VOLUME TWENTY

Dedication

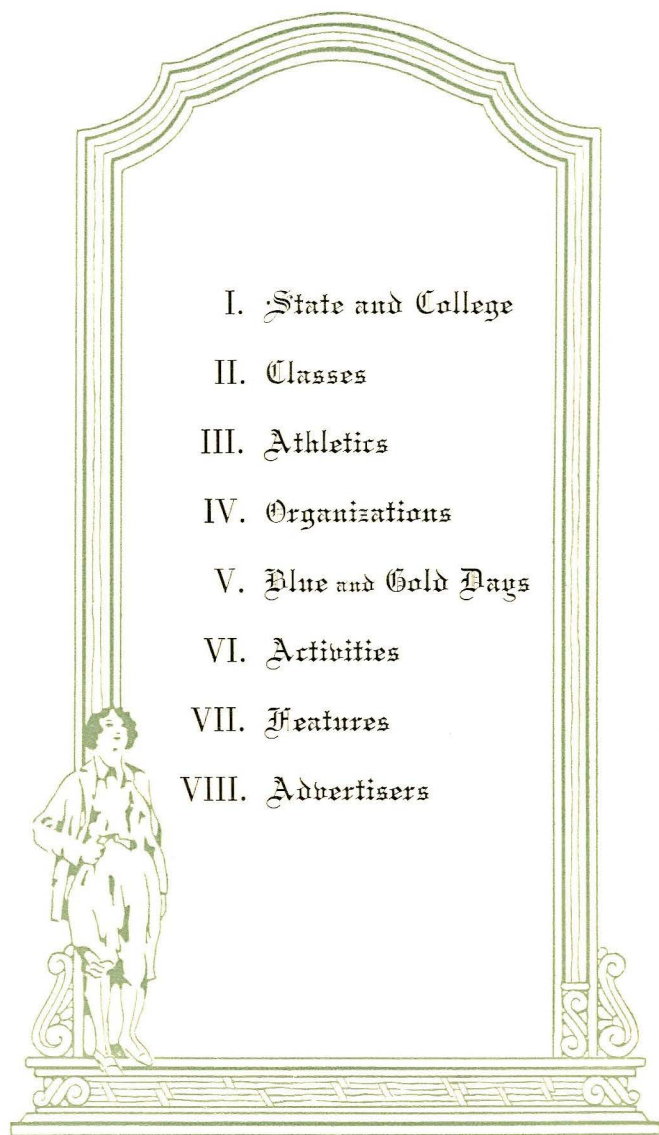

Montana is a wonderful state. Standing as it does in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, it is unparalleled in scenic beauty; in mountains, rivers, canyons and lakes. ~ ~ To Scenic Montana, whose canyons and gateways are the doors through which all may enter and share the beauty that has inspired us to leadership and service, we dedicate this twentieth volume, ~ ~ The Montanan of Scenic Beauty.

Foreword

The Montanan of 1927 has endeavored to give a true reflection of this one year of progress, passed in a setting of mountain beauty, and to show, in a small way, what the future holds for Montana State College. ~ ~ If it has done either, it has accomplished its purpose.

CHANCELLOR BRANNON

A WORD FROM THE CHANCELLOR

The universal friendly attitude toward youth was voiced by Tennyson in Sir Galahad when he said:

“My strength is as the strength of ten,
Because my heart is pure.”

Always the world needs the strength and purity of youth, youth disciplined in body and mind; youth hopeful, and above all, youth intelligently sound and sincere. My message to young comrades of Montana State College is condensed in an appeal for intellectual integrity and intellectual sincerity. The supreme test in home, in business, in profession and in all human relations, private and public, is integrity and sincerity of thought, sincerity of performance. Lacking in these qualities there can be no secure credit in business, no dependable journalism, no stable commerce, no morality, no beauty of art and no religion.

Normal youth is that period of life when energy plus is generated and released. Because of excessive energy, youth is the time of action—the time of doing and daring. It is always characterized by high hopes, ambitious dreams and consuming desires.

Therefore I counsel you, “Get for yourselves, first and always, intellectual integrity and intellectual sincerity and keep them as constant comrades of your daily life.” Moreover, be not content with that achievement for yourselves. Let me remind you of “Merlin and the Gleam”—

“Not of the sunlight,
Not of the moonlight,
Not of the starlight!
O young Mariner,
Down to the haven,
Call your companions,
Launch your vessel,
And crowd your canvas,
And, ere it vanishes
Over the margin,
After it, follow it,
Follow the Gleam.”

Melvin A. Brannon

PRESIDENT ATKINSON

PRESIDENT'S GREETING

Inspiring scenery may be classed as one of Montana's important resources, and the decision to stress the state's scenic beauties in the MONTANAN of 1927 is timely and commendable. Many graduates and ex-students who have gone out from Montana State College will recall the magnificent panorama that unfolded before their eyes as they climbed to the top of "Old Baldy," Electric Peak or the Spanish Peaks, and of the many other features of Montana's natural grandeur that formed a fine setting for their years in college life.

To those who have not lived in Montana, the pictures and descriptions in this year book will convey something of the charm and inspiration which are afforded to our people. The weaving of this theme of scenic beauty into the various material that composes the MONTANAN will serve both to maintain its very high standard for originality and excellence and to give added delight to its readers.

It is a pleasure to extend greetings to all alumni, ex-students and students both in the college and in the high schools of the state. This fine record of the year's attainments at M. S. C. should be a treasure which will bring to them increasing satisfaction as the years pass.

THE DEAN OF WOMEN

THE MOUNTAIN

I am the Host of the valley,
I watch the beginning of day,
The life that surges about me
Marks well the paths of the way.
The wind and rain touch my temple
As Spring of the year greets my face.
Storms of the season assemble
And weave a pattern of lace.

I am the King of the valley.
I have many gems in my crown.
My court stands faithful around me
Watching o'er country and town.

I am the Joy of the valley,
I control the light of the dawn.
The march of men moves around me,
The winds of night breathe my song.
The green of summer enfolds me
While loosing the waters below.
The sun comes forth to entrance me,
He gives life and colors bestow.

I love the storms of the valley,
The arm of winter I hold fast.
Nothing but Faith can remove me,
I shall be King to the last.

Una B. Herrick

THE DEAN OF MEN

About fifty years ago the rapid building of railroads in the United States so radically changed the habits of our people that we became the greatest travelers in the world. Now for the second time the automobile and good roads have revolutionized the habits of the American people. We have built and are operating motor vehicles in such numbers that the whole population is literally living the out-door life.

Where are these millions going? What is the loadstone that will attract them? Beautiful scenery undoubtedly has the strongest pull. These tourists are out to enjoy themselves. They are seeking the thrill of variety in the clear bubbling trout streams, the majesty of the snow-capped mountain, the fragrance of a carpet of flowers, the excitement of wild animal life.

Such attractions are to be found only in the big, open West. Montana is fortunate in having more than its share of scenic attractions. Extending from the Great Plains on the east, over the Continental Divide, to the head waters of the Pacific, there is no kind of scenery lacking. Flanked on the south by the only real wonderland, the geyser land of the Yellowstone, and on the north by the Switzerland of America, the Glacier National Park, there is absolutely no call for scenic beauty that Montana can not satisfy.

J. M. Hamilton

DEAN OF AGRICULTURE

The State College, located on an alluvial bench, and surrounded by a beautiful park of lawn, trees and shrubs, commands a broad view of one of the richest farming areas in Montana, extending for many miles and backed on every side by mountains, grass covered, topped with conifers, and on the highest peaks covered with perpetual snows. Truly a magnificent setting for a College of Agriculture. The mountains are nature's reservoirs that supply the irrigation systems which water the valley farms, while on their foot hills abundant crops are obtained from the rains which condense as the clouds climb the mountain slopes.

As we travel into the mountain canyons in the spring time, what is more beautiful than the rushing mountain streams, the new grass and flower cover of the rolling hills, or the freshness of the mountain fir, spruce and pines? While with the first frost of the fall, the foliage of the mountains change to brilliant crimson and gold, backed by the brown of the grass and the deeper color of the evergreens.

All these things are within from five to twenty-five miles of every student, whether he desires to walk or go by horse or auto. This abundance and richness of nature should appeal to every sense of material need or pleasure and inspire an earnest desire to likewise excel in the preparation for the work of life which the College affords.

F. B. Linfield

DEAN OF ENGINEERING

The theme, "Scenic Montana," is a welcome invitation to pause and take time for contemplation. We are prone to consider scenic beauty only as it may revive the spirit through recreation or feed the soul through inspiration. These spiritual benefits "Scenic Montana" offers in abundance to all who possess the capacity of appreciation. In addition, it presents to the engineer the inspiration to high endeavor, the far-seeing vision to plan, and the challenge to dare. In glaciers and eternal snows, in mountain lakes and rivers, he may see waters to be fed to the fertile valleys and plains. In the secret depths of the mountains and upon their timbered slopes he may find in abundant variety the materials of construction and of industry. In mountain pass or deep crevasse he may find a challenge to his constructive skill. And so, in gratitude for the material and spiritual bounty of "Scenic Montana" we may well say with the psalmist: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help."

The purpose of the Associated Women Students is to promote scholarship and higher social standing among the women students at Montana State College and to foster all other women's organizations on the campus. The executive power of the Associated Women Students is vested in the officers and the Senior Council.

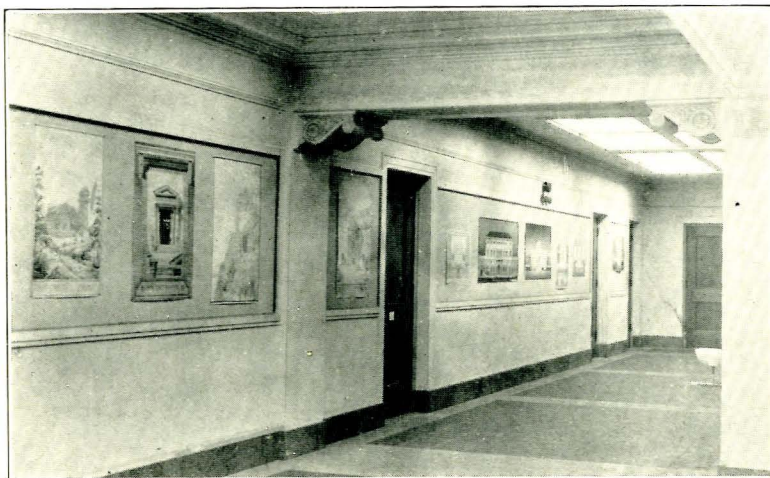

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

On the west side of the campus, fronting the land set aside for the Montana Experiment Station, stands the College of Agriculture, the pivot of Montana's basic industry.

Agriculture in Montana presents a varied number of problems due to climatic conditions, distance from market and large commercial and manufacturing centers, and the variety and the quality of products produced. All of these make necessary a high type of skill and ability.

The courses in the College of Agriculture are organized to equip its students with a broad foundation in science and a knowledge of practical problems and their attack. The courses fit graduates to become county agents and Smith-Hughes instructors who, through an educational program, instruct the farmers in better farming and marketing methods, and to become practical farmers and stockmen who will be leaders in their communities.

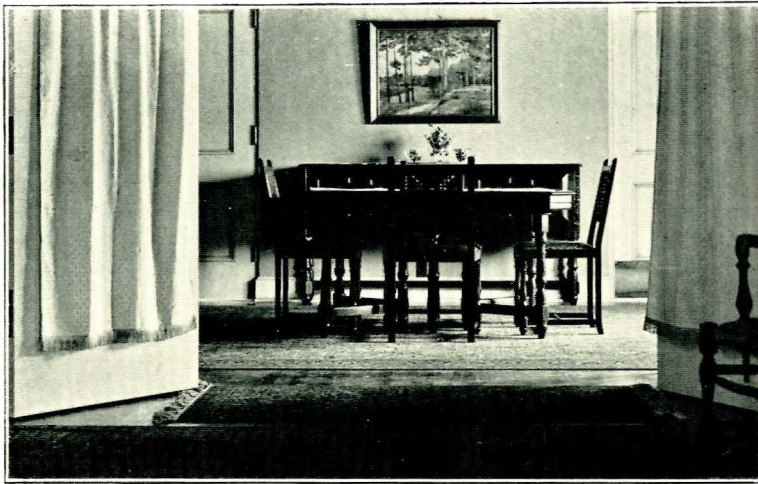

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Engineering takes its place in Scenic Montana as an important link in the chain. Without roads, transportation and power, much of the finest of Montana would be lost to all but a very few. Without engineering to plan and direct their growth and to provide them with beautiful buildings and landscapes our cities would become sprawling jungles of disorder instead of the things of beauty which they are.

In all of these phases engineering is an indispensable link. Montana in her College of Engineering can boast of one of the finest in the land and Montana graduates are identified with every phase of engineering in the state.

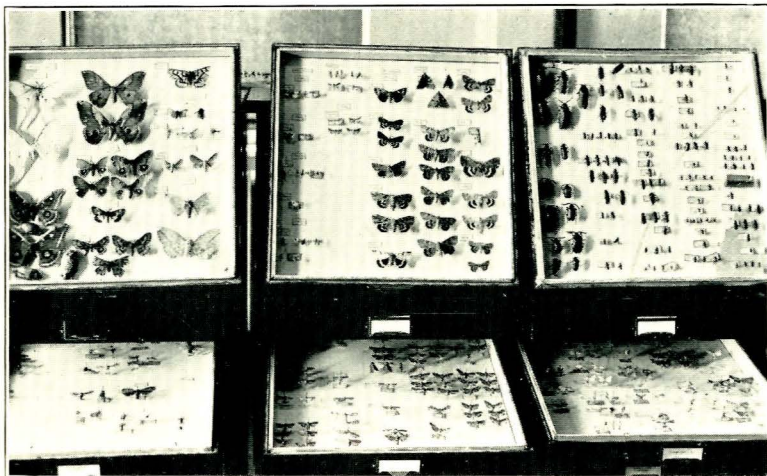

Montana is endowing her sons with the equipment to make Scenic Montana more beautiful and at the disposal of all.

COLLEGE OF HOUSEHOLD AND INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The courses offered in the College of Household and Industrial Arts are Applied Art, Home Economics, and Secretarial Science. Applied Art and Secretarial Science are open to both men and women.

Each of the courses includes a thorough grounding in English, a modern language, science, history and social science, together with special emphasis on the practical application of the major work as a profession. The course in Applied Art is planned to provide a broad foundation of art culture and skill which enables the students to make practical use of their training. The course in Home Economics prepares for the vocation of home making. The graduates of this course may also enter the field of textile and clothing experts, extension workers, dormitory, cafeteria and lunch room managers for schools or commercial institutions, and hospital dietitians. The course in Secretarial Science is a basis for business career or such positions as private secretary or office manager. Students of these departments may elect courses in education which will prepare them for teaching if they desire to teach.

COLLEGE OF APPLIED SCIENCE

It is the purpose of the College of Applied Science to give to students of the other colleges on the campus training in the fundamental sciences as they apply to that particular profession, and to train specialists in the different divisions of the natural sciences.

Graduates of the College of Applied Sciences are prepared to take up professional careers in Botany, Bacteriology, Plant Pathology, Entomology, Zoology, Bio-Chemistry or, by choosing the proper electives, to teach in the high schools with special emphasis on the natural sciences. By taking the course in Physical Education, graduates of the College of Applied Science may become athletic directors and coaches. The students may, by taking the proper electives, take the pre-med course, which will admit them to any medical college in the country.

This is an ever broadening field which plays an increasingly important role in the conservation of life and health and the beauty of our surroundings.

