the ball room. The Associated Students' Store will be on the ground floor of the other. Upstairs, over the store will be the soda fountain, the lounge rooms, and the lunch room as well as the banquet halls. On the third floor will be the offices of the various student organizations.

The building will have an unfinished basement to allow for expansion if more money should be available at some time in the future.

A faculty lounge room was planned, but at the present time the faculty is divided as to whether or not they want one. None will be built unless the faculty is willing to pay a share in its construction.

Plans for the building are under the supervision of a large committee from the Student Senate, which in turn is directed by an executive committee composed of 4 students, and 4 faculty members. It was hoped that the construction could be under way by the third of April, but this was found to be impossible.

Bowman Resigns To Accept State Position

Professor C. F. Bowman, member of the electrical engineering department at Montana State college since 1929, has resigned to become chief engineer for the Montana Public Service commission starting March 1, with headquarters at Helena, announces Dr. A. L Strand, president of Montana State college.

Professor Bowman holds degrees from the University of Nebraska, Purdue university and Montana State college. His advanced training includes mathematics, utility economics and rate making, illumination, meters and relays and military phases.

Before coming to Montana State college Professor Bowman was a member of the Purdue university faculty for six years. He came here as assistant professor and was advanced to the rank of associate professor in 1935. His industrial experience includes radio operator for the U. S. navy during the world war, industrial experience in Indiana and for a time he served as consultant for a Montana firm.

Research experience includes control of radiothermic currents, rural electrification and electrical thawing of water pipes.

While at Montana State college his research interests have been in the illumination, power resources and power transmission fields. He was vice president of the Montana section of the American Institute of Elec-

STUDENTS

Do you want a FREE theatre ticket? If so, read these instructions very carefully.

Starting this week and continuing for the rest of the quarter there will be a mistake made purposely in two ads in this paper. The first student who finds the mistake and presents the ad along with his activity ticket to the place of business will receive one theatre ticket good at any theatre in this town. The mistakes will be very hard to find. It might be a wrong telephone number or wrong street address. An extra letter may be added to a word or name. It will take a lot of examination before finding the mistake so look very closely and then hurry to the place of business before somebody else beats you to it.

Co-ops Initiate New Type Program For Spring Quarter

Last night all the units of the M. S. C. Students' Housing association held a joint meeting in room 101, Roberts hall. Speakers of the evening were President A. L. Strand and John C. Paugh, who spoke on the theory of co-operatives and the serious business of applying this theory to practice. Dr. Strand has been very interested in co-operatives on this campus and has a great many helpful ideas on the subject. Mr. Paugh is a well known leader in Gallatin county who has been influential in the organization of several of the consumers' co-operatives now in existence in and about Bozeman.

This meeting was the first of a series of programs to be given to the joint group this quarter. The purpose of the programs is to give all the members of the organization a better understanding of the theories and principals of cooperative living and thus enable them to work better together and to establish more well defined aims for the future. It is hoped that such a program will help a great deal to establish the unity and stability of the movement in the future.

This spring quarter will prove a busy one for the cooperative units. Not only will they be closing their business for the present year, but also they will be laying the ground plans for next year. Applications for membership next year must be taken this quarter in order to give some idea of what facilities must be made available next year to accommodate as many as possible of the applicants.

During the quarter just past the cost of living per month was cut to approximately $19 per man, which leaves a more comfortable margin for operation than has been enjoyed at any time before by the organization. It is probably that enough surplus can be built up to enable the manager in the future to make additional savings by having a greater cash buying power and a more stabilized credit.

Although much has been done to improve living conditions thus far, many improvements are yet possible and there is still much advancement possible.

Two MSC Students Appointed To N. Y. World's Fair Jobs

Two students of Montana State college have been appointed to the Borden Company staff for its exhibit, "The Dairy World of Tomorrow," at the New York World's Fair.

They are Murray Anthony Nash, 20, of Bozeman, and Luverne Leon Babcock, of 705 Fifth Street, Plentywood. Both have had extensive dairying experience.

"WITH DEEPEST SYMPATHY"

An "extra" allegedly published by the "Montana Exponent" but obviously put out by members or supporters of the "Kaimin" staff, was distributed on the campus yesterday. It was a clever, but thinly-veiled hoax, repudiating an inference in the "Froshponent" that the "Kaimin" came out in the cellar at the R. M. I. P. A. convention, and firmly defending the merits of the daily "sheet".

The records of this convention in Salt Lake City last month list the "Montana Kaimin" (supposedly the student organ of the State University at Missoula) as the winner only of honorable mention in advertising.

The editor of the "Montana Exponent" expresses her sincere and complete sympathy for the members of the "Kaimin" staff. She recently heard a Missoula student say "Oh, they only print four hundred copies of the Kaimin any more; it takes the janitors too long to keep them picked up off the campus."

She regrets very much that the pressure of the "Kaimin" censorship makes it necessary for that staff to expand to other campuses for freer expression. She gives them credit for a good sense of humor and hopes that someday they will be free to exercise it on the University campus.

P. S. She makes no apologies for the "Montana Froshponent"

Bobcat Band Featured At Assembly

Montana State's Bobcat Band will be featured in a general assembly in the gymnasium Friday morning, April 1, at eleven o'clock. The program will be the same as the band gave on their recent tour.

