The students of the Colleges of the two Dakotas, are in hopes that Montana and Iowa will join the Western League of Oratory, which association was organized about one year ago by the representatives of the North and South Dakota Colleges. The plan proposed, is that each State is to have a State Oratorical contest, preceding the interstate contest. Those who are victorious in the contest between the several Colleges of the State, are to represent the State in the Western League contest, which is to take place sometime near the latter part of the school year.

We received notice from the Cliolian Literary Society, that a resolution had been passed to discontinue the Cliolian Society advertisement in the EXPONENT. If the business men of the City did not feel more interested in the success of the EXPONENT than the ladies' society of the College, the paper would have been a victim of financial distress long before the present time; but we are still hopeful of avoiding the horrors of a financial failure, even if the students do attempt to knock our props out from under us and cause us to walk on wooden pegs with crutches.

The College buildings will be ready for use next year. At present the wall of the main building is complete to the first floor line. The furnaces are installed. All the brick and tile work of the Chemical building is done. The roof boarding is on, and the plumbing work is finished as far as possible until the floor is laid. The Veterinary building is completed with the exception of plastering and painting the wood work. The shop is all complete, except some interior painting. The machines are being installed. A car load of machinery, consisting of 20 machines of various kinds and forge room apparatus, arrived this week. The cost of the new machinery is $4,300. We will have the most complete shop in the State.

Athletics.

With such a large number of young athletic students as we have in College at present, there is a bright future for us in the way of out-door games.

The base ball fever has taken our neighboring towns by storm, and our base ball cranks should be getting in shape to do some effective work during the coming season. As soon as the weather will permit, a team will be organized, and, if possible, games will be arranged with the Colleges and Universities of the State. It should be kept in mind by the boys, that with a comparatively small expense and labor, a good, enclosed Athletic Park could be made, which would insure considerable gate receipts in defraying expenses of visiting teams.

A Reply.

In the Experiment Station notes of the January number of the EXPONENT, there was an account given of a favorite and profitable animal on the Farm.

For the benefit of those, who have made inquiries concerning the fate of this valuable animal, we announce that the members of Molly's genus have been fattened and sold, so we conclude that Molly is numbered with the slain.

It was a mere chance that such an elaborate account of Molly's significance was ever published in the EXPONENT, because it is not the purpose of the members of the editorial staff to be quite so explicit concerning the well being of Molly's kind, but the notice, which appeared in the January number, escaped the close inspection of the proof reader; therefore the account of Molly's wonderful career went to press, and was allowed to remain verbatim.

The work of editing the EXPONENT was carried on by the members of the Faculty, until February, 1896, when a resolution was passed to place the students in charge. There was no provision made by them as to how the successive editors should be elected. At a general assembly of the students February, 1896, there was an editorial staff elected, which plan proved to be favorable to the success of the EXPONENT, on condition that the students in general would take an interest in the paper and give their aid whenever they could; but the fact was soon discovered that there were very few students who appeared to be interested in the paper, during intervals between elections. The Faculty thought it an unwise plan to leave the election of the staff officers in the hands of those who do not feel directly interested in the paper at all times, so a resolution was passed at the regular Faculty meeting, 3rd inst., which gave the present members of the staff full control to conduct the affairs of the paper and to select their successors. Each member of the staff is expected to retain his position or some position on the staff, as long as he remains in school. The higher positions are regularly to be filled by promotion from the lower; the new members elected beginning in the less important positions. Those selected by the Faculty to inaugurate this plan, are as follows:

E. V. Blankenship, editor-in-chief; Peter Sieh, R. H. Sales, contributing editors; Wyatt Jones, Ernest Edsall, Alice Martin, Blanch Laycock, local editors; Thomas Caldwell, alumni; I. K. Wisner, exchange editor; Walter Davis, business manager; Ed. Burk, assistant business manager. It was thought advisable to increase the number of local editors, so there are four members of the local department at present, whereas the work of procuring local news has been previously carried on by two editors.

Columbia University, of New York, is to have a Gymnasium costing $500,000. What an enormous sum of money to spend in the construction and equipment of a Gymnasium, when we compare it with the total cost of our College buildings. The expenditure of half a million in such a manner, shows the interest taken at the present time in physical as well as mental training.

