Sky Divers Seeking MSU Affiliation

By Doug Smith
The Treasure State Sky Divers in Bozeman have increased membership, expanded jumping activities, have become recognized by the people of Gallatin Valley as participants in an organized sport, and finally, have drawn up a constitution, the last step in becoming a college affiliated organization.

However, members are rightfully worried about being accepted into the school officially, and feel that the recent accident may have made prejudiced people. A recent article in the EXPONENT, seems to have given the divers good cause for argument.

Gary Worrall, President of Treasure State Skydivers, has this to say:

"The main problem, at least in MSU, is to explain to the people concerned how safe and popular the sport is and to win their acceptance.

Three weeks ago at the Treasure State Invitational Parachute Meet here in Bozeman, a very rare and unfortunate accident happened when two jumpers accidentally STEERED their canopies into each other, resulting in the death of Dennis Kimmitt of Great Falls.

They were not blown into each other as stated in the EXPONENT (two bodies in an air mass will move equally with the air mass and stay equidistant). This may limit our chances of affiliation, because people are quick to condemn something of which they know nothing about."

Worrall assured this reporter that sky diving is one of the safest sports in the world today. Sky divers are all members of the Parachute Club of America, and this organization works hand-in-hand with the Federal Aviation Agency in setting up safety rules and regulations. Sky divers range from students to doctors, lawyers, businessmen, and even housewives.

All participate in the sport, said Worrall, because of the excitement, and for the serious jumper, an opportunity to become a champion.

The sport is world-wide. A state (four meets in Montana yearly), national, and world competition is constantly taking place.

A sky diver begins by attending ten hours of lectures and other ten hours of packing training. The diver-to-be must pass his own chute successfully at least three times in succession, then pass a written exam before the first jump.

He is also given 'fall' training to prevent any unnecessary accidents as a jump is completed. The first five jumps are static jumps, that is, the chute is opened automatically when the diver is clear of the plane.

After this step training in falls begin. Time elapsed before opening the chute is increased steadily in order to teach control as soon as possible.

After about 20 of these falls, the student may try hand at aerobatics. Hookups, precision target jumps are aims. The jumper who can land directly on the six-inch target should be proud indeed, added club president.

Initial cost of joining the club, which can provide all lessons, is a $10 initiation fee, $50 year membership, and a $10 training fee. The equipment can be purchased by the individual, though the club is trying to make it available to the members, decreasing the cost immensely.

Worrall added, "I think I speak for all members of the Treasure State Sky Divers when I say that we are insulted when somebody calls us a 'street breed of people.' We are just everybody else, with one exception . . . We have discovered a sport which nearly every person can participate in, and which requires much work to improve in."

NSF Competition Offers Fellowships

The National Science Foundation has announced that the competition for NSF fellowships for 1967-68 is now open. Applications may be obtained in the Graduate Office, 215 Reid Hall.

They are due in Washington, D.C. December 9. These fellowships are $2,400 the first year of graduate study, $2,600 the second and $2,800 the third, in addition to registration fees, tuition, and $500 per year for each dependent.

They may be used for graduate study in any field of science in any recognized university in the United States or abroad.

DEAR REB:

Sports hero loses girl to mild-mannered math major.

DEAR REB:

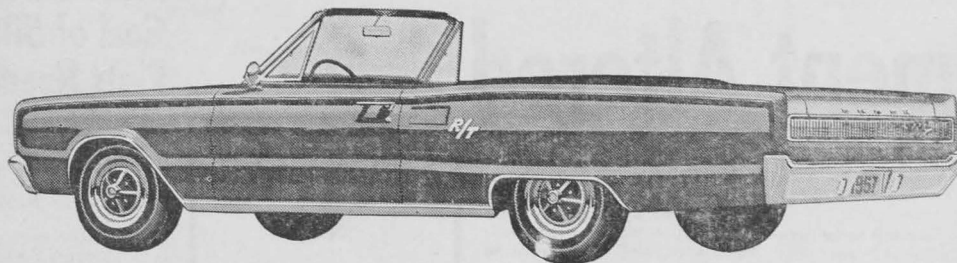

I'm a big football star, and I've found a girl who suits me to a T. But I've been blocked out of the play by a math major. He knows math from $A = \pi R^2$ to $E = MC^2$. Now she says he's found the formula for success with her. All he has to do is mutter "Coronet R/T," and I get thrown for a loss. Believe me, this is no equilateral triangle that I'm in. Outside of telling me to bench myself, have you any advice?