"This year's tour was the most successful one we have staged yet", said Mr. Lou Howard, director of the band. According to him, the band was exceptionally well received wherever they played. Over 1200 high school band members were contacted as they played to packed houses, and Mr. Howard is confident that they made many new friends.

The assembly program will give the students one of the very few opportunities they have to hear the band in a real concert program. The average person at Montana State college seldom hears the band except at an occasional football or basketball game, so he is hoping for a good turnout.

M.S.C. Grad Becomes Research Worker

Robert R. Umhoefer, Cr. E. '35, who went to Northwestern University for graduate training, and obtained his Ph. D. from that school in June, 1938, is now in the Research Department of General Electric, Pittsfield, Mass. He is working on the development of dielectric liquids for transformers and other electrical instruments.

Debate Teams Return From California Trip

The M. S. C. debate team composed of Bernard Haley, Kenneth Sire, George Clemow and Ralph Coldwater returned Monday afternoon with Coach Bert Hansen from their recent trip to the Pi Kappa Delta tournament in Pasadena, California.

The teams participated in 22 debates and covered 3200 miles crossing six different states enroute. Three days were spent seeing points of interest, one of them at the San Francisco World's fair, one touring Hollywood where the teams and Mr. Hansen were taken through the Warner Bros. studios and the Walt Disney studios and the other seeing varied interesting spots in and around Los Angeles. The remaining ten days were spent traveling and debating.

On the way down the schools met were: The Montana School of Mines at Butte, the Southern Branch at Pocatello, Idaho, the University of Nevada at Reno, the University of California at Berkeley. Some of the schools contacted in the tournament were: U. C. L. A., University of Southern California, University of San Diego, Utah State and others. The Montana teams were entered in the senior division and both teams made a creditable showing in all debates. Schools from seven states were represented in the meet.

Thursday afternoon the team leaves for Butte to compete in the state tournament, against other collegiate teams.

HS Week Plans Well Organized Dyche Reveals

Committees Report Progress, Homann Replaces Bowman As Service Group Head

Plans for the biggest High School week ever attempted at M. S. C. are well under way, according to Schubert Dyche, faculty chairman, and Fritz Roll, student chairman.

Mr. Dyche expressed his sincere hope that the whole student body would get behind this event. He said that with this cooperation, the High School week for 1939 would,without a doubt, surpass all such events of former years.

The service committee, which is probably the most important committee of the affair, wil be headed by Fred Homann this year. Mr. Homann is replacing C. F. Bowman, who has done an excellent job with this hard working committee in past years.

Rick Roman, chairman of entertainment, stated that his plans are unfolding rapidly. One of the high-lights will be a fourteen piece band consisting of a combination of Red Houston's and Heinie Mockel's bands. They have worked out many novelty numbers pertaining to the big bands now playing on the radio. In addition, as far as is planned, there will be two comedy skits. Peggy Roman and Edna Graff will preesnt one, while Dick Timmel and Rick Roman are teamed in the other.

Roman wishes to announce that there is room for much more talent. Anyone interested will please report to Jean Duncan or Dick Timmel immediately as rehearsals will start this week.

"Blossom Time," the spring play, will be presented in two performances, one at 6:30 and one at 8:30, in order to handle the larger crowds expected this year.

Parsons Art Award Offered To MSC For Fifth Year

Montana State college is again a recipient of a Frank Alvah Parsons scholarship for study in Paris with the New York school of Fine Arts, according to Olga Ross Hannon, head of the art department. This is the fifth consecutive year that a graduate of this art department will study under this award.

Announcement of the winner of the scholarship will be announced later, Mrs. Hannon said. At present Miss Margaret Gordon, '39 is studying there. It has been reported that she will remain for another year of study.

This scholarship is awarded annually to nine outstanding art schools in the United States.

Double Performance Feature Of Annual Ag Show In May

Severson, Manager of "Little International" Announces Dates, Arrangements; Plans Presentation At Livingston

The ninth annual "Little International" livestock show, an annual event sponsored by the Agricultural club, will be staged this year in a double performance and, according to George Severson, manager, will be the biggest thing ever attempted by any division of Montana State college. Always working in close cooperation with the livestock interests of the state and particularly with the asociations of woolgrowers and stockmen, the Ag club has accepted an urgent invitation of the Montana Stockgrowers to stage the show in Livingston on the night of May 18 before the annual convention of that association.

The Ag club feels, however, that the students and townspeople who have so liberally supported the show in the past should again have that opportunity and so the show will be staged here in the pavilion on the night of May 17 with admission the same as in past years.

Drawings for the animals to be fitted and shown will be held April 6 according to Severson and any one who is a member of the Ag club will be permitted to compete for the many valuable prizes that will be offered. The fifty dollar memorial watch will again be awarded to the grand champion showman, probably under an accumulative point system, and the championship award will be made in Livingston with substantial awards to the winner at each place. The award in Bozeman will be on the basis of showmanship and in Livingston both fitting and showmanship will be considered.

Although Severson will not admit he has any ambitions to follow in the footsteps of Ringling Brothers or Barnum and Bailey and cites as proof the fact that he is still lacking the "big top", his committee has assumed the task of transporting the entire show of over 70 animals with all the specialty acts and the 40-piece Bobcat band over the hill for the second show. While they may lack the "big top", they have been tendered the use of the big civic auditorium with a seating capacity of over three thousand. The huge maple court will be converted to their use by the use of rubberoid roofing and copius quantities of sawdust.

