Editorial puff

On Friday, you students will have the opportunity, and perhaps the apathy, to vote on student senate candidates. And before this election, I want to make sure you know something: I would make a damn good student senator. If you don't believe me, just ask me.

I learned from Ambrose Bierce that "Politics is the conduct of public affairs for private advantage."

I don't mean to say that I would vote on each and every issue with my own special interests in mind. I'm not selfish that way. I'd be openly concerned with the interests of all students; and then I'd support those who gave me the best offer.

But listen: I am one politician who is not running for office. I figure ASMSU has enough politicians the way it is. What they need is more statesmanship.

Exponent excuses

In reading over these campaign briefs I discovered that a good percentage of the candidates have commented on the performance and purpose of this ASMSU Activity (The Exponent). These comments are well noted. But!! In order to accomplish them we need people and incentive. Granted the Exponent has one of the largest budgets that ASMSU appropriates. But three-fourths of this comes from the local businesses in the form of advertising on our pages.

Let us look at some of the reasons for lack of incentive and cost of operation.

1) The Exponent staff is one of the lowest paid college newspaper staffs in the state.

2) We assemble this paper without the aid of a Journalism Department or a faculty advisor.

3) The assistance we do receive comes from the excellent staff of the High Country which is under contract for composition and layout. Without their aid we could not present this service to you students.

4) The students of MSU contribute less than $2 of their activity fee to the operating budget of the Exponent. In-tramurals, KGLT, and The Montanan all demand a larger chunk of your activity fee.

5) Our printing cost is $47 per page. Therefore, with printing cost and staff gratuities this eight-page election tabloid drained the Exponent budget of over $450, a direct cost since there are no advertisements in this special issue. What more could a candidate for Student Senate ask of such a passive and lowly servant?

Victorious candidates will face tough issues

by Nick Geranios

The ten student senate candidates who emerge victorious in Friday's election will have their work cut out for them in what promises to be a very busy year.

According to Spencer Fred Thomas, ASMSU President, the new student senators will have to deal with an extremely tight supplemental budget. Several money requests which were not foreseen earlier in the year have developed and the ASMSU budget will not be able to accommodate all the requests for funds.

The new student senators will also find themselves in the thick of the building projects procedures if the projects are given a go-ahead vote by the students Friday.

If the projects are approved, the new senators will form committees and begin deciding exactly what needs to be done in the SUB, the Fieldhouse and the other areas covered by the projects.

In addition to the on-campus problems, the senators will have to deal with the state legislature, which is in session this term. The Legislative Research Committee is a subcommittee of the Senate, made up largely of student senators who have to deal with all University problems with the legislature. Among their concerns will be passage of the Film and Television Building bill which is before the legislature.

Finally, the new senators must deal with new budgeting procedures and the gratuities problem, which is deciding who should get paid, for what, and how much.

These issues are supplemented by the daily concerns of an ASMSU senator, making the position, if not downright difficult, at least interesting.

Lombardi supporters write

To the Editor:

The Senate elections to be held on Nov. 17 should be of significant importance to all students. The votes you cast on this day will decide who will speak out for you in our student government. Nancy Lombardi is a sophomore majoring in business, and she wants very much to be your voice on campus.

Nancy has the ability, experience and concern to serve you as a student senator. Unafraid to speak out on controversial issues, Nancy is a dependable worker who does more at meetings than just sit. She sees the role of senator as the role of the people's representative, dedicated to serving your interests, not her own.

A graduate of Helena Capital, Nancy was instrumental as the school's representative in appropriating $59,000 for a park and bikeway system for Helena.

Montana State has likewise benefitted from Nancy's concern. Much of her time and energy last quarter was spent organizing and executing the "Handicapped Awareness Day" held last May.

Experience on ASMSU's Tutorial Committee and Committee K gave Nancy a vital inside understanding of how ASMSU operates, and that's what gets things done—experience, dedication and willingness to be an active representative.

Let Nancy Lombardi be your voice on campus. Vote Nancy Lombardi for ASMSU Senate on Nov. 17.