FALLEN STAR

DEAR FALLEN STAR:

Now's the time to plunge. Coronet R/T isn't his exclusive formula. Your nearby Dodge Dealer has it, too. And it comes almost as easily as the cube root of 27. Then how can the girl of your dreams resist two superstars . . . you and your Coronet R/T? From there on out, your math major will be the victim of diminishing returns. Huddle with your Dodge Dealer now, and get your signals straight.

Sincerely, Reb

And why not? Look what you'll have going for you in your Dodge Coronet R/T, convertible or two-door hardtop. All standard, too. 440-cubic-inch Magnum V8 engine. Dual exhausts. Heavy-duty brakes and suspension. High-performance Red Streak tires. And exclusive R/T grille and hood scoop design, full length paint stripes, and nameplates, front, rear and sides. So get with your Dodge Dealer, and your problem will solve itself.

Subject On Homosexuality Has Americans Wondering

by Mike Cook

Thirty-seven percent of all Americans have had at least one homosexual experience proceeding to "sex," Dr. Dan Duke told the audience at the Faith and Life Forum Monday night.

Twenty-eight percent of all females admit having at least one homosexual experience," but he added that the difference between male and female statistics is only indicated that females lie more.

These figures, according to Dr. Duke, were obtained in the Kinsey report and considered by many experts to be inaccurate. Kinsey, however, has had a profound effect on public opinion, said Reverend Aylward of Carroll College. "Since Kinsey, Americans won't talk about one another," said Father Aylward. Americans have become more aware that many of their acquaintances may be part of the 37 percent. "Brides have been told this at 3:00 a.m. on the night of the honeymoon," added Father Aylward.

The principle reasons for homosexuality presented were the unavailability of normal heterosexual relations for many people, such as prisoners, students in sex-segregated colleges, and servicemen. "A person may have had a disappointing sexual experience in his life."

Young people may be homosexual, seduced and find it more satisfying than normal relations, they may have a terrible experience as a member of the opposite sex prevents them from enjoying normal relations, explained Father

Aylward.

The priest continued, "Homosexuality is often misunderstood and encouraged by giving it an over-exaggerated importance. Many people seek love in many different ways. If you don't need or seek love you are either legally dead or very far into insanity. The dilemma of the homosexual is that his method of finding love is strongly disapproved of by society."

The consensus of the discussion was that homosexuality is still a definite fact of life as it has been down through the ages. The only distinctive trait or peculiarity of the homosexual is his preference for partners of the same sex. The cure and prevention of homosexuality are still question marks.

The next and last of the "Faith and Life" series on sex will be "The New Morality" conducted by the Rev. Glenn Smouse, Dr. John Langenbach of the philosophy department, and Rev. Herbert Strom at 9:00 p.m. Monday in the lounge of the SUB.

MSU Indians Needed

American Indian students are wanted.

The call for help went out this week for any and all American Indian students on the MSU campus to assist in presenting a program on the "First Americans" to an All-University audience at the SUB Theatre on Dec. 9 for the International Co-operation Center.

The program, which replaces the ICC's usual "Coffee Hour" originally scheduled for that date, is being presented under the direction of Jack Langan of MSU's Office of Information, a recognized authority on the Northern Plains Tribes and adopted son of a Sioux family.

Purpose of the program is to present the story of the American Indian to foreign and domestic students and others here in much the same manner as students Iran and African nations have from such countries as Korea, been presenting portraits of their countries and peoples to the International Coffee Hour audiences in the past.

To explain the background and beliefs of tribes of the Northern Plains and Rocky Mountain areas, the film "Vision Quest," produced by the MSU Film and TV Department will lead off the program.

Demonstrations of Indian clothing, dances and ways of life before the reservation period will follow, with a question-and-answer period winding up the program.

