

Editor's Comment

Sunday, for the first time, it became obvious that students of MSC were showing much reaction to the war situation, which for the past year has been coming constantly closer to the United States. Up until this time students went on with their activities and studies as if the world outside were at peace.

However, with the startling news of Japan's surprise attack, came a disruption of the students' calm attitude. They gathered in groups, around radios listening for more news of the conflict. Studies were cast aside. Sunday night lights burned late in fraternity and boarding houses as male students had lengthy discussions on how the situation would affect them. Monday the excitement continued, but Tuesday it appeared that things were going back to normal.

For the past year college newspaper editors throughout the country have been commenting on the worried attitude of students, who had a devil-may-care feeling about their studies. The Kaimin, Montana University newspaper, quotes one of its seniors as saying, "I'm just out for a good time this year. I know the army's going to get me when I graduate, and although I'm going in as an officer, I'm going to have my fun while I can."

What the attitude of the students at MSC will be now that we are actually at war is unpredictable. From statistics in the last war, it can be pointed out that the trend among college people tends toward more drinking and less studying. We think people who do this are only rationalizing and evading the issues. We merely have a larger job to do and must put forth more serious effort to do our part in promoting our country's war effort.

One thing that seems very obvious is the students' general underestimation of the seriousness of the situation. We have a strong tendency to think lightly of the strength of our enemy, but the Japanese will be no push-over. They are a country in a desperate position, with a group of fanatic, uncontrolled military dictators as their leaders. Japan is fighting for its existence as a nation and will shoot the works.

Students are now clamoring for retaliation on the part of the United States. It makes their blood boil to think of Japan's underhanded attack. However, it may be some time before the U. S. will start its offensive in the present conflict. One thought to bear in mind is that we are rapidly growing stronger, and each day that passes means added strength for our armed forces.

Probably the first thing this country's armed forces will try to attain is unity of command. There may possibly be a shake-up in the high command in the Pacific because of our being caught asleep by the Japanese initial attack.

Bobcats Open Basketball Season In Billings Tourney

Montana State's 1941-42 basketball squad will open its season at Billings on December 19-20 when they tangle with Brigham Young University and Wyoming University in a tournament with the two teams and the University of Montana quintet. The Bobcats will face the Brigham Young basketballers on Friday evening at 8 p. m. and at 9:30, the University will match forces with Wyoming. Saturday evening, the Bobcats again play the opening game with the Wyoming team as opponents. The Missoula men will then face Brigham Young.

Neither of these contests are in the Bobcat conference and the games will be mainly a starter for all the teams. The Cats will get some idea of how they stand with the University team this season from resulting scores of the games. The University is again blessed with the Jones-DeGroot combination and will offer a plenty of opposition to the reportedly strong Wyoming team and the average BYU high scorers. The Bobcats fit well into the picture with these teams in that that eight lettermen are back on the job for Coach Brick Breeden and are supplemented by four freshmen who are showing up very well.

Christmas Sing To Be Held Sunday

The Christmas sing, according to the latest report, will be held from 3 o'clock until 4 Sunday afternoon, December 14, in the square which is made by the Quadrangle. It would be well to have the leaders assemble their groups 15 or 20 minutes early in order that the program may be started exactly on time. This program will be broadcast over the Yellowstone Park station, KRBM.

Each organized group will have a part in the program, and there will also be several band selections under the direction of Lou Howard.

It is important that each group notify Eddie Kimball, Commissioner of Music, sometime this week as to the exact length of time their number will take.

Alpha Zeta Honors Three Initiates

A luncheon was held in the SUB Saturday noon to honor three new members in the Agricultural honorary, Alpha Zeta. Thirty-five members including many faculty were in attendance.

The new initiates are James Travis, Ag. Ed. senior; Stewart Wright of Oswego, majoring in A. I., and Ted Keating, Ag. Economist of Columbus. Eugene Wekander was recently tapped as a pledge but is attending the International at Chicago.

Exponent Staff Collects Comments Of Students After War Declaration

The Exponent staff stirred itself yesterday to pick up some coffee shop talk. Excited students were approached and asked the question, "What do you think of the war situation?" Most answered with flippant comments, but Jinx Anderson, Canadian student who knows the gravity of the situation, answered by saying "No strikes, no isolations, national unity—just like it was in Canada. The only way to beat Japan is to beat Hitler first."

Other comments were as follows:

Jim Keith: "By George, I don't know what's going to become of the world."