To the Editor:

Friday, Nov. 17, is the general election for senators of ASMSU, judiciary seats, and a vote for endorsement of building projects on campus. This election is important to many because student fees, regulations, and programs are directly effected by student elected positions.

Nancy Lombardi is a candidate for senate in this election. She has proven to me and others knowing her that she has the ability to make rational and intelligent decisions, representative of those she speaks for. A vote for her is a vote in the right direction of responsible student senators. I support Nancy in her bid for Student Senate.

Sarris Clouse

I am double majoring in home ec education extension and agriculture education.

Here at MSU it is important to have a student government to guide the institution along its way. Since the Legislature is meeting this year in Helena, it is very important for MSU to have student senators and other interested faculty, students, and administrators who will support and back up this university system. Legislative dealings with MSU and the five other secondary institutions are of interest and great concern to me.

One of the most important issues which Student Senate is concerned with is budgeting of all ASMSU services, facilities, and activities. Through our student activity fees ASMSU has been able to expand and increase in many areas. I realize the importance of budgeting and plan to investigate and get involved with the budgeting matters.

Another issue which MSU is presently interested in is the building projects. These projects involve the Fieldhouse, the stadium, remodeling the Student Union Building, and building a new ag facility. These projects can increase student activities as well as intramural sports, intercollegiate sports, and community participation. I feel these projects are important and urge each student to go to the polls on Friday, the 17th, and express his or her opinions for or against the projects.

Student government interests me and if elected I will be openminded and try to make my decisions in the best interests of the students at Montana State University.

Carol Penwell

I am Carol Penwell. I am an outdoors person who lives at the foot of the Rockies in Billings, Montana. I enjoy tennis, climbing and repelling off mountains, bike riding, swimming, and water skiing in the spring and summer. I love skiing and archery in the fall and winter. In other words I keep as physically fit as I can endure.

I especially love to ski because of my ski patrolling at Red Lodge Mountain. It is not a very large area, but people are still able to twist a knee or break a leg where ever it is possible to ski and snow is plentiful. Patrolling is great because I get to know people on the slopes and mountain tops.

In high school I joined various school organizations like service clubs, chorus, speech, language, and theatre groups. In some I was an officer. I can honestly say that I was not "part of the crowd", and that I was well known in every club that I joined. I believe in student participation.

All these personal interests have lead me to run for a position on the Associated Student Senate. I have always been able to communicate with all types of people, and motivated by public input I can support what the students want. I can also see that there is output. I want to be a link between the Senate and the general public. There has been problems in the Senate, and I learned a long time ago from my father that when you have a lack of communication you are going to have trouble.

John Sorenson

Student Senate candidate John Charles "Chuck" Sorenson has a wealth of experience in representative and leadership roles. During his high school days Chuck participated in a wide variety of activities which included student council representative, 4 H Club president, FFA officer, state FFA committee man, and a member of the National Forensics League. Chuck was also named the outstanding novice debator of his debate team. Upon graduation he received two scholarship awards from his high school and two more scholarships from a Wyoming junior college.

At the junior college that he attended, Chuck cultivated an interest in student activities on the college level. At Sheridan junior college in Wyoming Chuck was president of the AG club, student senate representative and judge at the Denver stock show.

After having attended MSU for four quarters, Chuck has been amazed by the growing popularity of this university which is reflected in its enrollment figures. Although Chuck feels this is a positive sign, he recognizes the increased need for competent management of student resources. Chuck's service on an ASMSU student committee gave him his initial involvement in MSU student government. Chuck's major concern about student government is that is should voice the opinions of the general student body. Chuck is realistic enough to know that every student won't take advantage of their access to student representatives, but he feels that those who do should be heard in a considerate way and have their views fairly represented at student government meetings.

One of the areas where student input is greatly needed now is in the allocation of funds for improvements on certain student facilities. For instance, a seven million dollar proposal is currently being suggested to improve present facilities. Unfortunately during the preliminary discussions over these funds, all students were not adequately informed of the proposal. Consequently, without proper student input, the four time National Champions MSU Rodeo team was completely neglected. In dealing with a matter of such importance, Chuck feels student input should be a major factor. Hence Chuck Sorenson pledges always to facilitate student input in a judicious manner.

