

SCHOOL WEEK CO-CHAIRMEN Terry Potter and Denny Young were selected by members of Student Senate this week. They will begin preliminary work at the start of next quarter for the spring quarter event.

Groups To Participate In Annual Christmas Sing

MSC's living groups will part in the annual Sing to be held at on December 4, in the Old Gym. Christmas carols will be sung by each group; the orchestra also present selections of "White Christmas" and "Merry Christmas" arranged by Mr. Reynolds. The Sing will also be accompanied by some group singing. The Sing will be broadcast over the public and faculty radio.

The Christmas Sing has been a tradition followed throughout the history of Montana State College. This year the Sing is a spontaneous event that began a long time ago. The first came to MSC 23 years ago when the students used to sing from the quads. The Sing has since become a fashion as two or three houses would sing as they walked. This went on for 5 or 6 years.

After the SUB was built, the Sing was held in front of the students used to cluster around the SUB. Sometimes the band members would play the instruments would

With every passing year the Christmas Sing has improved.

Angel Flight To Perform For Half-time Entertainment

Tonight, for the first time in the history of Montana State College, Bobcats fans will be able to witness, at the half-time ceremonies of the MSC-Whitworth basketball game, the first public performance of the recently formed Angel Flight, a women's honorary.

Friday's performance will mark the premier of this marching troupe; however, it will by no means be the last, as tentative plans include participation in regional and national drill competitions.

The Eugene DeCosse Squadron of the Arnold Air Society, the Angel Flight Sponsors, screened nearly 200 interested applicants selecting only the top 40 for the title of Angel. These angels were selected on a basis of personal appearance, poise, scholarship, personality, and marching ability. In order to achieve these objectives the applicants were subjected to tests conducted by the testing and counseling service and Arnold Air Society. A stress interview conducted by a board composed of United States Air Force Officers, Cadet ROTC Officers and Angel Flight Officers concluded the selection process.

Winter Brings Mardi Gras

by Myrna Lutes

A brand new flavor is being concocted to spice the usual unpalatable winter quarter at MSC. The date has been set and plans are really rolling for the big ASMSC-sponsored, all-school MARDI GRAS. Undesigned for profit, this dance is being put on for the students' enjoyment; and hopes for close-knit cooperation of various college groups and the community are being realized. General chairman of the dance, Larry Ropes, announced that decorations are to be handled by the Independent Students; publicity by IFC; program, invitations, and tickets by Panhellenic; refreshments by the Freshman class; and selection of the best costumes by the Sophomore class. It is hoped that prizes and awards for costumes will be donated by local businessmen and "comp" tickets will be given to local service and fraternal organizations. In an effort to achieve authenticity, a letter has been sent to the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce asking for suggestions; and added entertainment will be a Dixie Land Band.

The Model United Nations was granted an ex-officio seat in Student Senate, but denied financial support from student activity funds, in an all-school election on November 22. A mere 543 votes were cast, which is indeed a "bad show."

After careful consideration, Senate rejected a proposal that the International Club be granted an ex-officio seat in Student Senate. This decision was made after a thorough examination of the issues involved and stemmed from the following points: 1. An and that committee chairmen have been appointed. All members will begin their duties next quarter, and the first big project is an "ugliest man on campus" contest.

Commissioner of Musical Affairs, Tom Richardson, reported that plans are all but wrapped up for the Christmas Sing, and about one thousand participants are expected. The gym will be open from 1-5 p.m. on Sunday, December 4, for group-practices.

Tom Huff reported that it is almost a certainty that the original Globe Trotters will play the College All Stars—a national, all-American team—here sometime in the near future. It is believed that Bozeman will be one of their scheduled stops on a swath through this region of the country.

Bruce Ellis, Montanan editor, gave a breakdown of the year-book's balance sheet.

New Public Relations Committee appointments are Duane Boe, Jean Crawley, and Ed Harper.

Plans Discussed

The Junior Class officers met to discuss anticipated business of the next Junior Class meeting. Plans were started for the Junior Prom, Spring Party, and Class Pins. Ideas filled the room as the executive committee talked about projects never before considered by junior classes.

