

Montana Cage Championship Hangs on Grizzly-Bobcat Series

The Bear Came Over the Mountain...

... He Should Have Stayed at Home

Montana State's Bobcats will meet the University Grizzlies in Bozeman this week-end for the final series of the season to decide the Montana intercollegiate crown.

In the first meeting of the two rivals, the Grizzlies slashed out the first victory in a hot and torrid evening that brought them 74 points to only 55 for the Blue and Gold. The tables were quickly turned the next evening when the Bobcat attack became more effective and it was a Montana State victory, 64-52.

Since that time the Bobcats spent two shaky week-ends in splits and then came through in top form to clinch the Rocky Mountain title from a strong Colorado College quintet. Being on the carpet of public opinion, the star-laden Montana State team presented one of their best displays of hardwood tactics in that final series before the deciding games against the University of Montana.

Across the big divide over in Missoula, the Grizzlies continued their same style of ball playing that has knotted them little to scream about, but they have proved themselves to be a good Western quintet and play a steady brand of ball. They have just the combination of scorers and defense men to provide the measure of victory when an apparently stronger team on paper lags in its style of ball. However they lost to Cheney College in their last game before the Bozeman games.

Inconsistency, which has plagued the Bobcats all season will be the big deciding factor as to who will cop the Montana title. If the Cats can repeat the performance of the last week against the Grizzlies they will sew up the series three to one. But, if they follow the pattern set during most of the season, they will have a tough time with underdog Grizzly five who will be all out to tuck these two games under their belt and grab the honors from their rival Montana team.

Big guns in the Grizzly attack against Montana State will again be the combination of Davis and Carstensen. They have consistently led the University attack and were effective in the Bobcat defeat a month ago. Davis led the Grizzlies in both previous games with 17 points each night and is the leading point-getter for the invading team. Dick Carstensen is a freshman delight of Coach Jiggs Dahlberg and has usually tallied heavily for his team. Jiggs has watched the Blue and Gold send his team down to defeat the majority of his coaching career at the University, but he usually always comes up with a team that puts a good scare in his Eastern opponents from Bozeman.

It would be impossible to name Montana State's stars on one hand, but when it comes to a hot night, one finger will usually suffice. The big problem for Coach Brick Breeden all season has been to find a combination that can function as a well-oiled quintet.

He has tried every trick in the books and his latest combination of rotation for eight men seems to be the best gamble so far.

Joe Kelly was the ace to send the Grizzlies down to defeat in the first series, but dopsters fail to give him top honors as a team man and his effectiveness still stands in his eagle eye for the hoop that can garner points rapidly when he is in best form. Perhaps, the best performer on the Blue and Gold is Ray Kuka who is a good team man and can handle the ball with ease equaled only by one other player. Ray is further the stellar defense man and in his new position at center he allows few close-in shots for opponents. On offense, he spells danger in nearly every game and contributes strongly to most Bobcat scores.

Mike McCormick is Kuka's standby when it comes to caressing the ball. He is smooth and tricky in every move and knows what is happening on the floor. He sparks at times in his scoring, but does have his cold nights at the hoop. Boyd DeTonancour has an outstanding record for the Bobcats, but he has had a tough time playing consistent scoring ball which he has been noted for. Saturday night was a standout for him. He is a good feed man when hot. Tom Brown increased his stock as the season progressed and now stands as a smooth ball player for the Blue and Gold.

Cowpokes, Cowgirls Dress for Grizzlies

Gr-r-r—"And keep your feet off that Grizzly mat!" They're here again! Those furious bearskins from the far west again try to overcome the Bobcats. Will they never tire?

It's the battle of the year. And what a battle. The cowpokes and cowgirls dressed in their respective attire back up their den of Cats in the traditional game of the season. Everyone comes—and not formal. Leave the high hat and tails for those "city-slickers." And remember, give out with some of those barnyard yells. It's fun; it's sensational; it's the thing to do.

Now after we've successfully taken care of the game, and in accordance with our "western hospitality," the Spurs and Fangs welcome one and all to the barnyard mixer in the Sub. Amidst cow-shoots, corals, hay, and melodious tunes from the Campus Caravan (cowboys with music), we dance, laugh, and entertain our guests.