Goals: Better orientation for older student and student with family to help them adjust to college life.

Professional advisers and counselors for older students.

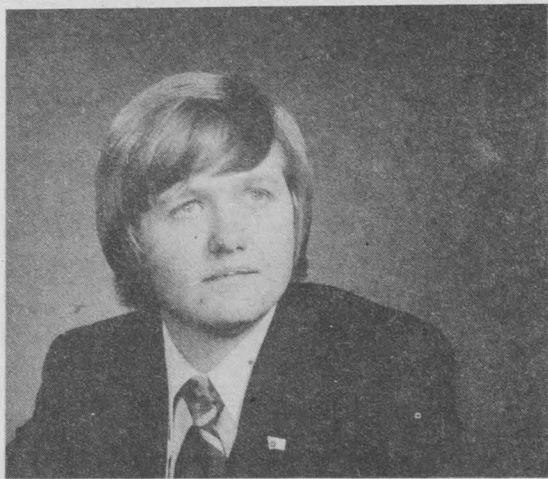

Larger daycare facilities. Present facility can only handle 14 children at any given time.

Examination of student activity fees to determine how they are used to benefit the older or married student.

Student evaluation of faculty.

Re-examination of proposed alternations in PE Complex and Fieldhouse.

Rory Abraham

I feel that I am qualified for the senate for four reasons:

(1) In high school I was in speech, so I am able to talk in front of people.

(2) I am well versed in parliamentary procedure.

(3) I am active in RHA as my floor representative and I have attended most of their meetings.

(4) I am active in other organizations on campus so I do know what is happening.

These are my main qualities, but I also have a belief that the people elected to the senate should listen and represent the areas around the campus and not wall themselves in. I would be willing to listen if elected. I hope that the students here will get more active in student activities and politics to keep the people in office honest and on their toes (like they should be). If I am elected I can only promise one thing; to represent you as best as I possibly can, since that is all a person can do. Any other promises are really chancey and probably cannot be kept. really chancey and probably cannot be kept.

Please vote on Friday so that the people you want can get elected. If you don't vote, then you can forget about getting the representation that you want. Thank you.

Sarah Tudvedt

My decision to run for an ASMSU Senate position stems from my desire to learn how student government operates on a university level. I feel that by becoming involved I could contribute to MSU and help the university grow and change as well as myself.

Because I am new to college life, it's activities, and people, it is easier for me to be openminded and receptive to feedback from any student. As a dorm dweller and a business accounting major, I am in contact with a cross-section of the student body. Also, I am involved in the Chi Omega sorority and the AGR

Ken Jenkins

Since early March, I have served as a senator of ASMSU, and have gained a great deal of experience in the workings of our student government. Presently, I am Director of the ASMSU Facilities Board, which oversees such programs as the Outdoor Recreation Center, the Day Care Center, the Fieldhouse-Track-Stadium, and the soon-to-be-opened Auto Repair Shop. Other committees I serve on include Legislative Research and Constitutional Audit.

Students have an enormous impact on this university through various committees of ASMSU, and through Student Senate. One of the Senate's major impacts comes via the informed and responsible allocations of the several hundred thousand dollar annual budget. Here, as with every action concerning students, personal views and input are greatly needed and desired. As a Senator, Director, and member of various ASMSU committees, I have strived to learn what the student views are, and to then act accordingly--as your representative.

There are two major projects now concerning the Student Senate. The first is fraternity and, therefore, could represent the views of the Greeks as well as the independents.

This year MSU students are faced with many decisions. One of these concerns additions to and renovation of the Strand Student Union Building. I am in favor of this proposal. With new and better facilities maybe MSU could expand its entertainment and have more concerts of big name performers.

I was involved in student council at Flathead High School for three years and would like to continue that involvement here at Montana State. Some of my other interests include music, skiing, and travelling.

What happens to the students of Montana state and the school as a whole is very important, not only to the students but also to the people of Montana. This is evident by the overwhelming passage of the six-mill levy.

I am enthusiastic want to get involved and will do my best to represent the interests of the students. I will strive to keep a feeling of cooperation between the university and the people of Montana.