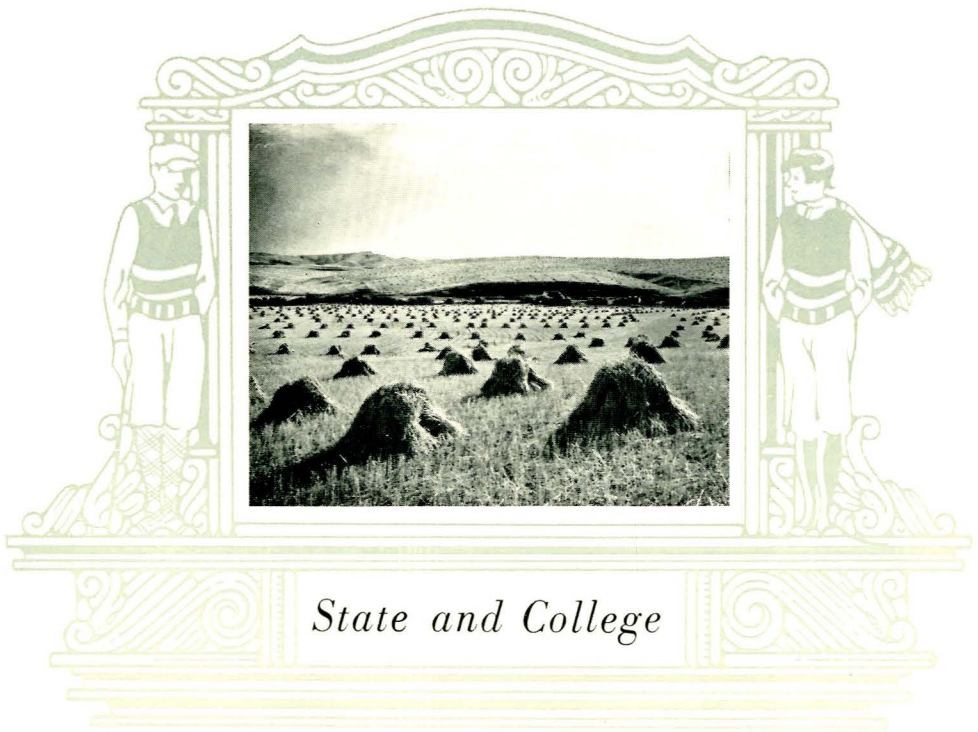

EXTENSION AND STATIONS

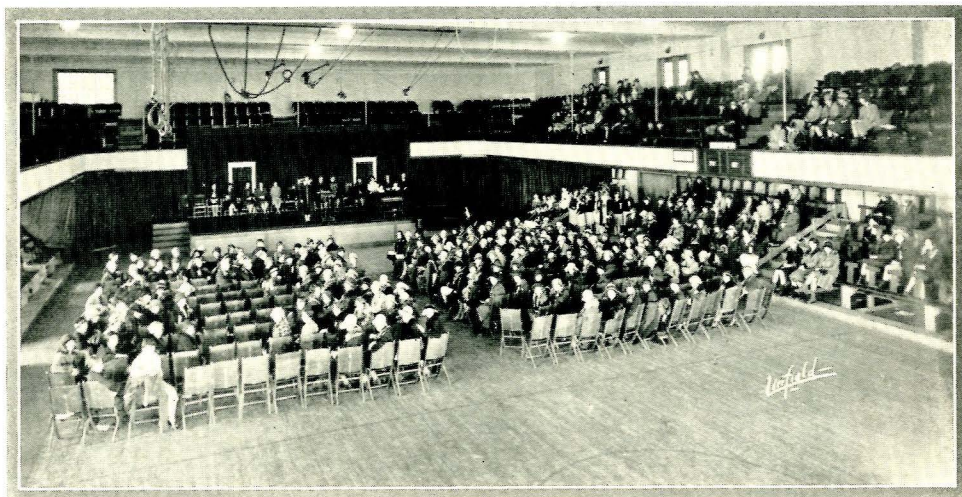

The Extension Service forms the connecting link between the College and Experiment Stations, and the farmer. It carries the information obtained at the state institution to the farmer and endeavors to help him apply this information in a beneficial manner. This department is one of the three main divisions of the State College and is under the supervision of an extension director.

The major program of the Extension Service consists of fostering better living conditions on the farm, lowering costs of production by reduction of loss and by improved methods, encouraging the use of better crops and livestock and by the application of better management methods to farm production and marketing. This program is carried on through the medium of community meetings, short course projects, special lectures, publications and whenever possible, by having specialists come in direct contact with those who have problems to solve.

Experiment Stations are places where new methods and crops are tried out before their use by the farmers is advocated. The main Montana Experiment Station is located just west of the college campus. Five other stations, working in conjunction with the station at Bozeman, are located in different sections of the state in order that they may carry on experimental work under the widely varying conditions which are found in Montana.

The Engineering Experiment Station, operated in connection with the College of Engineering, was created in April, 1924. The purpose of this department is to conduct research and experiments along the lines of structural and machine design, house construction and insulation, and other engineering problems which may arise. Special work will be done by this department with view of aiding in the development of Montana's resources.

TWELFTH ANNUAL GIRLS' CONGRESS

GIRLS' VOCATIONAL CONGRESS

The 12th annual Girls' Vocational Congress held at Montana State College, November 18-20, inaugurated the plan of selective representation from each of the high schools of the state. But two delegates from each school were selected as representatives. These selections were made on the basis of scholarship to count two-thirds and activities one third. With this limited number over 200 girls were in attendance.

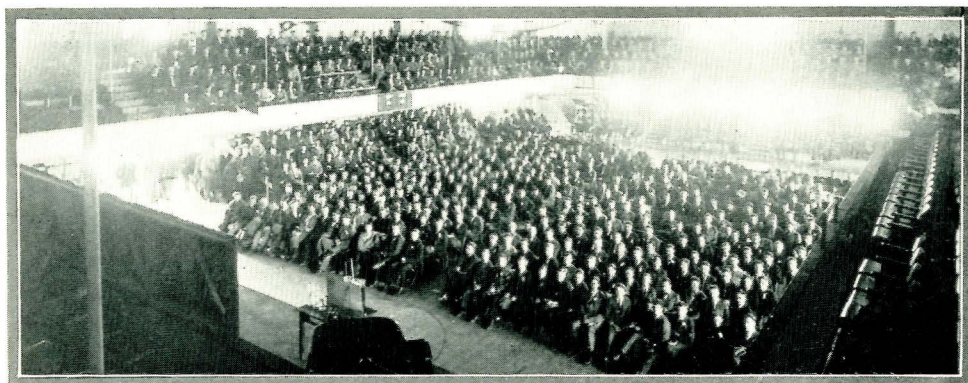

FRANCES WYLIE

Speakers for the programs this year were largely from within the state and college. Several of the college students also took part in responses and short discussions.

The annual Pageant of Promise was given on the second night of the conference, a departure from the former custom. The pageant, written and directed by Miss Robertson and Miss Chubbuck of the English department, was one of the best ever presented before the congress. The beautiful Candlelight Recessional was a fitting climax to the evening.

Miss Frances Wylie, chairman of the congress, handled the organization of the congress in an excellent manner.

NINETEENTH ANNUAL BOYS' CONFERENCE

BOYS' VOCATIONAL CONFERENCE

The annual Boys' Vocational Conference, held at M. S. C. under the direction of Prof. M. J. Abbey, was successful in every way. Eleven hundred young men representing over two hundred high schools and three states attended. Every speaker on the program was present and the professional reputation of the speakers assured the delegates of a thorough cross-section of the profession treated.

The delegates were housed in Pullmans and sleeping cars furnished by courtesy of the Northern Pacific and Milwaukee railroads, and by townspeople who cooperated in furnishing rooms for the delegates.

The Stock Judging Contest for high schools was won by Powell, Wyo., in the open contest and in the Smith-Hughes branch Gallatin High School placed first.

This Congress has become a great institution and it is recognized and its merits appreciated all over the United States.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT AWARDS

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

For the second consecutive time Billings High School won first place in the Annual Interscholastic Basketball Tournament held at Montana State College, March 9-12. Billings is the first high school in the state to win premier honors four times. Helena and Butte have each won the championship three times.

How the teams placed:

BILLINGS	- - - - -	First
BUTTE CENTRAL	- - - - -	Second
HELENA	- - - - -	Third
BUTTE	- - - - -	Fourth
FORSYTH	- - - - -	Fifth
GALLATIN	- - - - -	Sixth
MANHATTAN	- - - - -	Seventh
SWEET GRASS	- - - - -	Eighth

STATE CHAMPIONS 1927

Butte Central fought its way into the finals, losing only to Billings. Helena, rated one of the most powerful teams in the state according to their season record, finished in third place. Gallatin started the tourney strong but an injury to one of their men obviously weakened them in the closing rounds. They finished in sixth place.

Missoula High School was forced to withdraw from tournament play because of the illness of several of their players. They were conceded a strong chance to place high. Manhattan, substituting for Missoula, showed unexpected strength, winning seventh place.

Two of the most interesting features of the tournament were the awarding of the Kloustermann sportsmanship trophy and the Bobcat Medal. Butte Central was awarded the team trophy for outstanding sportsmanship both on and off the playing floor. The individual award, the Bobcat Medal, was conferred upon Max Worthington, captain and all-state guard of the Billings High School team. The medal is awarded upon a basis of sportsmanship, aggressiveness, and value to his team.

The official all-state team, picked by the sports writers attending the tournament, consisted of: Anderson, Helena, forward; Lyons, Billings, forward; Hanley, Butte, center; Worthington, Billings, guard; and Meglen, Butte, Central, guard. The second team consisted of: Robinson, Manhattan, forward; Riley, Butte Central, forward; Kennedy, Billings, center; DeFrate, Gallatin, guard; and Currier, Sweet Grass, guard.

ALICE BEHNER
Essay Winner

ESSAY CONTEST

Miss Alice Behner of Glasgow, writing upon the subject, "Why I Go To Church," won first place in the annual essay contest held in connection with the tournament. Owen S. Roberts of Helena, and Miss Sadie Porter of Billings Polytechnic, won second and third places respectively.

STATE SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

The third Annual Scholarship Contest was held at Montana State College April 30 to May 1, inclusive, 1926, with Custer County High School and Gallatin High School tying for first honors with twenty points each.

In the commercial contest, which was held at the same time as the academic contest, some of the excellent training with which the high schools of the state are equipping their students was exhibited. Butte High School took the greatest number of points in this branch of the contest. However, some of the entries from other schools turned in excellent scores.

Although the scholarship contest is not as spectacular as some of the athletic contests, it is of more real worth and with the growing interest shown, it will become increasingly so.

SPEAKING CONTEST

First place in the state extemporaneous speaking contest was won by Miss Fay McCollum of Park County High School, Livingston. Bennett Burke of Great Falls won second place; Miss Cecile Maillet of Butte Central, third; and Herbert Simmons of Red Lodge, honorable mention.

EXTENSION WORKERS

FARM AND HOME WEEK

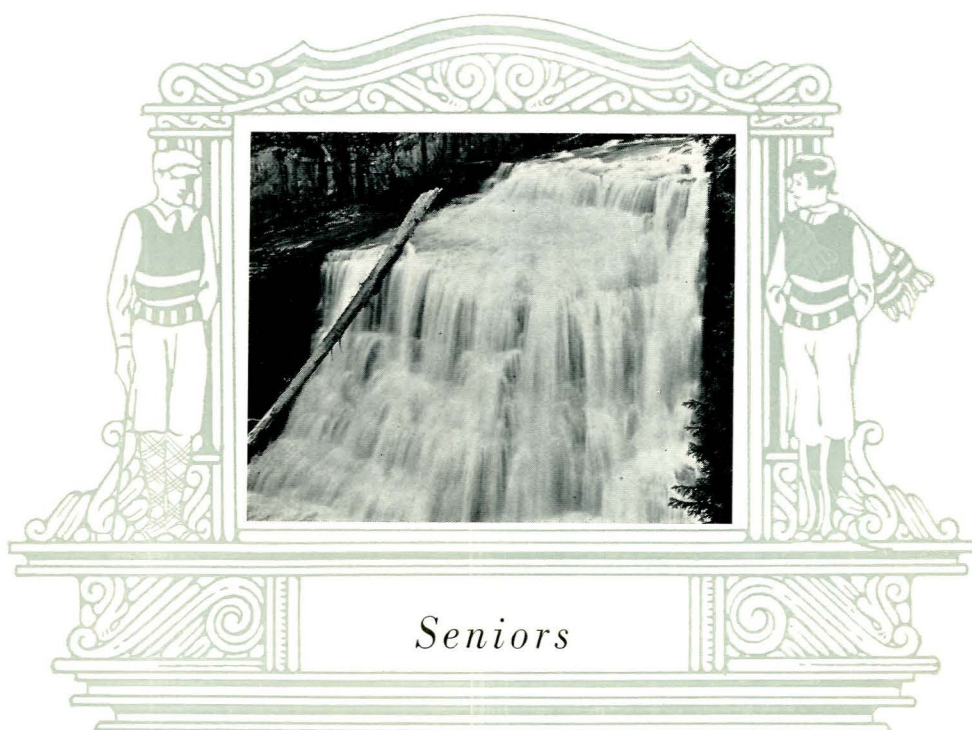

Over two hundred and fifty guests were registered for the Farm and Home Week which every year, at the beginning of the winter quarter, brings together on the campus people from all parts of the state. This has been an annual event since 1911 and has been gaining in popularity each year. Lectures and demonstrations are given with a view to presenting new and up-to-date methods and solving problems confronting farm men and women. These lectures and demonstrations are presented by specialists of wide experience and reputation, each of whom is expert in his particular field.

The Home Economics Department presents a program of interest to the women, and the different departments of the College of Agriculture present a program for the men. The various farm organizations of the state hold their meetings at this time entering into the discussions and determining their program for the coming year.

III. Athletics

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Athletics at Montana State College are directly in charge of a Board known as the Athletic Council. The Council comprises six members: Professor Dean B. Swingle, Chairman, E. L. Grant, faculty representative and treasurer, Jack Taylor, alumni representative, G. Ott Romney, Director of Athletics, Herbert Winner, Commissioner of Athletics from the Student Council, and the manager of the major sport during that sport's activity. The Athletic Council formulates the athletic policies of the institution, supervises control so that the policy is in harmony with that of the school, ratifies schedules, nominates the managers of the major sports to the student body, and furthers the interests of athletics.

G. OTT ROMNEY
Director of Athletics

D. B. SWINGLE
Chairman

E. L. GRANT
Treasurer

ASSISTANT COACHES

SCHUBERT DYCHE
Freshman Coach and Varsity Trainer

Assisting Ott Romney in directing athletics, is Schubert Dyche, who is varsity trainer and baseball and Freshman coach; D. B. Swingle, coach of wrestling; Arthur Macdonald, coach of boxing, and Harry Ellis, instructor in physical education.

Coach Dyche has turned out some fine Kitten teams and this year his Yearlings won every game in both football and basketball. Developing Freshman teams is a hard task as the different men have been coached in as many different styles of playing, and to mould them into a smooth working team is quite a task.

D. B. Swingle has been coach of wrestling for the last few years and has formed many good wrestling teams. This year his team placed well in the Conference meet, winning three and losing one dual meet.

Arthur Macdonald, coach of the boxing team, has developed some good glove artists during the last few years he has been at the head of this department. Boxing has been done away with in the Conference and Coach Macdonald's chief task now is not to train boxing teams, but to instruct the students in the art of self defense.

Harry Ellis is instructor in Physical Education and conducts most of the gym classes. He has been a big help to the rest of the men in the athletic department, and fills in all positions where his assistance is needed.

All Conference Football

Two Bobcat players, Valery Glynn and Francis Wilson, were chosen on all-conference first teams for the football season of 1926. Glynn, who was given a berth on the mythical first team his sophomore year, and on the second team his junior year, achieved this honor again to climax a brilliant football career at Montana State. "Rip" Wilson, who still has another year with the varsity, has played remarkably good ball for the last two seasons and should win the coveted honor again next year. Glynn was chosen as an end, while Wilson was selected for the center position.

FOOTBALL 1926

The 1926 season was one of the most successful Bobcat years in the history of the school. Starting the season with a 0-0 tie with the powerful University of Idaho eleven at Moscow, the Bobcats climbed the conference score column with a 6-3 victory over the strong University of Colorado team at Boulder. Following this game the Bobcats met the University Grizzlies at Butte and came out at the short end of a 27-0 score in a game that was not as easy as the score would indicate. A week later the Blue and Gold eleven amply revenged themselves with the 9-6 victory over the touted Colorado Teachers eleven. The following week the Bobcats snowed under Brigham Young University 27-0 and conference critics began to sit up and take notice.

