Candidates Express Election Views

Arjay Godston: The EXPONENT like to apologize to the students and voters alike for the views of these candidates. The space allotted was not fair and fairness was attained.

President ASMSC Arjay Godston

Some students on campus, at government is a "farce", the general election is nothing more than a popularity contest. If this be the case, then I disagree with it.

Government here at Montana State College is something more than just a practice. Contrary to most colleges and universities throughout the nation, student government on this campus has real responsibilities. Over $130,000 is each year on student accounts and the allocation of each falls under the jurisdiction of the Student Senate. This itself is a responsibility not to be lightly dismissed.

Student government is busy here at MSC, the election of its officers should not be a popularity contest, but one of concern. The qualifications of the candidates must be examined carefully, and their experience must be considered before an intelligent choice can be reached.

Part of my campaign platform I could promise lower registration fees, later hours for the better food at the dorms, roads at the married housing, and a multitude of other

ers. But, let's be realistic. The president of ASMSC just doesn't have this kind of power, so why promise the moon when we don't even know how to get there. However, this doesn't mean that I couldn't and wouldn't try.

I can promise you something that does fall within my jurisdiction. It is my sincere desire to see that you, the students, are represented fairly. I can season this promise with two other ingredients, both of which I have large reserves . . . interest and effort.

If elected as student body president, my outstanding ambition will be to coordinate the various organized student groups on campus through Senate. Let's work together, as a team, for stronger and more effective student government.

Ray Keelan

Tomorrow, we, the students of this campus will have to make a number of important decisions. These decisions will concern the selections of fellow students to offices that plan direct student activities. We all have the responsibility to see that these offices in our Student Senate are filled by the proper candidates. The proceedings of this Student Governing body so greatly affect each of us on this campus that we should give whole hearted and deliberate thought to the selection of candidates who will give us only the best form of student representation.

I am a candidate for the office of President of the Associated Students of MSC. Now, what

Renne To Open Tonight's Rally

Candidates for President and Vice-President of ASMSC will give brief speeches announcing their political policies.

Ed Gossack will introduce the present Senate members and Dick Knapton and Martin Perga will explain the proposed constitutional changes. Entertainment will accompany this special Election assembly.

The climax of the past election campaign will reach its peak tonight in a special Election Assembly in the Student Union Cafeteria from 9:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Dr. R. R. Renne is slated to give the opening address for this very important assembly that will feature the introduction of all candidates running in the general election.

this writer has stated above he honestly and strongly believes. He would not be running for this position if he thought he could not justify the faith and the responsibility that go with this office. But to help you to better know me and to get an insight into some of my feelings towards present issues abounding on this campus, I give you the following ideas for consideration.

The senior class project this year, the erection of a marquee downtown, has run up against stiff opposition from some of the leading citizens of Bozeman. While this situation is indeed unfortunate from our point of view, we must nevertheless try to understand that there are no doubt justifiable reasons for such action. However, from all of this we can ask ourselves "is there not the need for improvement of

The proposed revisions for the ASMSC Constitution will be voted on by the student body on the General Election Ballot tomorrow in the SUB Lobby from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Although the proposal appears confusing, they were proposed mainly to keep the ASMSC Constitution up to date. None of the proposals advocate a complete revamping of any of the activities of Student Senate. A verbal explanation of the changes will be given by ASMSC President Dick Knapton at the Election Assembly tonight.

Adoption of the proposed revisions would mean the following items of importance:

(1) The Freshman Class President would have a vote in Student Senate winter and spring quarter. He is presently an ex-officio member for the entire year.

(2) Qualifications would be defined or slightly changed for the Commissioner of the Field House, Commissioner of Athletics, Commissioner of Forensics, Cheer Queen, Student Athletic Manager, and the Class Presidents.

(3) The prospect literary magazine would be eligible for Student Senate funds.

(4) The Board of Publications Constitution would be taken from the ASMSC Constitution. Student Senate felt that this long constitution was unnecessary in the ASMSC Constitution because other boards do not have their constitutions listed here. This proposal does not eliminate the Publication Constitution but merely removes it from the ASMSC Constitution.

(5) The Board of Music would undergo a slight re-vamping.

Two thirds of the votes cast shall be necessary for the adoption of the amendment proposed.

Purdy Schedules Fight Rehearsal

Bud Purdy asks that all Spurs, Fangs, and men on athletic scholarships meet at the fieldhouse at 5:15 p.m., Tuesday. At this meeting they will receive their assignments for the fight and will have a rehearsal of their duties.