Amid the bustle, confusion and numerous parties on the campus this quarter, Les Bouffons announces the distinctive All School Formal Dance, to be held March 8 in the Bozeman Armory. Les Bouffons will tap their 1967-48 pledges and present this year's All-School Queen.

Although some of you may not have been aware that such an organization existed, Les Bouffons is an honorary, social fraternity which has held a prominent position in our campus activities since it was founded at M.S.C. in 1900.

The purpose of the fraternity is to award recognition to those men of the Junior class who have best exemplified qualities of good fellowship and leadership. It has also played a prominent part in sponsoring the furtherance of school spirit and traditions. The popular Sadie Hawkins Day Dance is another of its annual events.

One of the more esteemed privileges of the Les Bouffons is to annually sponsor the selection and presentation of the all-school queen. In accordance with tradition, the presentation will be made at the dance—the only all-school formal this year.

New members of the organization as chosen by the currently-active members are selected from outstanding Juniors. Les Bouffons owes its strength and stability to the discretion with which they choose their successors.

All men on the campus are urged to make this dance a must on their list of social events. Tickets will be sold March 6 and 7 in the Student Union. At that time all men of the student body may cast their votes for All-School Queen.

In order to avoid any confusion, let it be known here and now that the Queen For A Day is not to be confused with the queens of any other events or organization. She may be one of them by coincidence but who knows!

There will be a meeting Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Student Union building for all persons interested in the formation of a motor cycle club. Qualifications, ownership of a motorcycle.

"Stand Up and Cheer"

A new upswing in genuine campus spirit, something that was conspicuous by its absence some months ago, was sonorously obvious last weekend at our games with the Colorado cagemen. The Bobcats, definitely the pre-game underdogs, rose to the occasion and swamped the Tigers 71 to 63 and 65 to 49 inspired by the enthusiastic cheering of the fans. This burst of enthusiasm certainly did much towards boosting our fighting Bobcats to win two straight over a squad who had lost only two games previously this season and to the Rocky Mountain Championship.

This coming weekend we meet the Missoula Grizzlies here. Our squad has the ability to down the Silvertips! It remains up to us to offer every bit of encouragement to Breeden's men to trounce the Missoulians.

To date this year, the only advantage the Grizzlies have proffered has been spiritual. Their athletic ability has been questionable. With the spirit and cheering exhibited on our campus of late there is no reason to believe that the Grizzlies will be any more than welcome, but badly beaten guests.

Our "M" club set an outstanding example at those Colorado clashes. Led by cheerleaders officio, Berger and McClellan, the "M" club and their guests did an admirable job of inspiring audile enthusiasm. Other organized groups on our campus would do well to meet, and beat this cheering challenge of the "M" club. This coming weekend is the time to do it.

Letters To the Editor

Editor Montana Exponent:

In my estimation there is now a very bad situation existing on this campus. I am referring to the Health Service Department. Lately, I have heard various and sundry remarks and comments about the general inefficiency and mismanagement of the Health Department. As conditions now exist, students are compelled to pay $3 quarterly into the Health Fund. This would amount to a sum well over $3000 monthly on which to run this department.

What the thesis of this letter is about is the sad fact that we are not getting anywhere near our money's worth. If a student is reported sick, it should immediately be investigated as to its nature, cause, and severity (which is not done now). Students are given the same pill compound for practically all ailments, including headaches, stomach ailments, colds, flu, etc. I feel confident that I do not need to bring up any specific instance—goodness knows there have been enough of them—but that is not the purpose of this letter. Another item—a student cannot choose his own doctor, but must utilize the choice of the college. It seems to me that we should have the authority to choose a doctor that can at least tell appendicitis from a broken leg!

Undoubtedly the books are open to show students where the money is going that we forfeit to the health fund, but the fact remains that we are not getting any benefits from it!! My suggestion would be to adopt the Blue Cross plan. It costs no more, $1 monthly, and it is controlled and managed much more efficiently. Anyone familiar with the Blue Cross Plan realizes its many advantages over the system now in practice at our College. I feel confident that the majority of the student body is behind me in this proposal, but would like their views and comments on this situation.

Respectfully submitted,
Norman G. Penwell.

