

"Lost World" Comes Back Next Week

Past eras will be brought back to life on the evenings of January 23 and 24, when Phi Sigma, biology professional, presents "The Lost World" to the student body. "The Lost World" is a full length silent movie thriller of a generation ago and is concerned with the creatures of pre-historic time.

This movie features Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery when he was really funny, Bessie Love, and a huge assortment of dinosaurs and other terrifying beasts. When it was first screened quite a few years back, it was termed a "great" picture, and Phi Sigma is reviving it here because they feel people nowadays enjoy seeing the old time pictures.

Along with the feature picture, an old Harold Lloyd comedy will be shown, and there will be other types of entertainment such as used to be found in movie houses about a generation back. The Engineering auditorium will serve as the theatre for the occasion.

MSC Intensifies Debate Program For Rest Of Year

In a recent statement President Roosevelt said, "I have long been keenly interested in public forums and round table discussion groups as a democratic means of developing popular understanding of the pressing public issues. Now, under the impact of the defense emergency, I am convinced that it is more important than ever that the people, and particularly the students in our colleges and universities, be encouraged freely to assemble to discuss our common problems. Indeed, this is one of the freedoms that we are determined to defend."

In keeping with the suggestion by our president Montana State College will intensify its debate program for the remainder of the year. Present plans call for the sending of students to four debate and discussion meets. These include a trip to Denver in February to participate in a tournament there, trips to the state debate tournament in Missoula and to some undetermined place to participate in the extemporaneous discussion sponsored by the Nelson Rockefeller Foundation, and student delegate to attend the Pi Kappa Delta tournament in Minneapolis during April.

In order that Montana State College be adequately represented at all of these meets, it is essential that more students participate in the debate program. In order to aid students who are interested in this work, an exhibition debate will be held Thursday evening in the Little Theatre Room of Main Hall at 7:30, January 15.

If you are interested in trying out for any of these trips, see Mr. Hansen for particulars.

Dancing Dean May Have To Serve In Uncle Sam's Army

Dean Marvin Kelly headed a group of 107 selective service registrants when Gallatin County sent three bus loads of men to Butte Friday, January 9, for physical examinations.

"I don't know whether I am classified in such a manner as to carry through this school year or not. If I am not re-classified I shall go back to work for the Federal Bureau of Investigation," said Kelly. He was formerly employed by the F. B. I. and visited one of their 54 branch offices while in Butte.

Dean Kelly doesn't know yet if he has been re-classified. This will depend on the local draft board.

Four of the 107 men were unable to qualify after taking their physicals. A series of 12 doctors conducted the examinations. One of these, Dr. Burton, took his Pre-Medical training at Montana State College. Many of the boys inquired about entrance into the navy, marine corps, and various other branches of the service and Dean Kelly believes a large number of them will go to into some other branch than waiting for the army to call them. These men will be inducted and report to Fort Lewis within 60 days.

Dean Kelly wishes to announce that "as soon as this is straightened out" his dancing classes will carry on. But he doesn't want to start the classes this quarter if they can't be continued.

Senate Receives Defense Material

The Commissioner of Education in Washington, D. C. has sent material to the Student Senate concerning the question of how colleges can participate in the present defense program. Suggestion has been made to hold several general assemblies during the rest of the school year at which time speakers chosen from the student body will give short panels and answer questions on topics of interest.

Information Issued To Would Be C.P.T. Pilots

If you want to fly in this coming "spring program" (which begins this winter quarter), see Professor Johnson in the physics department at once. It is not too late to submit application. We are hoping to be able to take all who wish to begin, and we must know how many will qualify.

Will all students, who have applied, please report to Professor Johnson at once, as it is important that physical examinations be taken and that EACH STUDENT APPLICANT TAKE THE NECESSARY STEPS TO SECURE PROPER IDENTIFICATION DATA. Call for the sheet of directions.

"One Life"

Walter Duranty, whose famous books and news reporting have distinguished him in the literary world, will lecture here January 21.