Vice President ASMSC Gene Bratton

As Independent candidate for Vice President of the Associated Students, I ask you to give careful consideration to the issues and the individuals concerned in the coming election. There is an obvious lack of participation in student government by the majority of students and especially by Independents. I believe that the student who doesn't participate is acting contrary to his own best interests. The least he can do to protect these interests is vote. The attitudes developed in college will probably be prevalent in later life. A passive individual is not a credit to his community or his country. Nor is he likely to excel in his career.

Views Expressed

One of my primary goals will be to extend responsibilities and encourage participation from more than just a few students. I believe this can be done through better publicity of Senate activities and committees.

David Gibson

Probably the most important job of the vice-president of ASCMS is the chairmanship of the most important and influential committee in Student Senate, the Steering Committee. I have served on this committee for the past year and have a good working knowledge of the type of problems likely to be considered there before their fates are decided on the floor of Student Senate.

I have also worked on Traditions Board this year, which works closely on many occasions with the steering Committee on such matters as the Bobcat-Grazzly football game problem.

There are many things that I could promise, but only one that has any real meaning and that is represent the Associated Students as vice-president to the best of my ability, and that I promise.

Sr. Class President

Jim Guenther

As candidate for senior class president, I, Jim Guenther, am concerned about the following problems on our campus. I believe:

1. Senate agenda should be in the EXPONENT.
2. A MINORITY group should not govern the campus.
3. MARRIED housing should be improved.
4. Students should have a better accounting as to how their fees are being spent.
5. Architectural and engineering ability among students should be used.
6. The Senior Gift should be something of lasting value.

Gary Miller

Perhaps there is a question that you would like answered before you go to the polls next Tuesday to cast your ballot; and that question being, "Why do I want to be President of the Senior Class?"

First of all, I am vitally interested in student government. Having been seated on Student Senate this last year has been a great experience and one that I feel has helped qualify me for this office.

Thank you for your votes in the primary election; your votes in the general election will be greatly appreciated.

Jr. Class President

Art Finlayson

As a candidate for Junior Class President it becomes my duty to make you aware of my position in matters which directly affect you as junior class members and students of Montana State College.

My major objective will be a bigger and better Junior prom for 1961 and to make the entire student body aware that your class, and mine, is sponsoring this activity. In addition to the prom there is a need to include activities of a recreational nature for the junior class.

In concluding, I hope that I will be able to serve the junior class and the entire student body as your class president.

Allan Miller

I believe the Junior Class President has an important position on this campus as does every other office in the Student Administration and should uphold the rules and etiquette of the office.

One of the prerequisites for the office is that I know the problems that are present and seem to be outstanding on the campus. Having attended this school for the past two years I believe that I am as well qualified as anyone else in having that present knowledge.

Soph. Class President

Myrna Lutes

The chief duties of Sophomore Class President are representing that class in Student Senate and promoting and supervising the group's activities. The major qualifications for this office are a sincere desire to stimulate and encourage activities, an active interest and participation in campus activities, and group leadership experience.

Connie Koski

I have had the opportunity to lead youth on community, state and international levels in both high school and church activities. Through these experiences I feel that I have gained a full perspective as to what leadership responsibility really means. My previous experiences in positions of leadership have been very rewarding as they have given me the opportunity to expand my associations with people and to work with them in striving to accomplish a common goal.

I feel qualified to assume the position of sophomore class president, and if I am elected I will give my every effort to lead the class in any undertaking it may assume next year.

Comm. of Athletics

Sam Moore

I know, as Commissioner of Athletics, I can and fill do an excellent job . . . if I am elected to represent you in this capacity. This position offers me the opportunity to work directly in the field which I have been associated with throughout my high school days and for three years here at MSC.

I can assure you that I will do an excellent job as your Commissioner of athletics.

Phil Schneider

Where does the money allotted from the Associated Student Activity Fees for athletic purposes go? What do the athletes do to maintain their scholarship? I imagine many of you have often wondered about questions of this nature.

If elected as Commissioner of Athletics, I will keep you, the students, well informed as to how the funds are being used to run an effective and outstanding athletic program.

Comm. Demonstrations

Richard Swingle

School spirit at MSC is in an infinite need of improvement. Improvement is possible through the cooperation of the entire student body. The position which it can best be begun with the incoming freshmen students. However, the example they must be set by the three classes.

I am familiar with the duties, responsibilities, and functions relative to the office of Commissioner of Demonstrations.

Comm. of Dramatics

Bruce Jacobsen

As you read these articles you are probably three questions you ask yourself about each candidate. They are most likely the following order: 1. What are the duties of the office? 2. Who is the best qualified candidate? 3. Who should I vote for?