I would appreciate your support on Nov. 17. Thank you.

the fate of a $7.5 million building project proposal which students will be voting on in this election. If approved, the services of the campus for students will be improved and expanded in the areas of tennis and other recreational activities, rodeo, basketball, and the Student Union Building.

A second major project concerning the Senate is the new Auto Repair Shop. This facility will soon be open to provide students with a warm location and the equipment to work on their automobiles.

My goals for the coming term, if elected, include working to have: the library hours once again expanded to meet the student demand; the services of the Outdoor Recreation Center broadened to satisfy the needs and wants of those using it; the Day Care Center enlarged for more usage by married students with children; and, most of all, to have a greater deal of student input on the everyday workings of ASMSU.

In light of my experience as your Senator, I feel that I can continue to represent the views and wishes of the MSU student body in the best way possible.

Bill Renney

Senior - Social Justice - 21 - Helena, Montana

I'm interested in representing the student body more effectively. In the past it seems that over 60 percent of the students at MSU have had no say or given no say as to where they want the money they give through their activity fees to ASMSU, to go. That money consists of over $500,000.00 with 6,000 or more students not saying where they want their money to go. I think students should have more voice. I think I can transmit that voice. Few students know what goes on during the Senate's Thursday night meetings, I think the Exponent should have a reporter at the meetings and report in the Exponent what goes on. Many on this campus complain about student apathy but little seems to be done to actually let students know the issues. There is a board outside the Sub Cafeteria that does tell what bills were covered but many students aren't aware of it. The information provided on that board is given in such a way that without prior knowledge of the issues it'd be hard to know what each bill meant. I want to try to get things done for the students and also help them be aware of what is going on. I'd appreciate your vote tomorrow. Vote for better representation, vote for Bill Renney.

Karen P. Walsh

Campaigning time is here once again and even though I don't claim to be a "true blue" politician, I acknowledge Senate has done a lot of good for MSU. But this "good" has had difficulties in reaching the students and faculty at MSU. I feel this communication barrier can be overcome in several ways: publishing Senate minutes and the upcoming agenda in the Exponent; better notice of Senate committee openings; more publicity on the proceedings and actions of these committees; or more verbal communication of the senators with the students, i.e. panels, etc.

Having been a member of several of the organizations here on campus---RHA, intramurals, Greek life, business, rodeo club--I feel that I could represent a variety of the interests here at MSU. I have become involved in senate "through the back door", like working actively on the UCIC (Undergraduate Course Information Catalog) committee last spring and attending the Senate meetings regularly this fall. Through this, I feel I have acquired the experience, knowledge, and desire to be an informed and contributing senator. I encourage all of you to use your right to vote and I'd appreciate your vote on November 17.

Danny Choriki

Throughout the years that I have been involved in politics somehow I have managed to acquire the label of a RADICAL.

As my friends will tell you I am actually a real pain in the neck to be around, except when I am buying the beer.

Seems I have managed to get hung-up on the idea that each individual should be free, and willing to accept the corresponding responsibilities.

How does this apply to campus life?

One) Students should not depend upon the administration for the answer to problems like parking and lack of classroom space. We should promote ideas like free parking behind the fieldhouse and lobby at the state legislature for a film and television building.

Two) If I had a dollar for everytime I said the word apathy I would not walk through snow everyday to get to classes. Not caring is based in not knowing. If we meet a person the process of caring begins. MSU needs additional opportunities to meet the rest of the student body. Dances in the SUB.

Tom Cummings

Announcing a solution to student depression at MSU: ban finals week and one piece bathing suits! It may not cure the problem but sure would make college life more interesting. Better entertainment on campus would also improve life for the students. We need more than just listening music, lets get something we can dance to! According to an article in the Exponent a few weeks ago they used to have dances twice a week. We could at least try for once a week.

Students do not get many chances to meet people on campus. The problem could be solved by mandatory computer dating. This would enhance everyone's social life.