NOTICE

Freshmen Women: If you have not received your invitation to the Spur banquet please call or see Peg Harrington, 1645 or Leila Linfield, 450-J. All Freshmen women are invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased in the S. U. B. January 21 and 22.

Please leave a complete list of all your activities in the Montanan office immediately.

Fiery

Carmalita Maracci, exotic Uruguayan dancer, will appear in Bozeman as a Community Concert presentation on January 26th.

Famed Correspondent, Writer, Lecturer, Will Tell Of War Here January 21

Exotic Dancer And Group Scheduled For January 26th

CARMALITA MARACCI - "a new personality in the dance world," the New York Sun calls her.

With her individualized creations etched with humor and satire, as well as romance, and with the fascination of a classic program of such wide scope as to include Spanish, classic and American dances, Maracci will appear at the college gymnasium January 26.

As a creator, she gives new meaning and beauty to the dance; as a dancer, she fascinates by her grace and the vibrant quality of her personality. In her slight body—she is only 5 feet 1 inch tall—there is tremendous power.

Her originality asserts itself in each number, while the intensity of her passionate outbursts of ecstasy or frenzy make her dancing an exciting event. It is nothing unusual for hairpins to fly, a fan to be broken in the dancer's hands, and small outcries to escape her lips. These are the natural expressions of a fiery temperament inherent in the dancer.

Carmalita Maracci was born in Montevideo, Uruguay, and was brought up in San Francisco. She was trained in the dance in New York by Zamfretta, an Italian ballet master of the old school. But like every creative artist, she uses her own form of expression for her own individual vision. In this respect, the programs of Maracci hold inexhaustible interest.

Bobcats Tangle Greeley Here This Weekend

Smarting from last Saturday's defeat by Western State, the Bobcats are concentrating this week on ways and means of upsetting the Greeley State Bears when that team comes here this weekend for the second Conference series on the Bobcat floor. Although Greeley's early season on paper is little better than that of the Breedenmen, six wins and five losses, the Bears played teams out of their class. The Colorado team has nearly all of last year's championship squad back, together with a new center, Meyers. This lad has been heralded by sports writers and coaches of the Rocky Mountain region as the best in many years.

These games will end Montana's home conference stand and probably will make or break any hopes for the league crown.

NOTICE

There will be a ski meeting this Thursday in Room 141 at the S. U. B.

Walter Duranty, famous foreign correspondent for the N. Y. Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance and author of "The Kremlin and The People" will lecture here on Wednesday, January 21 at 8:00 p. m. in the gymnasium. His subject will be "When East Meets West in Battle."

Mr. Duranty recently returned to America from Russia and the Far East. During the four years since he last visited this country, he has been in virtually every capital in Europe. He stayed in Japan six weeks before sailing for San Francisco.

Mr. Duranty was born in Liverpool, England, and was educated at Harrow, Bedford and Cambridge. He then joined the European service of the N. Y. Times and covered World War I, first on the Eastern Front and then in France. In 1921 he was sent to Moscow by the N. Y. Times and was stationed there until 1934. Since that time, he has roamed the globe at will, writing special articles for the North American Newspaper Alliance, for Collier's and for The Atlantic Monthly, as well as for the N. Y. Times.

Harrington Goes To SAE Conclave

Charles Harrington left last night to attend the National Convention of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Chiz has been selected as a representative of Lambda Province which includes Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon. Montana Alpha of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was privileged to send a delegate because this chapter has had the highest scholastic record in Lambda Province since 1939.

Emmett Moore, Province President from Washington State College, accompanied Chiz. They will return January 20.

Burdick Manages Book Store Now

As a result of Frank Strong's induction into the army, Miss Alice Burdick has taken the position of managing the Bookstore. She will hold this job until a new manager can be appointed.

Frank Strong had been the manager of the store since June, 1940. He was married to Babe Chaffin on December 27, and left for Fort Lewis on December 29.