The last conference game of the season was played at Casper, Wyoming with the University of Wyoming. Again the Bobcat was triumphant and avenged last year's defeat at the hands of Dietz's collection of stars. Montana State was now tied together with the Utah Aggies and Utah University at the top of the Rocky Mountain Conference score column.

However, because the Bobcats had not been able to schedule five conference games at the start of the season they were denied an opportunity of playing for the championship, which Utah University won.

The final game of the season was played at Caldwell, Idaho with the College of Idaho eleven, champions of the Northwest Conference. The Bobcats were sadly off form, and this combined with the disagreeable weather, lost the game 7-0.

In retrospect the season was a particularly bright one and prospects for next year are even brighter with a large string of veterans to work with.

The Bobcats journeyed to Moscow, Idaho, for the first encounter. The game was played on a muddy field and during a steady rain which handicapped our fast backfield. Idaho was unable to do anything against our strong line and Glynn's toe kept the Bobcats out of danger.

If the game had been played on a dry field the outcome might well have been in our favor. Glynn, Olson, Ario, Vogt, Gardiner, Babcock, and Captain Gregory all played fine ball.

The journey to the South proved to be a very profitable one, the Bobcats winning by a score of 6-3. The game was played at Colorado University stadium, one of the finest in the West.

The hero of the day was the Duke of Wellington who replaced Grady at quarterback the last half of the game. He received a short pass from Glynn and wriggled and twisted his way 30 yards for a touchdown. Other stars of the game were Ario, Glynn, Wilson and Keyes in the line. In the backfield, Gardner, Gregory, and Babcock looked very good, Gregory and Babcock doing some fine defensive work while Gardner carried the ball until exhausted. The victory gave the Bobcats a real incentive to work

Playing the annual game for the first time in Butte before a monster crowd which packed Clark Park, the Bobcats tasted their first defeat of the season when the University Grizzlies defeated the Blue and Gold

Eleven 27-0. At first glance, one would suspect that the Bobcats were sadly trampled upon, but figures reveal differently. The Grizzlies made five first downs all in the middle of the field, while the Bobcats made six first downs.

There is small question in the minds of Montana State College supporters that the team was sadly off form, while the Grizzlies led by the redoubtable Kelly, played in stellar fashion.

Babcock and Wilson played the outstanding game for the Bobcats, while Kelly, Davis and Chinske performed brilliantly for the University.

A large crowd of Bobcat fans, including almost the entire student body went over in a special train to Butte and had a happy time, notwithstanding the defeat.

There is no doubt but that the game being played in Butte is a fine venture from the standpoint of both schools.

Playing in brilliant style after the defeat administered by the University, the fighting Bobcats opened the eyes of Rocky Mountain Conference critics with their 9-6 victory over the strong Colorado Teachers' College eleven. Twilde featured the game, and broke the tie which held until the last period, by converting a drop-kick from the 16 yard line.

The game played on the local field, was a thriller from start to finish and furnished the large crowd of student rooters with plenty of action. "Flash" Brown, the Teachers' speedy quarterback, awed the stands with his repeated get aways only to be stopped by Babcock or Winner. Tenny Babcock was the outstanding man in the Bobcat backfield. He made over half of the yardage for M. S. C., and got in some tackles the Teachers' backfield will remember for some time. Winner returned several intercepted passes in great fashion and his work at quarter was one of the bright features of the day. Glynn played his usual good game, taking care of most of the passing, outpunting the Teachers and doing some excellent defensive work, while Gardner was on the receiving end of most of the passes and also turned in some good runs.

The Bobcats had at last found themselves and their game with the eleven from Provo proved that they were serious contenders for the Conference Championship, for the Young team was crushed by the Blue and Gold, 27-0.

The touted Brigham Young gridsters found rough going when they met the Yellow Typhoon. Every man seemed inspired and more flawless playing has rarely been seen on Gatton Field.

The first three touchdowns were made by straight football, while the feature of the game was Glynn's seventy yard run for a touchdown after he had jumped high in the air to intercept a Cougar pass with one hand. Bobcat passes filled the air, while runs by Babcock, Gardner, and Penfield, with the latter the bright star of the day, counted for long Bobcat gains. Brigham Young threatened only once and the stalwart Blue and Gold line checked this attempt, and in turn marched down the field to score a touchdown on straight football.

Fans all over the country began to look up to this phenomenal machine and the coming Wyoming game was eagerly awaited. A victory over the Cowboys would place the Bobcats on par with the Utah Aggies and Utah University for Conference honors.

The Bobcat victory over the Cowboys was a great event. The game was played in Casper in order that a larger crowd might be accommodated. The Bobcats outplayed their opponents from the starting whistle to the final gun. The game was played during a blinding snowstorm and on a soggy field, but this did not hinder the fighting spirit of the Bobcats. Each man played his part and the team functioned like a well oiled machine. Some of the men who deserve special mention were: Ario at guard who did some fine tackling and helped in the interference; "Rip" Wilson played his usual strong game; Olson and Dobeus also showed their wares; Glynn again distinguished himself by his fine running and passing, in addition to kicking a pretty field goal; Gardner scored the lone touchdown in the second quarter after a nice run; Penfield worked well at fullback and Herb Winner's performance was the most brilliant and perhaps the most outstanding during the game; Tenney Babcock made some pretty tackles, bringing down the Cowboy backfield artists.

Thanksgiving day proved to be disastrous to the Bobcats. This game, like the Idaho University game, was played on a muddy field which hampered the Bobcat play. With their Conference season ended and this game scheduled on a moments notice, the Blue and Gold was unable to rise to its usual heights.

This game marked the close of the football careers for five men—Glynn, Gregory, Winner, Rivers and Travis, all of whom have proved their worth as wearers of the Blue and Gold. These men all will be missed when the call for the '27 season is issued by Coach Romney.

In addition to the four conference games with University of Colorado, Utah Aggies, Colorado College, and Wyoming University, the Blue and Gold eleven will also meet the North Dakota Agricultural College at Bozeman, Idaho University at Moscow, Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana, and Montana University at Butte.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The Bobkittens squad of 1926 went through the season undefeated, winning six games and allowing only ten points to be scored upon them while they amassed over one hundred and ninety four points.

The most notable victory of the season was over the Cubs of the University, whom the Kittens defeated 6-0 in a fast game, despite the fact that it was played on a field of mud. The Yearlings played without their star back, Chez, who was declared ineligible just before the game. The whole team performed wonderfully and better teamwork could not have been found anywhere. Great Falls High School, Billings High School, Intermountain Union College and Sheridan (Wyo.) Independents were all beaten by large scores.

The function of the Frosh squad is not primarily to win games, but to afford the varsity steady and consistent practice, and to develop good material for the following year. Coach Dyche moulded out of the large squad at the start of the season, a fast and scrappy eleven, always a difficult task, for the various players had been coached in as many different styles of play.

The outstanding men were Chez, fullback; Eikrem, halfback; McFarland, halfback; Horner, halfback; Richards, quarterback, Rivers, halfback; Palo, end; Renn, end; Semingsen, tackle; Bequette, tackle; Best, guard; Dawes, guard; Willard, guard; Preston, center. Many of these men are good varsity prospects and reinforced by these men, the Bobcats should be better than ever before. Other men who also had a chance to play were: Peterson, Kirkes, Cline, Lokensgard, Moes, Watters, Stimson, Reeder, Millet, Rigg, Noble, Archibald, Anderson, Russell, Browning, Fitzstephens.

The Conference Championship

For the first time in the history of Montana State College the Bobcats won the Rocky Mountain Conference championship when they defeated the Colorado College five, champions of the Eastern Division of the Conference, in a three game series at Colorado Springs. Although losing the first game of the series to the powerful Tiger team, the Bobcats came back in the last two games and decisively defeated the Colorado team to win the Conference pennant and the trophies.

Although touted to win because of their victory over last year's champions, the Utah Aggie team, the Bobcats ran against one of the finest defensive units in the country when they met Coach Twitchell's Tigers. Late in the second half, with only 11 minutes to go the score stood 30-13 against the Bobcats when things began to happen. Thompson and Ward began to sink the baskets in regular Bobcat fashion and the gun sounded just as Ward looped a long one to let Colorado win 32-31. The crowd got a taste of what the Bobcat was capable of and the next night found the municipal auditorium crowded to the doors. However, the Blue and Gold quint had the measure of their opponents and clearly outplayed them to win 29-17. The guarding work of Breeden and Glynn was a feature of the game while Thompson's floor work amazed the crowd.

The third game was the thriller of the entire series but the hardy and better conditioned Bobcats, after trailing 16-11 at the half, won handily 32 to 23 and tucked a Rocky Mountain Conference championship away.

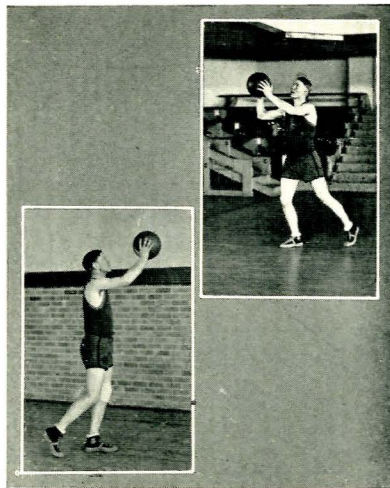

Ott Romney's five years at Montana State have borne fruit with the winning of the much coveted basketball championship. Next year Romney will have the nucleus of a powerful team to start with and already many Bobcat fans and boosters look to see a second championship come to Bozeman. Although losing Glynn, the finest floor guard that the school has ever seen, and a conscientious and untiring leader in Captain Winner, both positions that will be hard to fill, it is hoped that suitable Freshman material has been uncovered to ably fill these places.

team picked by "Poss" Parsons, Sports Editor of the Denver Post, while the Associated Press team included Thompson and Breeden for the first team and with Glynn for the second team. It is clearly evident that at least three Bobcat stars of this year made All-Conference first honors but the outstanding thing is that every Bobcat regular made the mythical position in either the Spaulding or Associated Press team. Glynn was picked to captain the first team in Parson's selection, a fine tribute to the leadership qualities of this superlative athlete. Ward, playing his first year of varsity ball, was chosen center of the second team and bids fair to make first honors next year. Thompson made forward on every team that was picked while Winner, the fighting spirit of the team, was accorded honorable mention on all teams. Breeden made first position at guard on the Associated Press team and was picked on Parson's second team.

Bobcat-Jamestown, N. D. Series

On Jan. 6 and 7 the Bobcats played the first two home games of the year meeting the famous Jamestown "Jimmies," several times champions of their own conference. The Blue and Gold clearly outplayed the visitors and handed them their first and only defeats of their entire trip, winning both games, 59-11 and 44-15.

The Bobcat-University of Utah Series

The Bobcats played a four game series with each of the three teams in the Western Division of the Rocky Mountain Conference and of the entire 12 games lost only two, one to the Utah University quint and one to the powerful Utah Aggie five.

Bobcats-Brigham Young U. Series

This year the Y had an unusually hard year, losing all but one of their conference games, although they have the reputation of being one of the fastest teams in the circuit and have held several Rocky Mountain championships. At no time did they even threaten the strong Bobcat five and the four games with the Young quint proved to be the easiest conference games.

The Bobcats-Utah Aggie Series

The series with Utah Aggies five, last year's champions, and ranked as one of the best basketball teams in the entire country, was the hardest of the entire year. It provided what Utah sports writers called the finest basketball ever seen in the Rocky Mountain section. The Bobcats, fresh from their victories over the Utah University and Brigham Young quints, were not to be denied and won the two games on the local floor in handy fashion, notwithstanding that both games have been termed the greatest games ever played in Montana. The Aggies took the first game at Logan from a weary but fighting Bobcat club but it was the second in which the Blue and Gold ball players covered themselves with glory. With the score 41-26 against them and nine minutes to go they emerged in the last second of play with a 43-41 victory and the much coveted Western Division title in their hands.

The State Championship

The State College Bobcats had no trouble in winning the State Championship, defeating the only serious contenders, the University Grizzlies in two games, one at Missoula and one in Bozeman. The Normal, Mines and St. Charles games proved to be easy affairs for the Rocky Mountain Conference champions.

Freshman Basketball

The Frosh basketball team had a very good season and were even more successful than the Varsity in that they won every one of their scheduled games and uncovered some very good material for the Varsity. This is evidenced by the fact that two of the Kitten players were on the squad that went on the barnstorming trip during Christmas vacation and to the Conference championship games at Colorado Springs.

The function of the Frosh squad is not primarily to win games, but to afford the Varsity good practice and to develop material for future years. The yearling team fulfilled every purpose and their part in helping the Bobcats to a Conference championship is a very large one. Coach Dyche moulded a fast quintet out of the material on hand and this was a difficult task as the various players had been coached in as many different styles of play.

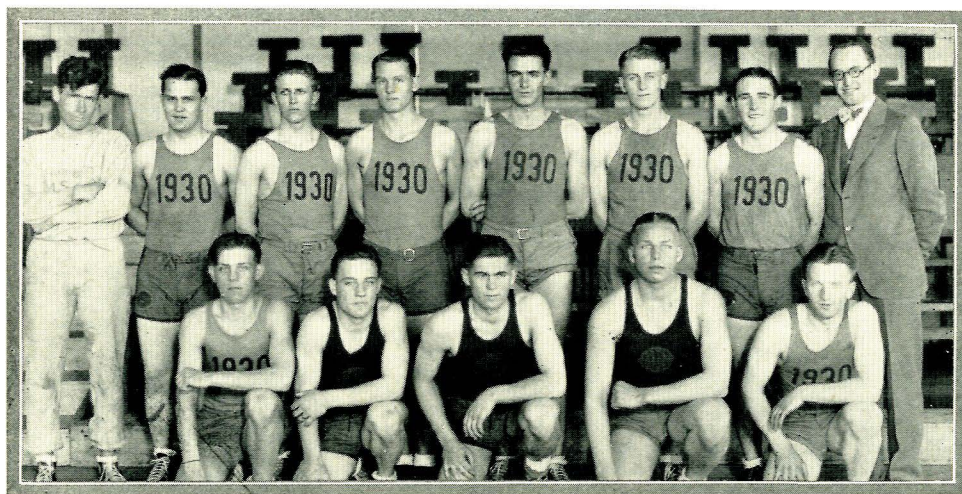

The regular Kitten lineup included Ward and McFarland as forwards; Semington and Preston as centers and Browning, Richards, Dawes and Eikrem as guards. Sadler, Fitzstephens, and Conrady also played in the majority of games.

TRACK 1926

HODGSON
Captain

Montana State College has a hard task each year with her track season, fighting such opponents as nature and a poor athletic field. Usually the spring weather is not adapted to the performance of track men, and the bad weather keeps our already poor track in poorer shape, thus lessening the chances of the Bobcats in this line of endeavor. Nevertheless the Blue and Gold makes a successful bid for honors each year.

Eight lettermen returned in the spring of 1926 to uphold track honors for the Bobcats. These included Captain Hodgson, Livers, Yedlicka, Thompson, Bade, Chamberlain, Hubbard and Weydemeyer, of whom Captain Hodgson was the only one to have broken into Conference points.

The prospects indicated a well balanced team, and one whose strength would be considerable.

The track season started with a handicap meet against Gallatin High in which the Bobcats won every first and a majority of the second and third places. This was followed by the annual intramural meet which attracted a larger number of participants than ever before.

Montana State vs. Montana Normal

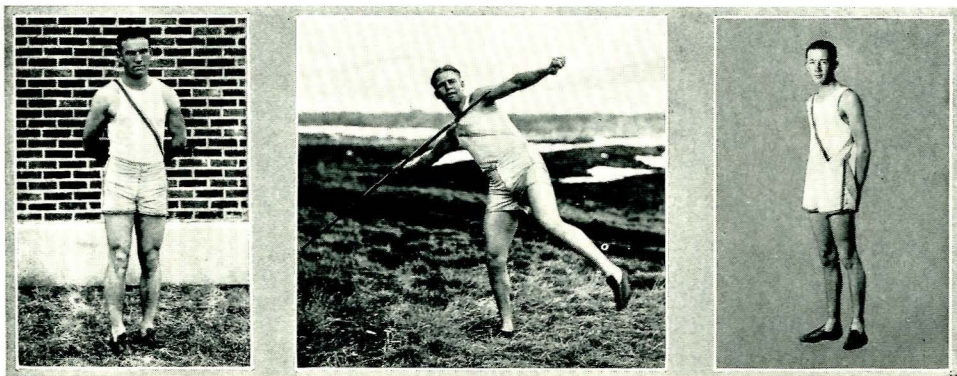

In the first test of the season, the Bobcats ran away from the State Teachers. The Blue and Gold entries scored ninety-six and two-thirds points against twenty-three and one-third for the visitors, taking twelve out of thirteen first places and most of the second and third places.