Dean Kelly: "I haven't given it much thought."

Kenny Kuckolls: "Looks like it'll take five or six months to get in gear."

Eud Johnson: "I'll be glad when

MAYOR OF DOGPATCH

Biddle To Proclaim Sadie Hawkins Day January 10

Biddle

George Biddle... mayor of Dogpatch, in an official pose, preparing to read the proclamation which will establish Sadie Hawkins Day in these h'yar parts.

Miss M.S.C.

Sadie Hawkins... pseudonym for the average M.S.C. coed, who on January 10 will exercise the rights established for her and for all women by Mayor Biddle.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of the Student Senate and the Interfraternity Council Representatives on Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. This meeting has been called by the Student Union Board to discuss certain problems of the Student Union, and will be held in the Faculty Lounge.

Sadie Hawkins Day will rock the campus Saturday, January 10, when the daughters of Hekzebiah Hawkins again stalk their man. Mayor of Dogpatch, George Biddle, announces new rules to govern the order of the day.

This year girls will be limited to a 24 hour race to start with the Mayor's formal proclamation at the Bobcat-Western State basketball game on Friday, January 9. Fraternities will enforce the Dogpatch legislation by dispensing swats to those boys who accept dates before the starting gun. During the entire day of January 10, Emily Post will be shelved and the procedure will be awarded in the best Dogpatch manner. Girls will open door for the boys, buy the cokes and walk on the outside.

Girls must be ready with their tags at the zero hour, these tags will be distributed by the leading citizens of Dogpatch, alias the Les Bouffons, throughout the first week of winter quarter. All males without a tag will be judged eligible for capture.

Highlighting the Day will be the final frolic in the SUB at which time the typical "Daisy May and Lil Abner" will be selected. Competent judges for the affair will be "Mammy and Pappy Yokum", Breeden, Mr. and Mrs. "Hairless Joe", Lou Howard, "Marryin' Sam" Harry Cochran and wife and "Ole Man Mose."

All participants must appear at the dance in typical costume.

Johnson Explains Trip to Helena

There need be no more speculation as to why the boys who are taking pilot training went to Helena Monday. It definitely was speculation. They are not being taken for any sort of military action yet.

Dr. A. J. M. Johnson, head of the training here said that the only reason that the move was made was because when the crisis of the declaration arose, the government grounded all civilian planes and made it necessary that all civilian pilots have their certificates indorsed and their citizenship reaffirmed.

This was the only reason for the trip Monday. They all had, merely to appear before George Smith, Flight Inspector in charge of the Civil Aeronautics Authority for Montana.

As far as the war's effect on the course is concerned, Dr. Johnson said, no one knows what might happen. The C.P.T. might be discontinued, it might remain in operation just as it is, it might be enlarged or it might be turned over to the army. "Those are the only four things I can think of that could happen to it," he continued, "but the government will probably think of something else!"

MSC Offers Three Months' Defense Course

Because more students enrolled in the Engineering Defense courses at Montana State college than were expected the U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C. permitted the college to jump the upper limit to 50 students and extend the deadline for registration through December 8, announced Professor R. E. Gibbs, head of the mechanical engineering department, who is in charge.

The course started here December 1 with 27 students enrolled and a number of applications still holding fire. The courses are at the college level and are only for those who have graduated from high school or who have one or more years of college. They include some review of mathematics, followed by intensive work in engineering drawing, machine design and engineering materials and processes.

The courses being taught will not replace regular college work, but will supplement the inadequate number of four-year graduates in certain engineering fields. Graduates of the courses will be qualified for positions in engineering departments of industries and for certain civil service positions.

There is no tuition or other fees for the defense courses. The only expense will be text books, which will be between $10 and $25 and about $100 for board and room for the 12-week period.

Students now enrolled in the defense courses are: Hubert Acuff, Hamilton; Matthew Blaskovich, Anaconda; Delmer Clark, Billings; Edwin Falkenstein, Terry; George Forrest, Anaconda; Everett Hanson, Saco; Ray Hare, Livingston.

Donald Hendrickson, Hamilton, G. Louis Hougland, Thompson Falls; Mac Johnson, Billings; Victor Johnson, Phillipsburg; Allan Lund, Silva, N. D.; Dungan McCauley, Laurel; Dean Miller, Westby; Phillip Mullette, Butte; Robert Nelson, Vancouver, Wn.