Due in part to the double feature this year and part at least to the increased enrollment in the agricultural division, it has been found necessary to enlist the support of livestock breeders in furnishing animals for the show. In past years the livestock has all been taken from the college herds but this year there is not enough stock on the farm to supply the embryo showmen.

Some idea of the extent to which the show has grown can be obtained from the fact that 1500 souvenir programs have been sufficient in the past while 4000 will be printed this year.

The committee in charge, in addition to Severson, consists of Curtiss Howard and Earl McKamey in charge of programs; Billy Hoblitt and Ford Martin in charge of entertainment; Barr Zeidler, secretary; Arnold Berglund, arena director; and Hugh Paris, president of the Ag club.

Blossom Time Cast Plans Rehearsals

Blossom Time to be presented by Montana State college students will be the eighth annual musical. Last spring high school visitors as well as students and townspeople enjoyed the Desert Song.

The story of Blossom Time is built around the life of Schubert and the songs are based on many of his famous songs. The play is a romantic comedy with a well selected cast.

Jean Cowger, who is remembered for playing the female lead in the Desert Song, portrays the part of Mitzi Kranz. Ernest Challender helps Miss Cowger supply romance by playing Schubert. Mr. Challender is well-known for his years of experience in musical productions. Harold Steese adds to the romantic comedy, this being his third dramatic production.

The comedy is very will handled by three competent players. Frank Krevic in the part of Franz, the father of Mitzi Kranz, displays unusual ability in handling the role. The prima donna played by Lois Herrett and her jealous husband, played by George Hitchcock add humor and gayety to the comedy circle. Miss Herrett previously played in "My Sables, Please."

Blossom Time has been in rehearsal since Winter Quarter under the direction of Mr. Bert Hansen. The musical arrangements directed by Mr. L. Opp started underway last week. Monday

Senate Chooses Most Cooperative Professors

President A. L. Strand, Professor Merrill R. Good, Professor Schubert Dyche, Professor Edward R. Dye, and Director Lou Howard were the members of the Montana State college faculty who were chosen by the Student Senate last week to honor for their willingness to cooperate with the students participating in the extra-curricular activities with which they are connected.

Feeling that there was a need to recognize faculty participation in outside activities, the Senate last quarter decided to choose five professors who were most cooperative with the student body. Results of the poll among senate members were disclosed yesterday by student president, Bill White.

Letters of recognition and appreciation have been sent to these men.

Chemical Society Plans Activities

The American Chemical society at a meeting Thursday, March 23, had as their speaker Professor A. Raymond Jorden who talked on the "Dependence of Dielectric Constant of Air on Pressure and Frequency."

At the meeting the program was planned for the next two months. On April 10 Dr. Stem of the University of Wisconsin, which is located at Madison, will speak. He is connected with the United States Forest Production Laboratory.

Professor C. A. Kraus, head of the Chemical department at Brown university, will speak May 10. This meeting will be held in Livingston, to dedicate the new high school building. Professor Kraus is the president of the American Chemical society.

Dave Cochran Accepts General Electric Post

David Cochran, M. E. '38, flew to Schenectady, N. Y., recently where a position with General Electric awaited him. He was selected for this position several months ago, but was not notified until a week before he left.

Mr. Cochran was an honor student at Stevensville High school, from which he received a scholarship to Montana State. While in school here, he maintained his high average, becoming a member of Phi Eta Sigma, president of Tau Beta Pi, and a member of Pi Kappa Phi, with an advanced scholarship. He was also active in campus activities, such as dramatics, Reserve Officer's Training corps, Engineering Council, Interfraternity council and was on the staff of two publications.

PanHellenicCongress Holds District Meet At Missoula

The Regional Panhellenic Conference for DiDstricts XII and XV was held at Missoula March 24-26.

The theme of the conference was "Cooperation, no Competition". The conference advocated the education of the college and alumnae sorority members toward the new Panhellenic idea of working together.

The findings committee on the decision of the conference stated Panhellenic disapproval of summer rushing, approval of a divided rushing season, agreement that numbers in sororities should be controlled, housemothers should be given more authority to disapprove of publicity and the ever emphasized cooperation in the campus Panhellenics.

One hundred twenty-seven delegates representing colleges in Washington, Oregon, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and British Columbia were at the conference.

Delegates from Montana State college were Dean Harrison, Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Ruth Johnston, Namoi Cool, Ellen Wipf, Rose Walsh, Betty Lou Louden, Margaret Lynd, Mary Ann Mitchell, Mildred Spain, Peg Corlett, Flora Shoft, and Delores Stanbury.

MUST We Go To Class?

(Reprinted From the "Idaho Bengal.)

With the close of the six weeks period there arises a new question in the minds of the students, often voiced but seldom printed. Is it necessary and justifiable to force students of college level to attend classes? Are the class rolls to be considered a necessity in college or are they to be left behind in the high schools with the enforced study hours and supervised scholastic endeavor? A story in the Utah Chronicle quotes the results of a survey conducted in American colleges, and the results are significant. To the question, "Should compulsory class attendance in college be abolished," 63.5 per cent said yes, and 36.5 per cent answered in the negative. Although the question hinges dangerously near the old problem of the function of a university, there are several conclusions that can be drawn. It seems reasonable to suppose that students who are willing to put out time and money to attend a university should be the ones to say why and when they shall attend class, and what they should gain from attendance at an institution of higher learning. Would it not be better to weed out those students who show a lack of interest, and to maintain and encourage those students who conscientiously seek an education? There are several faculty members who feel that failure to attend classes is tantamount to failure in the course he absents, regardless of the fact that he passes the quizzes. The exact reason for this enforced attendance is not known, but it begins to look like the school is more interested in building a scholastic reputation, and is not mainly concerned with the students as such. Are our American colleges becoming glorified high schools that are running a competitive race for increased enrollment?