Faculty Members Participate at Lewistown

President R. R. Renne, R. B. Toottell, Director of Extension, and Miss Geraldine Fenn, Assistant 4-H Club Leader, were among Montana State staff members who participated in the Central Montana Farm and Home Week at Lewistown, February 12 to 15. Chancellor G. A. Selke addressed the group on Wednesday afternoon along with President R. R. Renne on educational problems and on Thursday afternoon Director Toottell and President Renne discussed the outlook for agriculture. On Friday afternoon Director Toottell led a panel discussion on opportunities for youth in central Montana. Miss Fenn led group singing and participated in other events during the four-day program.

Cage Championship

He is definitely capable of standing up to a fast pace and can keep the ball moving. Not being a consistent high scorer, he is almost a sure contributor of points.

Joe Mathias has been plagued by an injury, but he played outstanding ball two weeks ago and can easily be a contributor for the final games and in next season's play. Big Tom Stachwick scored 22 points against the University team on the Missoula hardwood in 1943, but since the war Tom has had a tough time playing steady ball. Spencer Kopand and Glenn Gordon have been good men at the center spot, but they have had a tough time holding the fast Bobcat pace.

These men and the remainder of Brick Breeden's 15-man squad have the means to come across with two smashing victories against the University Grizzlies in Bozeman this week-end if they can make teamwork and stellar play the outstanding features of the series. Breeden's men will still be on the carpet for their inconsistency, but after last week's performance another such exhibition will wind up the season for them with praises for the development they made after mid-season sporadic playing.

Balch and Seaton Win Debate for AGR

The AGR's, represented by Bob Balch and Keith Seaton, won top honors in intramural debating. Climaxing three weeks of meets by defeating Milton Campbell and John Ryan, runners up from the SAE House, will put the Hausman and McCall Debate Trophy in the AGR house as soon as the names of the winners have been engraved on it.

In a three place tie for third place were Bill Reid and Clarence Mehl, representing the Lambda Chi, Charles Dougherty and Jim Van Denburg of the Independents, and John Webster and W. Frank upholding the honor of the Phi Sigs.

Morry Irvine, Bill Reid, Milton Campbell, and Jim Van Denburg will make up the four man debate team which, accompanied by Mr. Parker, will journey to Portland today. Members of the squad will be entered in college debates on the labor-management question, the labor industry forum, and impromptu speaking at Linfield College.

Gibi Says---

Hear ye! Hear ye vets to what the Veterans Administration has to tell you. They believe they have helped you feel at home by surrounding you with mud such as we have here on our well paved streets. Some of the chuck holes in the roads suggest foxholes. Bearing this in mind, the Vets Ad would like to have your help.

Seems that some vets find the war of M.S.C. a little rough duty so they plan on deserting or will not return to M.S.C. spring quarter. If you are one of these war weary vets see the V. A. before the end of your winter quarter hitch and they will take certain steps to safeguard your future eligibility under the B. I. Bill or Vocational Rehab Act. Only through these local campus HQ officers can this be done. This also applies to you inmates who are completing your college work.

You yardbirds desiring to make changes in your major curriculum are once again urged to contact the V. A. office on the double since approval for such changes must be had in advance before the change can be made. In addition to the approval of the V. A. you must go through the chain of command which involves your sergeant (class advisors), master sergeant (Dean of your division), and finally the assistant to the commanding officer (the Registrar).

Scuttlebutt has been going around about the periodic reports of earning that all veterans attending college under the G. I. Bill must file. The V. A. has decided to give you the straight dope. The blank form on which the report is to be rendered is mailed every four months directly to the veteran from the V. A. Regional Office, Fort Harrison, Montana, and these forms will be mailed to various veterans at different intervals, depending on the last digit in your "C" number. As an example, the vets whose "C" numbers end in 2 or 3, the form will be received in February, June, and October, etc. Monthly subsistence payments from the Government will not be included in the report of earnings, but the figure reported is to include income tax deductions, and is not the net wage or salary received.

CONGRATULATIONS WITH CHESTERFIELDS

It looks like the change in weather has caused a slacking of pin hangings around M.S.C. this last week. Of course there are two fellows that are on the ball and don't have to have the right weather to take the fatal step. I'm speaking of Bob Balch (AGR) who hung his pin on Dorothy Olson (Pi Phi), and Bert Sherrow (Sigma Chi), who took Pat Burke (Chi Omega) out of circulation.