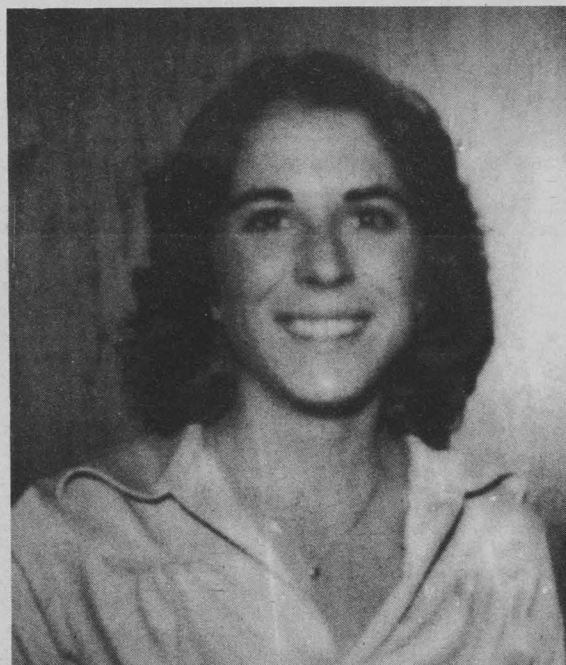

The grading system at MSU is depressing. What is needed is a new system where the student is given a grade of A, B, C or no credit. There are schools on the East and West coast that are presently using this system, it's time MSU caught up with the rest of the nation.

Vote for me and I will represent your needs in the Senate.

Perhaps an evening coffee shop with music, beer, and wine. One idea has come out of this campaign that I like, mandatory computer dating.

Responsibility equals freedom. That's something we've heard for a long time. Maybe we should take it seriously.

Norma Kay Starr

My name is Norma Kay Starr. I am from Melville, Montana, which is located in Sweet Grass County. I am a Junior, majoring in Animal Science. I have served one term as a Student Senator.

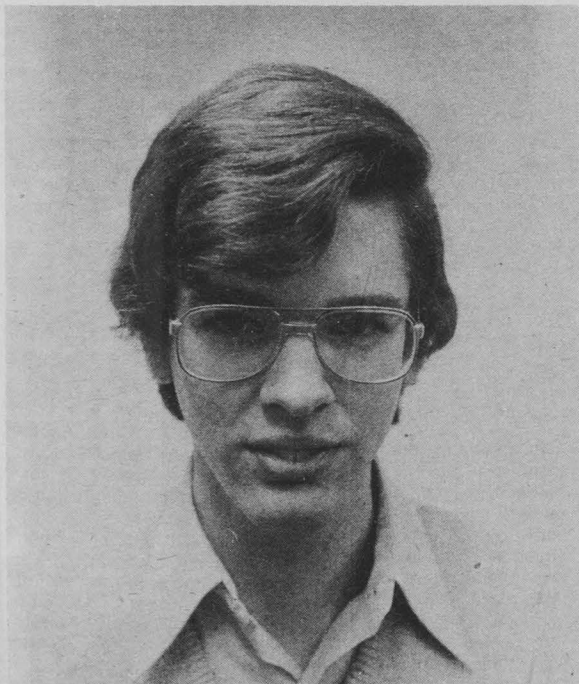

I was elected to Constitution Audit Committee which takes proposed legislation and puts it into the legal form of a bill.

I am also involved in legislative research committee. Most recently this committee has selected a MSU-student lobbyist who will lobby on issues affecting MSU. The positions the lobbyist takes on these issues will be coordinated through the Legislative Research Committee.

Recently I served as Chairman of an Exponent Ad Hoc Committee. I am also a member of Services committee and a Senate Representative to Community-University.

I would like to see a greater degree of communication between the students, the student senate, and the administration. Giving the students a greater insight on issues coming up, so that they can take a more knowledgeable stand for or against subjects affecting them.

As an incumbent I feel I have the knowledge and ability to be an effective student senator in a second term of office.