To The Teachers of The State.

If you desire to make a pleasant trip into the Yellowstone National Park, before you go to your several homes in the East and elsewhere, write to Blankenship and Morgan, concerning the scientific party, which will leave Bozeman, Mont., soon after College closes in June.

The President of the College has a new Vive camera, and has already secured some very good pictures.

The windstorm on Monday night gently removed the roof from the cupola on the new chemical building.

Before you make a purchase in any line of goods, just read what we have to say on our advertising pages.

The students of the Business Department are making rapid progress, keeping up the record of former years.

James Cameron, of the Shorthand Department, is absent from school for two weeks, attending to outside work.

If you desire a Monarch Bicycle of the latest model, enquire of the EXPONENT business manager or his assistant.

Mr. Walter Downing fearing a return of his serious illness, took a day or two at Mr. Corbly's home early in the week.

Subscribe for the EXPONENT and receive the College news. Sample copies may not be sent to you as often hereafter.

We are glad to say that Walter Downing has recovered from his long period of sickness and is able to be about again.

Since the explosion in the High School furnace, Dr. Wilcox has spent his time blowing ashes and cinders off his books and tables.

The Arena will give an open meeting on the 27th of this month. College Students and members of the Faculty are invited.

Esther Butler has been having a severe attack of the grip. She has returned to her work after an absence of two weeks.

The Cliolian Society is doing good work. With a very few exceptions, all young ladies, enrolled in the College, are active members.

Mr. H. D. Hilton of Whitehall, Jefferson Co., has recently entered College and is taking blow pipe work in the Assaying Department.

Irvin Cockrill, one of the College poets, has been having a combination of chickenpox and toothache. We wonder what he will have next!

One of the late resolutions of the Faculty is as follows: "Any student visiting a billiard or pool room shall be subject to suspension or expulsion."

Seems rather queer, doesn't it? Some of the College students are investing in household furniture. For further particulars inquire of Downing and Corbly.

Students throughout the College are working with a will, as they appreciate the fact that a great deal of hard study must be done between this time and June.

At a meeting of the Arena Society, Jan. 30th, a motion was made that the committee on the Cliolian oil bill, be dissolved. The question was asked: Is it soluble in coal oil?

A certain Professor told a young lady, who was zealously trying to imitate some of his good qualities, that imitation was characteristic of the monkey. Who was hit?

Alumni and Ex-Students.

Albert Metzel, a graduate from the business department last year is now at his father's ranch at Puller Springs. He expects to spend a few days with his many friends in Bozeman in the near future.

Charles Wright, the hustling bicycle agent of Great Falls is going through the Park on his wheel next summer and then is going, with a friend, to California where they will take a course of study at Stanford University.

Wm. Crowley who is a graduate from the business department of 1895 is now at Notre Dame, Ind., where he is studying law.

C. B. Chisholm and Thos. McKee are in Columbia University studying law. Fred Willson and Reno Sales are talking of going there to finish their college course.

Allen Cameron who was one of the first students to enter college in '93, is now taking a practical course in agriculture on his father's ranch on the West Gallatin.

John E. Dawson has been promoted from the ranch to a position on one of the leading newspapers of Boulder, Mont. He will no doubt make one of Montana's best editors in the coming years.

Thos. Davis, living near Bozeman, a cousin of Mr. Walter Davis, our business manager, has lost a pair of bob sleds and at the last account the thief had not been caught.

Miss Clara Foster is attending the Agricultural college of Utah where her father is director of the Experiment Station.

Ed. Jones is learning the important points about the sheep industry on East Flathead, and the EXPONENT wishes him success in his undertaking.

Jas. Young is with his mother in Los Angeles California.

Paul W. Milburn is at home in Miles City.

W. T. Shaw is holding a position as assayer at Gilt Edge, Montana. Mr. Shaw received the degree of B. S. last year.

Hal Van Doren has quit the ranching business and moved with his parents to Livingston, where he is studying music.

W. D. Provinse sold meat in Billings during the summer but at present is holding a position as clerk in a dry goods store at Red Lodge Mont., which is his home.