We are very happy to announce that Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Houghton are the proud parents of a baby girl. Papa Houghton will have his head in the clouds for some time.

Come on students, don't forget to turn these events in to the Exponent office. We would all like to hear the good news.

More than half of the civilian men employed by federal agencies, or 781,400 out of 1,477,400, are war veterans according to the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Well, thanks to the Froshponent and test week, we have had two weeks in which to meditate our multitudinous sins and reconstruct our public vocabulary. The results, as you may possibly have guessed, are all negative and in spite of the long gestation period, no really promising rebirth seems imminent.

The labor was so strenuous that we find ourselves mentally exhausted, a state of things which occurs all too frequently. However, we were alert enough to note the subtle wistfulness with which the emasculated Froshponent included an article on freedom of the college press at Colgate University. We shed an inward tear in total sympathy.

But let us get on. Our roommate, a paunchy, balding character who eats sugar on his spinach, was complaining the other day that his name never appears in this rag, so we are obliging. The name he loves to read is Robert Eugene Danskin and his telephone number (day or night) is 250. We have another room-mate, or rather, another suite-mate (we loll in luxury in separate rooms) but he is a retiring chap and has threatened us with fates dire if we so much as mention that we are a friend of his.

Contrary to popular opinion, we have a few friends, and a motley crew they are, too. Like emeralds, we cherish them for their rarity without thought for their intrinsic value.

It was our misfortune not to be able to attend the festivities in Dean Harrison's office when the veterans' wives wishing to enroll children in the nursery came in, as per the posted notice, singing and leaving their slips. A rare thing!

We had an uncomfortable experience the other day. Descending in an elevator from the dizzy heights of one of the city's most imposing office buildings, we glanced up to find ourselves transfixed in one of the iciest and most suspicion-laden stares it has ever been our chilling discomfort to behold. Further perusal of the stare's possessor disclosed: (1) a disquieting physique, (2) a mustache, bristling with authority, (3) a uniform, also bristling with authority, (4) a highly polished metal shield emblazoned "Chief." We slunk out of the elevator, and, pulling our collar around our ears, made our getaway up the street. As yet, no posse has caught up with us.

Bobcatting...

The A.G.R.'s are quite a frat—a few weeks ago, Balch, Blenkner and Kirscher had a friendly fight—with tooth paste and Bon Ami and cold tubs. By rumor, Joe Kirscher went in the tub first, amid hot water followed by Bob Balch in cold water. What a house!

Just ask Bob Sieverts if you fella's want a telephone number when you go to Billings—call 3534 and ask for Olga—let's give him some competition.

Patty O'Leary was seen at the Derby Dance with the well known man on campus—Ed Joselyn.

This week-end the gals of MSC picked blonde Bob Tietjen of the Kappa Sigs as their King of the Hill for the year. Congrats, Bob.

Seen dancing Friday nite was Martha Lee Pope with that good looking man of hers, and then we saw Vidge Boid out with Sid Engstrom, SAE.—And somewhere there must have been Donna Murman and Roy Seagrem.

Joan Hoiness seems to be one of our favorites—lately seems to be the favorite of Lawston Burke, too.

The latest happenings of the week-end—Pat Burke is now wearing the white cross of Sigma Chi belonging to Bert Sherrol. And Patty Dye is wearing "Tats" Day's white cross.

One of the happiest couples on this campus since the big event of the pin hanging is Bob Balch and Dotty Cantrell.

This is the end for this week—by' now.

Double Win Over Colorado College Gives M. S. C. Title

By virtue of a double win over Colorado College last week, the Montana State Bobcat basketball team became the Rocky Mountain Conference Champions for the first time since 1938. The double victory gave the Bobcats seven wins against a single loss to take undisputed honors. Placing second was Colorado State with six wins and two losses.

Montana State was defeated in conference play only by Colorado State in a single game and the latter team suffered their second loss from Colorado College after the split with Montana State.

Coming through in the best play of the season, the Bobcats of Montana State captured the final series with the pair of wins over Colorado College. The traveling Tigers fell behind early in the first contest and Bobcat reserves finished up the victory. The final game was a bad start for the Bobcats and they trailed 25 at the half. By putting on an exhibition that surprised even the most optimistic supporters, they dumped 40 points through the hoop in the last half to only 10 for the Colorado team to salt away the victory in no close measure.