Editor's note: The above editorial, appearing in the March 17 edition of the "Idaho Bengal" and the conclusions that this editor has drawn are in accord with some of ours. Do you know of any classes where students are not allowed to cut? It seems reasonable to suppose that the student, especially an upper class student, should be allowed to budget his own time, and spend the hour in question in a manner that, to his idea, will be most profitable.

The Spurs' "Pep"

Have you noticed anything a bit "slack" about the Spurs recently? Did you know that part of the regulation uniform for a Spur is a white, V-necked sweater, under which is worn a white shirt or collar? Did you know that Montana State college chapter of Spur is the mother chapter and that it has always been its custom to require a uniform, yellow tie under said collar, and also the wearing of white, low-heeled oxfords?

IZZY NUTTY WRITES HOME

DEAR MAW:

Spring has came and has went. Last week it was balmy around the college, and so were a lot of the stoogents, but as I take pen in hand it is cold again and I don't hear so much about picnics and stuff. Last week, when the last quarter opened, all the girls were running around in their spring outfits they talked their fathers out of during vacation, and they were wearing new hats even funnier than those they had last quarter. And the sap was running —right after those funny hats. I guess it's just another of those natural phenomena they tell us about here. People get goofy and etc., just as soon as the snow melts and the birds begin to chirp again. As my English prof says: "In spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of what the girls have been thinking about all winter." I don't think that was original, though. In fact, although I hardly like to say so, I think he plagiarized it. (Plagiarize is a technical word for burglary. I learned that here at college, too. I don't mean burglary.) There was another fellow by the name of Robert Browning who visited the Barretts of Wimpole Street and he put that in a poem he wrote a long time ago, even before the last legislature met. Robert Browning said when he wrote things only he and God could understand them, and after he finished writing them only God could understand them. So I guess he's the one that wrote that in the first place. Anyway, my animal husbandry prof says he can't understand why I keep gazing out the window, and if he can't figure it out then there's nobody left but God who can.

Arabella Tubbs, my best girl, seemed a lot nicer and prettier last week and we walked around the campus a lot. That's probably why I was looking out the window. She isn't so pretty this week. I guess the wind sort of ruined her complexion Sunday.

Tell pop that I need a car. The sophomores where I live tell me that when it gets warm again they are going on a picnic with some co-eds (that's collegiate slang for dame, which is downtown slang for girl stoogent) and that if I get a car I can take them up into the mountains. He can bring it, or send me the money to come get it.

NIX and NAX

By Jeanne Stroup

Something new in the way of things to do were offered this week by Larimorites Mary Grable and Marcella Anderson . . . maybe they just wanted to be different . . . anyway they purchased sandwiches at the campus store . . . went back to the hall . . . hooked up a radio in the bathroom . . . filled the tub . . . got in . . . and ate sandwiches to the rhythm of the music and flavor of soapsuds . . . Well! !

Hats are off to Mrs. Franklin D. when she recently resigned from the D. A. R. because of the organization's refusal to open Constitution Hall in Washington to Marian Anderson, the great colored contralto. We wonder whether this little piece of bigotry represents the general attitude of the whole organization or just the narrow-mindedness of a few of the big-wigs? Whatever the facts are, petty prejudice of this order directed against an artist of the undoubted greatness of Miss Anderson is not a pretty thing to contemplate.

You have probably heard of the student who went to school several years and lost so many hours by cutting classes that he came out in the hole, but here is an authentic case. The Mirror reports a tale of a Texas Technological college student enrolled for a total of 11 hours. Finding that his load was too heavy he dropped one of these. When the semester was over he had flunked nine more and received so many cuts that he lost the one he had passed. And so he was back where he started, even with the college, except out a fee or so. There are a lot of better ways to waste money than above mentioned story. Yes! !

From the Dakota Student comes the story about Alpha Phi Clare Murphy making additions to her wardrobe . . . seems as tho' she saw in a fashion magazine a cute little dodad of a dress . . . sent for it . . . found the duplicate already in said wardrobe when she went to make the addition . . . evidently she agrees with her first choice anyway! !

A certain Lothrop Withington, Jr., was a bit low on spending money, so in the presence of 150 witnesses he won a $10 bet from him roommate that he could swallow a live, three-inch goldfish. His only comment: "It was easy." He and Earl Durand should have gotten together for a raw-meat-eating contest.

In closing remember to stay away from the hick towns, because a hick town is one where there are no places to go where one shouldn't go.

Pat Hart Delegate To MEA Assembly In Billings

The seventeenth annual delegate assembly of the Montana Education association met in Billings March 24 and 25. The 260 delegates present represented secondary schools and colleges throughout the entire state. Montana State college local student group was represented by Miss Patricia Hart.