State Track Meet

The last week in May, the Bobcat track team went to Missoula to compete with one of the strongest and best balanced track teams in the West. As was expected, the Grizzlies won the meet in handy fashion with ninety-three points to the Bobcat's thirty-three and Intermountain's five.

On the track the University won all the first places while in the field events the Bobcats won twenty-six to twenty-two. The Grizzlies had a remarkable team with such men as Gillette, Sweet, Ritter, Miller, Spaulding and Blumenthal, a former Bobcat, all of which could make points at any track meet in the country. Gillette in the National Inter-Collegiate, later in the summer, won the two mile and placed second in the mile.

Judging from the performances of the Bobcats in this meet, they would have won against a majority of teams in the Conference. Decker negotiated the hundred yard dash in ten and one-tenth seconds, which would have won in many other years, while Thompson with fifty-two and five-tenths seconds won only fourth place in the 440 yd. dash. Yedlicka heaved the shot more than forty feet and Nelson leaped five feet eleven inches. Hurd vaulted eleven feet six inches for only third place, and Decker jumped twenty feet two and one half inches to win the broad jump. Heikkila, who under ideal conditions tossed the javelin better than one hundred and seventy feet on several occasions, heaved the spear one hundred and sixty-five feet under the very unfavorable conditions which prevailed that day and won the event. Nelson failed only by a fraction of an inch in his try for a new state high jump record.

Men receiving the official track "M" for the season were Captain Hodgson, Heikkila, Decker and Nelson. After the season the lettermen elected Carlos Livers, a point-winner for several years, although unable to perform in form this year on account of illness, Captain for 1927, but when he failed to return, Decker and Heikkila were elected joint Captains for 1927.

Montana State Cross Country Team of ten men easily defeated the normal squad one hundred and forty-seven to sixty-three. Hodgson won the event in sixteen eighteen, over a minute under the previous record for that three mile course. The Bobcat team placed in the following order: Hodgson, Constans, Heikkila, Richards, Bade, Bryant, Thompson, with Vogt placing ninth, Bunney twelfth and Powers fourteenth.

Letters in this sport were conferred upon Hodgson, Heikkila and Constans.

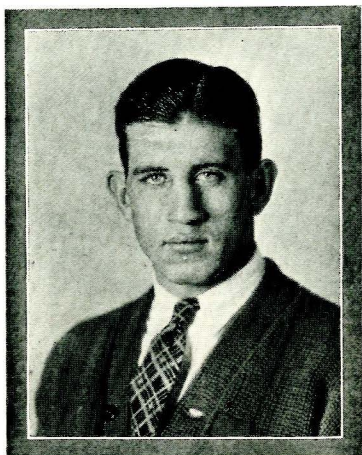

Preview of 1927 Season

The 1927 track season is in full swing as the Montanan goes to press. Many varsity tracksters and a great number of frosh candidates are showing in good form.

The prospects indicate one of the best track teams in the history of the institution and there will be four intercollegiate track meets to test the powers of the Blue and Gold cinder artists. Captains Keikkila and Decker lead the squad of likely looking youngsters and are showing well in their respective events. Among the candidates out this year who have performed for the Bobcats before are: Livers, Bade, Dobler, Hurd, Neal, Chamberlain, Cannon, Vogt, Cates, Decker, Weydemeyer and Heikkila.

BASEBALL 1926

GLYNN
Captain

The 1926 baseball season opened with a likely looking string of candidates from which Coach Romney moulded a fast and aggressive nine. With Capt. Valery Glynn, pitcher and first baseman, as a nucleus, the following men formed the final squad: Cranston, catcher; Hartwig, pitcher and fielder; Babcock, pitcher; Bowen, second-base; Winner, third-base; Pitt, Stone, Twilde, B. Briscoe, and McGuin, fielders.

The season proved to be a successful one with Capt. Glynn starring on the mound. Babcock, effective southpaw, was the other pitching ace. Cranston, Winner, Twilde and Hartwig, all deserve commendation for their fine work.

As the Montanan goes to press, the 1927 campaign has not been fully arranged but games have been scheduled as follows:

May 10-11 M. S. C. vs. Idaho Falls of Utah-Idaho League at Idaho Falls.

May 12-13 M. S. C. vs. College of Idaho at Caldwell, Idaho.

May 19-20 M. S. C. vs. University of Montana at Missoula.

May 27-28 M. S. C. vs. University of Montana at Bozeman.

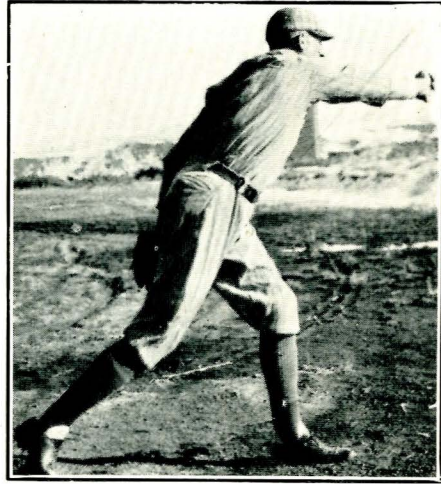

There are several more games to be arranged and games with some of the conference schools are possible.

WRESTLING

The Bobcats carried out a heavier wrestling schedule than ever before, participating in five meets, and winning twice from Livingston Railway Club, once from Butte Y. M. C. A., and losing by a narrow margin of one point to Idaho Tech. Two men, Stanley and Dolan, placed in the Divisional meet held at Salt Lake City.

Coach Swingle developed a first class mat team from the material on hand, most of which was inexperienced. Captain Stanley was the only experienced man at the beginning of the season, having won his weight in the Divisional meet last year. He again placed, winning second place and losing the title bout by a close decision. Pat Dolan in the heavyweight class showed good development and placed in his weight at Salt Lake. Bruce Mull was the third man to wrestle at the Conference contest and lost a fall in the second round when he wrenched his shoulder. Mull has the makings of a good wrestler and will be eligible for three more years. Other men who showed up well and won matches in the other meets were, Markin in the 158 class, Pakala in the 165 pound class, Lund 165, Richards 135 and Etow 115 pound class. Of all these men on the team only Captain Stanley, Pakala and Lund are lost to next year's team.

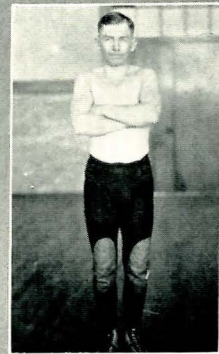

It is hoped that next year it will be possible to send a full ten man team to the Conference meet, for it is useless to attempt to win as large a meet as the Rocky Mountain Conference meet with anything less than a full team. The Rocky Mountain Conference ranks very high in minor sports and anyone placing in this meet has to have considerable ability as a grappler.

rated by Director Romney was undoubtedly the most successful plan and the best that has yet been devised. Fully 90 per cent of the men students were engaged in competitive sport. However, the rivalry became too intense and it was deemed advisable to change to the system now in vogue in most Universities, that of inter-school and inter-class athletics.

The spring of 1923 saw a change in the intramural sports at Montana State. Before the close of the school year 1925-1926 it was planned by the Department of Physical Education to abolish the old system of inter-fraternity athletic rivalry and substitute a series of inter-class and inter-school athletics.

From the standpoint of competitive athletics the inter-fraternity system inaugu-

WATER BASKETBALL, 1926

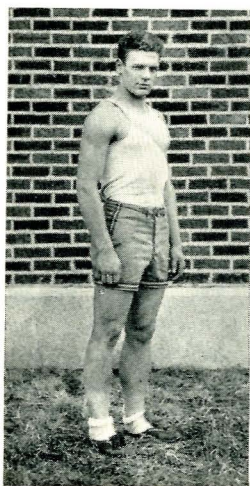

Water basketball is another of the minor sports that probably is the most exciting and thrilling of the entire round of intramural activities. Sigma Chi placed first, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Epsilon tied for second while Omega Beta took fourth, Amigo Club fifth, Kappa Sigma sixth, Lambda Phi seventh, and Independents eighth.

HANDBALL, 1926

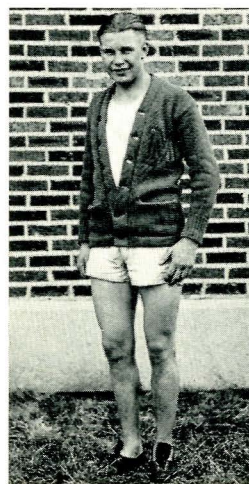

Of the minor intramural sports, handball attracts a great deal of attention and all the games were strongly contested. Omega Beta and Sigma Chi tied for first place, Sigma Chi winning the play-off. Beta Epsilon was third with Amigo Club, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Phi, and Kappa Sigma following in the order named.

TRACK AND FIELD 1926

As usual, the weather man gave us a sample of everything he had in stock and the two days of the intramural meet were held amid occasional flurries of snow, rain, high wind and sleet, interspersed with rare bits of sunshine. The track, still as new and soft as when first built, made it difficult for the runners to turn in any kind of respectable time, but that only made the competition more keen and exciting, with the first year men of most of the competing organizations turning in in the best time, and making prospect for the most successful track team that Montana State College has ever had, seem a bright reality for 1927.

Sigma Chi Fraternity placed first with 69½ points, Omega Beta took second with 31 points while Lambda Phi finished third with 20 points. The competing fraternities finished in the order named: Sigma Chi, Omega Beta, Lambda Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Beta Epsilon, Independents, Amigo Club. Otto Gardner, Sigma Chi, won the individual medal, scoring 16 points.

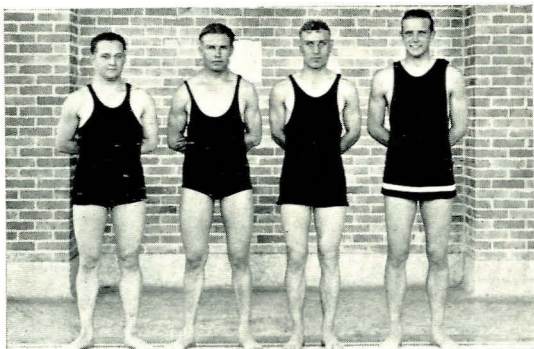

CROSS COUNTRY

Montana State's Annual cross country run is one of the big track features of the entire West and this year a Fox News Reel man was on the spot to catch shots of the 203 starters in the grueling 2.9 miles run.

Frank Heikkila, freshman, took first place, with a beautiful burst of speed in the last fifty yards, in the remarkable time of 16 min. 11 sec., just 1 min. and 3 sec. more than the course record established by the famous "Shorty" Bachman.

WINNERS IN SWIMMING

INTER-CLASS SWIMMING 1927

The Inter-Class swimming meet which was held February 11th, was won by the Sophomores with a total of 20 points. The Juniors were second with 19 and the Seniors and Freshmen ranked third and fourth with 18 and 16 points respectively.

The meet was very close and was successful in every way, with Morrison, Heikkila and Lewis showing up the best in swimming and fancy diving. High point men were Renn, Lewis, Heikkila and Morrison.

The Winners and Events:

40 yard free style—Heikkila, Sophomore. Time 22 3-5 seconds.

220 yard free style—Heikkila, Sophomore. Time, 3 minutes.

100 yard free style—Morrison, Senior. Time 1 minute 18 seconds.

100 yard breast stroke—Hubbard, Sophomore. Time 1 minute 48 3-5 seconds.

100 yard back stroke—Lewis, Junior. Time, 2 minutes 1-5 seconds.

Plunge for distance—Renn, Freshman. Distance, 39 feet, 11 inches.

Fancy Diving—Renn, Freshman.

BASEBALL—1926

Baseball, along with Track and Field, are the two major attractions of the spring quarter, and baseball being the last scheduled, commands a good share of attention.

This year the series was very hotly contested with the winner in doubt until the very last game, in fact, until almost the last minute of the last game. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, last year's cellar champions, showed a complete rejuvenation of form, and tied the Amigo Club for first honors. In the play off the Sig Alphas won the pennant. The organizations finished in the order named. S. A. E., Amigo Club, Sigma Chi, Beta Epsilon, Omega Beta, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Phi and Independents.

HANDBALL—1927

Handball which was played off during the winter quarter, held the attention of a large number of participants as well as interested spectators. The tournament was conducted over a long period of time which afforded an opportunity for those entered to get a good deal of experience before the semi-final contests.

Ralph Hodge, a Junior, was first in the tournament by virtue of his winning two out of a hotly contested three game series from LeRoy Anderson, the other semi-final winner. In the semi-finals, Hodge won from Irish, winner of last year's singles championship.

HODGE
Handball Champ.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL—1927

In the interclass basketball tournament the Sophomore teams won both the Class A and the Class B titles. There were two teams entered from each class and every team played every other one, giving each seven games. Each of the sophomore teams was defeated but once.

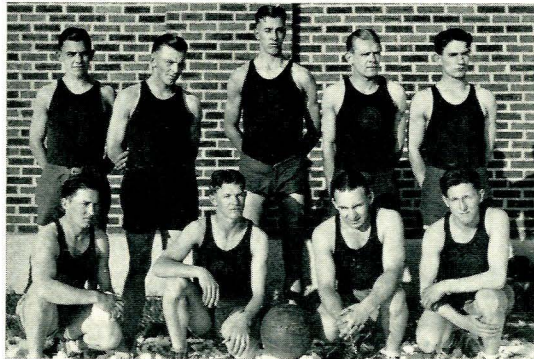

Class A team for the Sophomores was composed of Breeden, Gill, Twilde, Palo, Fjeld, Downing, Maxey and Gardner.

Class B. team was composed of C. Anderson, Coffin, Vogt, Oleson, McIver, Wellington and Hurd.

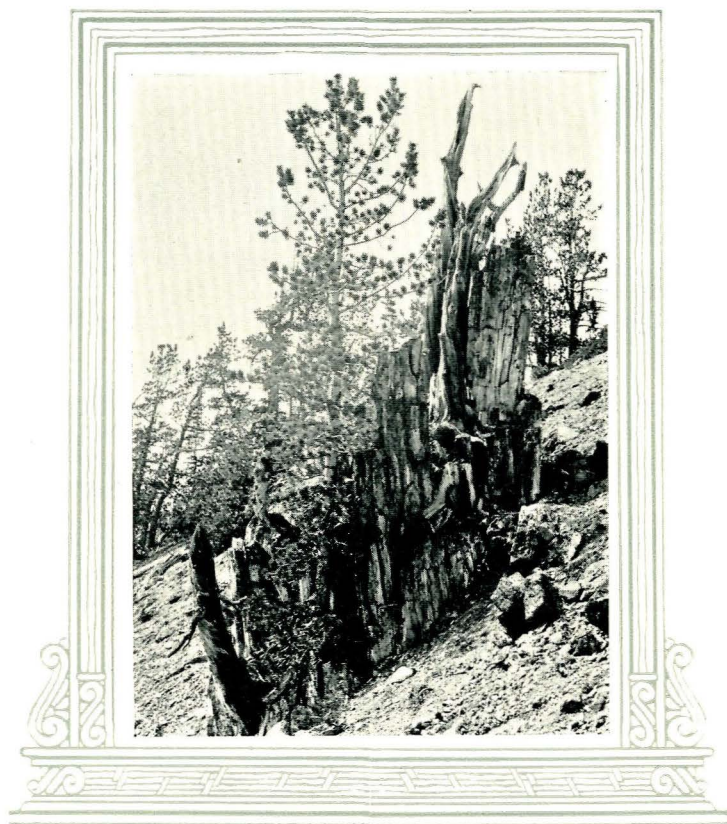

PREVIEW OF INTRAMURAL BASEBALL

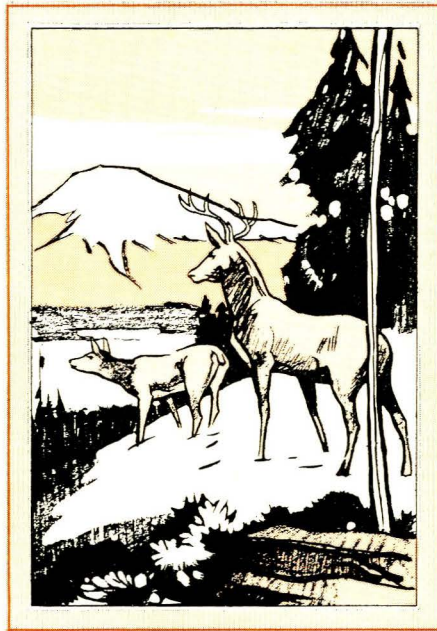

Baseball is again played on inter-fraternity basis this year. The inter-class system for such a sport as baseball does not work out well as it is hard to get a team from various classes, all of which can practice at the same time. Furthermore, the old intramural system makes it possible for many more men to compete, as it allows for eight or nine teams, while only four teams ordinarily participate in inter-class contests.