It was a repeat performance for Montana State in winning the Rocky Mountain title as during the fall they copped the honors on the gridiron and went on to play New Mexico University in the New Year's Day Harbor Bowl in San Diego. If the Bobcats can now take a double loss to Montana University, they will again clinch the conference championship by traveling to Kansas City to participate in the National Intercollegiate Tournament in Basketball.

Hot and fast basketball, by both teams, ended with MSC's Bobcats leading Colorado Tigers 71 to 63 to take the lead in the Rocky Mountain Conference. Tomorrow night's game will decide the winner of the conference if the Bobcats win. Otherwise the conference would end in a tie with six wins and two losses apiece.

Colorado showed many stellar screening plays to bottle the Cats under the net but major work under the basket put the Cats in command of the ball on the rebounds. Command of the ball secured back and forth many times during the game with one team and then the other showing great bursts of power to score.

Tiger forward Miller put the tigers off to a big start with a push shot after a minute of the game. Basket for basket the score went until the Cats pushed in a quick 8 points to take the lead. Tiger center Long scored to put his team in the lead for the last time in the game with the score 21 to 0. DeTonancour's long push shot pushed the Bobcats to the front for the rest of the game. In the second period the score stood 65 to 47 for the Cats. Coach Breeden replaced the working combination of Kuka, DeTonancour, Brown, McCormick and Anderson with Koppang, Narkevic, Robertson and Gordon. Colorado Tigers still set blistering pace and closed the gap in the score considerably. Coach Breeden replaced his original starters to ice away the game or the Bobcats.

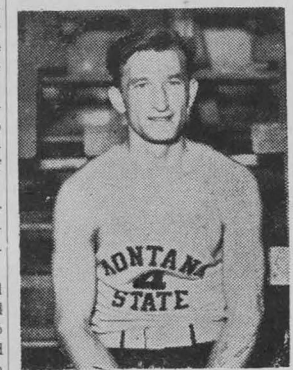

Kuka led the Bobcats with 18 points scored on six field goals and six free throws. Kuka was the explosion that broke up many Tiger plays.

D. Quamme and N. Yenopolus led the Tiger attack with 14 tallies apiece. Yenopolus converted ly with 8 points apiece. The box score:

McGee Bowls High Game

Bowling league records continued to fall this past week as teams in the College League neared the end of the second round of the league.

"Spike" McGee, the leagues' top bowler, continued to set his hot pace on the maples, when he smashed out 218 pins in his first game. He coupled 167 and 191 with the former game to hit a neat 576. McGee leads the league with an average of 181.

Returning to the league after dropping out after the first round, Connie LaSalle toppled a sweet 215 his first game to move into second place for high game.

With one week of play before the vacation and one after the Men's Coop House lead the league by four games over their closest opponents. If they win two more games they will be the second round winners and will play the Kappa Sigs for the championship. Men of the Phi Sig team were unable to place a team on the alleys Saturday so the Coop House won three games that might have had bearing on the final results of the league.

Standings are as follows: High single game—218, McGee; 215, LaSalle; 214, Moutz. High individual series—589, Houtz; 576, McGee; 566, Humphreys.

High team game—874, Men's Coop.

High team series—2420, SAE. Following the playoff for championship of the league, there will be a singles and doubles tournament. No two men from the same team may form a doubles team. Collection of a dollar from each team, to apply for a trophy for the winner of the league, will be collected on March 1st.

Basketball at Montana State goes into its final series of the season this week-end when the Bobcats tangle with their arch Montana rivals the University Grizzlies. The Cat stock was falling short for a time, but the double win over the strong Colorado College quintet brought renewed expressions of enthusiasm from supporters.

Montana State's publicity was sold short for the Colorado series and for a good reason. The opponents' record stood at 17 wins against two losses for the season. The Colorado team was meeting Montana State before matching forces against Illinois Wesleyan, the team that beat Kentucky, and then participate in the national AAU tournament. Colorado needed the games to hold up their fine record and planned to do it.

In the first game, the Bobcats set a fast high scoring pace and had the game well salted away midway in the second frame. The next night, Montana State fans began to squirm in their seats as the Tigers were out in front at the half way mark 30-25. It appeared that the Cats had shot their wad and may be in for a cleaning, but in their best form they soon pulled ahead and finished well out in front 65-49.