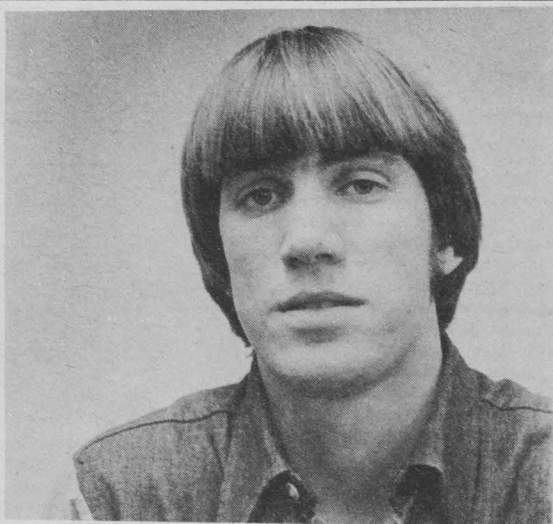

Frank Witt

Hello! My name is Frank Witt and I'm a freshman majoring in ag business. I grew up on a farm and ranch in Augusta, Mont., where I attended high school and was very active in sports, many clubs and organizations, and was also involved in the student council four years. I am presently serving as State FFA III vice-president, am a member of Ag Club, and I am pledge president for the AGR fraternity.

But more important than all the activities I have been involved in or the positions of leadership which I have held is my attitude toward this office. I am enthusiastic and willing to work hard and serve as your student senator to the best of my ability.

Someone once wisely said, "People don't care how much you know; they want to know how much you care." I do care! I care about this university, its students, its budget and how it operates. I am running for the senate because I am deeply concerned about the needs of students here at MSU and would like to take an active part in the making of decisions that affect students of this university. I have become familiar with issues facing students, faculty, and administrators at the present time.

I encourage everyone to vote and would greatly appreciate your support, because as your student senator, I would do my best to help make Montana State University a better place to live, to learn, and to grow. Thank-you

Tambra Morgan

I am Tambra Morgan, a sophomore from Helena. Since this year is a state legislative year, it is an exciting year to be part of ASMSU senate.

My interests in politics stimulated my activity in high school government and speech team, including Student Congress and Debate. I am now vice president of South Hedges and in RHA.

Deepening my understanding, was my work as a page in the 1975 state legislature, then again when I was an aide for the entire 1977 legislature. I learned much about Montana State University funding and about the role of a senator.

My thoughts, for the upcoming year are to try and solve some problems in the senate structure. I feel a very major problem is communication between the students and the government. Most students on campus do not even know that besides voting for senators, they will be voting on a budget to be put before the state legislature. Students are unaware what is happening before it takes place. Students need to be informed and that is what I intend to do.

The issues voted on last year by ASMSU Senate, including the cutting of departmental funding, were very controversial as to the representation to the students. This stems partly from the communication problem.

Thus if I win I will call upon you to help me make some decisions dealing with you the students.

The Exponent needs an Associate Editor

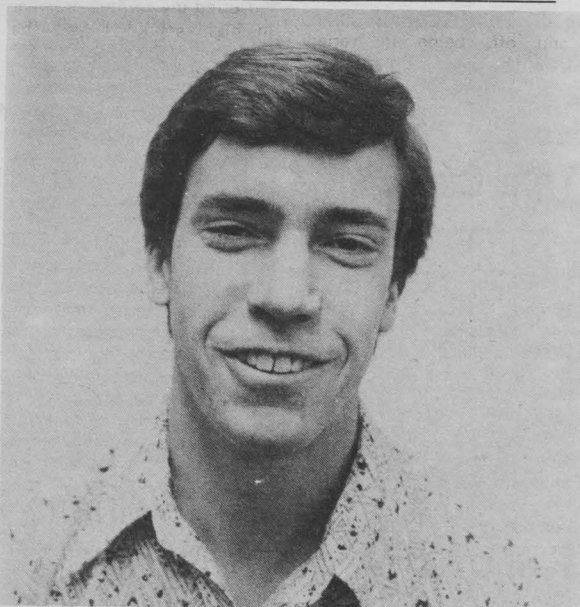

Apply at our office in the SUB basement

Bob Drummond

Bob Drummond is a junior from Bozeman majoring in agriculture business. He has been serving on the Student Senate since last spring when he was appointed to senate to fill a seat vacated by a graduating senior.