Peter Olson, Coeur d'Alene, Ida.; C. Ray Pratt, Bozeman; Fred Sherburne, Browning; Edward Shurr, Jr., Browning; Leroy Stafanson, Sidney; Michael Steinbach, Great Falls; Joseph Stone, Browning; Robert Templeton, Helena; Harry Thomas, Livingston; Thomas Tice, Bozeman; William Wheeler, Billings.

Felix of Austria Thrills Audience With Tales of War

Before an interested audience which braved the snow storm Wednesday night, Archduke Felix of Austria delivered a touching oration on the European situation. In the closing moments of his talk the Archduke held the audience in complete silence as he spoke for the sealed lips of his friends silenced under the hand of Adolph Hitler's legions. He pleaded with America to consider the plight of his people and aid them in their present struggle.

Off the stage the Archduke stated his firm belief that the allied cause would emerge victorious in the present crisis. He commended the British people on their unbelievably high moral. He predicted that the Japanese would swing to the winning side in the current battle unless Hitler could bring sufficient pressure to bear to force the Japs into a war against the allies.

RESOLUTION TO THE FACULTY OF MONTANA STATE COLLEGE FROM THE STUDENT SENATE

WHEREAS: The student body of Montana State College is vitally interested in the far eastern conflict, and

WHEREAS: Montana State College students' thoughts are removed from academic lines, not only through the fact that we are in war, but also because many of these students are subject to draft and call into the Army and Navy without notice, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Student Senate go on record as favoring a definite let up in the intensity of the remainder of the quarter's work including the final exams.

This was proposed by a member of the Student Senate and after a lengthy discussion was passed. The students do not ask that the faculty give them undeserved grades for the quarter but merely request that they be a little more lenient, due to the students' interest in this war. The Senate is under the impression that during the last war, instead of slacking up the students' work, they pushed it at them harder and faster so as to get the minds of the students away from the war. The Senate feels that because the students now enrolled in college are the ones who will have to help fight this war if it should come to that point, they should be allowed to take a great interest in this conflict which concerns the very lives of most men students.

Mercer Prexy Of Crop Association

Ralph D. Mercer, agronomist for the Montana Extension service and secretary of the Montana Seed Growers association, was elected president of the International Crop Improvement association at its annual meeting held this week at Chicago, it was learned here today.

For the past two years Mercer has served the international organization as secretary and his election to the presidency of the organization is for a two-year term. K. E. Deeson of Lafayette, Ind., was elected vice president, and Bruce P. Jones of Hall, N. Y., was elected secretary-treasurer.

Camera Club Will Offer Short Course

The Camera Club, under the new name of the MSC Photographic Society, has undertaken to offer a short term photographic course to interested students.

This course will begin at the beginning with the assumption that the students know absolutely nothing about photography, and will go as deeply into the art as the students care to go. The course will be taught by advanced amateurs and will be the most thorough of its kind ever offered on this campus. It is designed to take as little as possible of the students' time, requiring only two hours per week and very little, if any, outside work.

The course will include instruction in the mechanisms of cameras, films, and darkroom equipment. Students will learn how to take better-than-average snapshots as well as to select good pictorial subjects. One may also learn all the essential technique of lighting, developing, printing, and enlarging. There may even be some instruction in natural color photography if desired by the students.

The course is open to all and costs nothing. It will begin early in winter quarter and will continue as long as the class wishes to learn. Plan to register. It's an opportunity not to be missed!

Survey Shows Employers Stress Grades

Scholarship and character are the qualities most sought in college graduates by American employers, Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis reports after a national survey of graduates' job prospects.

What do you know? What are you? What can you do? Whom do you know? Employers are querying job applicants in about that order. Schools list qualities sought as follows, in order named: scholarship, character, adaptability, campus popularity, personality, athletic prowess, ability, alertness, extra-curricular activities and dependability.

Industrialists faced with large orders that must be delivered on time, the survey report observes, are stressing production rather than distribution. They are more interested in WHAT a job applicant knows than WHOM he knows. Scholarship emphasis proves this point. Scholarship, mentioned 375 times, or 23.3 per cent of an aggregate of 1,610 mentions, is listed three times as often as either personality and more than nine times as often as extra-curricular activities.

Character, although in the aggregate not mentioned as many times as scholarship, was placed first more than all other qualifications combined. Adaptability ranked second more times than all other qualities.