Miss Burdick was formerly Strong's secretary and has been with the store since August, 1940. There will be no change in the bookstore other than the appointment of a new manager.

Intelligent, loyal

We were told the other day by a faculty member that the faculty and students of Montana State College are not on opposite sides of any question, that they stand shoulder to shoulder on all problems. We discussed this with another student, and he said, "Yeah,
they stand shoulder to shoulder . . .
with a knife in each other's back."
If this is the case, it most certainly shouldn't be. With all the student-faculty committees and the small size of our classes there should be every opportunity for the students to know their teachers and realize their attitudes and responsibilities and for the faculty to know their students and realize what they want from college and what is the best way to help them to get it.

This is no time for petty quibbling anywhere. If we are to finish our crowded-up school year with any semblance of efficiency and success, it seems that we have to concentrate a little more on the basic problem of training men and women for service and a little less on minor problems.

It seems that most arguments
arise over extra-curricular activities. We have always been under the impression that the main job
of the faculty is to create a desire for knowledge in students and then help them learn, and that the main reason students are in college is that their primary interest is in becoming educated.

If both groups feel this way, then they naturally stand shoulder to shoulder, and we do have what Mr. Wilson yesterday said was necessary for a good university—

an intelligent and loyal faculty and intelligent and loyal students.

LOOSE QUOINS

We were hunting for news Monday afternoon. It was the kind of lazy day you always say "I wish I were a child again", and other people say, "Oh, no you don't, because children are unhappy." So we said instead, "We wish we had a coke"
and walked into the chem building
to get one.

While over there we saw a piece of paper pasted to the door of some research department. On the top of the paper was a little newspaper clipping saying that there would be no more weather reports. Under this was a large black crayoned
"Censored." This was followed by a long story on the censorship of all weather information in order not to give the enemy any valuable news. At the bottom of the paper was a weather report.

We wandered over to the greenhouse to look at those 2,000 chrysanthemums we never got around to seeing before and discovered that they are all gone. There were a few potted geraniums in one corner, but for the most part there was a lot of dirt and heat, and a man leaning in a corner watching us suspiciously.

Someone asked McCay the other day what sex the Lewis Hall skeleton is. McCay said it is a male
one. "How old is he?" "the inquisitive person wanted to know. "Oh,"
said McCay carelessly, "old enough to be drafted."

Another thing we're wondering about is why there is a drawing of an oil can on the bulletin board in the extension building. It has been there every time we go into the multigraph department to see a friend. Of course, it's a very nice oil can, as witnessed by the A that Patty Flynn got for drawing
it. But we just wondered, that's all.

We have a little chum who, besides making up new forms of double talk, bring forth sage little tidbits now and then for our consumption. One that we particularly remember is his conjecture that "in all probability, kittens born in the oven are not biscuits." Also, when asked for some way someone could make a linoleum cut symbolizing no spring vacation this year, he suggested, "Show the Bobcat Band sober."

Brannegan Leaves For Home Ec Meet

Dean Gladys Brannegan, President of the National Home Economics Association, left Wednesday evening for Chicago and Washington, D. C. for an association conference. Miss Brannegan is the head of the Department of Household and Applied Arts on the Montana State campus. She has been the president of the national organization for several years past.

The Pi Kappa Delta picture will be taken Thursday evening at 7:30
in the Little Theatre Room, January 15th.

All active members, and pledges,
should be on hand for this picture.

Senior Artists To Paint Up Lewis Hall

M. S. C.'s senior art students, under the direction of Miss Jessie Wilbur, are beginning preliminary sketches for two murals to be painted on the walls in Lewis Hall.
One mural will depict Montana in the Pleistocene age, and the other the history of Rocky mountain spotted fever.

The murals will be constructed in places designated for them by the architects of the building, in spaces along the walls of the front entranceway to Lewis Hall. The students are planning and painting
these murals as part of their work in senior design.