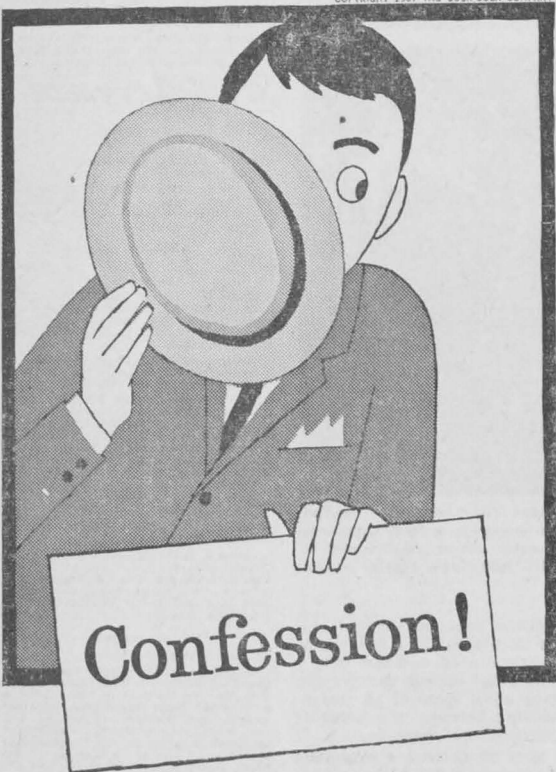

With this in mind I feel I have the necessary experience, well rounded background, and efficient administration in this position.

Marty Lee

I believe myself to be well qualified for the office of Commissioner of Dramatics for several reasons. Among them is that I am a Theatre Arts major. This is important—I know what our theatre needs and what must be done to help further production in drama, and provide entertainment of good quality for our students.

I propose, through the use of publicity and more creative and interesting material to increase the interest of students in drama.

SHULTON

FULLMER TO DEFEND CROWN

Giardello Ready For Champ

by Gerald R. Callaway

"This fight will be the biggest thing we've had in the field house up to now, but the publicity we get off of it should bring a lot more high caliber events and shows here." These words by Bud Purdy, field house manager, show the official opinion concerning the fight. Purdy said that the job of converting the arena so that it will accommodate the fight is a big one but that it is progressing smoothly.

Purdy said that there are still plenty of $3.00 tickets available for the fight. He also voiced a request for the students who have tickets on reserve to please come in and pick them up.

Gene Fullmer, the NBA Middleweight Boxing Champion, started training in Bozeman April 11, and any students interested in boxing who would like to go down and watch him work out are welcome to do so. Gene is doing about five miles of road work a day and is said to be in top shape.

Joey Giardello, the challenger, has been training in Livingston for about a week and is also ready for the big event.

According to Fran Haun, Managing Director of the Intermountain Boxing Club, the total sales including reservations are nearing the $100,000 mark. He said that he expects a near sellout. Accommodations for the thousands of visitors that will flock into Bozeman for the event are sold out in Bozeman, Livingston and Belgrade and reservations are being made as far away as Butte and West Yellowstone.

Some of the writers that will cover the event for their respective magazines and newspapers are Martin Kane of Time, Life and Sports Illustrated, Gene Ward of the World News Telegram, Lester Bromberg, Jesse Abramson and Red Smith, the "Dean of Boxing Writers," of the New York Herald-Tribune. Other writers will be coming from San Francisco, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake and all major newspapers in the United States.

Among the other celebrities attending the fight will be Carmen Basilio, former middleweight champion, who intends to challenge the winner, and Gustav Sholtz, middleweight champion of Europe.

There will be eight teletypes at ringside to carry news of the fight to all parts of the nation the moment it happens. ABC-TV will broadcast the bout to Denver by way of microwave. From there it will be sent by coaxial cable to Chicago, then the entire nation will view the event save for Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Washington which will be blacked out.

Middleweight King Gene Fullmer puts his title on the line Wednesday night, as he meets challenger Joey Giardello in a 15 round championship bout.

Gene holds the middleweight crown by virtue of scoring a TKO over Carmen Basilio in 1959. Gene is a comeback champion, however, as he held the title briefly in 1957 when he decided Ray Robinson in January, but lost it again in May when Sugar Ray scored a 5th round KO over him.

Gene is the pride of western boxing circles, making his home in West Jordan, Utah. Gene is a former Golden Gloves state champion, and has won the Inter-Mountain AAU middleweight title five times.

Gene has not devoted all his time to his ring career, but is an elder in the Mormon Church, and is a seminary graduate. He also runs a mink ranch in West Jordan, Utah, and plans to make this his full-time occupation when he retires from the ring.

Gene is not the only boxer in the Fullmer family. His two brothers, Don, 20, and Jay, 22, are also professional fighters.

Veteran fighter Joe Giardello will have his first chance at the middleweight crown Wednesday night when he climbs through the ropes to meet champ Gene Fullmer.