American Indian students are urged to contact Mr. Langan at Ext. 471 or Room 121, Montana Hall Annex.

FLICKS'n THINGS ed thompson

Sometimes I get tired of walking over to the Library to look up reviews for my column. Besides, it doesn't satisfy my creative drive, so every once in a while, I may review one for myself. If you've already seen it, try out-guessing me. If not — well, maybe I can save you the trouble.

According to my vest pocket dictionary, macabro is a corruption of the French word macabre. This is an appropriate name for the movie playing at the Rialto last weekend, since Macabro is nothing but a corruption of Mondo Cane, in every sense of the word.

Mondo Cane had a real significance as a piece of art, through the skillful use of editing contrasting, or perhaps I should say comparing barbaric customs of the most aboriginal of men to the highest society in the most "civilized" of nations. Macbro also has some very colorful photography, but here the comparison ends.

Macabro appeals purely to the erotic senses, with sequence after sequence of the weird and yes, macabre, spliced together with no apparent connection or significance. Marvin Miller had better dialog when he gave away a million dollars every week on TV. Here he had weak jokes to excuse an even weaker picture.

The editors of Mondo Cane had a real insight into human nature, and at times a great delicacy. I shall never forget the final scenes of the New Zealand aborigines, living like cave men, with their airplane-worship culture. Macabro's understanding is evidenced by the fact that the best sequence shows the birth of a gazelle in the African veldt.

Perhaps neither movie was pleasant, but at least Mondo Cane was meaningful unpleasant.

This week the Student Union

Film Board offers Marnie. Tippi Hedren may not be his best, but Hitchcock is always exciting. Tippi Hedren plays a young villain who steals almost compulsively, and that current idol, Sean Connery (James Bond) a businessman and amateur psychologist who blackmails into marrying him so he can find out what makes her tick.

Connery spends their first night reading "The Sexual Attributions of the Criminal Female" and finally confronts her with evidence of her nature.

Arabesque is playing at the Rialto. According to Webster, arabesque is an elaborate scrollwork design with an occasional presence of humans or animals. Arabesque is grandiose, Gregory Peck handsome, Sophia Loren is beautiful. The script and acting? I can't expect everything, can I?

At the Rialto, The Pad and Paddy to Use It is an adaptation of the one-act play "The Private Eye" by Peter Shaffer, a British playwright. In the process of padding enough to make a full-length movie, a great deal of Shaffer's sensitivity was lost and replaced by glib jokes and sight gags.

The plot concerns a shy young man on his first date with an equally lost young girl. A friend comes over to help out with the arrangements. Who ends up with the girl? You guessed it. Bill Bedford, the sole survivor from the Broadway cast, turns in an excellent performance as the mousey one.

On a rather slim week for movies, I'll have to go with Marnie, but The Pad may be a sleeper.

Linda Livers Is Bowl Candidate

Linda Livers, 1966 Montana State University Homecoming Queen, will be a contestant for the Camellia Bowl Queen to reign over the annual NCAA Pacific Coast Regional Football Championship at Sacramento, Calif., Dec. 10.

The 1966 Camellia Bowl Queen will be crowned by the 1964-65 Queen Vickie Brewer at the Annual Camellia Bowl Queen Luncheon, Dec. 5, in the ballroom of the Hotel El Mirador. The new queen and two princesses will be named from candidates representing the NCAA Pacific Coast region from which teams competing in the Camellia Bowl classic are selected.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Livers, New Orleans, La., Miss Livers is a former Bozeman resident. She was crowned Homecoming Queen at 21. A sophomore at MSU, she is a math education major and a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Candidates for the 1966 Camellia Bowl Queen competition will arrive in Sacramento on Dec. 4 for preliminary judging with final selection to be made at the Camellia Bowl Queen Luncheon Monday noon.

Climax of the Queen's appearances in Sacramento throughout the week prior to the Camellia Bowl Game at Hughes Stadium on Saturday, Dec. 10, will be her participation in game activities, pregame and half-time.

Television Helps Education

A faculty members from Colorado State College will demonstrate to Montana State University education students and school administrators from throughout Montana how television video can be utilized for improvement of teaching today and tomorrow.