Bob has a great deal of previous experience in ASMSU. As a first quarter freshman, he was appointed to the ASMSU Tutorial Committee which is the committee that selects tutors for the ASMSU Tutorial program. When he was a sophomore, Bob Drummond was appointed to the SUB Board which determines policy of the Student Union Building. Bob has been working on the SUB Board since then and is now serving as the student chairman of that board.

Bob Drummond also has had experience with the financial structure of ASMSU as he has spent time on the ASMSU Finance Board. Finance Board is the committee which makes spending recommendations to the Student Senate. Drummond said that he feels confident that the experience he has gained, both on ASMSU committees and on the senate, will prove valuable if he is elected this fall.

Drummond's activities on campus also include Alpha Zeta, the agricultural honorary, Fangs a sophomore service honorary, a student leader for freshman orientation in the summer and Sigma Nu social fraternity. He was vice president of the Fangs last year.

Drummond commented that ASMSU offers a wide variety of programs and services which have proven to be very valuable to the students. "ASMSU spends $300,000 of students money each year. In my opinion this means that each student has a stake in ASMSU and its programs." He went on to say that the success of those programs is, in a large part, dependent upon the Student Senate. "If we take it upon ourselves to elect a competent Student Senate, then the success of those programs is assured."

Drummond said that he hopes to be able to continue his work on senate. "I've been working for ASMSU for seven quarters now and I hope the students will give me the opportunity to continue."

Jim Taflan

Past years have proven that there is a lack of dialogue between the student body and student government. I think one way of improving the situation is to increase the level of awareness as to the time, place, date and agenda of student senate meetings. Why not publish the highlights of student senate meetings in the Exponent?

For as many students that live on campus I think that the number of week-end on campus activities is extremely small. An initiation of Friday or Saturday night dances in the S.U.B. ballroom would eliminate some of the boredom experienced by many students. As our representative at student government meetings I will put your interests first.

Your vote will be a vote for the RIGHT candidate.

Wayne Lehman

I view Student Senate as an opportunity for a person to increase his or her understanding of government, students, and the administration of the university. This is a job which should not be taken lightly. The senator must rely on the voice of the student body to base their decisions on forthcoming issues, for the simple fact that they are representing the students. Student input on issues is a very important aspect because whatever Student Senate does effects the student body in one-way or another.

The stadium, Fieldhouse, ag facility proposal, for example, is an important and controversial issue that will effect not only the students but the whole university for many years to come. I don't feel this proposal is very well understood among the students. Since the 2.5 million dollar figure attached to this proposal is just a ball-park estimate, no guarantee can be made to what form it will return in from the Board of Regents and the Montana State Legislature. It is greatly needed, though, and the problems associated with it must be worked out between the administration, Student Senate, and the students.

The upcoming Montana State Legislature will also have an important impact on the students and the university. Student Senate will have to play an important role in making the student voice of MSU heard in Helena.

The annual student budget must be emphasized because it is of great concern to the students. Our money must be used in the most efficient manner possible.

These issues and others are important in Student Senate. A large responsibility must be realized when a person decides to run. Majoring in plant and soil science with an option in agronomy, I feel I am capable of doing the job and able to represent a number of students on campus.

Sallee Huber

My name's Sallee Huber, and I'm a junior in Speech Communication from Bozeman.

The main reason I chose to run for Senate was because in three years of attendance at MSU, I have grown impatient with what appears to be a Senate largely concerned with representing the personal interests of individual Senators. I am deeply concerned that the money student Senate is given from our fees is not always distributed in the best interests of the whole student body.

In the several

In the years I have been a student here, I've been active in several different campus organization, including Campus Band and Chorus, the Speech and Debate team, Dorm Councils of both Roskie and Hannon, R.H.A., and the On Campus Living Advisory Committee.

I feel this background of student government, and membership in different student activities gives me the ability to be a fair, and open-minded Senator, and not allow personal interests to influence my decisions.

Too many candidates promise to represent one faction or another in student politics, if elected to Senate, and this, I think, is where we have gotten the problem of so many student groups feeling "ripped off" after Spring Budgeting, such as happened last year. The only group I will promise to represent if elected, is the MSU Student Body.