Although unsettled weather delays baseball in Bozeman, this sport has always been a very popular one from the intramural standpoint, and this year's season gives promise of being more interesting and successful than any previous ones.

The Looters Club of Montana State College sponsors the production of a musical comedy each year, the proceeds of which are turned over to the college athletic award fund. The Looters Club was organized in the spring of 1922, after the production of the musical comedy "Loot," a comedy which was written and produced entirely by the college students who later became members of the organization. It is from this production that the club takes its name. The "Looters Show" is now considered one of the leading events of the year.

The Interfraternity Council is composed of two members of each fraternity. Its purpose is to handle the general fraternity affairs which comprise the entire group and to bring the fraternities into closer relationship for the general benefit of all. An interfraternity dance was held during the year and it is hoped to make the event an annual affair.

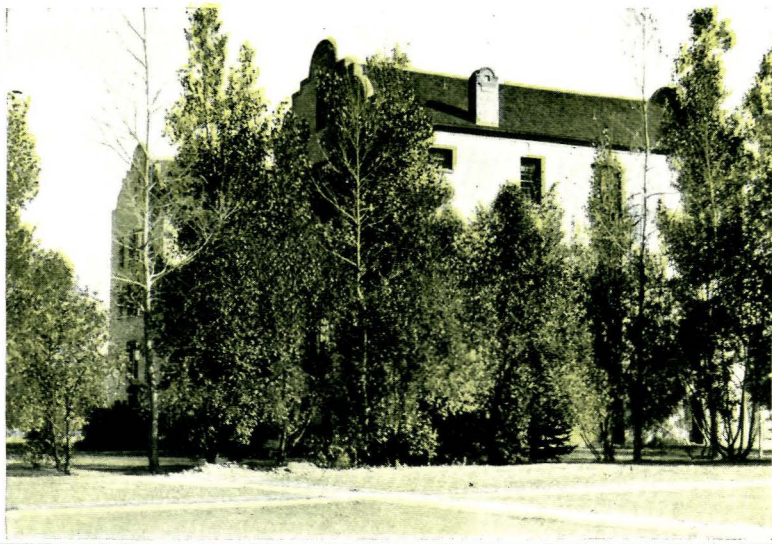

V. Blue and Gold Days

THE DAYS through which Montana State has passed, in her progress from a mere beginning to a thriving institution, are the true Blue and Gold days. These days of work and play, strengthened and endeared by strong friendships, are experienced by each generation of students. It is the purpose of this section to recall and keep alive the memories of these representative Blue and Gold days passed at Montana State College.

Venerable Montana Hall, remodeled to contain all of the administrative offices, is beloved of alumni and students.

Hamilton Hall, a landmark in long years of service, where the character of our women is moulded.

Her mountains held undisputed sway.

Imposing structures built by man.

*Started her life in a
building.*

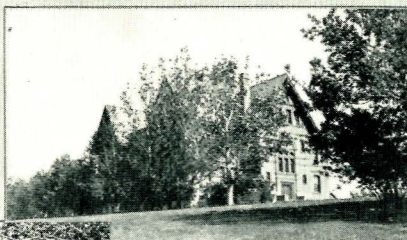

In the days when Montana was young and when her mountains held undisputed sway over her valleys and plains, because there were no imposing structures built by man to deny that sway, Montana State College started her life in a small frame building located in what is now the center of Bozeman.

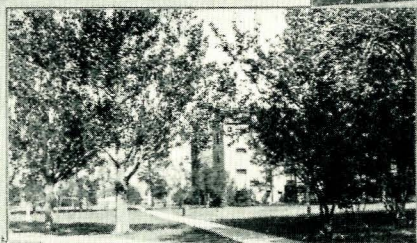

Moved into new quarters.

*Held classes in the old
"Bug Building."*

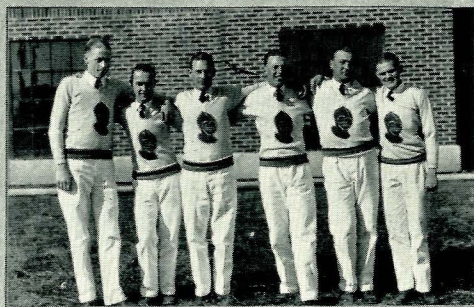

Montana Hall.

The campus as we used to know it.

She was an ambitious young college and it was not long before she moved into new quarters and held classes in the "Old Bug Building," while Montana Hall was being completed and the campus as we used to know it, perfected.

As the years went by, Montana Hall, now venerable, looked upon the new buildings springing up around her.

Fangs.

Green caps.

Paddles.

Spurs.

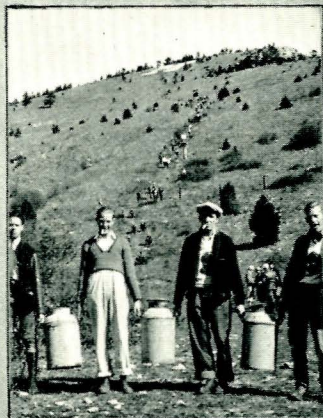

And with this outward growth went the growth and development of the Blue and Gold spirit—the growth of traditions. Frosh week is recognized by green caps and paddles. The Fangs and Spurs hold sway and rule the unsuspecting Frosh with an iron hand.

At the class scraps.

*Try to show the

Give the big letter a new coat.

At the class scraps the Sophs take a hand in the business and try to show the Freshmen their place—not always successfully.

The Freshmen start their college life in reality on "M" day when they climb Mount Baldy and give the big letter a new coat of white, finishing the day with a dance at Three Bears Inn.

On the football field.

The basketball floor.

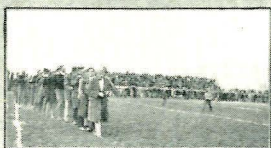

The cinder track.

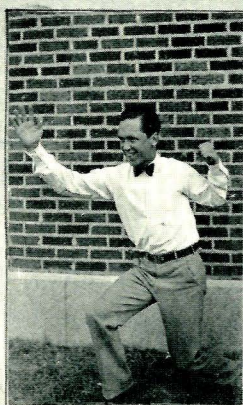

Days on the football field, the basketball floor, and on the cinder track have been significant Blue and Gold Days. The men who make our athletics have been true representatives of the Blue and Gold.

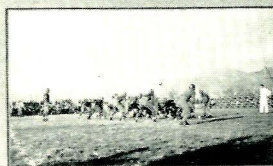

Support that never fails.

Rally.

The call of the king of cheers.

The team that always fights.

Rallies have been the cradle of the Blue and Gold spirit, when the student body gathers at the call of the King of Cheers to show the kind of support that never wavers to the team that always fights.

The co-eds.

Hiking.

On the courts.

In the pool.

For the co-eds there have been never-to-be-forgotten Blue and Gold days on the court, in the pool and hiking into the canyons. Montana State's women have always entered into the activities of the campus with a truly Blue and Gold spirit.

The co-eds.

Award.

Women's day.

To crown the women's activities comes Women's Day in the Spring. This is the day when the co-eds look back on the accomplishments of the year and when awards are given for work well done.

Meeting friends on the campus.

In the labs.

All these special days are important, but most of our Blue and Gold Days have been spent in the classrooms or labs, in the everyday round of affairs. Meeting friends on the campus is an everyday occurrence, but one that lingers long in the memory of Montanans.

When Greeks foregather.

"The house."

For many a gay party.

The contacts formed on the campus are strengthened in social life. When Greeks foregather to sing the praise of brotherhood, friendship ties are further strengthened. "The House" (no matter what letters mark its portal) has been many a student's home during college years, and the scene of many a gay fireside or party.

Septemviri.

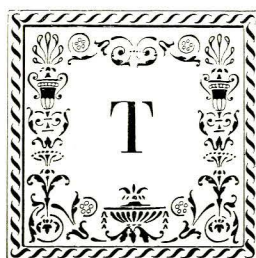

Cap and gown.

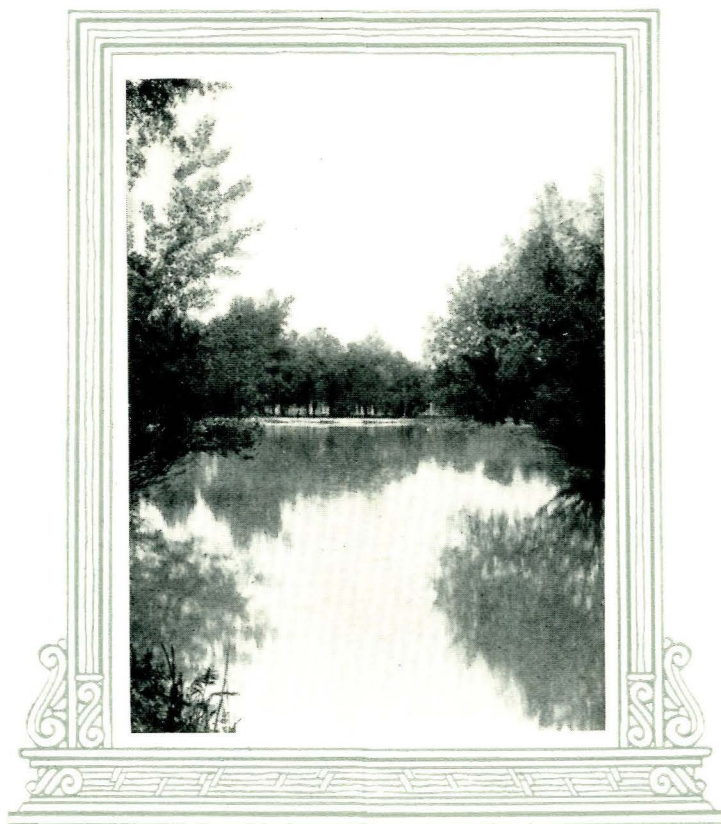

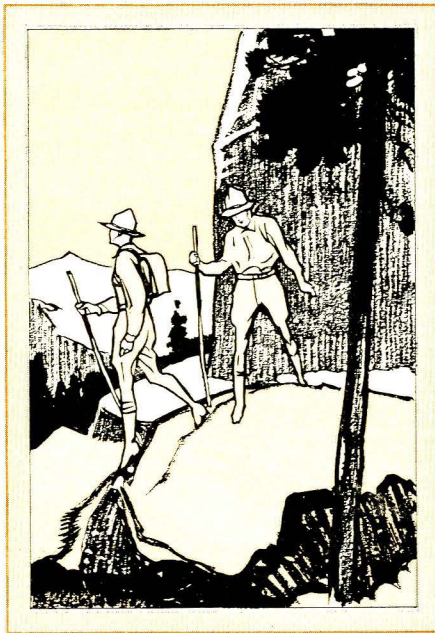

Seniors.

And so through the years each student generation has lived through M. S. C's Blue and Gold Days and come at last to graduation. The seniors! They know the ropes. From their number is chosen Septemviri to guard Montana State's traditions; and Cap and Gown, Representative Montana Women!

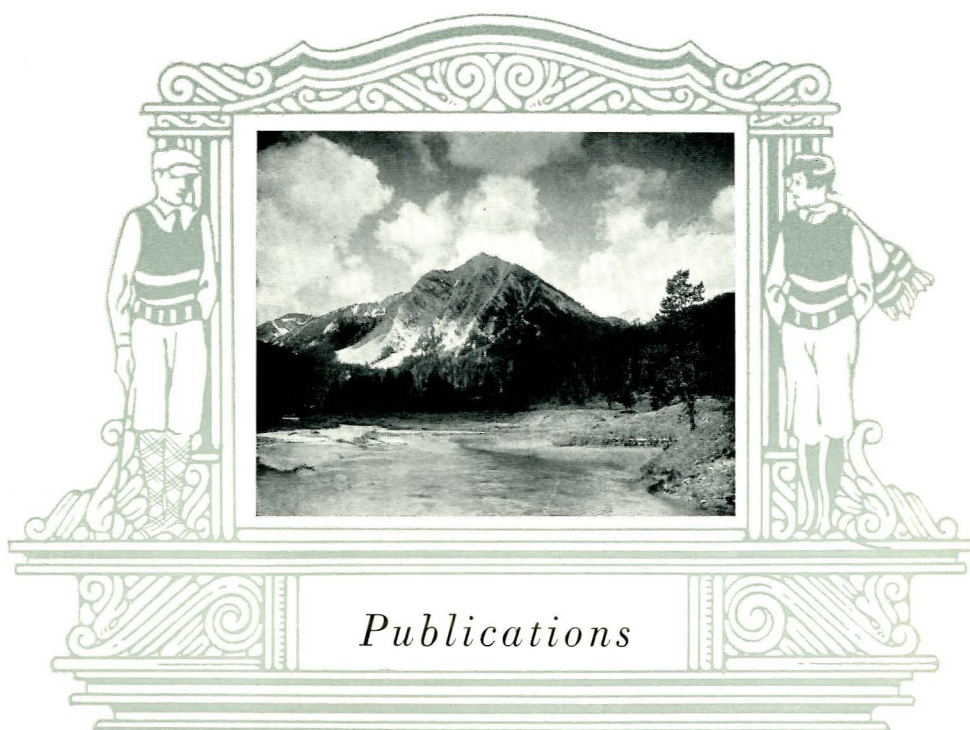

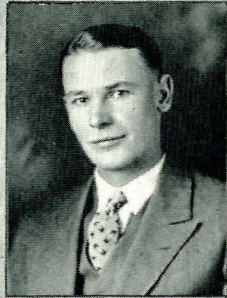

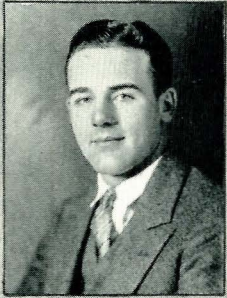

TO CLIMAX their college career, the Seniors go to assembly clad in cap and gown. They attend the many functions of "Senior Week." They share with homecoming alums the alumna picnic, and finally they receive the recognition of endeavor—the diploma, and M. S. C. bids them a proud farewell and turns over the page for others in the succession of her Blue and Gold days.

THE MONTANA COLLEGIAN

The Collegian, which took the place of the M. S. C. News Notes several years ago, is a very newsy little sheet which has as its purpose the publication of alumni news as well as things of general interest about the college. It has the cooperation of the Montana State Alumni Association in carrying out its work.

The Collegian is playing an important role this year in arousing interest in the spring Homecoming which it is hoped will become an annual event. Copies are sent to each alumnus and also to former students who did not graduate but are still interested in Montana State. The Collegian is also sent to various high schools in the state and it is hoped that finances will in the future permit the sending of copies to all high school seniors in Montana. This should prove an effective means of creating interest in our institution and drawing more home state people to Montana State College.

The Montana Collegian is ordinarily published once a month, but insufficient finances have limited the number of issues this year. President Atkinson is Editor-in-Chief; Ray Bowden, Editor; John Dexter, Assistant Editor and H. E. Morris, Alumni Editor.