By the sound of things this year the Junior Class will have the most active year of all.

Deadlines Named

Skip Ritner, Montanan Associate editor, has announced the following deadlines for pictures to appear in this year's Montanan:

Seniors—January 21, 1961
Greeks—February 10, 1961

Ritner added that these pictures are to be taken at one of the local photographers to assure uniformity of the pictures.

Election Quota Desired

Last week's Model UN elections brought 540 students to the polls to voice an opinion determining whether this group would receive student funds.

Regardless of the fact that the amendment was defeated, one thing stands out concerning this and similar elections that should be recognized. According to the present Constitution of the Associated Students of Montana State College, "Two thirds of all votes cast shall be necessary for the adoption of the amendment proposed." This seems alarming when we consider that if only three voters appeared at the polls, two affirmative ballots would approve an amendment.

Joe Boyd, President of the Young Republicans, appeared at Student Senate this week and voiced his dissatisfaction of the present setup, and was informed that the Constitution revision committee was aware of the present condition and that the matter would be taken care of. How such a thing ever got past this committee in the first place leaves a student wondering, and with such an important matter as a fee increase to come before an all school vote this oversight could be costly.

It appears to this editor that a minimum quota should be required before an election would be valid and counted. With somewhere in the neighborhood of 4000 students at MSC it appears that at least one fourth of this amount should be necessary to establish a valid election and student voice.

Let's hope that this matter doesn't disturb any of the coming elections and that the students will show enough interest that they will turn out in a large enough number so that a representative view will be expressed.

Love Sessions Condemned

Certain portions of the SUB have currently been serving as havens for amorous activities of MSC students. This has been called to the attention of this editor so that a word might be said for these passion sessions in an attempt to curb further action.

Nothing can seem more out of place than to walk into SUB lounge and see some young couple so engrossed in their love making that other students' appearances offer no disturbance.

The TV room and exterior portions of the SUB dining room also seem to catch the eye of these swooning couples. We all realize that certain couples show varied attractions to each other, but maybe these attractions could be held to a minimum in our SUB.

Let's hope such activities can be held down and that the couple can arrange another rendezvous point other than the SUB.

Construction Work to Affect Third Floor of the Library

Dear Mr. Bracken:

Construction work on the library addition will shortly affect the present building and I shall be grateful if you will carry an explanation in an early issue of The Exponent.

About February 15 the contractor will begin to open up parts of the roof of the present building in order to construct the beams necessary to tie the two buildings together. As a result, it will be necessary to shift the whole book collection now on the third floor, and to dismantle several sections of stacks on the west side. The book shift will begin at once, and will consist of moving the 000's to the basement and pushing together the rest of the third floor books so that there will be no expansion space. New books coming in will probably be put on their sides in a narrow shelf at the bottom of each section. It may be necessary to shelve some books on tables on the other sides of the third floor, but we hope to avoid this.

During the period of construction, that is, beginning about February 15 and continuing from two to four weeks, neither students nor faculty will be permitted on the third floor. This is by request of the contractor. The library staff will set up a charging desk at the top of the staff stairway, and page service will be provided for those wanting books on this floor.

More details regarding the temporary closing of the third floor will be given after the first of the year.

Sincerely yours,

(Miss) Lesley M. Heathcote, Librarian.