The demonstration will be given on the MSU campus by Dr. Earl Meier during a Rocky Mountain Educational Laboratory, Inc., workshop.

Dr. Meier also will give the demonstration at 9 a. m. tomorrow in the Student Union Theatre for MSU instructors and school administrators from elementary and secondary schools throughout Montana where MSU students observe their student teaching experience.

In the television video tape demonstration, Dr. Meier will show how to video tape a classroom teaching situation. He will then replay the tape so students and instructors can evaluate the instruction taking place.

The administrators conference opens today with dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the SUB dining room. Dr. Earl Ringo, school of education director at MSU, will speak.

Architect To Talk

"Modern Architecture — Past, Present and Future," will be Mr. Cal A. Briggs' topic Wednesday, November 30. Mr. Briggs lectures at 8:00 p. m. in 105 Reid Hall, according to MSU's architect department.

Briggs comes from the School of Architecture at the University of Colorado where he is a member of the graduate faculty. He received undergraduate degrees from the University of Manitoba and the University of Minnesota. Much of his graduate work came from the California Institute of Technology where he received his Master's in Industrial Design. Briggs also studied at the American Academy in Rome.

Designing of the first built-in electric oven is just one of the many things Briggs has accomplished.

Carroll Brings Play

Edith Hamilton, an eminent Greek Scholar, translated a stark tragedy by Euripedes, which we, on the MSU campus will have an opportunity to view, as Carroll College presents THE TROJAN WOMEN, November 18, in the Student Union Theatre.

THE TROJAN WOMEN is a story that brings out the sorrows, anguish, and pitifulness of the human condition. It concerns a quarrel over a useless woman who has caused much misery among her associates.

Under the newly established Theatre-exchange program, which enables the College Theatre audiences throughout Montana to view productions presented by their fellow institutions, Carroll will present two performances, one at 3:00 p. m., and one at 8:30 p. m. in the Theatre.

Under the able direction of Miss Heather McCleod, head of the Carroll Drama Department, the cast portraying ancient Greeks, will present many special staging techniques, as well as interestingly sung choral lyrics.

Reservations for the evening performance can be made at the Student Union Box Office, November 16-18, from 12 to 5 p. m.

Storm, Moffitt and Gillespie Lead Varsity Bobcat Cagers

The Bobcats have been practicing basketball since October 15th in preparation for the three-and-a-smidgen-more months of hard work.

Roger Craft, head coach claims that he has a fine group of men to work with this year. Returning veterans include Bill Gillespie, Tom Storm, Jim Moffitt, Darrell Furan, and Rich Walter. Bill Nath, a promising forward from last year, won't be able to participate.

He has had recurring knee trouble and had to have it operated on to correct the difficulty.

Craft points out that he will rely heavily on the experience and dependability of these boys to help the younger, more inexperienced fellows learn the ropes and to tie the team together.

Storm, a top scorer and rebounder last year, and Gillespie, a great play maker, will probably lead the way for the Cats, said Craft.

Coming up from the Bobkittens of last year is a lot of talent, said Craft. Jack Gillespie, Greg Harris, Bill Schulte, Jack Elmore, and Jim Kernhagen led the Kittens to a 14-2 record, with some fantastic scores racked up in the process.

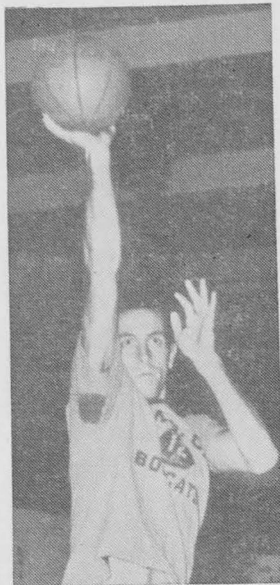

In addition to these boys, Craft has some transfer students who will bolster the roster in no small way. Warren Daniels, Jeff Woods from Sheridan Junior College in Sheridan, Wyoming, and Ross Major from Dawson County J. C. in Glendive are expected to asset the Cats in their quest for victory.