Giardello's boxing career has been long and varied, as he started putting on the gloves at the age of 15. He picked up much of his ring knowledge while boxing for three-day passes during his Army time in the 82nd Airborne Division.

In 1952 Giardello was awarded a controversial decision over Billy Graham. In '53 he lost to Graham and was decisioned by Johnny Saxton. After a poor showing in '54 and '55, it appeared that the ring career of Joe Giardello was finished, but he roared back in 1956, and went undefeated. He seemed headed for a title shot, but was beaten by Joe Giambra, and knocked out by Spider Webb in early 1957. In 1959, Giardello lost to Tiger Jones, won three in a row, and was beaten by Dick Tiger. Joe finished off the '59s season by reversing the Tiger defeat.

Comm. of Fieldhouse

Ray Parker

In listing my qualifications for Commissioner of the Fieldhouse, I have been athletic manager one season. I served as assistant-head manager for the varsity one season and I am presently head manager for the varsity. I am active in ISA, Sabre Air Command and Sabre Flight.

The numerous events that have been held and those events coming in the future are of top-notch quality and it is a must that these events be kept in the category of top-notch entertainment.

Tom Huff

The use of the Field House and money received from student body is supervised by the Field House Board. As a member of this board for the past two years, I have acquired an insight into the operation of the Field House.

If elected I will do my best to keep the student body informed on important matters. I will also help bring more top entertainment to the campus which will promote MSC.

Comm. of Finance

Paul (Butch) Funk

As Commissioner of Finance one should be as well acquainted with the complexities of MSC's financial system as possible.

sible. Throughout this past year, I have been a member of the Student-Faculty Budget Committee.

While serving on said committee, I have gained valuable experience concerning our financial system and student government. The Commissioner of Finance participates as an ex-officio member of the Budget Committee. I feel that the experience that I gained on this committee would stand me in good stead if I should be elected.

Ben Torres

To pledge one's self to do his best in performing the duties of the office in which the voters have placed him is indeed an oft uttered promise and a very noble intention.

I sincerely believe, though, that in order for one to do "his best" in any endeavor, implies he do more than the simple routine. One must virtually give his heart and more than usual energy to hear out the aspirations of the students who have honored him by electing him to an honored position.

Comm. of Forensics

Duane Boe

I desire to be elected Commissioner of Forensics for definite reasons. I am very concerned and interested in our student government here at MSC. In order to become better acquainted with campus functions, I have taken an active part in both campus and fraternity activities. These activities and qualifications were listed in the last Exponent. My future plans deal with government, as I hope to be able to attend law school upon graduation.

Don Micken

I am running for the position of Commissioner of Forensics for two reasons; first, I want the job, and second, I know of no other person better qualified to administer the duties of that position.

Because of the increasing growth and activity of the Forensic program, it will require the management and representation of one intimately familiar with its workings and needs.

It is my intention to expand the program in such a way as to make it readily accessible to all members of the student body.

Comm. Musical Affairs

Tom Richardson

A conspicuous trend toward increased qualitative and quantitative musical opportunity at MSC (often as a complement to other curricula), behooves us to select able liaison between students and the music department.

Comm. of Publications

Lauren Buckland

Working for the Exponent has given me an intimate knowledge of the publications of MSC. The only promise I shall make is to do my best in carrying out the duties of the Commissioner of Publications. I look for a growth of our present publications in keeping with the expansion of the college.

Fran Forney

Having served as copy editor of the Montanan for two years, I feel I have a thorough understanding of the needs of campus publications and could adequately deal with all questions of organization or finance that might be brought before the Board of Publications.

Comm. Social Affairs

Lenny Pfister

The foremost duties of the Commissioner of Social Affairs involves serving on the Student Faculty Social Committee, attending Student Senate, and organizing and presiding over meeting each quarter to plan social calendar.

Marilyn Fraser

I sincerely desire this office and will work for the benefit of the student body in every way possible. If elected, I will conduct orderly social meetings, have the social schedules posted for all to view, besides have them available to every student.

Gary Graham

As Commissioner of the Student Union, I will strive to provide more information to students about the management and operation of the SUB.

Bob Garber

Through leadership activity in a number of organizations have come to be intimately acquainted with the operation of the SUB. I feel that I can offer experienced, capable and efficient service to the Associated Students of MSC.

Billie Jean Applegate

I, Billie Jean Applegate, a member in H. & P.E., and a member of Delta Gamma sorority, have had due experience in leading to qualify me for the position of Cheer Queen.

Phyllis DeJana

The Montana State College music program is reliant on student interest and support evidenced by Associated Students financing of many major music contributions to the campus.