Ora Vestal when last heard from was in South Africa hunting for diamond mines which he had read so much about. Mr. Vestal was a great talker and will probably have some weird stories to tell about how he encountered the wild beasts and whipped a thousand men in one conflict.

O. P. Morgan is teaching school in the Cline district about four miles west of Bozeman.

Oliver Reese was up from his ranch about the 5th inst. visiting his brother who is attending college.

Emmett Thornton is now on the Madison ranch but has rented the Jones ranch on east Flathead and will return there when spring opens up.

Charles Lundwall who has been in Butte for some time is visiting his parents for a while.

Miss Mary Sales went on a trip to Canada last fall and on her return took a position in the County Treasurer's office.

Miss Nellie Imes holds a position as stenographer, with her brother-in law, Walter Hartman.

J. L. Pease, who is in Chicago, will finish his course in dentistry next spring.

Miss Anna Schmalhausen who has been in Missoula for some time arrived on the 8th to visit her sisters Misses Beatrice and Pearl for a few days.

Layton Kent went to Pennsylvania about six weeks ago, expecting to be married to Miss Jennie Thompson. Cards have been received in Bozeman announcing the marriage on Feb. 2d. The EXPONENT sends its congratulations to Mr. Kent and his bride.

Edward L. Mills is attending school at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. We are pleased to note that Ed. has a position on the editorial board of the Wesleyan Argus.

Egbert R. Cockrill is studying law at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa.

James Fitzgerald is teaching school in Spokane Washington.

A Visit to Historic Plymouth.

W. M. COBLEIGH.

The person who is fortunate enough to spend any considerable time in Boston, should, by all means, make several visits to places of historic interest near the city. Anyone who desires to study the early history of our country, would wish to spend considerable time viewing the many places that are prominent for past events.

One of the most enjoyable trips would be a "sail down the bay" to the historic town of Plymouth, which, when viewed simply as the landing place of the Pilgrims, has an interest that attaches to no other place in America. The journey is very enjoyable because Boston harbor is noted for its beauty and attractiveness. It would occupy too much space to mention the many points of interest, so let us suppose that after four hours of delightful sailing, we have passed the Gurnet with its twin light houses, and are now in full view of Plymouth, and its beautiful harbor. The scene that now spreads out before us is, in its essential particulars, the one that greeted the Pilgrims more than two and a half centuries ago. The situation of the town presents many varied features, that make it one of the most attractive places on the entire Massachusetts coast.

As we leave the boat, we advance but a few feet when we come to a granite structure in the form of a canopy, which is supported on four columns. We enter and there stand upon the rock made famous by the landing of the Pilgrims. It is the most interesting relic of Pilgrim history.

The elevation in front of us is known as Cole's Hill. We ascend a flight of steps and turn to the left. We are treading on sacred ground, for here is the spot where over half of the little colony were buried, who died during the first winter. The tops of the graves were made level and the next summer corn was planted over them, so that the Indians might not learn of the extent of their great loss.

Walking around the brow of the hill, we come to Leyden Street. This was the first street laid out by the Plymouth colony. Here it was, on the banks of the Town Brook, that the nineteen families built their homes.

Let us now take a glance at the National Monument to the forefathers, erected to the memory of the Pilgrims. On the main pedestal stands a figure of Faith, and below are four seated figures, which were designed to represent the principles upon which the Pilgrims proposed to found their Commonwealth—Morality, Law, Education and Freedom. This is said to be the largest and finest granite statuary in the world.

There are between two and three hundred college and university papers published in the United States. Of that number about thirty have come to the EXPONENT'S exchange editor this month, from which we clip the following, hoping that through these columns the students of our college will learn something of what other colleges and college students are doing.

$54,000 was the amount expended on athletics at Yale last year.

The first college paper printed in the United States was at Dartmouth College with Daniel Webster as editor in chief.

During the past five years the University of Chicago has been given over $14,000,000.

The following taken from the New York World is probably a fair sample of the easterner's ideas of Montana weather.

"Pretty cold up in Montana wasn't it?"