Teaching a new Army old "tricks" in telephony

The telephone plays a vital role in army communications.
So the Bell System is helping to school Signal Corps
men in practically every phase of telephone construction, operation and maintenance.

This training job is but a small part of the tremendous task Bell System people are doing in this national crisis. They're setting up telephone systems for new camps, bases and factories—handling an enormous volume of calls needed to coordinate the Nation's war effort.

Throughout the country, Bell System people are wholeheartedly cooperating in the drive for victory. To men and women of their high caliber, there is real satisfaction in a difficult job well done.

Varsity Ball Will Feature Picking Of Best Athlete

The Fangs will again assume the roll of sponsors when the Varsity Ball come off Friday night. Given in honor of the "M" Club, the dance will feature the presentation of the outstanding athlete of the year as selected by the Athletic committee. As per usual, dancing will start at nine and stop at twelve. The Varsity Sextette will furnish the rhythm.

Although dancing will progress according to programs, the affair promises to have the "pep and go" of a mixer. The chosen athlete will be presented with an award in keeping with the honor. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hyatt, Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and Dean Kelly. The social committee of the Fangs is in charge of arrangements and expects a capacity crowd.

Artists Display Pretty Pictures

A National Federation of Arts exhibit of unusual interest will be on display in the Fireplace Room of Harrick Hall during the next few weeks, according to the announcement of Mrs. Olga Ross Hannon, head of the Art Department. The exhibit will feature a collection of extremely detailed and beautifully painted pictures of Early American objects, such as vases, furniture, and textiles.

Social Error Number One

War or no war, it's a pretty poor thing to go around forgetting about the social graces which were once a part of our regular behavior. In this first of a series of dissertations on the commonly violated social "laws," we are concentrating on that irresponsible male who insists on walking on the inside when accompanying the girl friend. Not only is this embarrassing to the girl herself, but it shows the fellow to be a social heel. Everyone knows that it is only proper for the boy to walk on the outside, so few can plead innocence.

This little item in Emily Post's vast repertoire, was originally designed to protect Madam from being showered with slop and garbage thrown from the windows of medieval hovels and to keep her from being splashed with mud from the streets when Sir Galahad went whipping by on a snow white steed. In this modern age, the automobile does the splashing, and it is just as important that her ladyship be spared the shower as it was back in the Dark Ages.

If you boys are panting for social disapproval and disdain, just keep up your disregard for the aforesaid courtesy. But don't say we didn't warn you! ! !

Montana Sends High Percentage Of Men Into Air

The State of Montana is keeping up its record of being one of the best-represented states at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas, where 2200 aviation cadets are now in training for the U. S. Naval Air Reserve.

Of the group now in training there are 58 sons of Montana enrolled representing eight Montana colleges and universities, according to information received from the Thirteenth Naval District, Seattle. Of all the states in the union only three are not represented with cadets at the training station.

In the second class to graduate from the new school in November, 1941, Montana as second in the number of sons among the cadets who were commissioned and given their wings.

Although some states have a larger representation at the Corpus Christi station than Montana, such as California with 453 students and Texas with 226, no state has so great a percentage in proportion to its population.

Of the eight Montana schools represented among the 58 men from the state, the University of Montana has 16 alumni and Montana State College has 23 former students. Other schools represented include Montana Normal, Billings Polytechnic Institution, and the Great Falls College of Education.

M. S. C. alumni enrolled are: Edwin W. Allard; E. A. Arnold jr.; John C. Brown jr.; Francis O. Burton; Henry E. Clark; Bernard S. Cluzen; Thomas S. Dardis; Benjamin C. Fowler; Art Garland jr.; Jack M. Garske; George O. Tubb jr.; M. W. Heaphy jr.

Cyrus S. Lee; R. A. Martin; R. A. Morin; A. P. Neiswender; C. W. Rich; G. M. Violette; N. C. Whittington; J. C. Brown jr.; R. C. White and O. E. Sheppard jr.