Kennedy Ba College GI

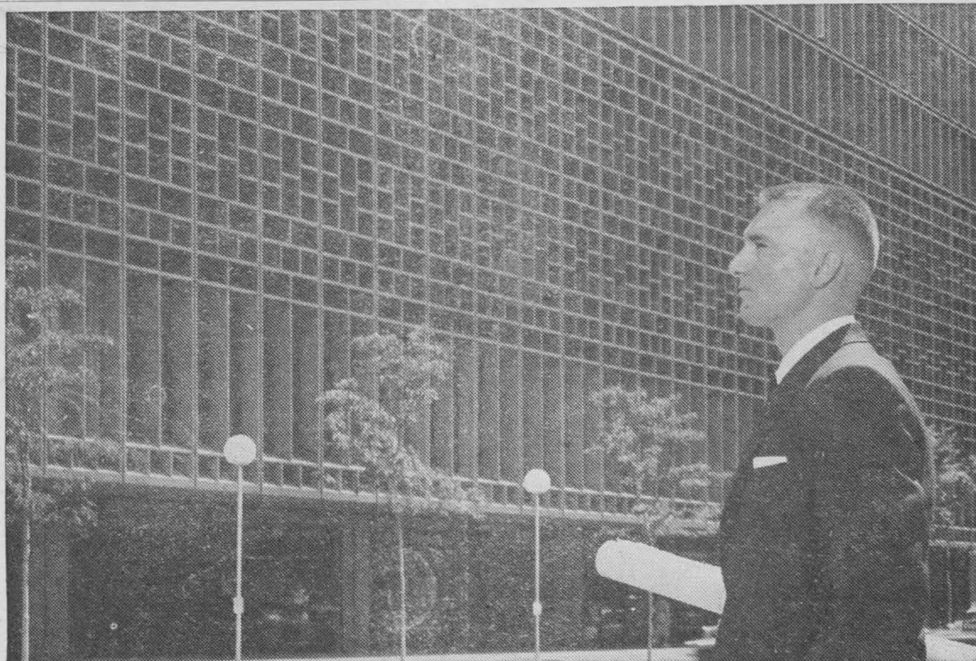

The president-elect voted for a compromise loan GI bill which Senate but stalled in. Shortly before last session Senator Kennedy ed this peacetime GI measure, saying such are justified on the country's overall ideals and needs.

Peacetime GI education have failed consistent years, partly because of threat of Presidential Eisenhower Administration actively opposed a peacetime education bill. With elect Kennedy in favor a new light shines on the subject.

This peacetime bill S-1138, is the same brought to the attention of the Student Senate on support last spring.

Mr. Kennedy put record in September as president of the Association of State Agencies when he said that in its final version is a reasonable bill to serve the national interest as enlarging the educational opportunities for young men who have served in the armed forces. "I did not feel that together logical or equitable to re-enact the type which were available of World War II and Korean War. Generally of service today is less hazardous, and years there have been of scholarship and chance for deserving stresses of readjustment severe and the economic difficulty in re-entering civilian life."

"FIND THE ANSWER, JIM—AND BRING IT BACK"

When Jim Boardman took his B.S. in Electrical Engineering at Colorado State, there was one idea uppermost in his mind. He wanted a job in which he could work his way into management via the engineering route. As he puts it, "I didn't want to stick with straight engineering all my life."

After talking to eight other organizations Jim joined The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company. He soon got the kind of action he was looking for.

His first assignment: How best to improve widely scattered rural telephone service all over Colorado—a sticky engineering challenge. He was given a free hand to work out his own procedures. His boss simply said, "Find the answer, Jim—and bring it back."

Six months later, Jim turned in his recommendations. His plan was accepted.

Next stop: Colorado Springs. Here Jim worked out a plan to expand telephone facilities for this burgeoning community. This plan, too, is now in operation.

Today, at 24, Jim has an important role in planning where, how much, and what kind of telephone service is needed in the Denver area.

Here's how Jim puts it: "We get tough assignments—but we also have the freedom to take hold and do a job. I think the future here is unlimited. If a man wants to do it—it's there to be done."

If you're a guy who can "Find the answer—and bring it back"—you'll want to get with a company where you have the chance. Visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

Montana State College Bookstore Owned And Directed By Students

"Who owns it" is the question most frequently asked about your Associated Students' Store. The answer, of course, is that you—the Associated Students of Montana State College—are the owners of the enterprise. This is the background and history of how it happened.

Many years ago student-owned stores at units of the University of Montana were authorized by the State Board of Education.
However, at Montana State College, the Registrar's Office sold pencils, papers and a few textbooks to students until the spring of 1931.

As enrollment grew, it became evident that the service being provided was inadequate and could not be improved without separating the store from administrative departments. Consequently, a student-owned non-stock corporation was formed on June 4, 1931, and articles of incorporation were filed the following September 28.