The Bobcats are going to have a tough schedule this year, which opens with intersquad games November 17, 18, and 28. These scrimmages between the Frosh and Varsity are good indications of the future as well as a training ground for the players, the basketball coach said.

Regular season play opens in Fort Collins against Colorado State on Dec. 1, and is the start of a month of rough opponents. In Coach Craft's words, "If we survive the month of December, we'll be all right."

The 1966-67 version of the Bobkittens, said Coach Matson, will consist of some of the best of Montana's young talent. Over 73 percent of the squad come from Montana cities.

The Kittens can look forward to a strict schedule of eighteen games with schools such as Twin Falls J. C., Weber State, and Sheridan Junior College. Matson said he expressed confidence in his ballplayers, but it's too early to predict anything at such an early date.

JIM MOFFITT

Forwards include:

Don Luce, 6'3", Great Falls; Bob Crnkovich, Great Falls; Rob-in Stiff, 6'3", Bozeman; Joe In-man, 6'3", Chinook; Gary Evje, 6'1", Livingston.

Guards include:

Greg Pauly, 6'1", Glendive; Nick Fullerton, 6', Hamilton; Randy Morrison, 6', Great Falls; Dan Driscoll, 5'10", Shelby; Dennis Johnstone, 6'2", Denver; Mike Holland, 6', Pleasant Hill, Calif.; Doug Jones, 5'10", Chicago; Ken Romo, 5'8", Lewistown;

Centers are:

CAMELLIA BOWL HERE WE COME !!! Despite the tough loss the Cats had against Tulsa last weekend 13-8, they still had one of their best seasons ending up with an 8 record. The Big Sky Champions will face tough San Diego State in Sacramento December 10. It will be San Diego's first appearance and the second for the Cats as they played against Sacramento in 1964 and won 28-7. This year's contest will be much tougher for the Cats because San Diego is the number one small college team in the nation, hasn't lost a game this season. They defeated the North Dakota State Bison 36-0, the same team that beat the Cats 35-21 earlier in the season. The Aztecs will be without the services of seven of their players due to ineligibility.

TULSA'S DEFENSE WAS THE PRIME factor in last week's game as they held the high scoring Cats to only one touchdown and one field goal by 'Golden Toe'. Jan Stenerud first put the Bobcats on the scoreboard with a 37 yard field goal in the second quarter. This field goal tied the NCAA record which he later broke by kicking the Cats' only extra point. Dennis Erickson scored the only touchdown with a 36 yard run late in the fourth quarter. Tulsa scored again in the second half and tried for a tally with only one minute left in the game but the Cats managed to hold them from scoring.

DOUG BROWN, MISSOULA'S RUNNING ACE, took first in the Big Sky conference cross country race Saturday. The race was run over a rather mushy and wet course. Idaho State took top team honors followed by Montana, Weber University of Idaho, Montana State and Gonzaga. Craig Anderson was the only Bobcat to place in the top ten. The Cat runners will take a few days off and then will start training again.

THE CATS CAME FROM RAGS TO RICHES this year. Last year they ended up with a 3-7 record and last place in the Big Sky conference. Tuss was the leading ground gainer rushing 342 yards in eight games while Hass only a sophomore then, had carried 43 times for 207 yards. After eight games the Cats had only rushed 1228 yards compared to 2344 yards this year. Foley, last year's quarterback, along with Gary Richards had passed for 410 yards compared to Erickson's 837 yards for eight games this season. The Cats have scored 384 points this year while limiting their opponents to 121. Last year's opponents total points were only behind the Cats after eight games with the Cats scoring 1 and the opponents 106.

Jan Stenerud had only 30 points after eight games last year completing nine extra points and seven field goals. This year Jan had 70 points after eight games. The excellent quarterbacking by Dennis Erickson combined with Hass' great running ability has enabled the Cats to climb out of the cellar this year.

Tulsa Wins Homecoming Over Bobcats; Champs End Season With 8-2 Record

A tough defense and a pair of pass receivers gave an injured Tulsa football team a 13-10 victory over Montana State Saturday but Bobcat coach Jim Sweeney had nothing but praise for his team. "I have never been prouder of these kids than I was Saturday. Tulsa has a fine football team and they were playing more a partisan Homecoming crowd, but if it hadn't been for a couple of bad breaks, we could have won," said Sweeney.