"Cold! that's no name for it. It used to fairly make the teeth of a gale chatter. The moon-beams used to freeze fast and make the earth look like a porcupine for hours after the moon had gone down."

"How'd the thermometer run?"

"Why, look here, you may not believe it but half the mornings in January we'd find the thermometer had turned itself upside down in the night so the mercury could get a chance to go lower."

"Money am offen like some days" said brother Watkins, "dew in the mornin' and mist at night."

He.—"Mrs. Packer can read her husband like a book."

She.—"Yes and shut him up like one, also."

Yale has graduated 92 college presidents.

Two American women have recently received their Ph. D. degrees from Heidelberg, Germany.

Two Chinese girls who came to America three years ago hardly knowing a word of English, stood the highest in the recent medical examination at the University of Michigan.

Yes, there's plenty of room at the top,

But to get there myself I shant hump any.

For I think it more pleasant to stop

Lower down where there's plenty of company.

LOCALS.

Cards are out announcing the engagement of Dr. E. V. Wilcox and Miss Mabel Ruth Owens, both of the College.

A number of the young ladies of the College took the teacher's examination Friday and Saturday, Feb. 19th and 20th.

Mrs. Walter B. Cooper and Mrs. Peter Koch gave a party for the Faculty and their friends on Friday evening, Feb. 19th. About sixty guests were present.

Dr. Wilcox and Dr. Traphagen were busy three days this week in photographing insects and preparing slides for illustrating the former's work at Missoula next week.

First Student, (airily): "Oh, yes, I'm a Senior."

Second Student, (probably N. W. S): "Yaas, Senior best days."

On Saturday, Feb. 13, several members of the Faculty and a few others went to Bridger Canyon to take pictures. The ride was enjoyed by all, and many good pictures were taken.

Nettie Hanson, of the Shorthand Department, was compelled to be absent from her work last week on account of a severe cold and trouble with her eyes. We wish for her speedy return.

People who expect letters occasionally, enjoyed another blockade of the mail trains this week. People don't mind such things when they get used to them, and we are likely to become so soon.

The absence of one of the students of the art department, recently, for a few days, left one of the young gentlemen minus his accustomed view over somebody's shoulder. He is happy now again.

The students in rhetorical are reported as having an easy time, and bestow much pity upon those who are so unfortunate as to belong to a literary society and be on a program every two weeks.

There was a pleasant surprise party at the Jeffers home on last Friday evening, given to the Misses Bertha and Altha Jeffers. Quite a number of the College Students were present, despite the storm.

Despite the predictions of the weather prophet and one of our professors, to the effect that Feb. 14th would be the coldest day of the year, we enjoyed a partial chinook. Professor, please keep on predicting.

Mr. P. C. Waite has on sale several photographs taken with the X-ray machine, belonging to the College. One, of some money in an ordinary leather purse, is on exhibition in the show window of Mr. Leslie Gage.

The Cliolian Literary Society is doing good work both in learning of parliamentary rules and in a literary way. They hope in the near future, to have an open session to which the faculty and students will be invited.

The students of the Art class, who are doing Water Color work, are becoming proficient in cleansing boards and tables and washing dishes. All of the boys will make good husbands; as for the girls, we don't think they will.

Owing to an explosion in the furnace of the High School building, the students of the High School enjoyed vacation Tuesday, February 9. This they celebrated by a straw ride, much to the envy of their less fortunate college friends.

New classes have been formed in the following branches: Pedagogy, Physical Culture, U. S. History and Chemistry. Pedagogy and History are taught by Miss Cantwell, Physical Culture by Miss Owens, and Chemistry by Prof. Cobleigh.

The Arena Literary Society received a challenge from the Zethegathean Society, for a joint debate. The challenge was accepted and a committee appointed to notify the Zethegatheans and to arrange the details for the joint discussion.

We give notice in this issue, of the majority of the ex-students and Alumni of the College. We request all former students to keep us informed as to their whereabouts; also we should be pleased to receive contributions from them for the paper.

When you are in town, just register your name at The Bozeman Hotel. A few members of the Faculty and some of the students have found The Bozeman a commodious place to reside. The rates are reasonable and the fare is as good as in any hotel of the State.