Under the articles of incorporation, any member of the Associated Students is a member of the corporation. Five directors manage the corporation. One member, as stipulated by the articles of incorporation, is the Manager of MSC. The other —two students and two members—are elected by the members of the corporation, the Associated Students, and arranged to have two distinct one student and one faculty member, elected each year. The term of office is two years.

At the present time the officers are Ron Cloninger, Manager; Krut Skram, Architects; Dr. Keith Bowen, H and B; Dr. Kenneth J. English,
English instructor; and M.
Nard Copping, MSC B.
Manager. Cloninger is service president of the corporation; Skram, vice-president; Cloninger, treasurer; and manager E. ard acts as secretary of the board of directors.

KNOW YOUR BOBCATS

By Monte Eliason

Jim Murphy—Of Jim Murphy, Coach Lambert has this to say, "one of the Seniors on the squad this year, is a very fine backcourt man, possessing excellent speed and agility. He is a graduate of Anaconda Central High School and during his school basketball career he was voted the most valuable player of the Southwestern "B" division. He also played in the North-South all-star game in 1957.

He is majoring in H & PE, is married. He is 5' 10" and weighs 165 pounds. He is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, M-Club, Septemviri, and among the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Olympic Skier Injured Practicing

Barrier, a freshman skier of the MSC ski club and former Olympic skier, broke his leg while practicing at Big Mountain during the Thanksgiving vacation.

Barrier was skiing through a table, crusted snow when the accident happened. He broke both bones in the lower leg, and will be laid up for an indefinite period of time.

Barrier was one of the brightest hopes of the MSC skiers, as his ability and experience would have been a booster to other members.

At the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, he represented the United States, being one of the youngest members of the team. He placed 16th in the Giant Slalom event, coming against some of the best skiers in the world. He had been working forward to trying out for the 1964 FIS ski team, as well as the 1964 Olympics. All of the trying meets for the FIS are held this winter, so he will be able to miss these, and possibly stay on the squad as well.

Gordon Haugen—"Gordy", the 6'8", 215 pound center for the Bobcats this year, is the most improved player on the squad," says head basketball coach Dobbie Lambert. He graduated from Billings Senior High School, and made all-state in basketball his senior year. He also played in the North-South all-star game in 1958.

Gordon is a junior here at MSC, and is majoring in Fish & Wildlife. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and M-Club.

Playing the center position on a single post offense is extremely difficult, but Gordon seems to have it under control, and will undoubtedly turn in many good performances for Montana State this year.

MSC Dumps Fresno In Season Final

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Montana State Bobcats, a two to five touchdown underdog, sawed in an air-ball game to defeat favored Fresno State 22-20 in a Radcliff Stadium football thriller.

The Bobcats, who drew first blood early in the first quarter, climaxed the victory with a 30-yard field goal by Phil Schneider in the last second of the game.

The Bulldogs are the 6th ranking U. S. small college football team and were unbeaten and untied.

The Bobcats drove from their own 37 to Fresno's 20 in the fading minutes of the game after the Bulldogs scored a go-ahead touchdown earlier in the quarter.

Schneider came off the bench for the field goal try from the 20 with the clock running out and third and goal to go. Earlier, Schneider missed two conversion attempts, points that could have meant a tie for the Bozeman Bobcats.

Fresno players appeared shocked and stunned as they hurried off the field at the end of the game. It broke an eight-game winning streak this season and an 11-0 record that dated back to 1959.

Montana State opened the scoring in the first period with a 70-yard, 14-play drive that easily holed the Fresno defenses. Fullback Mark Dasinger plunged over from the 2.

Montana followed with another TD in the second period when halfback Jerry Johnson darted over from the 9.

Fresno retaliated with a 43-yard touchdown pass from Little All-American halfback candidate Dale Messer to end John Webster. Less than four minutes later Messer dashed around his right end for 25 yards and another score.

Montana went ahead again in the third quarter when Dale Webster caught a 7-yard pass from Lopsonzski.

In the frantic final minutes, Fresno regained the lead when Webster caught a 40-yard pass from quarterback 1. Galder.