COACH STONE

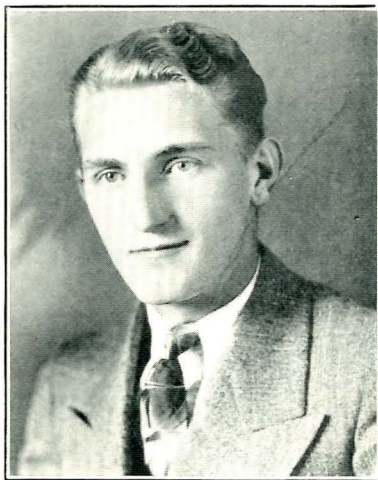

Montana State College has been fortunate this year in having found an excellent leader in forensics. Mr. Stone, who succeeds J. Wheeler Barger in this capacity, has developed some of the strongest contenders in debate and oratory, and has not only repeated many of the past successes, but introduced a new interest in debate work.

Mr. Stone received his B. A. at Baylor University, Texas, and did debate work at Decatur Baptist College, Texas, before entering Baylor. He also spent one year at the University of Colorado, and has received his Master's Degree at the University of Chicago.

As head of the history department and coach, Mr. Stone developed one of the three championship teams in Texas, during his stay there as a teacher.

This year Mr. Stone has turned out some good debators and orators who have been most successful, especially in the debate work, as the majority were won by Montana State College.

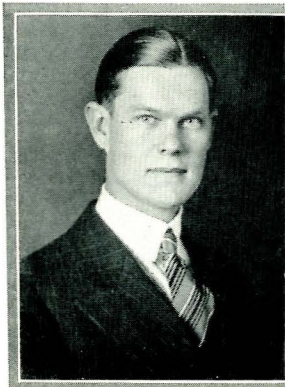

EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING AND ORATORY

HJALMER LANDOE
Winner

Each year there is held an extemporaneous speaking contest open to all students in college. This contest is held in May, and a prize of $25.00 is offered by the Hon. H. J. Miller of Livingston to the winner. Hjalmer Landoe won the prize last year.

Montana State College was represented in the State Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest which was held in Missoula this year, and Hjalmer Landoe was also the winner of this contest, speaking on "The New Challenge."

Varsity Debate

A new feature of this year's debating was that all debates were decision debates. Last year the Oxford plan was used, whereby no decisions were given, but this year all debates have been by definite decision.

An extensive schedule was carried out this year, involving ten debates for the Varsity team, four for the freshmen and two for the sophomores. Representatives from some of the leading institutions of this section of the United States were met, including teams from the Colorado State Teachers, University of Wyoming, University of Montana, University of North Dakota, and the University of Utah.

The Varsity debating squad was made up of experienced debators, having at least one year of experience. Five persons were used in the regular Varsity debates. The only woman member of the debating squad was Miss Margaret Dewey, a member of the sophomore team.

The Varsity squad took two trips, LeRoy Anderson and Henry Gardiner going on the first journey, and Joe Livers and Henry Gardiner making the second trip.

The season was marked with great success, the freshmen winning the one decision debate, and Varsity squad winning by a large majority.

Rocky Mountain Oratorical Contest

Montana State College was represented at the conference last year by Lyle Roessler, where he spoke on "The Trend Toward Civilization."

This year Mr. Stone, coach, will accompany the person chosen on the trip to Laramie, Wyoming, where the contest will be held. He will lead the discussion on "Judging of Orations," and witness the speeches. It is of interest to M. S. C. to know that the conference will be held at Bozeman in 1928.

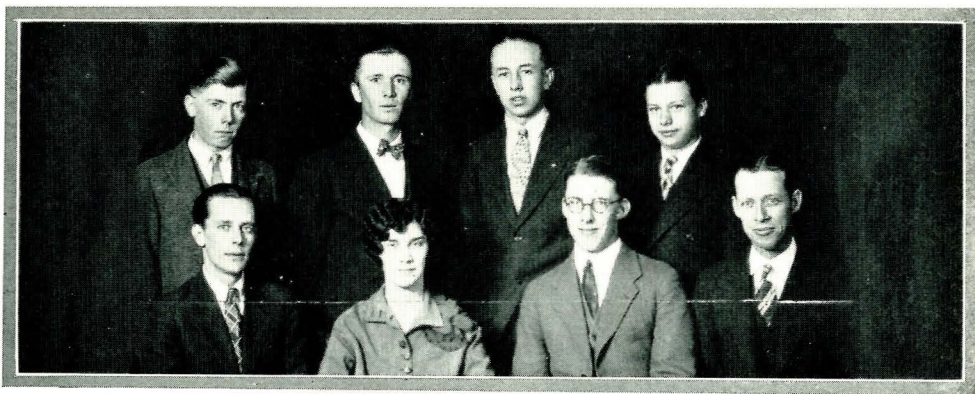

Freshman Debating Squad

This year's freshman debating squad was composed of Willis Wood, J. J. Cullen, James Morrison, Mary Tattan, Henry Eagle, James Waters, Arthur Shelton and Frank Lamb.

The Freshman Squad won all their debates, and took part in them as follows:

The Spirit of the Band

No other single organization does so much to promote the college spirit and at the same time receives less credit for its efforts, than does the College Band. Under the patient and ever cheerful direction of Lou Howard, they respond to every occasion which arises. Whether it be rally, football game, assembly or basketball tournament, they are always on deck to supply the music which adds zest and spirit to the occasion.

Because of their inestimable service in promoting college spirit and because of the hours they spend each week in preparing music for our occasions, we wish to here express our appreciation to the members of the Bobcat Band and their ever-willing director, Lou Howard.

Band Tour

The Bobcat Band made its seventeenth annual tour of the state this spring. A quartet consisting of Ed Fuller, Kenneth Schwartz, Ray Bowden, and Hilmore Riek proved one of the features of the program. The solo work of Ray Patten and Louis True was also well received.

The band was greeted by capacity houses at each performance and was entertained at Conrad by a banquet given by the Civic Club. Many Montana State alumni were present at the concerts.

The places visited during the tour were Fort Benton, Conrad, Shelby, Kalispell, Whitefish, Libby and Troy.

THE COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

The College Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Adam, is another organization which usually furnishes a musical program at entertainments in which the college takes a part. It gave a program in November for Girls' Vocational Congress and again in February for the Boys' Vocational Congress. The musical program for commencement week is annually furnished by the orchestra. The orchestra had a conspicuous part in the "Chimes of Normandy" presented by Looters and also in the Eurodelphian Indian Masque.

THE COLLEGE CHORUS

The outstanding function of the College Chorus this year was its second annual state tour. The trip included concerts at Livingston, Big Timber, Columbus, Red Lodge, Billings and Forsyth. A concluding concert was given in Bozeman for the benefit of the townspeople and college students. Accompanying the Chorus on this trip was Mrs. Edith Grimes Waddell, Vocal Instructor, and Joseph Adam, head of the Music Department. The trip was both an artistic and financial success.

The work of the Chorus on the Campus is very outstanding in many ways. It appears before at least one assembly each quarter furnishing the entire program and renders selections at various other public affairs such as Vocational Congress. During Commencement week the Chorus is very prominent, especially at the Baccalaureate services.

The Chorus consists of ten sopranos, eight altos, five tenors, and five basses. Its great strength lies in its a-capella singing. Consequently it undertook high class music including "The Lord's Prayer" by Verdi and the Prayer from "Cavalleria Rusticana." Each year great stress is put upon American folk music and negro spirituals, so that the varied program of the College Chorus shows excellent supervision and cooperation.

TORMENTORS PRODUCTION

The Tormentors production this year was "So This Is London," an English social comedy which cleverly contrasts the English and American opinions of each other with actual conditions. It was directed by Beatrice Freeman Davis, head of the Dramatics department.

The play was very successful in Bozeman and was taken to Whitehall, Deer Lodge, and Butte, where it again met with marked success. Each performance was well received and the play set a precedent of high standard for coming Tormentors to follow.

Wherever they went the players were entertained by Montana State alumni and this helped make the trip a delightful experience.

JUNIOR PROM

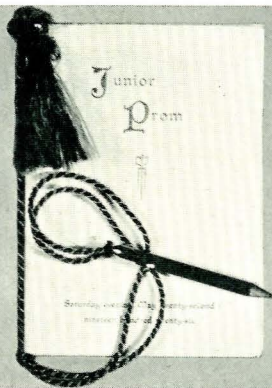

The class of 1927 gave its Junior Prom on Saturday evening, May twenty-second, nineteen hundred and twenty-six at the Elks Hall.

The Hall was decorated in green, gold and purple which made up the class colors of both classes '26 and '27. Around the hall were huge baskets of purple and white lilacs which added a festive yet dainty air to the hall.

The features of the evening were the crowning of the Queen, Rhoda Harris '26, and a dance given by three of Mrs. Kiester's Kiddies. President Atkinson gave the presentation speech, and then the kiddies danced in honor of Queen Rhoda.

MILITARY BALL

The Military Ball was held at the Rose Garden on Friday evening, February the twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven.

The ball was conducted in a military manner, opening with a grand march, led by Colonel Morison and the Battalion Officers.

The features of the evening were the dances given by one of Mrs. Kiester's Kiddies and then the new Scabbard and Blade pledges were announced and the Company and Battalion Sponsors by Colonel Morison and the sponsors were presented with corsages. After these announcements an extra dance was inserted which was the sponsor dance, each sponsor dancing with the captain of her company and the Battalion sponsor with Colonel Morison.

OPENING OF HERRICK HALL

On the evening of January the eighth a formal reception was held in honor of the opening of the new woman's building, Herrick Hall.

The receiving line was made up of girls who were presidents of the various women's organizations on the campus. The head hostesses were Margaret Booth and Gertrude Dawes.

The main point of interest was the big fireplace room which is most beautifully furnished in Colonial period furniture. The Art Department had on display some very exceptional paintings and sketches which are the work of the students from the past few years. The Home Economics Department was another point of interest to many.

SOCIAL OCCASIONS

Montanan Dance

The Montanan Dance was held on May 28th, 1926, at Tokio Village. The enthusiasm of the crowd reached its height at the "Montanan Dance" when everyone formed in Grand March formation and received the 1926 Montanans fresh from the Press. Dancing for the remainder of the evening languished due to absorption of the dancers in the Montanans.

Thanksgiving Dance

The class of '29 entertained the student body at a Thanksgiving dance at Tokio Village on Thanksgiving eve.

Upon entering the hall each couple was presented with a number and in the latter part of the evening the Sophomore class president, "Bugs" Howard, officiated at the drawing of the numbers. The person holding the lucky number was then presented with a turkey. This was the feature of the evening.

Junior Prom

The Junior Prom held in the Elks hall was hailed as one of the biggest dances of the year. This year was the first time M. S. C. has had a prom Queen and the idea was accepted with much enthusiasm. The chaperones were President and Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Conkling. Two tiny kiddies, Jane Romney and Jimmy Dixon, dressed in evening clothes, passed out the programs.

Military Ball

The Military Ball at the Rose Garden was one of the high lights of the college year. The Sponsors announced were Marian Shaw, Battalion Sponsor, Claudina Opdyke, Company A; Jean Nicholson Company B; Margaret Booth Company C; and Freda Hendrickson, Company D. After the ball the new sponsors and the officers of Scabbard and Blade and the new pledges all partook of a banquet at the Bozeman Grill in honor of the occasion.

Fang-Spur Dance

The men's and women's pep organizations, Fangs and Spurs, united to put on a clever dance at the Rose Garden. The Fangs and Spurs conducted the dance in official uniform and the music was furnished by the Rose Garden Collegians.

The dance took place after the final game between the Utah Aggies and the Bobcats and was a fitting celebration for the victory of the Bobcats.

Les Bouffons' Formal

The Les Bouffons' Formal on April 13, 1926 was held at the Elks Home. The dance came up to every expectation and was carried off with the usual dignity and graciousness of the Les Bouffons' dances. Since this is the only strictly formal dance of the year everyone looks forward to it with keen anticipation which is always justified.

RIFLE MARKSMANSHIP

Each year shows an increasing interest in rifle marksmanship. This year marks the real recognition of rifle marksmanship as a minor sport, minor sports letters being the reward for a great deal of concentrated effort.

The Montana State College team placed fourth among all the teams in the Ninth Corps Area and anticipate a reasonably high place among the teams in the National Match. Montana State placed forty-eighth out of a total of one hundred and four teams in the Hearst Trophy Match.

The team was represented by six men at Camp Lewis in competitive shooting for the Doughboy of the West, a trophy given to the Ninth Corps Area champions, and won by Washington State College.

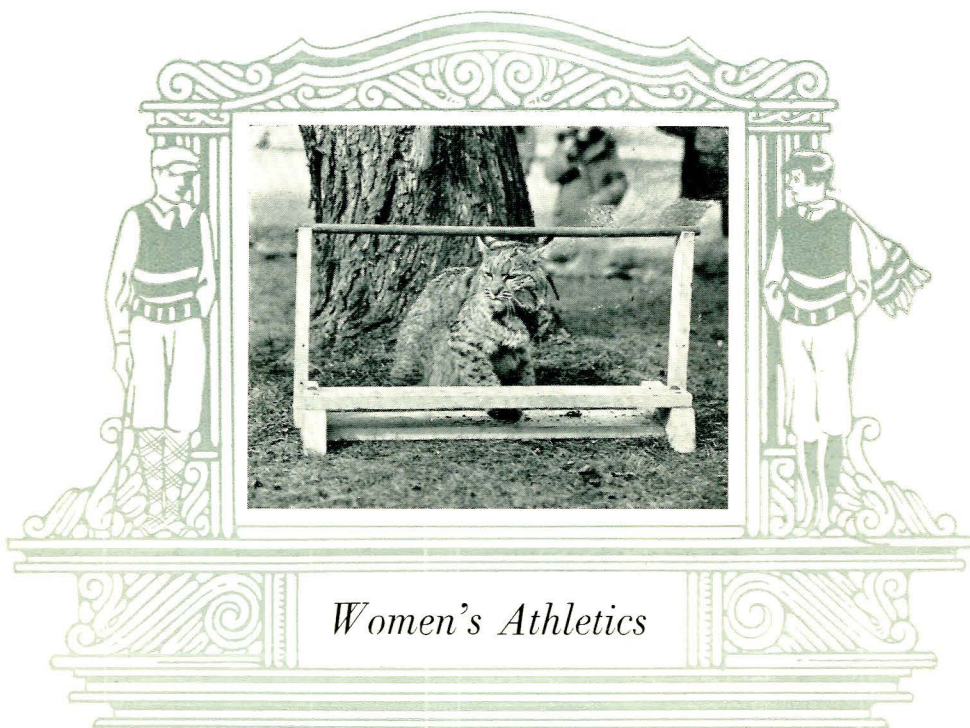

The high point place was won by First Lieutenant Ed Jones and second place was won by First Sergeant Armstrong, each receiving a medal awarded by Scabbard and Blade.

Those of outstanding ability among the underclassmen are Trent and Richards.

Out of thirteen intercollegiate matches fired only two of these were lost; one to U. of Washington and the other to Oregon Agric. College.

This year's improvement convinces everyone that rifle marksmanship is far from being on the decline. The expert coaching given by Captain Zeck and his assistant, Sergeant Ellsworth, has deepened the interest in this sport.

A number of veteran lettermen will be lost through graduation but the underclassmen should set their goal high for the coming year.

Women's Athletics

MISS EVA PACK
Director of Women's Athletics

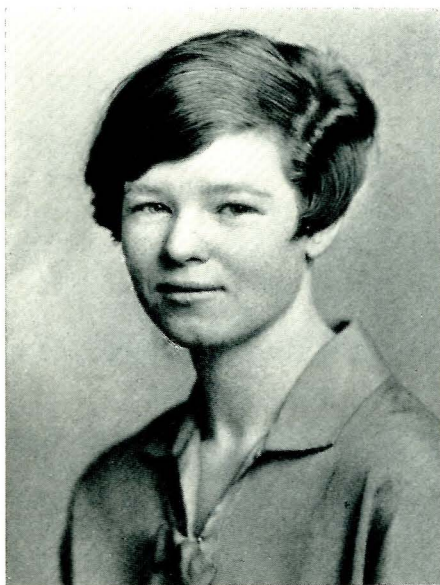

W. A. A.

The Woman's Athletic Association is one of the most rapidly growing organization on the campus at present. Any woman student of M. S. C. is eligible to membership.

The sports are divided into three main divisions, Fall sports such as baseball and hockey; Winter basketball; Spring, swimming, tennis, hiking and track.