The class in chemistry finished their work in a short time. The young ladies of the class will take a course of lectures on Food, while the young gentlemen take up Qualitative Analysis. The Physics class finished their work also, and the third year preparatory students take up Elementary Chemistry.

The State League of Oratory is still a subject of much interest to the members of the different Literary Societies. We hope in our next issue to be able definitely to say that the League has been formed, as we believe it would be of much benefit to all concerned.

One of the students of the Public School was entering the Eastman House the other day, she looked upward just in time to be caressed by a small snow slide. A certain Preparatory student could tell why that snow slide happened to start just at that critical moment.

The young ladies of the Domestic Science course were treated to a novelty in the shape of a minute geyser on last Monday. In turning on the water at the range, someone neglected to close the escape valves and consequently there was a deluge of water, and a great deal of fun for the girls.

The Arena programmes of the past month have been very well carried out. Among the best and most interesting parts, were an essay on "Man," by W. W. Jones; a recitation by Jerome Locke, and the reading of a will by Herman Waters. The debates have all been very good, the subjects well discussed on both sides.

There must have been a "corner" on oil, judging by the heated discussions that have taken place in the Cliolian and Arena Societies on that subject. It was all caused by a slight mistake in a bill presented to the former Society, the girls declaring it unfair for the boys to "corner" the oil and then make them foot the bill.

President Reid, Prof. Beach, Dr. Wilcox, and Prof. and Mrs. Emery, expect to be in attendance at the meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association at Missoula, which opens the 23d inst., and continues through the week. Pres. Reid, Dr. Wilcox, Prof. S. M. and Mrs. Emery, have parts in the programme.

The Workshop being in readiness, Prof. Williams and class spent Saturday of last week in the removal, to the new quarters, of the remainder of the machinery from the basement of the Experiment Station, where it has been for the past two years. When entirely fitted up, the new shop will have no equal in the West.

The young ladies of the Post-Graduate class, in the Business Department, changed places, in their work, last week. Alice Welsh took charge of Prof. Phelps' books, Margaret Ellis and Gertrude Brandley, the Merchant's Emporium; Lottie Oakwood and Belle Marshall, the Bank; leaving Mary Monforton in charge of the auditing.

Quite an excitement was created in the business department by the circulation of several thousand dollars in counterfeit currency which can hardly be detected from the genuine. On taking it to the bank for deposit, the depositor was promptly informed, after a critical inspection of the currency by the banker, that "we do not take anything but the genuine bills here."

At the last meeting of the Camera Club eight new members were received, making a total membership of 62, and four more names were proposed for membership. The programme of the Club for that evening was very interesting. Papers were read by Miss Cantwell, Miss Maud Martin and Mr. Evan Davis. Notes of interest to photographers were read by other members of the Club.

Heard in front of the Ferris Block: "May I have the exquisite beatitude of accompanying your corporal system over the space intervening between your parental domicile and the edifice erected for the worship of the Supreme Being, after the diurnal luminary has receded behind the western horizon?"

"Excuse me, but, in promulgating your subtle cogitations or articulating your superficial sentimentalities, beware of platitudinous ponderosities."

They parted in silence.

At a meeting of the Faculty on last Monday night they organized themselves into a Contemporary Club, for the study of current scientific work and literature and history. There is to be a meeting once in two weeks at the homes of the various members in succession. At each meeting one paper by some member will be presented and be followed by discussion and a social time. Dr. Reid was elected president, and Miss Cantwell, secretary. The program committee is Prof. Williams, Miss Travis and Miss Owens. The first meeting will be held on Feb. 23, at Hotel Bozeman with Mrs. F. E. Marshall. A paper will be given by Prof. W. H. Williams, music by Misses Travis and Owens. Program for March 9, paper, Dr. F. W. Traphagen; recitation, Mrs. Beach; piano duet, Mrs. and Miss Owens.

Among the members admitted to the Cliolian Literary Society, since the Holidays, are Misses Carrie Foster, Nellie Pease, Gertrude Stiff and Mae Kidd.

Our genial Secretary was the cause of quite a commotion a week ago. She eloped with all the Society books.