There will be a meeting of the University Dames Club on Wednesday, January 14, at 8 p. m., in the Fireplace Room at Herrick Hall. All wives of students are invited to attend.

Nutrition Council Has First Meeting Friday Evening

Friday evening, January 9, the first meeting of the Nutrition Council of the campus of M. S. C. was held in the faculty lounge at the S. U. B. Members of the committee are Miss Leigh, Miss Clow, Miss Fuls, Miss Church, Mary Briggs, Billie Austin, Helen Walterskirchen, Bill Mussleman, Glenn Marsh, Mable Cramer, Merlin Fiske, Jean Tait, Dick Foote and Joel Leonard.

The purpose of this committee is to make people on the campus more conscious of their need for good nutrition. This need is true any time, but especially now during the present national emergency. The plan for the present is to emphasize certain nutritional and dietary factors that may be of help to the students. If anyone has a problem of this type the committee will be most glad to be of help.

Cats Split Series With Western State

Montana State split a double-header with Western State Friday and Saturday by winning the first, 41-29, and dropping the latter, 37-35, in two thrill packed contests.

In the opening game of the Rocky Mountain Conference, the Bobcats showed superior teamwork and deceptiveness to easily defeat Western after holding a good margin all the way after three minutes of play. At half time, the Montanans had a 19-10 margin and in the last few minutes of play, they had increased it to 37-19.

Outstanding in all around playing was Dan Mizner who did a good job of guarding and also topped the scoring with 13 points to his credit. John Hall was second in scoring for the Cats by dropping in six pointers and Eddie Collins turned in a fine job of floorwork.

Wagner of Western led his team with eight points to overshadow Bill Andreas, top conference scorer of last year, who accounted for five points.

Second Game

Western State showed a complete reverse of style on Saturday evening and edged out the Bobcats, 37-35, in a thrilling contest that saw the lead change hands almost at random and saw Western even the series.

Although again tossing in more field goals than the visitors, the Bobcats converted only seven of 20 gift tosses to sew up their defeat while Western made 13 of 19 tries.

Scoring honors were shared by Jinx Anderson of the Bobcats and Bill Andreas of Western with 12 pointers each. Lundberg of the visitors was second with nine points and Montana's Bob Stachwick accounted for six.

Jones of Western State proved to be the hero of the contest when with less than three minutes to go, he looped in the winning basket and gave his team a split for the series.

Birds, Balls Are Fighting In Gym

Badminton birds and basketballs are fighting it out in the little gym to see which one should reign supreme for awhile. At present, badminton has a slight edge over basketball because its tournament is due to start very soon while basketball won't start for several weeks. Girls interested in badminton have been practicing with an eye to being in perfect form for the tournament. Teams have started to take the rough edges off their playing with a few preliminary practices. However, basketball hasn't started in earnest.

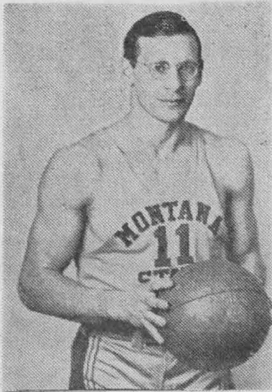

Skiers, returning from vacation, were pleased to find that skiing was good and have been going at it with vim and vigor.

Ice skaters were just as pleased to find that skating was going strong and have been turning in practices while there is something on which to practice.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Would the person who took the ski equipment from the basement of one of the Fraternity houses over the vacation please return the same. Thank you!

Scrappy

Dan Mizner . . . rough and tough center, is one of the fastest men on the squad. His ball hustling would be a valuable asset to any basketball team.

SPORTS REVIEW

By Hank Young

Western State upset Bobcat hopes for a two-win start in the Rocky Mountain Conference during the week-end by staging a surprise contest on Saturday and edging out a game that could easily have been the other way around. Regardless of the strength of the two teams, they stand on even terms in the conference standings and as no other games were played last week they are the only indication of the outcome in the race. The statistics column points out that the Bobcats made their big slip in the Saturday defeat on gift tosses. They converted only seven of 20 tries, while the opponents took advantage of 13 of 19 chances. A fifty per cent average in the free throws would have won the contest.