The Tulsa defense held the high-scoring Bobcats to 10 points, well below Montana State's season average, but had their hands full with the running of Don Hass, Mark Urza and Dennis Erickson. Hass was never better, he ran faster than he has all season and took a lot of punishment but didn't slow him down," said Sweeney. The 196 pound junior from Glendive rushed for 139 yards and had one 41 yard scamper to the Tulsa 15, called back.

Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs noted what opposing coaches have been saying about Hass all season long. "He's the strongest player we've faced. I haven't seen any that run any harder and scared me half to death every time he carried the ball. I feel we were very fortunate to have kept him from crossing the goal line because he is a threat from anywhere at any time," said Dobbs. The Tulsa mentor also stated that his team had to come up with one of their best performances this season to win.

Montana State rushed for 285 yards against the Hurricane defense that averaged over 250 pounds per man in the line.

Quarterback Dennis Erickson hit on 7 of 13 passes but an untimely penalty and a fumble halted drives that could have given the Bobcats their ninth win of the 1966 season.

Both Hurricane touchdowns came on passes, one from quarterback Glen Dobbs, III to Brent Roberts in the first period and the other from reserve quarterback Mike Stripling to flanker Rick Eber in the third quarter. "That Eber is a great pass receiver. His touchdown catch was fantastic, we had him covered but he still came up with the ball," said Sweeney.

Montana State's Jan Stenerud set a NCAA record with 82 points by kicking a 34 yard field goal in the second quarter and the extra point after a 36 yard touchdown romp by Erickson in the fourth quarter. His 82 points for the season eclipses the record of 81 points for a kicker set last year by Charley Gogolak of Princeton. Last season Stenerud established a new NCAA record in distance by kicking a 59-yard field goal.

The Tulsa game was the final regular season contest for Montana State this year . . . Montana State will be playing in the Camellia Bowl in Sacramento on December 10, 1966.

The Bobcats won the Big Sky Conference crown with a perfect 4-0 record and ended up with a 8-2 season record . . . a spot high among the rankings of the nation's college division teams.

THE CATS AND the Kittens tangle in a little basketball skirmish. Coach Craft feels that the team is coming along great but he remains a little optimistic about the season.

All-Star Team Chosen for Campus Football

"I'd say that we had a very successful intramural football season and our win over Missoula proved this," declared Dobbie. "I don't expect the last intramural season. Some of the games will have to remain unplayed because of the weather and other factors. The official shirts, clocks and balls must be turned into Dobbie's office so that he can make arrangements to pay the students who officiated the games.

Volleyball season started last Wednesday night. All games will be played in the upper gym because the Bobcat varsity team will be practicing in the fieldhouse. Dobbie wishes to stress the fact that there is very little time to complete the volleyball season. If a team that is scheduled to play does not show up, that team is deleted from the schedule for the rest of the season. Each team must supply a member to officiate the games. Games will be played on a four hour with the team winning at least 3 games taking the victory.

The Delta Sigs took first, the Phi Sigs tied for third and both in the final football standings. The fraternity intramural representatives also chose an All-Star team. These 15 men will receive a plaque from Dobbie Lambert congratulating them for a fine season. The SAEs placed six men on the team, the Phi Sigs three, the Delta Sigs two, the Sigma Chis two and the Sigma Nus two. The Intramural All-Star team consists of the following players:

David Kem, Sigma Chi; Ed Nash, SAE; Jerry Toinyes, Phi Sig; Clyde Carpino, SAE; Bob Latta, Delta Sig; Dave Neil, SAE; Larry Kelly, Delta Sig; Craig Matson, Phi Sig; Dick Harte, Phi Sig; Bruce Putnam, Sigma Chi; Bill Silvius, SAE; Gary Swartz, SAE; Bruce Peterson, Sigma Nu; Ron Parent, SAE; and Dean Schreiber, Sigma Nu.