Lizzie Arnold is still keeping up her Society work, although for the present, she is not in school.

Maude Welliver resigned her position on the Arrangement Committee, as she was leaving here on account of her health. She goes first to Mandan and then to California.

Among the many interesting numbers of the Literary programmes this month, was a talk entitled, "A Trip Abroad," by Mrs. Marshall in her own original style; also a talk on Hygiene by Mrs. Owens. Both talks were not only interesting, but very beneficial.

Alice Martin has been appointed Society Editor for the EXPONENT. Henceforth the public will know what the Cliolians are doing.

Miss Calvin gave a public recital of her pupils in piano on Friday evening, Feb. 12th. She was assisted by Mrs. L. S. Willson. The assembly room in the Academy building was crowded and a splendid program was rendered which was as follows:—

QUARTETTE—Symphony No. 3.....	Haydn

On Friday, Feb. 12th., the Cooking class served the following lunch:

Toasted Muffins.

Raised Rolls.

Gingerbread.

The class met at the usual hour, 11:20, with Misses Lewis and Martin as housekeepers. The order of work was as follows:

Making of Gingerbread.

Making of Omlette.

Toasting of Muffins.

There were two visitors present, indeed, hardly a day passes without a visit from some of the ladies of the city. The cooking class is composed of five young ladies, Misses Gardner, Freeman, Flowers, Lewis and Martin. These young ladies are provided with white caps, aprons, cuffs, and holders. The tables are furnished with all requisite articles, pans, knives, forks, spoons, frying pan, double boiler, bowls, measuring cups, saucers, plates, pitchers and oil stoves. The lower drawer of the table is filled with dish clothes, towels, table cloth, napkin and duster. Each one of the class takes her place at her own table where she finds the recipes for the day written out. When the dinner is cooked, the students set their small tables and each one eats her own cooking, the taste being deadened by delights of conversation. After lunch is over, the dishes are washed and the room cleaned, it being the duty of the housekeeper or her assistant to see to the sweeping. The class is doing well and the work is a source of great enjoyment to those who wish to learn the culinary art.

There is now pending, in the Indiana legislature, a bill for the abolition of foot-ball. The prospects for its becoming a law, however, are not very flattering.

Action of a Joint Committee.

It was mentioned previously in the locals that committees had been appointed from the Arena and Zethegathean Literary Societies, to meet and arrange the details for the joint discussion. As we go to press we are informed of the principle resolution passed by the joint committees:

I. They recommend to the Societies that the joint discussion be public and that it be held in a hall sufficiently large to accommodate all who may desire to attend.

II. That there be six debaters, three to be elected from each Society.

III. That there be five Judges, three to be selected from the College local board, and two from Clergymen of Bozeman.

IV. That the President of the Cliolian Society be requested to preside as Chairman of the evening.

V. That a special joint committee be appointed to arrange for the music programme, cards, etc.

The speakers are to have ten minutes each; allowing the leaders ten minutes to open, and ten minutes to close the debate.

The debate will be held on March the 20th, and we trust that the Societies will agree to make the affair public, and strive to make it a grand success.

Owing to a great amount of local news received, we are compelled to leave a considerable amount of other material until next issue. The Domestic Science Department is well represented among the locals, so we have delayed the publication of the announcement given in by Mrs. Owens.

Stearns.—“I wondah wheah I got these foah pennies.”

Miss X.—“You must have changed your mind.”

“Take away women” shouted the orator, “and what would follow?” “We would” promptly replied a man in the audience.

Perhaps.

Man is immortal, some men think

While others strive against the view,
To prove that self and body sink

From all knowing, when death is due.

Is self a temporary thing

That comes and goes with human life,
Or do some hear the angels sing

In a land where there is no strife?

The skeptics say with brazen voice,

That man is only what you see,
And while he lives, there is no choice
From sullen fate, by stern decree.

Was man created for this life

Never to know a world above,
Wherein there is no villain's knife
To sever the cord of purest love?

E.. V. B

To Edgar Allan Poe.

Not the keen analyst with active brain
Best hears thy close-wrought music's deepest tone;

But he who, in that subtle, distant strain,