On Woman's Day various medals are given to girls winning in swimming, hiking, tennis, basketball, and to the girl who holds the highest score in all athletics, the Laiste medal is given. In addition to these medals a blue and gold swimming suit is given to those girls who can pass a very difficult set of tests, and blue and gold Varsity sweater to the girls attaining a certain number of points in all athletics.

The competition is keen in all sports and inter-class competition is particularly strong. Under the able leadership of Miss Pack, women's athletics at M. S. C. is fast forging ahead.

VIRGINIA HALEY
Winner of Laiste Medal 1925-26

LAISTE MEDAL

Virginia Haley was the winner of the Laiste medal 1925-1926, scoring 145 points—7 points more than her nearest competitor. This gold medal is awarded by Mrs. Laiste of Anaconda to the girl winning the highest total number of points in various branches of athletics.

SWIMMING

Swimming is each year taking a greater part in Women's Athletics on Montana State Campus.

A blue and gold sweater is offered to women making seventy points in athletics and swimming offers a great opportunity to add to these points. In addition to this, thirty swimming points win a blue and gold swimming suit. These points are made by passing certain tests in speed, life saving, diving, floating and general swimming form.

Competition in this field of activity is keen and Montana State is developing some excellent women swimmers.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball made its first appearance this year as an event in women's athletics. Judging from the strong competition displayed it shows evidence of becoming an annual event. Team No. 2 composed of members from all four classes took the volleyball championship.

VOLLEY BALL SQUAD

RIFLE TEAM

RIFLE

Rifle marksmanship is steadily gaining recognition in women's athletics and is becoming more and more popular. Margaret McDonald of the class of '30 took the honors this year tying with last year's winner, Sarah Kendall.

TENNIS

Tennis is one of the most popular events of spring quarter. Last year Helen Crozier won the singles championship, receiving the tennis medal given by Mrs. Mills of Livingston, while Mila Parkin placed second.

TENNIS TEAM

BASKETBALL

The Freshman girls of the class of '30 won the basketball tournament, receiving the gold medals given by Mrs. R. E. Brown of Bozeman. The team was composed of E. Stockton, captain; W. Van Hosen; I. Monroe; M. Williams; A. Rigg; M. McCoy; and L. Coy.

THE BASKETBALL SQUAD

HIKING

Competition in the hiking contests is heightened by the large number of contestants who enter the speed and distance hikes. Last spring the distance hike was won by Joy Noble. Thora Phalen won the speed hike, ranking next to Esther Wakefield winner 1925-26.

EVYN JNS WEDS

Probably one of the most outstanding social events of the year and for some time to go in Atoma, was the marriage this morning of Mrs. Evyn Jns to Jhn Machne. The contest was officiated by the wrong Rev. Scrmch, left fielder for the Presbyterian Agriculture Marine Corporation, and took place in the huge hot compressed air valve of the Skidway-Doyik Company. Only a few near friends and relatives of the combatants were able to crash the gates to witness the execution.

GRUESOME FIND SUGGESTS MURDER

Atoma, Planet Betelgeuse, (Cider Press.)—The horrible discovery late yesterday afternoon of the right foot and the left thumb of a human, gives evidence of a treacherous murder which, officers say, probably took place very recently. The act was more than likely committed by some energetic chemist endeavoring to isolate a new element or sub-divide the atom. Or, it could have been done by some pre-med testing his new set of dissecting instruments. The thumb was found in a pop bottle, and the foot in a tomato can floating in the city reser-

Atoma, Planet Betelgeuse, May 15, 4927. (Associated Press.)

The Planet Earth, lost from observation for 3000 years, was found by observers at the Interplanetary Astronomical Observatories at 3:07 A. M. today, following an intensive search over a period of 77 years. Since it's rediscovery this morning, the Earth has been kept constantly under observation, and the three large new Ultra-radiomes have been tuned in to draw it within the limits of the Astrothelial Zone for close observation and exploration.

Last minute dispatches say that the Radiomes are working perfectly, and that the Earth is being drawn toward Betelgeuse at a rate of 14,308.02 B.X.N.'s per second. Inside of 24 hours, it will be within our Astrothelial Zone, and investigation will be begun immediately.

BULLETINS PRINTED

The dispatches covering the great discoveries and the hottest uncoveries will be 2TELEL to the general public by special wire, purchased from the tome of the ancient A. C. M. Company, and we guarantee our readers a bigger and better thrill.

Explorers equipped with see-all, know-a-l likeness-takers furnished by the firm of McCray and Nelson, purveyors of assorted pills and taxis, will submit true likenesses of all their findings, as fast as they can find them.

EXPLORERS SET OUT

Atoma, Planet Betelgeuse, May 16, 4927. (Associated Press.)

The Earth, which has been speeding toward us during the last 24 hours, will reach the outer Astrothelial limits at 1:03 P. M., and will glide into view in the sub-monitas area at 1:09, reports from the observatories say.

The first exploring party, consisting of Jo O'Connor, Roy Kerlee, Frank Hunsaker, and "Duke" Wellington, left the piers of the I. A. O. fields at 10:25 this morning, taking with them a party of excavators, photographers, scientists, and press correspondents. Observations in the last few hours show that the Earth is in a wonderful state of preservation, and that at the completion of its swift journey today, it will be in first class condition for exploration.

BULLETINS

- 1:10—Earth spherical.
- 1:46—Earth all wet.
- 2:20—Earth has no soap.
- 3:17—Chinese laundries existed.
- 3:18—Little Audrey found.

Weather Report

There will undoubtedly be weather in Northwestern and Southern sections. Farmers should by all means pull in their ears, as a tough winter is expected.

LANDS IN ROUGH MOUNTAIN COUNTRY

Atoma, Planet Betelgeuse, May 17, 4927. (Cider Press.)

Evident signs of past inhabitation and extinct civilization have already been found by the Interplanetary Astronomical observatories' explorers. The party, after four hours traversing of space, landed in a wide valley in a very mountainous district. Almost simultaneously with the setting of foot on land, the explorers were confronted with the sight of a large symbol built on the side of one of the mountains. The Press correspondent has radiographed us a photo of this, which is reproduced in today's issue. Down the canyon where this was found, around the corner and past the flour mill, they report, is a conglomeration of fantastic and crude buildings, supposedly a city. This will be investigated immediately.

Flagship "Audrey", after landing on Planet Earth. Capt. O'Connor taking in the scenery of Bridger Canyon.

PIPE COURSE

Because of the peculiar central training of our excavating party, it was well fitted to carry on it's work. They enrolled their efforts and took a pipe course from the buried heating plant to the other buildings. Intense heat was encountered under the large browlike building that must have served as a corrective institution for Freshmen women, but come what might, the party "carried on."

Little Audrey lost a bet the other day—that she could outlaff Mercedes.

Earthly inhabitants had no apparent control over weather or temperature conditions, from observations made by the exploring party. But contrary to all college restrictions and moral codes, it was hotter in the dark than in the light, a certain coolness, however, being evident in the presence of chaperones.

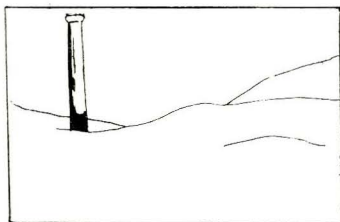

BULLETINS

STRANGE RECORDS FOUND

While traversing the excavations, our explorers discovered a small, dingy nook in the main building, and found there great quantities of rubbish, bum ideas, and old periodicals. Following this article will appear specimens of the material found, which will give a very clear conception of the low level of civilization attained by the prehistoric college student.

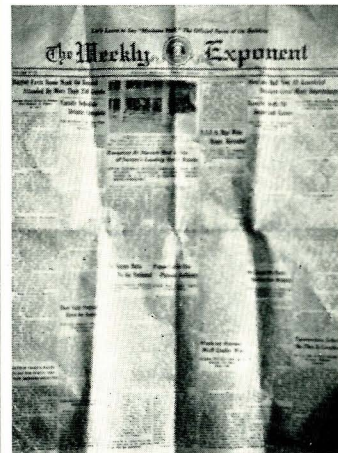

The accompanying illustration is an absolutely untouched view of the "Ylkeew Tnenopxe," their printed organ of communication. It demonstrates a very low intelligence on the part of its readers, as well as on the part of its cumbersome staff.

EDUCATIONAL CENTER FOUND

Atoma, Planet Betelgeuse, May 18, 4927. (Clothes Press.)

The inhabitants of the Earth had a very crude means of educating their younger generation, reports which are coming hourly indicate. Education was carried on within the confines of small, obsolete brick structures.

A tall cylindrical building, thought yesterday to be a flower vase, has been found to be a part of a chemical apparatus used to furnish heat to various small buildings. Using this as a starting point, the excavators dug down in an attempt to reach the original ground level of the so-called campus.

COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF EARTH

Varsity Handshaking Squad

REQUIREMENTS LAX

From all the startling discoveries it is surrised that scholastic requirements were very lax on this planet Earth.

Our education system here on Betelgeuse wou'd fall into decay, were each average student to write only five term papers each quarter in five major courses, as was the custom on the Earth. Excavations prove that the collegian of the prehistoric day had only 24 hours outside preparation to do to meet ordinary class assignments, and that no professor required more than 36 hours each day from each of his students.

NO STONE UNTURNED

Atoma, Planet Betelgeuse. (Associated Press.) The investigation which is now being conducted on the planet Earth will be one of the most exhaustive ever attempted, reports from the Interplanetary Observatories say. No stone or otherwise will be left unturned, until we have the complete low-down on these organisms once known as "Human Beings," and the Press will keep the dope hot on the printed page as fast as it comes in.

METHODS CRUDE

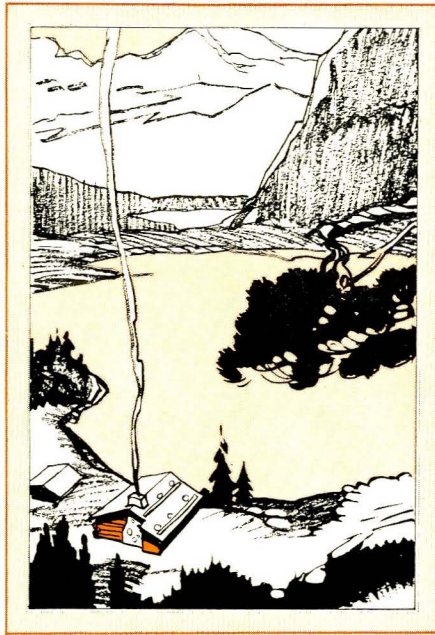

Thought transmission was not used on the Earth according to reports from excavator Wellington. This lack must have been a decided handicap to the collegians during examinations, altho from the record of diplomas issued, it is believable that the existing scribbling system must have been most successful.

The only possible drawback that might arise from the use of the transmission system, would be the inability on the part of the faculty to produce material evidence of intercepted thoughts when the cribber was hauled up before the August Student Senate.

8:45—Curfew shall not ring tonight.

9:00—"Plastic Age" uncovered.

9:01—Ditto spanked and put to bed.

Now you have it, a hellish person. If you don't believe it, ask the freshmen. These persons also have an uncanny appetite for green caps and many a "Frosh" has a dyed-in-the-wool pattern on the other side of his lap for not wearing "said green cap."

They are an industrious group of fellows, always doing something for some one, even some things that are not wanted. Their sister organization was originated by a group of kind hearted females who couldn't see the boys go on the wrong track after they left college. By the way, they need more help, for as we passed the Holy Stone the other nite, we saw their Grand Duke before the stone, saying, "Oh Allah, make me smart like the A. G. R.'s."

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Badge: A diamond shaped affair, limited in size only by the ability of men to carry them about. The pin bears the device of Lydia E. Pinkham with a pole-cat crouching at her feet. Both are symbolic of constant trouble.

"Sigma" is Greek for "Saw." "Alpha" is the little word for "Ah." Epsilon stands for the Greek word "Era." All of which means that there were times of justification for existence. It is a well known fact within the "frat" that men of another age were a bit better than they are now—consequently we extend our sympathy to these men of the other age.

"In the 'frat' we see the old college life typified as it is in advertisements for musical instruments. The men sit around on velvet cushions and play guitars and sing. The greater athletes wear large sweaters about and carry megaphones and have a bevy of tall, thin girls (A. O.'s) on their trail.

Within the chapter there is a gang especially trained in the art of slipping pledge buttons on men. It is said that even the smoothest crooks, that they pledge, are out-crooked by this gang.

SIGMA CHI

Badge: A grave-yard cross draped with sky-blue baby ribbon, cross ham-mers, a duck indi-gent, and a scroll bearing the formula for home-made beer. The pair of shoes are the ones that baby needed. "Rest in Peace."

Sigma is ancient Greek for "Sick of." Chi stands for "College." The guiding principle is "Sick of College." That makes it mutual—they have nothing on the college.

The Mother chapter at Miami has died and been revived seventeen times. It is now proposed to erect a morgue as an annex to the chapter house, into which members can retire when they feel rigor mortis coming on.

You may not have known there was a Sigma Chi chapter at Montana State College, but there is, take our word for it. We made inquiries and found out for sure.

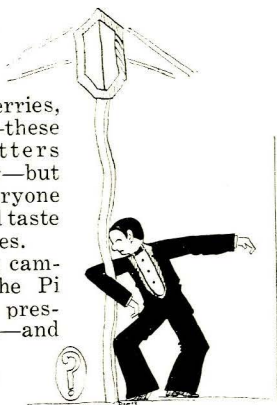

There are 99 chapters—white, 35; colored, 64. Of these there are nigh on to 13 still alive.

PI BETA PHI

Prunes, Berries, and Pickles—these old Greek letters might stand for—but of course everyone owns a personal taste for such relishes.

According to campus custom—the Pi Phi's were also present stunt night—and boy howdy!—these females know their stuff when it comes to putting on an impersonation of a college "stew party." They were so realistic that many of the audience sagely nodded their heads and murmured, "That fraternity set a fine example for the girls,"—which means little to you if you hail from Little Rock, Ark.—but a great deal if you're a "Cow Collitch" booster. These sylph-like (?) maidens—danced their pickled dance to the tune of much applause from the audience—or rather—a great deal of applause from a rather plump man especially. Encore—and then the act closed with the fair damsels throwing roses.

THE REALIZATION OF A DREAM!

Looking through the archway of Progress from the pioneer stage to the modern era—from the time of the ox cart to the day of the Sedan,—one visualizes the period of greatest growth and advancement in American history.

This store owes its rise and expansion to Gallatin Valley and Montana's great contribution to that wonderful agriculture and industrial age, which has seen it grow from a small out-lying pioneer post to one of the great northwest's civic centers, and from the little general store in 1866 to the complete modern department store of today.

Nearly 61 years of dependability! The romance of it! The satisfaction of it! The honor that falls to our Founder as the rich result of so long a record of faithful public service.

There is a deal of satisfaction—that fine feeling of a task well done—in the conduct of a business that has demonstrated year in and year out for almost 61 years its right to be known as THE DEPENDABLE STORE.

Dependability is the dominant guiding thought in the direction of this business—in the selection of its merchandise,—in the application of its policies,—and in the publication of its advertising,—all must square with its positive pledge of integrity.

LAMBDA PHI

Badge: An undescrivable thing worn by undescrivable people. (It should have been a piece of cheese) U know.

Of course everyone should know what they stand for, but for the few who might not, we will take time here to tell you.

Lambda stands for Limburger, while Phi, following closely behind, is the Greek noun for Fruit. There you have it, "Limburger Fruit"—"Your nose knows." It's a strong "frat" tho (on the air only). They should have been a broadcasting station, and if you doubt our word, ask the people on the Hill.

This home for the friendless was started in 1924, and their mail-order system of pledging has been so successful that at present they have all of 13 members.

Now then, folks, these "Kids" are not so bad—it's just some of them, and we speculate as how it isn't their fault. They probably look like someone. Look thru your book of "Tame and Wild Animals."