Dan Mizner turned in his best performance to date Friday night when he did a fine job of ball dogging and at the same time was high scorer. His opponent for the center berth also did a good job in the two games and Eddie Collins showed the best floor work in the duo of games.

It seems like the tables were almost turned on the Bobcats on Saturday after they rushed and outplayed Western State on Friday. Western played better ball on the following night, but the big difference came in the Bobcat breaks in the first half. Those shots just didn't seem to convert and the opponents made use of the opportunity and kept on even terms in the scoring and tossed in the winning tally in the final minutes to take the game and split the series.

The Bobcats face a tougher foe this week at the gym in the Greeley State Bears who last year took the conference crown by a few percentage points and hope to repeat it again this year and from resultant scores, they are a leading contender.

These will be must win games for the Bobcats and with one loss already chalked up, any more losses would greatly darken their chances of retaking the crown which they have held the greater part of the time in the last few years. The Bobcats seem to be a first game team and the contests may again wind up in a split . . . better yet, a couple of wins.

Skiers Represent College At Sun Valley Try-Outs

A five man ski team represented Montana State College at the annual Sun Valley tryouts held at Anaconda last Sunday.

The meet was a three way affair, (downhill, slalom and jumping) of which Lloyd Sandeland of M. S. C. taking third in jumping placed as an alternate on the Montana team which goes to Sun Valley next Sunday. Kirby Whitham and Bill Downs placed among the first five in the downhill and slalom, but due to inexperience in the jumping didn't qualify for the Montana team.

The M. S. C. team consisted of Lloyd Sandeland, Kirby Whitham, Ed Stuart, Sid Gustafson, from Bozeman, Kent O'Kelly from Butte and Bill Downs from Helena.

Team standings were: Bozeman first, Great Falls second, Butte third and M. S. C. fourth with Anaconda, Missoula, Ennis, Bear Canyon and Helena finishing in that order.

This first meet shows that M. S. C. has a stronger team than last year's when they beat the Montana U and won the Rocky Mountain conference meet as well as placing in all the state meets. With lots of hard work and practice this year promises to be a repeater.

Rock Club Will Show Treasures At Exhibition

Students and faculty of the Montana State College are invited to visit the exhibition of the Rock Club in the basement of the Presbyterian church on Thursday afternoon and evening and Friday afternoon and evening. There is no charge for admission. The hours on Thursday are from 1:30 to 9:30, and on Friday from 1:30 to 6, and from 8 to 9:30.

Among the displays will be a variety of agates, sliced, cut, and polished; agate transparencies, Indian artifacts, concretions; agatized wood, in great variety and many colors; some mounted cut stones, and many other mineralogical curios.

The Rock Club is made up of nearly a hundred members, amateurs in geology and mineralogy, and mostly collectors. Several of the college faculty are among the group. About half the members are from outside Bozeman, and some are from other states who spend the summer in Montana and take field trips with the club.

Last season the club took trips to the Tom Miner Basin for staurolite specimens, to the upper Madison to visit a soapstone mine, and to the Morrison cavern for sightseeing.

NOTICE TO BOXERS AND WRESTLERS

The annual M Club boxing and wrestling tournament will be held Feb. 3rd, 4th and 5th. Due to conditions beyond our control it has been proposed that we adopt the following rule: Anyone wishing to enter the tournament must sign up 10 days in advance (Jan. 24th dead line), and must work out each day and be physically fit before he will be allowed to enter the ring. Facilities for signing up and checking in each day will be made available at check room in gym.

Your showing in this tourney will help make decision for the boxing and wrestling teams that will compete against Montana University. Let's all turn out and BEAT the GRIZZLIES.