All meetings were devoted entirely to business and the reading of special reports by the various committees. Superintendent C. G. Manning said in his report on legislation that while education did not get every thing it needed in this session of the legislature it made great strides for the future. He urged that the members of the MEA should strive for a more unified organization. He advocated a special school for the training of lobbyists. He also said that the strength of the MEA could be greatly increased by encouraging constructive community meeting of the local groups.

Retirement Report

The report of primary importance to Montana State college was that of the committee on retirement. College professors are now able to belong to the MEA teachers retirement system on the condition, however, they are to draw nothing from the state during the next biennium. There are now forty three hundred and eighty seven members. These contribute 50% of thir salaries, up to $2,000. The rest of the money for the system comes from the state general fund, and not from the liquor fund as has been the case in the years past.

To serve as president for the coming year the group elected Dr. W. R. Ames, professor of education and psychology at the Montana State university.

A proposal to reorganize the association was proposed and a special committee was appointed to make arrangements for the changes.

Alumni, delegates and non-delegates from Montana State college met for an informal breakfast at the Luzon Cafe, at which Mr. W. F. Brewer presided in Dr. A. L. Strand's absence. The student delegates from Montana State university were guests of the MSC group at the breakfast.

BLOSSOM TIME

night, following the return of Mr. Hansen from California, the entire play was rehearsed. Work is progressing rapidly and the players are undergoing strenuous rehearsals in order to have the play perfected for High School week.

The play will be presented for both students and townspeople on May 1 and 2.

Lemmon Accepts Engineering Position

C. L. Lemmon, B. E., Dr. Eng., arrived in Bozeman last Monday to take up his duties in electrical engineering at Montana State. Dr. Lemmon is a graduate of John Hopkins University where he obtained both his Bachelor and Doctor degrees in Engineering. He will have classes during the spring quarter in Elements of Electrical Engineering, Alternating Currents, Electrical Engineering laboratory, and Descriptive Geometry.

Dr. Lemmon is a widely traveled man, having visited 38 states in the course of his duties. The only states he has missed are the Atlantic and Gulf coast states east of the Mississippi, and south of North Carolina. He is quite familiar with the west, although he is a native of Maryland.

In the past Dr. Lemmon has been associated with the telephone and radio industry. While working with the Western Electric company, manufacturers of telephone equipment, he developed and patented an electronic device for communication use. With the Wells Gardiner Radio company he worked on the development and design of new model radio sets. Two of his more unusual positions were with the Hamilton Watch company planning and developing new electrical processes in the production of the watches, and with the Conowingo Hydroelectric company of Pennsylvania constructing their power plant on the Susquehanna river.

Dr. Lemmon was quite pleased with his impressions of the college, the city of Bozeman and the state of Montana in general. The most striking feature of the city, to him, was the large proportion of new and well-kept residences, in comparison to cities farther east. He was quite surprised at the improvement of the roads not only in this state but generally over the mountain district, since 1932 when he was last in the west. His impression of the roads is best given in his own words. "Although the mountains out here seem to go straight up, the roads seem to go only half as far. The last time I was in the west, the surfaced roads extended for only a few miles on either side of the cities and ended in a dirt road. Now all the main roads are completely surfaced, and driving is a pleasure."

Polson High School Girl Heads State Home Ec Clubs

Helene Burke, of Polson, will preside at the state conference of student home economics clubs to be held at Montana State college during the annual High School week, April 27, 28 and 29, according to Miss Lelia Massey, state supervisor of home economic education.

Besides being state president of the home economics clubs, Miss Burke also heads the home economics club of the Polson high school and is an honor roll student. Other activities in which she participates include the high school band, choir, clubs and Girl Scouts.

By Vivian Cowan

The Carnival is in town Friday night sponsored by W. A. A. Knock the nigger babies down and you win a good seegar.

Who is the eighth candidate for the Les Bouffons' All-School Queen??? Don't forget that the date for the dance is April 1, which is April Fool's day and we can expect anything.

Men's Choice Of All-School Queen To Be Presented At Les Bouffons Spring Formal April First

There may be queens and more queens but Saturday night we shall see our all-school queen when Les Bouffons, local social fraternity, will present the men's choice for all-school queen at their annual spring formal. The queen will be brought forth and presented to the soft strains of Heinie Mockel's orchestra in a most novel manner. During the evening various entertainments have been planned for the dancers.

The candidates presented Sunday evening at the Ellen theatre by active members of Les Bouffons were Delores Stanbury, Adalae Hansen, Verna Van Arsdale, Pauline Howarth, Mary Dell Gay, Jean Duncan, Peg Roman, and the eighth is unannounced. Who will she be? Watch for number eight on Friday's ballot. Candidates were selected from the Junior and Senior classes and will be voted on by the men students all day Friday. The ballots will be counted under the supervision of President A. L. Strand. In addition to the presentation of the queen the new members of Les Bouffons will be tapped from members of the junior class.

Tickets may be obtained for $2.00 a ticket from any member of the Les Bouffons and must be obtained before the dance.

Chaperones are Dr. and Mrs. Strand, Dean and Mrs. Hamilton, and Dean Ethelyn Harrison.

Musexams To Be Featured On Midnight Organ Concert

Musexams and a host of talent is the entertainment planned for another of the midnight organ recitals presented by the Ellen theatre with Ed Pegram at the console.

The program will be given at 11:45 after the Les Bouffons formal. Each sorority and fraternity are entering a contestant in the Musexams and cash prizes will be awarded the winner.