Dissenting slightly from the scholarship emphasis, C. G. Griffen, assistant dean of men, Georgia Tech, said that "personality and adaptability seem to be playing a more important part in the selection of men than heretofore, though high scholarship still carries great weight.

James P. Kerr, professor of business, North Central college, Naperville, Ill., noted trends toward "more specific training and more winning personality."

Leo P. Kibby, dean of guidance, Ventura, Calif.; Junior college, observed that "an unparalleled emphasis by employers is being placed upon the need for adaptability of employes to new working conditions. Employers belittle the notion that high academic ability assures a corresponding ability in work adjustment."

Campus activities and all around abilities elicited many comments. S. S. Von Roeder, registrar, University of San Antonio, Texas, felt that there "seems to be an increasing demand for graduates who have shown by their application to school work and participation in constructive campus activities that they are capable, energetic, and efficient in whatever they undertake."

"The best graduates, according to J. R. McAnelly, director of placement, Northern State Teachers college, Aberdeen, S. D., get several chances for positions while the mediocre are picked for inferior positions when the good ones are gone."

Selecting only campus leaders causes many good men to be overlooked, a Minnesota liberal arts college complains.

Ag Meet To Plan For Post-War Era

Post-war planning for Agriculture, and immediate agricultural activities relating to the nation's defense program will be the chief topics of study and discussion at the 27th annual conference of the Montana Extension service to be held at Montana State college December 12 to 19, inclusive, J. C. Taylor, extension director, announced today.

Attending the conference will be county extension agents and home demonstration agents from throughout the state, extension specialists and administrative officials of the service.

Besides the discussions relating to defense and post-war planning, the conference will also include special sessions on two important phases of Montana's agriculture—weed control, and livestock feeding, Taylor said.

The conference this year has been extended a day longer than is customary in order to provide adequate time to cover all the subjects on the program.

Society Editor Reviews Social Season With Its Numerous Activities

Looking back over the social calendar for the quarter, it's a wonder M. S. C. students have had any time for the more serious side of college. Over forty social events were scheduled in Dean Harrison's office, what with mixers, firesides, fall parties, and all-school parties springing up at every turn of the week.

Standing out head and shoulders above the other parties were Mortar Board and the Harvest Ball, the only all-school formals of the quarter. Programs from these dances dot the walls of coeds' rooms all over the campus, and happy memories will linger in their minds for years, no doubt.

The horde of greek, cooperative, and independent affairs has succeeded well in putting members of these organizations in circulation socially.

That parties are fun is an established fact, and the ones on the program for next quarter will be twice as much fun, for now that the first stilted moments of introduction are over and everyone knows each other, it's no trouble at all to break down and really enjoy the social events which M. S. C. provides.

Predictions: that the number of parties will not decrease on account of the world situation . . . but that students will be a little more thoughtful of the type of fun they have . . . and that many parties will be given for the actual monetary benefit of our country . . . and that the frivolous spending of huge sums in decorating and in presenting special attractions at the dances will be cut to a mere nothing . . .

Ham Hall Holds Christmas Party

Co-ed Basketball Officials Rated

Women's basketball games from now on will have rated officials as referees. Beginning October 16 a basketball clinic was held for the purpose of discussing rules and problems of basketball. A test was given and a Montana Board of Basketball Officiation set up. Miss Miriam Hart was elected president; Miss Audrey Dahl, vice-president; and Sara Cole, secretary-treasurer. This board will rate other officials. It is expected that women's basketball will be better as a result of this rating of officials.

In order for a person to get a Local A rating, she must pass a written test and also a practical test.

Marie Watson Is Champion Shooter

By firing a score of 99, Marie Watson became the champion of the coeds in rifle marksmanship. After two months of intensive practice on the part of all girls interested in rifle marksmanship an individual shoot was held. Second high score was shot by Carolyn Jarvi who had a 97. She will receive a medal while Marie Watson will get a trophy. For the highest score for a girl shooting for her first year, Hulah Stokkes received a medal for a score of 95.

Spurs, Fangs Dine Together

Juicy steaks and dancing were in order Sunday evening when the Spurs and Fangs held an informal dinner dance at the Bozeman Hot Springs.

Forgetting, for the evening, their traditional policy of helping to make all school functions a success, they swung out for a good time just among themselves. An otherwise more than enjoyable party, was made even more peppy when Duke Shuey elected to call a circle two-step; followed closely by a rollicking Virginia reel.