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

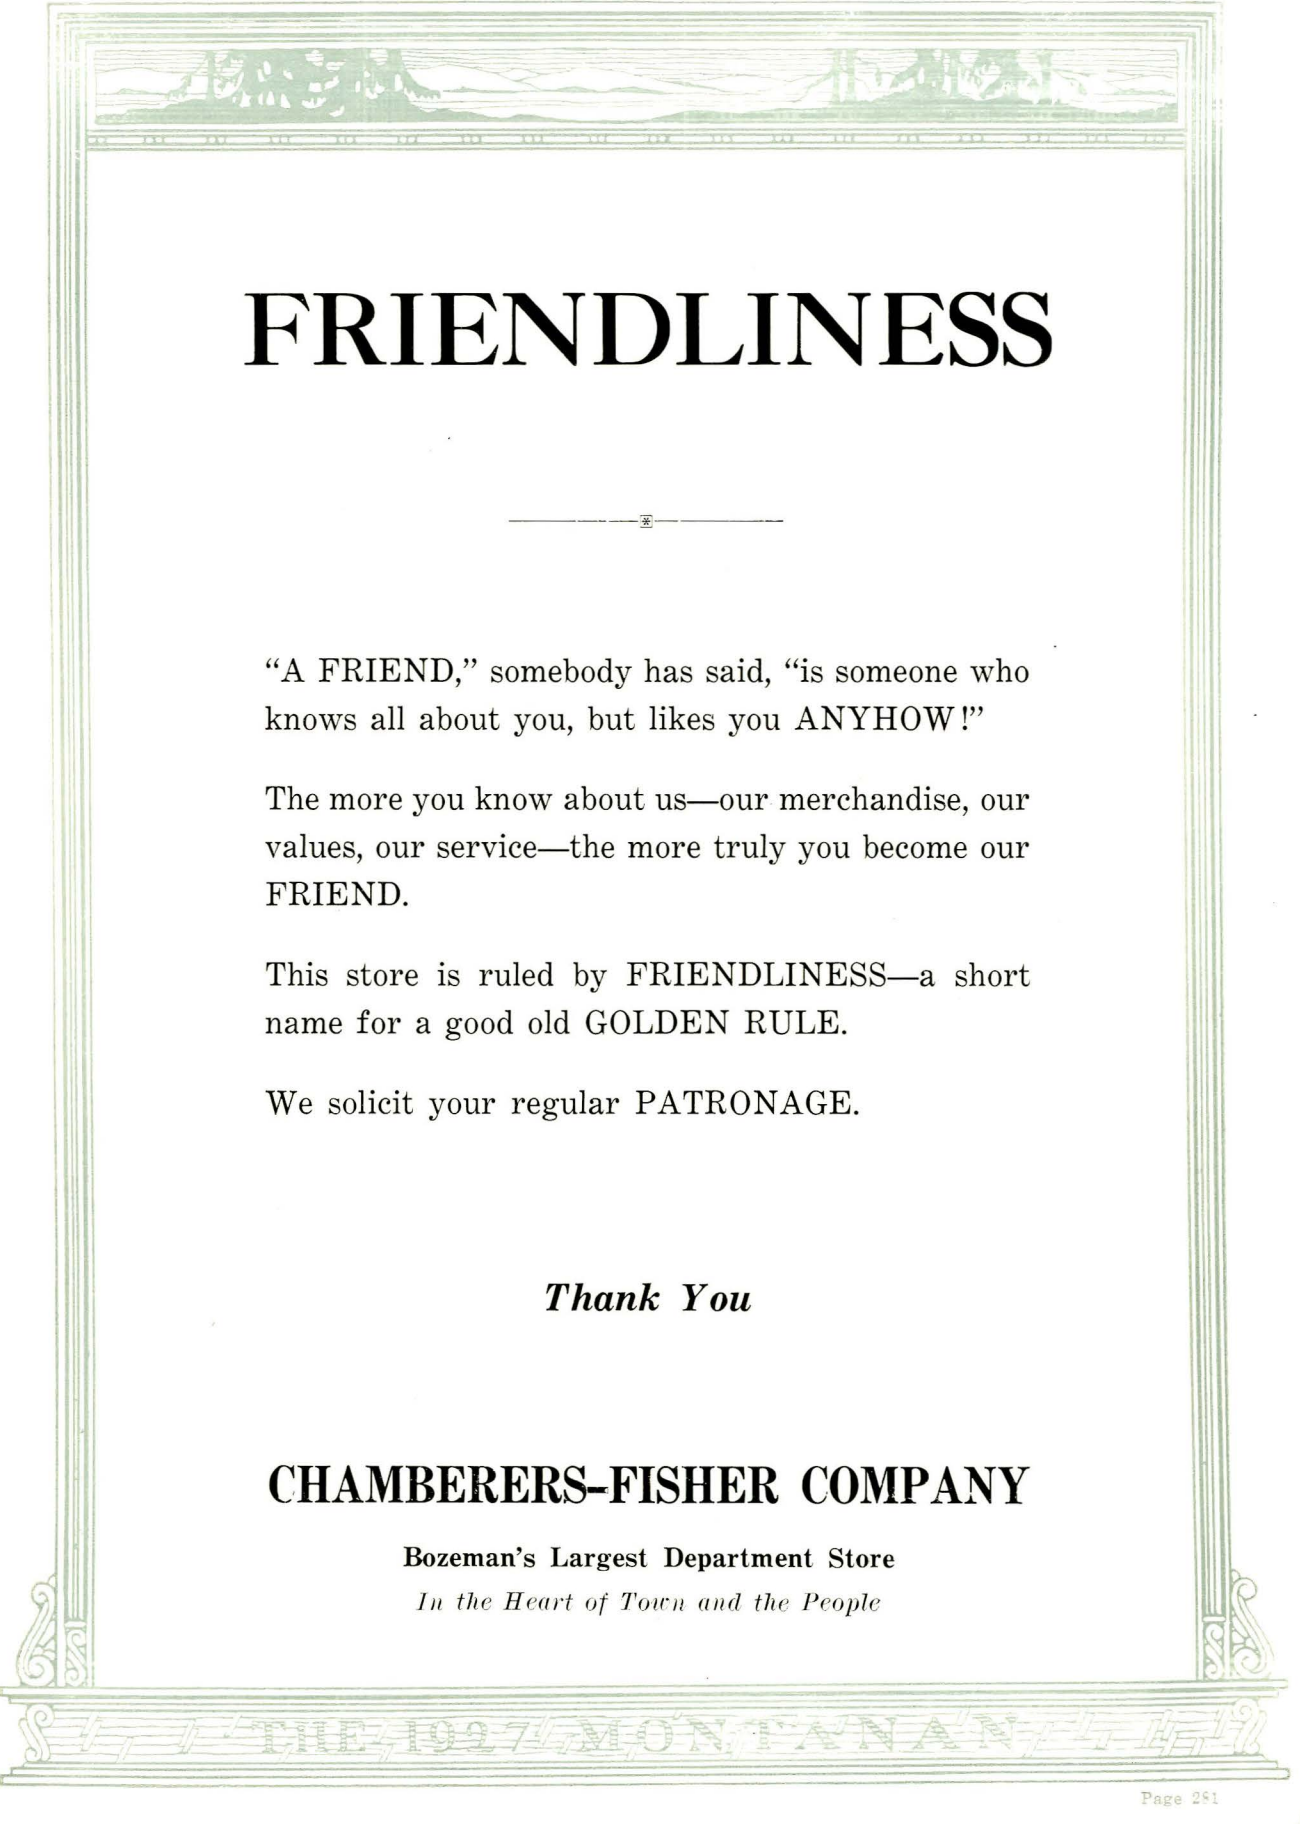

The "All Gone Daffy" tribe—the "democratic" bunch, reverted back to olden times (what a mistake) and became a bunch of Indian squaws. They played their parts well.

Their gymnastic stunt was at first mistaken for an advertising campaign for "Warm Outside Blankets," that have sold so well at Salesville on Saturday Nights. When the audience saw it was all a joke, they laughed all over and so was the stunt!

Well—taking them all together—which requires much more space than I'm allotted—they're a good bunch; even they celebrated when we won the Rocky Mountain Championship in Basketball!

They hit for their wigwam on Willson—taking with them their coterie of friends till the "Crystal Gazer" told 'em good night.

FRIENDLINESS

“A FRIEND,” somebody has said, “is someone who knows all about you, but likes you ANYHOW!”

The more you know about us—our merchandise, our values, our service—the more truly you become our FRIEND.

This store is ruled by FRIENDLINESS—a short name for a good old GOLDEN RULE.

We solicit your regular PATRONAGE.

In the Heart of Town and the People

Hollingsworth is "A Store of To- day" and of Tomorrow

THE THEME: "The responsibility of a store to its Community."

Not so long ago the popular conception of a merchant was one who bought cheap and sold dear.

The average store was little more than a distributing center for various necessities of life.

Then came a change. A feeling of community responsibility was developed. The profession of retailing was born.

The store of today does not render a detached service. It is an integral part of the City in which it dwells. Civic happenings have their echoes there as well as in the schools, the press and the pulpit. The modern store surveys the whole broad field of community life and acts as a buyer for, rather than a seller to the public. It regards a sale lost—as merely an incident; a friend made—as a priceless achievement.

The store of today puts service ahead of profits and deserves to prosper only in proportion to the service that it renders.

KAPPA DELTA

They're a good bunch of co-eds at this shack, even though they do accuse people of borrowing their queer sign which bears the Greek letters K. D., meaning "Kind" and "Dumb."

They produced a "Blue Moon" stunt—that is, its title was "Blue Moon." Romantic—Huh? Where it came from remains a mystery—as yet unsolved—But, as things go, in the open spaces of Bozeman, there are whisperings about White Moon. We poor editors don't get the drift, but if it snows again before summer, we may.

But, dear readers, don't be misled—it was a clean stunt, worthy of Montana. The chapter danced a "hulu" affair around an Icy moon, music tinkled from the rest of the chapter's throat and—well to be brief, the curtain fell—well-timed.

Note sent to Northern Pacific Rail- way by McChord:

My razor back strolled on your track
A week ago today.
Your No. 9 came down the line
And snuffed his life away.
You can't blame me; the hog, U see,
Slipt through the pig pen gate.
So, kindly pen a check for ten,
This debt to liquidate.

Answer to McChord from N. P.:

Old "No. Nine" came down the line
And killed your hog, we know,
But razor backs on railroad tracks
Quite often meet with woe.
Therefore, my friend, we cannot send,
The check for which you pine.
Just plant the dead, place o'er his head,
"Here lies a foolish swine."

Badge: The badge was square at one time, folks, believe it or not, but after being stepped on and pushed about by various tribes, it was decided by the gang to use it with the corners off. Within the walls of this strange pin we find a pretzel twisted into the shape of a Greek "O," and within that, a honey bee, to show that they are not very dangerous. The bee is also a pictograph of the Greek letter "B."

The letter "O" stands for Tired, and the letter "B" is typified by the word Bums. Here we are now, all together, "Tired Bums," and that's the whole outfit. Once considered in the political world on the Hill, they are now just hanging on, wondering what dew-drop next will affect their equilibrium.

This "frat" prefers high school pledging. This year they pledged so promiscuously that one lad bought a button at the Gallatin 2nd Hand Store and has been boarding at the chapter house ever since. Many other pledges were caught at the fall Round-up—you know, these grand old days of 55-60 or flunk.

Apples, oranges and plums—constitute this fruity house. You can find 'em tart—juicy—or plump—suit yourselves.

Of course these little apple dumplings couldn't be left out of the "Collitch" stunt night—and were there tears shed when they pulled out a big heart and broke it?—Oh you bet! They too had a male impersonator—and it looked and acted so like a man that the audience believed it was—until it stooped to conquer—and sang "Take This Rose" in a beautiful soprano—However—she was the fair maiden of her heart.

It is rumored, too, that the Alpha O's harbor a sort of alarm clock arrangement which is most convenient—at times—although we don't understand the mechanism.

AMIGO CLUB

Badge: A pin undescrivable as to shape, size or form (something like an amoeba), with an ox's head somewhere within its internal structure.
According to Webster (the big book with many words) the ox's head is a pictograph for the letter
"A." The reason for this is not known, but it is suggested that it stands for a slow, plodding group of creatures that were never meant to get anywhere.

It is mighty queer that they bear the name Amigo, as at one time they were called the "Piggly Wiggly Cash and Carry." Mostly carry, we guess, as there was no cash. But they're good boys and probably are a lot like their Daddies in some ways—the other ways they can't help.

It is said they intend to start a new national, as some think they could rate a national. The word was passed that Bob T. started this, but one can expect this from him.

Their flower is a pink carnation (which is another pictograph) for they obtained the carnation effect from the old slogan, "Condensed Milk from Contented Cows; Use Carnation Milk."

The "Chaperoned Orphans"—they've been named this year—but they're all still alive, and we hear that they acquired a new davenport with their new house—come on, boys—let's go!

This group of fair damsels—either by good luck—or chance—or even headwork (for we do find traces of it, although they hate to be so accused), won the first prize at the great Stunt Nite Contest. Hurrah!—Hurrah!—but the editor has the low down on them—the reason they got by so big with their under the water scene—was because their pirates showed such talent in "coming up for air."

However—we advise you to get acquainted—now the editor must rush off to the proverbial absence committee.

Badge: A triangle surrounding a number of pool balls, carrying the significance of the skids that have been put under the chapter. The great key represents an opener for the house in which these sardines dwell.

Kappa is the Greek for "Coming." Sigma stands for "Sickness." And that is the tale. For nigh a year they have safely borne the title of a fraternity, but men wondered why. They have threatened to become great some day, and men have wondered when. They have said that there are great men within their portals, and men have wondered who. They say that they have good chapters, and men have wondered where. In the end we wonder what the whole thing amounts to when it is summed up.

Badge: Half moon, the shine half omitted. A sheaf of loco, signifying that the veterinarian and dog catcher should call at once. A table knife, badly bent from the administering of peas to the gullet via the mouth route.

The Greek meaning for Alpha is "All"; for Gamma, is "Gone"; and for Rho, is "Rong" (wrong). Taking them altogether, they're "All Gone Rong."

Within their chapter walls there are men who are large, those who are small, those who know lots and those who lots know—if you get the drift. They have men of few words and men of many words, mainly Jess Helm. Nevertheless, he is an able leader and that is what they need.

By the way, this is not a "frat"; just a boarding club for country boys.

There are 29 active chapters and 1999¼ inactive ones, most of which "saw the light" and quit before they got started. But they're nice boys and have a wonderful National Anthem, entitled, "Farmer Gray."

DELTA TAU

The Delta Tau outfit as you may readily see by this pin, is different, and that means in every sense of the word, too.

The pin is a shield-like affair with an auger running from one corner to the other, with the Greek letters D. T. The letters go more or less to make up a face, and with the aid of an adhesive tape cross, it sure looks natural. (You know we can't all be Gene Tunney.) Then around the outside, yet still on the inside, we see a number of empty circles. We really are not sure, but we suggest that these empty spaces mean the members therein. Then around the outside one sees a pair of wings, and as far as we know, these wings are the only visible means of support that the "frat" has.

Of course you will all ask what the letters D. T. mean. The honest truth is we don't know, but the Spanish Athlete pipes up and states that they mean "Darned Tuff."

Now we must give you a little history before the trap is sprung. This Trade Union was started all at once by a group of non-Greek letter men—and it ain't so bad.

Badge: A once diamond-shaped pin with the top part cut off, and no one knows why. On the top inside of this queer looking pin we find a combination jack knife, separating the letters B. E.

There is no set meaning for the letters B. E., but here are several suggestions from which the reader might choose one. The first one is "Butter & Egg" men; the second, "Beer Engineers," and last, the "Better Eats" club. Now you have it, step right up and call it anything you please—they don't mind. As to the use of the combination jack knife, we have this to offer: "To cut the butter"; "To break soft-boiled eggs"; "To open beer bottles"; and lastly, "To feed the face," in case the table knives are lost.

Still they are a nice bunch of boys and some of them have good ideas, such as belonging to the R. O. T. C., and making the world safe for Democrats, which we all admit is a laudable thing.

EVERYBODY BENEFITS

The Montana consumer is now saving approximately $50,000 annually by using "GW" beet sugar. Its exclusive use would increase this saving to $75,000 or more, and, under the sliding scale beet contract, would increase the returns of the Montana beet grower at least $100,000. The use of "GW" sugar, therefore, works to the advantage of everybody—the consumer, the beet grower and the manufacturer, as well as the community in general.