Many of the artists that appeared on previous programs will again be presented.

This program is an exact imitation of a Radio City broadcast. It will include the traditional characters that make up an hour's broadcast.

Karl Houston will act as master of ceremonies, Fred Schlechten as the "stooge", and Lyle Wood as the commercial announcer. Musical artists include the Girls Sextette, Carolyn Gay and Virginia Love.

This program is actually sponsored by the Buick division of General Motors company.

M. S. C. Engineers Plan Annual Dance

The Montana State Engineers promise that the high standard of entertainment of the former balls will be maintained in their annual semi-formal dance at the Baxter Hotel April 15. The Queen of the Engineers will be presented to the college at this dance and will be chosen from candidates nominated by each of the sororities. While the actual method of choosing the queen has not been finally decided upon, it is decided that the engineering students will vote upon the candidates and will narrow the choice to two or three of the favorite beauties. Maybe some of the Hollywood stars will be asked to make the final choice. This method has been used during the past two years and it has proved very successful.

Another unique feature of the dance will be the programs which are unlike anything ever used before. What these programs are cannot be revealed yet, but a special announcement about them will appear later.

Tickets will be available soon from all members of Tau Beta Pi.

W. A. A. Carnival To Be Scene Of Fun And Frolic

"Throw baseballs — three for a dime! Play Bingo—a winner every time! Ice cold lemonade! Hot dogs!" What could sound more like a carnival than that? And a carnival it is—sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association and to be held in the gymnasium on Friday, March 31.

Each organization and each sorority and fraternity on the campus will sponsor some sort of a booth or concession. And you may be sure that there will be a great variety. Admission to the carnival will be ten cents per person. With each admission ticket confetti and what not with which to make the carnival a scene of gaiety will be given. An additional attraction will be dancing to the music of Heinie Mockel and his orchestra.

What could be more fun than to go to a real honest-to-goodness carnival? So let's all turn out and have a grand time at the W. A. A. carnival.

Registration Figures Show Marked Gain

Large Turnout Strengthens Bobcats' Track And Field Hopes

Weather Let-Up And Wealth Of Material Pleases Breeden

Three Meets On Fire For New Squad; Only Three Lettermen On Cat Roster

This week the Montana State college track and field squad will begin their preliminary training for a season that will find them participants in four meets and that will see them in many parts of the Rocky Mountains in pursuit of their favorite sport.

The first meeting of the squad was held last Monday evening in the gymnasium and a very good turnout was present. A large group of capable men answered Coach Breeden's first call and it appears as if the Montana State squad will be a team to be reckoned with in all their meets this year.

Thee lettermen and three other veterans from the conference squad turned out at the first meeting in addition to many veterans of the state meet squad and the frosh team. Ed Reams, Robert Thompson, and Frank Strong are the returning lettermen of last year's team while Nick Yovetich, Robert Spiegel, and Lyle Hensleigh are other conference meet veterans.

Coach Breeden is faced with many big holes to fill in the squad this year but feels that the Frosh and reserves of last year's team will help out a great deal in this. He has no first place winners returning from last year's squad, due to graduation losses of Bill White, Dick Nelson, and Russell Wills last June. A great number of second and third place winners were also lost by graduation or ineligibility rules last year.

Among the outstanding men are: Frank Strong of Butte, a 9.9 man in the 100-yard dash; Bernard Cluzen of Lonepine in the javelin; Everett Darlinton of Bozeman, who has been clocked in 9.9 for the century; Max Stark of Stevensville, sophomore hurdler and quarter miler; Jack Brickley of Rapelje, in the javelin, high jump, and high hurdles. Joe Gaab of Townsent, Ed Reams of Billings, Brickley and Cluzen in the discus throw; Leonard Stone of Decker, Arnold Reed of Outlook, and Jack Campbell of Kansas City, Mo., in the high jump; Bob Spiegel of Butte, Gordon and Bob Thompson of Moccasin, Mike Solon of Anaconda, Jack Seamans of Huntley, and Jim Jordan of Bozeman in the distance races; Lloyd Frisbee of Cut Bank in the pole vault; Jim Monforton and Bill Stucky of Bozeman, and John Watkins of Camas in the 440; George Warila of Belt; Don Cosner of Malta, and Stone in the shot put; Stucky, and Nick Yovetich of Butte, in the high hurdles; Oswald Farkenstern of Terry, Darlinton, Frisbee, and Stark in the broad jump; Lyle Hensleigh of Jordan, and Don Martin of Stevensville in the 880-yard run.

The Bobcats will compete in at least three meets, and possibly more this season. April 29 the Montana Relays will be held here. The Cats go to Colorado Springs for the Rocky Mountain Conference meet on May 20, and to the state intercollegiate at Missoula, May 27. A tentative date for a meet with Idaho Southern Branch at Pocatello is May 13.

Possibility of an early spring, in addition to a wealth of materials strengthened hopes of Bobcat fans for one of the best track squads in several seasons. In past years cold weather has hampered training. Last spring there were but three days of good outdoor training weather berfore the season closed, and the Montana relays were held in a snowstorm.

Swimmers Practice For Red Cross Course In May

A strenuous and continuous workout in the swimming pool was held every night last week beginning with the first night of school as Pat Dolan conducted his preliminary water safety training course for a large number of Montana State students. Boys and girls alike participated in the practice sessions for learning how to teach swimming from the elementary stages of floating and kick glides, dog paddles, kicking fundamentals, diving, to the more advanced phases of swimming, those of life saving techniques.