After living both on campus and off, being in varied campus organizations, and most importantly, being fed up with self-interest politics, I think MSU Students would find me to be a person worth their support. I thank the Exponent for printing these statements, and I thank the students who are reading them - don't forget to vote!

Jonathan

R. Jackson

I am running for ASMSU Senate because I can represent all students.

I am a senior majoring in agricultural education plus a non-scholarship senior Army ROTC cadet. I was a student orientation leader for two years and know most of the MSU student needs and concerns. I am a veteran and will represent all veterans. Also, I am a self-supporting married student, with two children, which has made me very economical in budgeting money.

I understand the main issue facing MSU students is the renovation of the Fieldhouse. I fully support this project only if another indoor facility is made available to accommodate the MSU Rodeo Club. Another major issue is parking on campus. After living in Married Student

Nancy Lombardi

Who will you be voting for on Nov. 17? Who will you elect to voice your opinion on this campus?

I am a sophomore majoring in business and I want very much to be your voice on campus. I am concerned that all the students should have a say in what is happening here at MSU and that an effort should be made to improve lines of communication between the senators and their constituents.

I feel qualified to serve you in the capacity of a senator as I have been involved in student government since junior high, and have had the opportunity to serve others in many leadership positions.

During my sophomore year in high school I had the opportunity to serve as a state officer for a national business organization and was responsible for implementing a regional five-state

During my sophomore year in high school I had the opportunity to serve as a state officer for a national business organization and was responsible for implementing a regional (five-state) leadership conference. I was also able to attend Montana's Girl's State where I was selected to be a party chairman and later served as president of the senate.

The next year I had the honor of being a guest speaker for that year's delegation.

Since coming to college, I have continued to keep involved. Last year I channelled much of my time and effort towards the advancement of the handicapped and helped organize and carry out MSU's first "Handicapped Awareness Day."

I have served on two senate committees since fall of last year and have come to understand and appreciate the way the system operates. By serving in these various capacities I have been able to develop my leadership skills and learn to work with all kinds of individuals.

If elected, I would devote all the time and effort necessary to be a good representative of your ideas and concerns for our campus. I am asking your support--Let me be YOUR voice on campus.

Housing next to North Hedges Resident Hall, I fully realize parking is a problem and I plan to do all I can to better it.

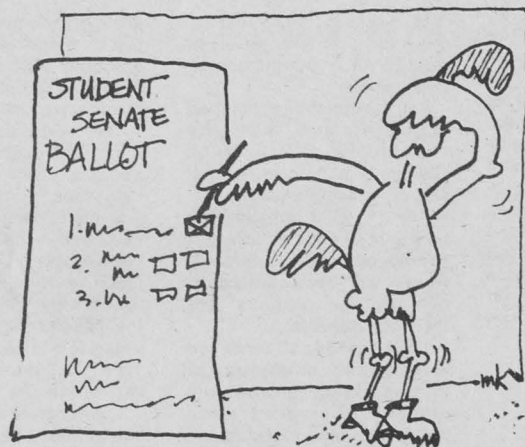

Also, if elected, I plan to make the voice of the married student heard in MSU government. Another thing I will do if elected, since the Montana State Legislature will be meeting next year, is travel to Helena to lobby on issues pertaining to MSU, plus also meet with the Board of Regents on issues pertaining to MSU.

In closing, I feel every student should be heard, and one way you can be heard is to vote. So, I encourage each and everyone of you to exercise this right and vote on Nov. 17.

Justice candidate

Ken Redman

Ken Redman

I am running for the position of ASMSU justice. This is a new position provided for by the newly revised constitution.

Because there is a general lack of knowledge about the powers and responsibilities of the judicial branch of student government, I would like to give a brief overview of the function of the judicial branch.

The Judicial Council is the body that will hear appeals and render decision to insure that the requirements set forth in the constitution are followed. It may be noted that any student may approach the Judicial Council for appeal on action taken by the executive officers of ASMSU, Senate, or the judicial committees.

I would like to participate in this judicial process. Your vote would be appreciated.