Yearbook Editor Releases Budget

By Bruce Ellis

Every undergraduate student regularly enrolled at MSC pays a fee of six dollars entitled Montanan fee. This money does not go directly to the Montanan but is instead included with the student activity fees out of which your student government allocates funds to various campus activities. The Montanan this year in its yearly budget requested a total of $21,924.89 out of this fund. With approximately 3815 students paying fees this comes to approximately $5.74 per individual student.

HOW TO BEAT THE BEAT GENERATION

My cousin Herkie Nylet is a sturdy lad of nineteen summers who has, we all believed until recently, a lively intelligence and an assured future. Herkie's father, Walter O. Nylet, is as everyone knows, president of the First National Artificial Cherry Company, world's largest maker of artificial cherries for ladies' hats. Uncle Walter had great plans for Herkie. Last year he sent Herkie to the Maryland College of Humanities, Sciences and Artificial Cherries, and he intended, upon Herkie's graduation, to find him a nice fat wife and take him into the firm as a full partner.

Could a young man have more pleasing prospects? Of course not. But a couple of months ago, to everyone's consternation Herkie announced that he was not going into the artificial cherry business. Nor was he going to stay in college. "I am," said Herkie, "a member of the Beat Generation. I am going to San Francisco and grow a beard."

Well sir, you can imagine the commotion in the family when Herkie went traipsing off to San Francisco! Uncle Walter was not alone in his grief. Herkie's mother, Mrs. Nylet, had also been disappointed. She had have gone after him and dragged him home, but unfortunately he was right in the middle of the artificial cherry season. A. Thelma couldn't go either because of her old leg trouble. (Of her legs is older than the other.)

"Herkie, how are you?"

So I went. I searched San Francisco for weeks before I found Herkie living under the counter of a Pronto Pup stand. "How are you?" I cried, looking distraughtly upon his tattered beard, his corduroy jacket, his stricken eyes.

"Beat," said Herkie.

I offered him a Marlboro and felt instantly better when he took it because when one smokes Marlboros, one cannot be far removed from the world. One still has, so to speak, a grip on the finer things of life—like good tobacco, like easy-drinking filtration, like settling back and getting comfortable and enjoying a full-flavored smoke. One is, despite all appearances, really happiness-oriented, fulfillment-directed, pleasure-prone.

"Herkie, what are you doing with yourself?" I asked.

"I am finding myself," he replied. "I am writing a novel about the sand with a pointed stick. I am composing a fugue for clavier and police whistle. I am sculpting in experimental materials—like English muffins."

"And what do you do for fun?" I asked.

"Come," he said and took me to a dank little night club where men in beards and women in basic burlap sat on crates and drank espresso. On a tiny stage stood a poet reciting a free-form work of his own composition entitled Excuse Me, Story of a Boy while behind him a jazz trio played 200 chords of Tin Roof Blues.

"Herkie," said I, "come home with me to the artificial cherry business."

"No," said Herkie, so sadly I went home to tell Uncle Walter the bad news. He was less distressed than I had feared. It was Uncle Walter who has another son, a quiet boy named Edvort, whom he had completely forgotten, and today Edvort is in business with Uncle Walter and Herkie is beat in San Francisco and everyone is happy.

MSC Students To Exhibit Art

A series of one-man shows for Montana State College seniors and graduate students in the school of art have been planned. A competitive student exhibition will be held this spring.

Students and faculty also will have exhibitions downtown. Work by Dennis Eckstrom, Billings, is currently showing in the Bookshelf. A print show featuring the work of Bozeman artists, George and Michael Conkey, Bill Sage, and Ray Campeau, will be seen at the new Gold Wall Gallery opening soon.

The annual Art Bazaar, featuring a large variety of art work, will be held on the third floor of Herrick Hall on the MSC campus, December 8 and 9. Work done by MSC art students will be displayed and sold.

Student Fees Are Quoted

Students in attendance this quarter can expect to part with $91.70 during Winter Quarter registration unless they are on a scholarship of some type. Those exempt from Incidental and Registration Fee will leave $51.70 with the MSC Treasurer. Exemptions will go to State Veterans, Indian Students, children of deceased State Veterans, and those persons on High School or Advanced Honor Scholarships.