This course was given during these five nights as a preparation for the water instructor's course that L. P. Brusco, Red Cross field representative, will conduct between May 6 and 10.

Sports Of The Nation

By Charles Harrington

Oregon Captures National Crown

This week-end saw the crowning of the first official collegiate champion. The University of Oregon proved itself to be supreme among the collegiate quintets as it downed the eastern champions, Ohio State, over the week-end. Entering the final playoffs by victories over strong western teams, the tall and veteran Oregon squad had little trouble in downing the fighting Ohio State men in the payoff at Evanston, Illinois. It was the champions' 29th victory in 34 starts that saw them win their own division of the Pacific Coast conference and sweep a series with California to win their league title.

Only 1 Hoop Change Scheduled

The National Basketball Coaches association met this week and the outcome was to suggest only one change in the rules governing the hardwood court battles. It was evident, due to discussions, that there should be some rule governing the intentional fouling that usually creeps in the close of a tight ball game. The new ruling suggested now allows the team fouled, the choice of a free throw or they may take the ball out of bounds where the foul was committed.

Coach Keogan, prominent Notre Dame coach, also proposed that the center jump be restored to the game. He was the leader in a small group of men for this restoration.

100th Anniversary of Baseball

This year will see the advent of the 100th anniversary of our national sport. Invented by Abner Doubleday in 1939 as a playground sport to pass time at West Point, it has risen by leaps and bounds to become the game of hundreds of ardent supporters and the livelihood of many excellent players. This year as usual will find the world champion Yankees in the midst of the toughest battles, competing with Cleveland for their crown while the Giants, Cubs, and Reds battle it out for the right to be the other team in the World Series play-offs.

New Setup For Interscholastic Gridders

The past week saw a great change in the present plan of the two district eliminations for state scholastic gridders in Montana. Seeing that smaller schools had little or no chance in winning the championship under old rules, the big-wigs assembled and grouped the schools into two new divisions. A class AA league was started to take care of Great Falls, Butte, Helena, Anaconda, Billings, and Missoula, teams that habitually find their way into the championship. These teams will play a round-robin schedule with the winner of this league facing the winner of the Class A schedule in the state championship battle. The remaining Class A teams from the old set-up along with seevral predominating Class B teams will form the new Class A set-up.

Bobcat Gridders Will Travel Far On Planned Football Schedule

The Montana State college football team will travel more than half way across the continent in 1939 and see the San Francisco World's Fair, according to the completed schedule by Coach Schubert Dyche.

The Bobcats will open the season on the west coast playing San Jose at San Jose, Calif., under floodlights, September 15. They will visit the fair after the game, then play Portland university at Portland, Ore., September 22. Next will be Idaho university at Moscow, then two days of practice at Bozeman.

The second trip will take the Bobcats to Omaha, Neb., for a night game with Omaha university, September 30. The annual clash with the State university Grizzlies is scheduled at Butte, October 14. Idaho Southern will be the Bobcat opponent at Bozeman, Oct. 28; and Greeley State at Greeley, November 3. The season will close at Bozeman November 11 with North Dakota State providing the opposition.

Full And Exciting Spring Program Planned For Girls

Friday afternoon at five o'clock Helen Sandvig presided over the W. A. A. meeting which was held in the women's gymnasium with about sixty girls attending. Plans for the W. A. A. carnival to be held Friday night were discussed and Dorothy Bunker was appointed chairman of the concessions. April 12, 13 and 14 are the dates of the National W. A. A. convention which is being held in Berkeley, California. All girls must have their points for their Bobcat sweaters and bathing suits handed in by May first, as this time is the deadline.

The spring program for sports which is very full and exciting, was outlined by the following girls: Marion Buchman viewed a few of the techniques of tennis while Dorothy Bunker told about the popular sport. baseball. An archery tournament will be run off before May first, according to Betty Batch, and an archery meeting will be held today at 5 o'clock. Virginia Hall, who has charge of golf, a new sport on the campus, gave a few pointers on the game and said that college persons are allowed to use the Country club course.

A large number of girls enjoyed the hike to the cemetery Saturday afternoon despite the muddy roads, and at least two more of these enjoyable outings will be held this quarter, according to Natalie McDermott, hiking captain. Billings is the hostess, May 17, for the quadrangular playday, and Elsie Ellingson announced that the W. A. A. council choses only ten girls to enter this meet. A badminton doubles tournament will begin soon, and Betty Jean Cox advises everyone to pay their quarter in Miss Chrisman's office in order to enter.

The popular sport, hockey, will be under way as soon as the ground is dry enough to play, according to Grace Moore.

With all of these enthusiastic sports the M. S. C. co-ed should be able to have a full and interesting spring sports program this quarter.

Intramurals

By Charles Harrington

Plans are now taking shape for a bigger and better spring intra-mural program as Montana State college for once gets a break on the weather. As large a turnout for intra-murals is expected as was experienced during the winter quarter when over two hundred boys received bi-weekly workouts on one squad or another.

Baseball is due to start soon and it is feared that the quality of the squads might not be up to their usual standards due to the large turnout for track. However, each fraternity will probably have a team and for the first time in many year's weather may make a round robin schedule possible. The AGR and Sigma Chi squads weakened by graduation losses and several of their stars leaving school for various reasons leave the field open to almost any dark horse but a tough fight for the championship is due.