Dobbie has asked for suggestions that would improve the touch football game. The intramural representatives suggested the following changes:

Do away with ties, by either having goal posts or else using a California playoff. Shorten the field to 80 yards and mark the fields off at 15 or 20 yard intervals. First downs would be judged by these chalk lines. A rule might also be made whereby no player can be within 5 yards of the sidelines and if he is near the sidelines he must have his hands on his knees. Dobbie is also thinking of making up the schedule in the Spring so that the football games can start the second week of college in the fall.

Happy Talk

Not in your wildest dreams could you ever consider MSU a finishing school, but by the same token I hate to be classified with those who look like they just crawled out of the woodwork . . . and you know how old and miserable some of the woodwork is on this campus. Point of interest: The school was founded in 1893!

Just innocently walking between classes you are constantly confronted with our many refinements.

Everyday you meet the hoards of girls that abundantly fill out their Wranglers; indeed, their pants overfloweth. Unfortunately, it is usually the girls that just don't pack it or shall we say pack it a little too much that we see waddling down the sidewalk. I often think these girls are consciously trying to keep up a self-made image. I only wish they could clearly see the image that they reflect.

I only go to the library on rare occasions and then only when it is absolutely necessary because it acts as an instant depressant. Not only do you meet the slack set, but also, the roller regiment, and the mini masquerade.

Every time I see a babe in rollers I think why didn't she stay in bed? Why should any reasonably attractive girl stand up proudly to show the whole world her deficiencies? I can think of nothing more effective than spongy, spiny, sloppy rollers for that total look . . . total disillusionment.

The fadeests who slink around in short mini skirts, to me, are insulting the male artistic eye. I'm positive any fighting Bobcat could imagine a much shapelier body and angular thigh than most girls are prepared to show him. It seems this is one advantage a stimulous, such as a skin magazine, has over you girls, when tiring of the picture the admirer can easily close the cover.

Guy, you do not go unnoticed. I am not talking about the highly individual entity that wears sandals in 3 ft. of snow. If this is the way he wants to go, he may as well go with pneumonia. However, I am less than impressed with the hunk of man that wears crummy jeans and wrinkled sweatshirts, not only is he horribly unattractive but he scares away the masses because he clearly needs a wife and or a mother.

These are only a few of the areas that could use drastic social change. But look to the future, the next catalog shows much prospect of offering: 'The Fundamentals of Refinement,' 202.

Greeks Collect Funds For Retarded Children

A foot race in slow motion on Nov. 19 will highlight the annual Retarded Children Fund Drive, which is being spearheaded by Alpha Omicron Pi, sorority, and Sigma Nu, fraternity, from Montana State University.

The foot race will be from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. along Main Street in downtown Bozeman.

The race will be on the north side of Main from the Baxter Hotel east to the Bozeman Hotel and back. Each participant may take one foot-length step for each dime contributed in his behalf by those watching the race.

Participating in the race will be members of Bozeman Rotary Club, Gallatin Shrine Club, Kiwanis and the Elks Club. Members of two MSU student groups — the Fangs and Spurs — also will participate.

Linda Mattelin of Culbertson, a junior in elementary education at MSU, nad Bill Davis of Great Falls, a junior in premedicine, co-chairmen of the fund drive.

Miss Mattelin said that money contributed during the race goes to the Gallatin County Association for Mentally Retarded Children. The major expenditure of the association is used to educate the trainable youngsters.

Besides soliciting downtown there will be a house-to-house canvass by members of AOPH. Sigma Nu. Last year $13,000 was collected, plus $500 from an anonymous donor.

Wildlife Films To Be Shown

The second series of the Audubon wildlife films will be shown Monday, November 21, 1966 in the SUB theater.

The Audubon Wildlife Committee said, concerning presentation: The finest remnants of wilderness in the Pacific Northwest is found in the Olympic area of Washington State. rocky, surf-battered beaches, snow-capped peaks, glaciers, dense rain forests provide homes for many creatures — elk, marmot, osprey, mountain goat and others — presented here in color film by Walter Berlet.

Included are scenes of a teen-mile beach march of 1964 by conservationists led by the honorable Justice William O. Douglas protesting a proposed highway which would ruin much of the replaceable land."