Brick Breeden is a smart and long-experienced coach and he knew that what his team needed was just such a punch to pull out of the tight spots. That night they did the job well and set Colorado back a long way. Montana State fans were proud of the way the Blue and Gold came through last week and they will be all out for them in the Grizzly series.

Bobcat players can gain a lot of prestige in these two final games if they stick together and show the teamwork that will provide the measure of victory. If they fall short with the Grizzlies, they have the Colorado College games on their record as an exception to the rule. Montana State is all-out for a double win over the Montana rivals and if the players on the hardwood can provide two victories it will be a thrilling climax to a postwar season of Montana State who can set the stage for better basketball at Montana State as the football team did so effectively.

If the Bobcat players take a double win from the Grizzlies, Coach Brick Breeden will take his team to the Kansas City National Intercollegiate Tournament and give them a chance to prove that they have found themselves a definitely clicking combination. It's a big stake hinging on these next games and it will take the same kind of play that beat Colorado. Those were the outstanding tilts of the season for the Cats and a repeat performance is in the offing if they remember what the secret to victory is.

Montana University will be no easy team to win over. They caught the gridiron team in a weak moment and according to Ray Rocene played their best ball of the season. Yes, even though the Grizzly paper critics didn't consider it so, the Grizzlies upset the stronger Montana State football team. Now again, the power of the two teams in basketball gives Montana State the better of comparisons. Little Cheney beat the Grizzlies last week-end and their claim against superiority will be weak. But, the fact remains that they will be coming here for just one reason, and that is to beat the Bobcats and spoil a fine wind-up of the scheduled season for them.

Montana State's hardwood men will be playing for high stakes when they meet the Grizzlies. They can erase the low enthusiasm for their consistency in just two games so completely that nothing but laurels will be handed them and they will further be given a chance to gain further praise in the national tournament. It's a big opportunity awaiting them if they can continue to play the ball they showed the fans they were capable of last week.

If the fans will give their whole-hearted support to the Bobcat men on the hardwood and the Blue and Gold players will continue to shine, it will be a big week-end in Bozeman as we will have for Montana State the Montana championship by virtue of three wins over the University Grizzlies and the basketball team will pack up and head for the big tournament to bring the name of Montana State into headlines across the nation.

There will be a meeting Thursday at 7 in the SUB for all persons interested in the formation of a motor cycle club.

King Tietjen

Bob Tietjen will (theoretically) wear the Pi Phi Derby for the ensuing year. He was elected from eight candidates by a vote of the women who bought tickets for the "girl-ask-man" Derby dance last Saturday night.

In the attractively decorated ballroom of the Student Union, Pi Phi's new president, Gladys Miller, presented wine carnations to the eight candidates (representatives from each men's house), and crowned Tietjen with the derby.

The first dance of this kind was given in 1934 when the Pi Phi's borrowed the S.A.E. barn for atmosphere and crowned the King with carrots and onions. The next year they adopted the derby as a more fitting crown.

Dream Girl

ALMA JEAN HERMINGHAUS of Conrad was chosen dreamgirl and presented at the Pi Kappa Alpha winter formal Feb. 21 at Bozeman Hot Springs. Miss Herminghaus will represent the local fraternity in the national election. She is a Chi O, and leader of the baton twirling section of the Band.

Want A Job?

Mr. J. W. Hyndam, representative for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will interview applicants for positions in sales work and supervision in the Student Welfare Office after 9 a. m. Friday (only Friday).

Mr. Hyndman is mainly interested in students who are interested in sales work and supervision and who will be graduating or quitting school in March.

Bert Sherrow, Sigma Chi, chose the evening of the Winter Party for hanging his pin on Chi O Pat Burke. Congratulations!

The Phi Sig Valentine fireside was a success in more ways than one. "Bud" Jans, who attended the door, has had many offers to go elsewhere at the same trade, but he seems to prefer the company of milk bottles to greater glory. Not to be outdone, the Phi Sigs chose their queen from a hat. They proved their powers as magicians when the name Lois Galt was revealed. The house was beautifully decorated by the pledges, and Mr. and Mrs. Ulph proved to be able chaperones.