Over the coffee cups, Patty Flynn, prexy of the Spurs, and Everett Shuey, Duke of Fangs, both expressed the opinion that "we should do this more often." Not to quote a song title, of course.

Guest for the evening was George Biddle, Royal Duke of Intercollegiate Knights, who, when asked for a few words, responded in true style and said, "Let's get on with the dancing."

Chaperones were Miss Laird and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Howard.

SPORTS REVIEW

With the completion this week of the volley ball schedule, one of the most complete athletic programs ever conceived for fall quarter student participation in intramural sports bows itself out until January and a return engagement. Emphasis next quarter will be on bowling, skiing, and basketball.

1941 brought to MSC one of the most disastrous gridiron seasons in years, the Bobcats winning only one game—that with Western State, a team so weak that its school officials pleaded with the other members of the conference to make freshmen eligible for varsity competition. The brightest spot, or perhaps the only bright spot, was the remarkable play in the University game by which for the first time in nine years a cat team was able to cross the Grizzly goal line.

When the all-conference selections were made, the coaches found no Montana player with sufficient merit to be designated first-string. However the Denver Post saw fit to rate Art Dugan on the number one listing.

Intramurals proved more successful, with student interest unusually high. The AGR athletes have the lead in the inter-fraternity cup race, with two team championships already in the bag... The AGR's last week copped both boxing and wrestling, with their wrestling team nearly making a clean sweep of the bouts. Three other fall events were divided, cross country laurels falling to the Lambda Chi Alpha team, swimming to the SAE squad, and volley-ball to the undefeated Sigma Chis.

INTRAMURALS

Bowling

Suffering a 2-1 setback at the hands of the Lambda Chi Alpha team, Sigma Chi slipped to a first place tie with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, who won two out of three from Pi Kappa Alpha in intramural league bowling last Saturday. In the two other games, Kappa Sigma won over Phi Sigma Kappa 2-1, and Alpha Gamma Rho topped the Independent five by the same margin.

Howard Meeks was the big gun in the AGR victory, and took individual scoring honors with a game total of 222 and a watch mark of 552.

Volley Ball

The Sigma Chis won first place in the volley ball league this season with a perfect slate of seven wins over each of the other contestants for the honors. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon players placed second and the Kappa Sigmas third. Of the first four teams, each was defeated by all the teams that ranked above making the final standings exact.

The faculty, headed by Prof. Gaines, team was the outstanding of all teams in the league even though they were not competing for the cup or championship. They defeated all the college teams and by good margins, and perhaps had their best of many years, although they have not been defeated by a student aggregation for 15 seasons.

Varsity, Frosh Scrap Saturday

Freshmen basketball demonstrated their ability Saturday when they tangled with the varsity team in a game that brought a 58-29 win for the varsity, but saw the freshmen do well in holding down the high scoring upperclassmen.

Don Jorgenson was high scorer of the game by piling up 14 points to his credit and displaying fine floor work. Eddie Collins, sophomore forward, was second in gathering eight counters to his credit. Bob Stachwick and Cory Dogterum followed with seven and six each for the varsity.

On the freshmen squad, Callahan led the scoring with seven points and was followed by Reynolds and Sherrow with five and four each. Assistant coach Bill Ogle is coaching the freshmen under the supervision of head basketball coach Brick Breeden.

This contest marked the first full game for either team and both showed signs of progress since the opening practices a few weeks ago.

N. B. C. Stations

Merry Christmas
everybody... this is your old friend Ared Waring

This time I'm coming to you
With a timely shopping tip...

Drop in at your tobacco store
Take a look at the handsome way
Your Christmas Chesterfields are packed.

You never saw the like
Of these swell gifts...
Big ten package cartons
Cartons holding four tins of 50
And brand new this year
Special greeting cartons
Holding just three packs.

This year It's Chesterfield
For more pleasure than Anything else you can buy
For the money.

Milder
Better-Tasting
...that's why It's

Our Stocks Are Complete

We're all set to do the greatest Christmas business in years... and that means we haven't been "fraidy cats" in our buying.

We think you are sick and tired of hand to mouth giving and are ready for the biggest, brightest Christmas in years. We're guessing that you will buy early and well, but that it's going to take BRAND NEW MERCHANDISE AND AN OCEAN OF VALUE TO START YOU.

If we're wrong, it will be the poorest guess we've ever made. If we're right, we'll be seeing you, for we're showing the finest stocks ever displayed... finer by far than when stocks were high.