With baseball will come the old man's game of softball which has risen to outstanding favor throughout the nation. It looks as if the softball fans might even outnumber the baseball enthusiasts and a good old fight for the pennant will be evidenced here.

Other irons in the fire for the intramural fans will be the annual cross-country race, postponed from last fall; the indoor athletics program, and the annual intra-murals relays. A lot of worthwhile material for future Bobcat athlete teams is always found in these meets, so let's see a good turnout.

And that burly sport of the 200-pounders has taken just a bit of a sissy turn at Temple university, where the phy-ed-majoring gridders must successfully complete a course in the modern dance.

Bobcats' Sluggers Face Nation's Best Friday -- Saturday

Dolan, Schwartz, And Shinn, Go To Madison

Montana State will enter its colors in the national spot-light Thursday for the first time when Shirley Shinn and John Schwartz enter the lighted square at Madison, Wisconsin. The two Bobcat pugilists, both juniors, will be completing their third year of boxing when they face the nation's best.

A champ in the state tournament, Shinn is not conceded as having much chance in the national meet. A clever boxer and with many seasons in the rosin ring behind him, his punch is the only thing that may keep him from going through the meet with high honors. Shinn last year won the Montana State A. A. U. meet with ease in his weight and did not compete this year due to more pressing matters.

Schwartz on the other hand is given more of a chance against the tough boys that he will meet. A terrific slugger, Schwartz's only handicap is his comparative inexperience to the other boxers.

Many championship pugilists from other arenas will compete with many of last year's champions returning to try and hold their crowns. It is expected the meet will draw a larger roster of pugs than has ever been experienced before and it will go down in memory as one of the best in history.

Coach Pat Dolan will accompany the two boys and they will stop off enroute to visit many Bobcat alumni.

Sidelines---

By Robert J. Spiegel

Frank Strong

In the spring, a fancy dan's fancy lightly turns to love; for the gas house and other murder-minded boys, their thoughts are full of football and track. This month will find Gatton field crammed to the fences with promising athletes (we hope) who are candidates for the Bobcat cinder squad. We've had a hard fight to get track for this year, so let's make it worth while. We'd also like to see some student support at our home meet during High School Week, if they can find time to get away from their social functions..

Strong Heads For Best Year

One of the outstanding men of this year's track team will be Frank Strong, the fair-haired boy of Montana State athletics. Frank during his stay here has been: twice a member of the football squad, once a member of the basketball varsity, and has won one letter in track. During last year's cinder season, his light was constantly dimmed by the efforts of Bill White veteran Bobcat ace. However, this year Frank will be running without Bill accompanying him and should really go places. He's really set for a big year and opposing sprinters will find it tough to stop this blond whirlwind

Appearances Sometimes Deceiving

Last quarter the Bobcat basketball team wound up their season against a Pacific Coast championship A. A. U. team. The Bobcats, their reserves and the Bobkittens, a motley crew in all, were only beaten 26-33 in a game that might have easily been won if Coach Breeden had wished to play his regulars. This team from Seattle was notably hit by the altitude. The puzzling thing to us, however, is that this team, in a higher altitude, finished fourth in the national A. A. U. tournament. Competition must be getting poor in the tournament if a team of that caliber could end up fourth.

Little, One of Best Pitching Prospects Of Year

Last Thursday evening, Montana State bid goodbye to one of the best athletes they have had here in years. Although his efforts did not win him many individual sport's awards, Dick Little was obviously one of the best all-around athletes the Bobcats have ever had. This spring he left Montana State to join the Cincinnati Reds at training camp. He is touted by scouts as one of the best pitching prospects of the year for the Reds. He won't go all the way up for a long time but Dick Little should more than leave his mark on organized baseball with his well-known drive, guts, and spirit.

EMBARASSING LITERATURE

The author of this column has been the object of some highly objectionable and embarassing literature during the past week. We wish to state for the benefit of those who haven't already heard that the Montana Exponent printed no such repudiation and that the writer of this column at no time ridiculed any humble university efforts in the field of journalism in any other column of this paper except that which appears under my name. However, it was a very clever idea and publicity helps.

SIX STEPS TO MORE SMOKING PLEASURE

AGEING—Chesterfield's mild ripe tobaccos, like fine wines, are aged for two or more years in huge wooden casks. Here they gradually acquire that true Chesterfield mildness and better taste which give millions of smokers more pleasure.

STEMMING—"Almost human" is what they say about the interesting stemming machines, whose fingers pick up the tobacco, leaf by leaf and take out the stem, leaving only the mild, tender, good-tasting part of the leaf to go into the making of Chesterfields.

BLENDING—There is only one Chesterfield blend . . . the blend that can't be copied . . . a happy combination of the world's best American and Turkish tobaccos. Just the right proportions to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

PAPER—Every Chesterfield you smoke is wrapped in pure cigarette paper...the finest cigarette paper made. That's another reason why Chesterfields are milder and better-tasting.

MAKING—Almost faster than the eye can follow, Chesterfields come rolling out of the marvelous cigarette making machines. Chesterfields are always round, firm and well-filled.

PACKAGING—Truly amazing are the packaging machines which wrap and seal Chesterfields in their air-tight, moisture-proof packages. Regardless of where you buy them, Chesterfields reach you as fresh as the day they were made.
